Annual Sunrise Service On Easter Sunday

Secretary Johnson Increases Marines Service

a letter to Representative J. Kilday, (D.Tex.), chairman subcommittee of service pay House Armed Services Committee, Secretary of Defense Louis E. Howey, Jr., on strongly endorsed the legislation for upward revision of service compensation, and that favorable action be taken by the committee at the earliest possible date, the Army-Navy Journal reported this week.

Johnson's position was made known in response to a request from Representative Kilday.

The Secretary of Defense stated that he regarded the pay bill, one of the most vitally important matters now pending before the Congress. He said that his opinion on this legislation might determine whether we are to keep the Armed Forces at maximum efficiency.

The committee has issued a report of the pay and allowances section of the bill as amended by the committee. The principal changes are in the per diem allowance, which is fixed at $7.00 as at present and in the increased pay for the PAY BILL On Page 6

Too Often A 'Cause'

Negligence

Did you ever enter a morgue? Did you ever hear or know the stories and causes of the presence of these people? Most of them are occupants because of some foolish move on their part. Let's see how many common causes we know of their fatal mistakes.

Who is that little fella lying on that slab who was run over? What is that nice looking woman doing here stone cold? Look over here and see a young fellow who is really only old enough to start enjoying things in life. There is an interesting story behind each case and all of them end up with the same word, NEGLIGENCE.

Talking about the little fella; what did happen to him? All right, I'll tell you. His mother was the type who likes quiet. "Who doesn't?", I asked as others would. She put the child out to play so she could finish her housework, clean up, and visit the next door neighbor for a bit of gossip. When she finished all this and time came for dinner, Junior's presence was wanted. A few howls and screams don't bring children home like sheep. Even they have to be watched so they do not go astray. Our search ends up at the place called the morgue. Some poor unfortunate driving down the street brought his car to a stop, but too late to save the child. Nobody knew who he was, so that is how he ended here. Think a bit and remember how much you went thru for that child and how much he means to you, and I'm sure that you won't just "get rid of him" during the day or evening. Care for your children as you care for yourself and give them a chance to live, to enjoy a bit of life.

Now comes the "cute" blond, but she isn't cute anymore. She was down town doing her shopping and was in a hurry. She is old enough to walk where she wants, but she didn't walk where she should. Yes, that's right, she "Jay Walked" at the wrong time in the wrong place. A driver of a vehicle can only do the possible things with machinery, and stopping "on a dime" is not one of them. Take your time and be careful where you walk. Keep from walking in the streets where sidewalks are available. All these things will lessen the chances of your being the next on the "death list".

No, I haven't forgotten the young fella. He too, was a well-behaved, peaceful citizen, but now he will be just a departed citizen. The chap was well liked and a "great guy" in sports. He was well acquainted with the handling of fishing, hunting, and workshop equipment, but one day he overlooked his safety in cleaning the new shotgun he got for his birthday. We all know how to make sure there are no shells in the chamber or magazine and so did he. Just this one time he was in a hurry and "thought" he had unloaded it the last time he went hunting, so again NEGLIGENCE on his part brought stillness to a fast-growing, healthy youth. These incidents are not the only things which bring sorrow in a family. You don't have to die to be sorry. There are many thousand things that will bring either partial or complete disability from negligence. Why not be a little more careful in the things you do and DON'T NEGLECT your safety at any time.—The Bluejacket.

Easter

Easter is the Focus of the Christian Year. The Christian worshiper reaches the climax of religious ecstasy with the events which follow the crucifixion. He comes into a new world and is resurrected from grief and failure. Well may each of us ask the question at this time; what is the meaning of Easter?

The average person assumes that the meaning of Easter is his or her personal immortality. This truth is but part of the whole; and, if it is all that one has grasped from the meaning of Easter, the very heart of this greatest reality of our faith has been lost.

Easter means the victory of good over evil. It means the resurrection of hope, the eternalizing of faith, the dawning of the new day when again God reigns. After their deadness at Gethsemane, their despair at Calvary, their isolation following the crucifixion, Peter, James and John, and the others were raised from the dead! How? Because they came to know with unswerving certainty that Jesus lives. His values, his loyalty to God, his spirit were at their side; and moved through them. THEY SAW HIM. So certain was their resurrection that never again did they waver. Out of their new life, their certain vision, came the Church. These simple, ordinary men changed the course of history not because they were great men but because Jesus lived and because in Him they too lived, as they had never lived before. These men were changed from the deadness of black despair to the aliveness of the Resurrection.

When one begins to see Easter in this light, one sees that Easter has to do with singleness of purpose, with obedience to the will of God, with the victory of good over evil, with the finding of life—such life that no price is too high to pay for it. Easter becomes meaningless if divorced from the Cross. The clear-eyed unfaltering movement of Jesus through the network of legalism and human evil around Him brought Him in the marcy of God to us all, to the shame of the Cross. Easter is the other side of the Cross.

Those who followed Him were lifted from the despair following his death, into the blinding understanding of what they never saw during his life. They saw something of his ongoing presence in the world and sensed the survival of God's purpose in the world. Would we be of the eternal? We shall go then with Jesus, so far as we are able, into the abyss and come with Him from the tomb. The scales fallen from our eyes, the doubts swept from our hearts, inflamed with the holy zeal of men for whom death has no fears, nor poverty, nor public opinion, we come to the feast of Easter as men who have been raised and freed by his spirit. We are then men who may be deemed fit to live even now through all eternity.

Capacity Crowd For 2d Division Homecoming Dance

Marston Pavilion was once again filled to capacity last Thursday as Marines and their guests attended the homecoming dance given in honor of the returning Second Marine Division.

Dean Hudson, an old Camp Lejeune favorite, who has furnished music for the men in forest green in repeated performances since 1947, prominent now in recording circles, provided smooth dance music. Even though rain, slick roads and blowouts kept the Sherry Sisters and several members of the band from appearing until five minutes before broadcast time, their arrival provided a fitting climax to an already outstanding dance. The band's rendition of how other orchestras might play their theme "Moon Over Miami", brought dancing to a standstill and attracted the crowd to the band shell.

Cass Harrison's Rhythms For Dance At Staff NCO Club

Cass Harrison, his piano and his orchestra, make a first appearance at the Staff NCO Club tomorrow night from 2030 to 0030 for the regular Friday night dance. The small aggregation of five musicians and vocalist Cherri Rogers is considered a top attraction in the rhythm world.

All members of the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club and their guests are cordially invited to attend this dance.

Defense Secy. Asks Advances In Pay On Change Of Station

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson this week asked Congress to enact legislation "To authorize advances in pay to personnel of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps upon permanent change of station. To effect this, Representative Kilday, (D-Tex.), has introduced H. R. 4050, the Army-Navy Journal reported.

Such authorization now prevails for officers of the Navy and Marine Corps in relation to certain changes of station. The proposed legislation would provide for advances of not more than 3 months pay for officers, and enlisted men of the 3 highest grades, of all the Services.

Football Squad Strengthened With New Candidates, Two New Coaches

With the addition of two new coaches to his staff, Major Joe Missar, Head Football Coach at Lejeune, is planning on molding a team comparable to the best.

New line coach Major Opp was an All-American mention at the Naval Academy in 1939. He is putting the linemen through the basic fundamentals of blocking, correct stance, and various techniques of line offense and defense. Confident of having a good line this year, Major Opp is reluctant as yet to picking any outstanding players.

Lt. Dennis, outstanding back at Rutgers in 1942, is the new instructor in the ball carrying department. Although many of the new men look good in practice, the fundamentals of the "T" formation are still drilled in every day of practice.

Major Missar said spring practice was much better this year and a fine team for Camp Lejeune appeared evident.

The team donned full equipment Monday and started body contact work. They are scheduled to have their first practice scrimmage today.

Major Missar mentioned several new candidates for the squad who looked exceptionally well in practice. At the fullback spot, Kobek looks very promising. M. L. Sears and W. H. Minihan are doing a good job at quarterback and on the ends, Wiggins and Davidson look good. One of the most vital spots in the "T" formation, is being filled by Center B. T. Edens.

All of the linemen are still undecided and all positions in both the backfield and line are still open. One of the best in the group of "mudhaulers" is Lt. Babe, who is vying for the guard position.

Along with the many new outstanding candidates for the Lejeune football squad, last year's veterans will be on hand to strengthen the team.

Major Missar is still looking for gridmen and all personnel are invited to try out for the squad. In case Lejeune gets into any trouble behind the line of scrimmage, any man who can fill the bill as a good punter, report to the football field at 1530 any weekday.

Golf Team Trials Begin Saturday With Round Robin Matches

This coming Saturday the Lejeune Golf Team will hold a Round Robin Match Play to determine which members of the squad will remain on the team for further competition against various service teams. A similar match will take place on the Lejeune links the 23rd of April.

In both matches, team members will compete against each other. Regardless of past scores or ability, each present member of the team will have an equal chance to make the final squad.

In both events, team members will play 18 holes with total low score men remaining on the squad.

At present, the team consists of 24 members, each contending for a spot on the regular varsity team. Ten of the linkmen, each members of the 1948 Lejeune Golf Team, will probably form the mainstay for this year's squad.

After the team is cut, it will consist of eight regular members and four alternates. They will compete with various service teams up to the All-Navy trials during the second week in August.

At present, no position on the team is assured any member. MSgt. Adams, assistant coach of the team, pointed out that all decisions would be made at the completion of the match play competitions.

The squad will spend the remainder of the week smoothing off rough edges and preparing for the Round Robin Match Play.

Lt. W. S. Anthony is the coach of the Lejeune Golf Team.

Marines Capture Six Team Events In Miami Pistol Tournament

Twelve sharpshooting Marines from Headquarters, Marine Corps, Quantico, Parris Island, and Pensacola joined forces for the first time to represent the Marine Corps, and wrote shooting history Friday, March 25, by capturing all six team votes in the Miami International Pistol Tournament.

From the first shot fired in the team competition until the last, the Marines were the big guns in the four-day tournament's closing events. Prior to these matches, the teams represented their home stations.

The famed Detroit Police Pistol Team, headed by Major Harry Reeves, USMCR, finished second three times, and thrice finished third to the Marine pistoliers, marking the first time in 19 years that the Detroit law officials have been beaten in all events in any match in which they have fired.

Divided into three firing teams, the Marines squeezed off their shots so well that it was hard to tell who was firing on the Blue, Gold, or Black teams. The three squads nevertheless ruled seven other competing teams. The Blues had the margin on the Golds, while they held a slight edge on the Blacks.

Four outstanding Marine Corps marksmen helped the Blues take the .22 caliber four-man team match with a score of 1126 out of a possible 1200. Commissioned Warrant Officer Mark W. Billing of Quantico racked up 284; Master Sergeant Thomas R. Mitchell, also of Quantico and current holder of the Lauchheimer Trophy, fired a high 282, while Technical Sergeant Walter Devine of Parris Island shot a 281, and Captain Thurman E. Barrier of Headquarters, Marine Corps fired a 279.

The Gold team copped the next test, the .22 caliber five-man match with the following shooters aiding in posting 1414 out of 1500: Staff Sergeant J. A. Jagiello, Quantico, 286; Master Sergeant Walter Fletcher, Parris Island, 280; Master Sergeant Vito Perna, Marine Corps Headquarters, 282; Pensacola's Lieutenant Colonel R. B. Moser, 282; and Captain John Mesko of Quantico, See SHOOTERS On Page 5

First Matches Played In Double Elimination Tennis Tournament

Over twenty of the top tennis players in Camp Lejeune commenced play Monday in the second annual Camp Lejeune Tennis Tournament. The tourney is being conducted on the double elimination system, with a total of fifty matches being played.

The form charts don't give much aid to anyone trying to seed the contestants, however there are several outstanding racquetmen among the competitors, including several with college experience, who should end up in the finals. At least one of the contestants will be making his second try for the championship—M/Sgt. T. Stringer, who was runner-up in the 1948 tourney.

At present, plans call for running the doubles matches after the completion of all singles events; however, the two events may be run concurrently.

The following players have either played prior to this date or will play on or before Sunday. Losers in these matches will meet the losers of the second round, which will be played during the coming week. All matches are being arranged through the Camp Athletic Office, Bldg. 1005, phone 3659.

NEW YORK (AFPS)—In a series of tests conducted recently the average speed of a bowling ball was found to be about 30 miles per hour, with 37.5 miles per hour the highest speed recorded.

All members of the squad were cut are still eligible qualifying if they feel their were misjudged. Coach DeJohn look them over again and feels they are good enough to make the squad, their service be retained. Also, if men promise in the intra-mural they may be returned to the squad.

Coach DeJohn, Lejeune mentor for the first year, has announced names of outstanding players of the 1949 squad.

At first base, O. F. Freezz J. J. Cawley are doing an excellent job in holding down the sack. On the keystone sack Bishop, D. W. Grivas, R. S. and M. A. Radovich are coming for the starting signal. At stoop, Coach DeJohn, K. Tor Spencer, and D. Zapolnik show promise as good all-around ballplayers.

At the "Hot spot" position A. Cheval has a slight edge over the other contenders due to past experience. But, Coach John said the third base could be filled by any member of the third-sacker department showing promise and ability.

In the outfield department, undecided as yet to any definite positions. One of the promising outfielders, E. Gallagher, was bat-boy for the New York Yankees for three years during the Coach DeJohn hopes Gallagher past experience will be an asset to the team.

In the pitching department Lejeune will pack a lot of power. Coach DeJohn has named E. Burns, Washington, D. C. H. die, R. A. Kubiski, and assistant coach Lt. Snyder as potential candidates for the pitching staff.

The catching staff is going to be hard to decide for a starter as the candidates are making a good showing in practice sessions. Waiting for the starting nod will be T. E. H. any, A. B. Daddi, C. Theros, W. Farren, T. L. Parker, and D. M. Donald. All of the catchers show a lot of hustle and power at the plate. Size and power may be a deciding factor for the starter behind the plate.

The squad will be cut later in the season after league games are played and the final squad will consist of: one complete team, five pitchers and three relief hurlers, three catchers, three utility outfielders, three utility infielders, and one or two pinch hitters.

In addition to Capt. DeJohn, Lt. Snyder will be a coach-player, Lt. Snyder at present is the assistant coach and a pitching candidate. Sgt. T. W. Spry offered his voluntary services to the team in the capacity of property sergeant.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AFPS)—Backfield coach Forest Evashevich the former "blocking back" for Tommy Harmon at Michigan, will remain at Michigan State despite recent efforts of Oregon State to lure him to the West coast.

Lejeune High Scores First Win Of Season Over Newport, 3-1

Camp Lejeune High got their first victory of the season last Friday over a strong Newport nine, by a score of 3-1 on the Newport diamond.

Although Lejeune got only two hits, they managed to capitalize on the wildness of Newport pitcher Koontz, who was charged with allowing six bases on balls.

Newport jumped to an early lead when Robertson scored after hitting a single in the opening frame.

The score remained 1-0 until the fourth inning, when Lejeune tallied 3 runs on a hit by Sutherland, a fielder's choice for Propst and Crouch, and a walk received by Barringer.

Both teams buckled down for the remainder of the contest but both teams failed to cross the plate after Lejeune's big fourth inning. Although Lejeune had the bases filled in the seventh with no one out, they failed to tally.

No one was able to gather more than one hit throughout the game. Sutherland and Barringer were the only locals to receive credit for a base blow.

Barringer struck out seven and allowed three bases on balls, while Koontz for Newport gave up six walks and hit two men with pitched balls. The Newport chucker showed power on the mound striking out 12 Lejeune batters.

The three team members are the first to receive the White Belts at Camp Lejeune. Although combat judo was taught during the war, no organized group was formed for participation in Judo as a sport.

The team members who received the belts are Pfc. Gene R. Freeman, T/Sgt. Charles J. McNees, and Sgt. Warren B. Stumpf. The men have been practicing the fundamentals of Judo under team coach 1st Lt. Donn Draeger for the past six months.

To be eligible, the men were required to know the Japanese pronunciation for tricks, Japanese terminology for the anatomy, various judo throwing and pinning tricks, as prescribed by the Japanese Kodokwan, and have had a minimum of six months judo instruction.

Lt. Draeger, holder of a 1st Degree Black Belt, has announced his desire to strengthen the team and all interested personnel should report to Gym 115 on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday evening at 1800.

The team at present is divided into three stages, beginner, intermediate, and advanced. Lt. Draeger is planning to hold a team exhibition in the near future between bouts at a boxing smoker.

Letters from former members of the Second Marine Division, now congressmen, generals, lawyers, ministers, and privates, praise the book highly for its graphic account of the Second's service from Iceland to Nagasaki.

Author of the book is Richard W. Johnston, civilian war correspondent for International News Service who landed with the Marines at Tarawa. He is now an assistant editor of Life magazine. Johnston wrote the history as his buddies in the Second wanted him to do. He faithfully follows their wish for him to "tell it the way it was".

Eligible men or their next of kin, who have not received or mailed in confirmation address cards, are urged to communicate with the Willa Madden Agency, 215 Fourth Avenue, New York 3, New York, in order to receive their free copy of the history.

This history was paid for from funds built up by the men who served in World War II, through profits from purchases at Post Exchanges. It is one of a series of histories being prepared on each Marine division and Marine Corps aviation.

RAMBLING ON A ROYAL: The only thing that could possibly keep Earl Knauff from appearing on his "In Your Neighborhood" program is mumps. And, believe it or not, that's what happened last week to the old dirt dauber. Old pot plant has traveled around the country with circus' and carnivals, but it took him all these years for dear old mumps to catch up with him. The local wags have it that the mumps had him cornered years ago but he talked his way out of it . . . Jim Cooney, a New York Yankee fan, who lives just the other side of Brooklyn, is the new voice that you have been hearing over WJNC . . . Virginia Lee Bond, Aunt Virginia to all of you out there in radio land, leaves us today for more home life.

Here's a quickie that "Senator" Ed Ford, regular panelist on the WJNC-Mutual "Can You Top This" joke-fests heard Wednesdays over 1240 from 8 to 8:30, dished out during a recent broadcast. If you heard it, skip it. If you didn't, it's pretty good.

"The boss called one of his salesmen on the carpet. Waiving his employee's expense account aloft he inquired: 'What's this big item here?' Replied the salesman: 'That's my hotel bill.' The boss leaned across his desk. In a fatherly voice he advised. 'Look, son, just room in the hotel. Don't buy it.'

The WJNC-Mutual unique quiz program, "Take A Number," has incorporated two new features into its fast-paced format.

Another feature is the new super jackpot of five $1,000 merchandise items. It's a new twist and good listening.

Prepare For Airlift

Marines get thorough instruction in the use of parachutes before going aloft for airlift operations. Airlift is being used for the first time in 1949 to move Organized Marine Corps Reserve units (ground) to summer training bases. Other reserve units will go by ship and rail to camps for active duty.

Organized Marine Reserves Slated To Move To Training Bases By Air

WASHINGTON, D. C.—April 4—Marine Corps aircraft will move approximately 12,700 ground troops of the Organized Marine Reserve to and from training camps this summer. Being used for the first time, the airlift will provide indoctrination in air movement for ground reserves. It will also cut travel time for Marine Reserve units and thereby increase the actual number of training days available.

Organizations not being transported by air, will travel by ship, rail, motor vehicles or a combination of those means.

While sea transport schedules are tentative, present plans call for moving 38 East Coast and nine West Coast units by ship, one way between home and camp locations.

Aircraft will be used mainly to move units from inland cities, long distances from training locations. The units will fly only one way of the round-trip between home and training camp, however.

By flying different organizations each way, the Marines expect to reduce travel time uniformly.

With the exception of vehicles, unit equipment will also move by air if aircraft is available. This includes individual arms and equipment, light crew-served weapons, office, medical, athletic and recreation equipment, photographic equipment and supplies, fire control equipment and band instruments.

If inclement weather delays departure of aircraft, the reserves will continue training at home locations until the weather clears.

Trout, Sea Mullet Reported Caught Off Morehead City

Fishermen this week trying their luck in local waters have been catching some fair sized trout and the first of this species was reported caught on Saturday. Previously party boats reported good catches of sea mullet. One or two exploratory trips have been made to the Gulf Stream off Cape Lookout by sports fishermen but to date no dolphin, amberjack or other blue water species have been taken.

Second Marines Visiting Major Of Mediterranean For Second

Members of the Second Marines, Second Marine Division, are with Vice Admiral man's Sixth Task Fleet in the Mediterranean for the second time in little over a year.

The Second Marines, a battalion landing team normally composed of between 1200 and 1600 officers and men, was the first amphibious unit of Marines moved to the Mediterranean area in January, 1948.

The unit was replaced successively by the Eighth, Twenty-first, and Fourth Marines, all units of the Second Marine Division based at Camp Lejeune. The rotation of units and personnel approximately each three months insures complete amphibious training of all units of the Division and gives the members equal opportunity to see the picturesque scenes and peoples of Europe and Africa.

Sweeping from Greece to North Africa, Italy, and France, Marines manage to make liberty in all major ports during their training cruise. Representative of the ports which they visit are sun-haunted Naples; Tripoli, old home of the Barbary pirates; Benghazi, which echoed to the tread of Rommel's tanks in the early part of the North African War; and Marseille, French port of laughter, fine wine, and world commerce.

TYPICAL TOUR

A typical tour of these foreign ports was made by the Fourth Marines (Reinforced) who were recently relieved by the Second Marines. Visiting Grasse, France, they toured the giant perfume factories of Frangonard Limited, witnessing the process of the manufacture and distillation of perfume from flowers. Completing their perfume groundwork, they observed its use at a ship's dance held in the Hotel de la Place, Marseille.

Landing at Venice, the Marines were treated to such spectacles as St. Mark's Square, containing the celebrated St. Mark's Cathedral, the Rialto Foot Bridge on the Grand Canal, and the famous Pont del Sospiri (Bridge of Sighs) which connects the Ducal Palace with the dungeons of Venice. Perhaps the most striking things they remember were the thousands of pigeons in St. Mark's Square, the sidewalk cafes, and the hundreds of foot bridges and stone lions liberally scattered about Venice.

POMPEII

Arriving in Naples, members of the Fourth traveled to the Apa Coral shops in the suburbs where coral is fashioned into fine necklaces and delicate cameos. Leaving the main portion of the city of Naples, they went to the ruins of Pompeii, scene of recent historical discovery, and were amazed by the stones, through the center of the streets which served as stepping stones, around which flowed the partially open sewage systems of ancient time. Sufficient space was left on either side for wheel clearance of chariots, and carts whose deeply grooved tracks are still well preserved on many of the city streets.

Just off the coast of Sfax, Tunisia, landing operations were practiced by the battalion landing team. As troops were prohibited from landing ashore on foreign soil, a simulated beachhead was established and marked by boats about six thousand yards from the line of departure. From Sfax, the men visited numerous other ports, best known among these being Athens where the Acropolis and the Parthenon were open for inspection by the party.

SHORES OF TRIPOLI

Visiting Tripoli October 9-13, members of the Sixth Task Fleet visited the scene of a 144-year-old Marine battle immortalized in the Marines' Hymn as "the shores of Tripoli." Fort Derna, Pasha Mosque, the Triumphal Arch, and the Old Tripolitanian Castle figured high on the lists of points of interests for the men.

Replaced now by the Second Marines who are brushing up on their Amphibious Maneuvers, and foreign language, the Fourth is back at Camp Lejeune, swapping souvenirs from the strange and picturesque ports visited on their tour of duty.

BrigGen Silverthorn Promoted To Rank Of Major General

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The President yesterday proved the promotion of Brigadier General M. H. Silverthorn, 4711 Dover Road, Brookdale, to the temporary major general. His selection for promotion was announced 17.

General Silverthorn, who is here in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, succeeded Major General W. T. Clement as Director of Marine Corps Reserve this month, as announced last month.

Navy Nurse Believes Marine Hymn's Words

WASHINGTON (APFS)—Dimpie H. Fowler, of the Nurse Corps, believes in the words of the Marine Corps Hymn, "The Streets of Heaven are Guarded by U. S. Marines."

Upon entering duty, Miss Fowler filed an affidavit giving her name as Wheeling, W. Va., and declaring her intention of returning to the United States after her tour of duty. "Unless said seven death, in which case I expect to reside in Heaven, the streets which are alleged to be guarded by the United States Marines."
