Big Orch Plays Will'n Tonight; Band - MPC

Craig, a past favorite with the Marines, brings his orchestra to Marston Pavilion tonight to enliven men's dance from 8:00 to 2:00 and the newly reorganized and already highly popular division dance orchestra plays its first engagement at Montford Point this evening.

Dances from local cities will be featured at the Pavilion dance as in the past to make the evening a complete success. Now that the holidays are over, the dances at the Pavilion and Montford Point will follow the regular schedule and will be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

Radio and music critics acclaimed Craig as the most talented of the past year and his success has certainly borne out this prediction on its appearances here.

His success has not been a short route for as the old saying goes "experience is the teacher" and his featured dancing as a saxophonist with name bands as Chuck Fosdick, Jurgens and Blue Baron have given him that experience which is so necessary. As well as a fine instrumentalist, Al is an excellent showman and his best when in front of a band.

Conscientious bandleader, Al is always ready at all times to take all dancers and he is determined that no request shall go unheeded. His large repertoire of arrangements which are new to every type of dancer is such of his success has been that he always plays the right music at the right time.

Col. H. Miller First Marine Eligible For Reserve Retirement

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 1 —The first Reserve Marine to qualify for retirement under the new Reserve Retirement Act (Public Law 810-80th Congress) has served 39 1-2 years as a regular and reserve in the Navy and Marine Corps—and still won't quit work.

Colonel Harvey L. Miller, who just turned 60, became eligible for retirement today.

But the salty veteran of sailing-ship service at $9 a month will continue at the University of Maryland as professor of journalism, director of publications, director of publicity, managing editor of Maryland Magazine, associate professor of physical education and head boxing coach, and as chairman of the District of Columbia Boxing Commission and member of the Board of Governors, Washington Police Boy's Club.

Known as "Heinie" to his thousands of friends in and out of the service, Colonel Miller was credited by Damon Runyon with knowing "as much about boxing as anybody in the world." His teams at the University of Maryland have won three Southern Conference championship meets and last year won the Sugar Bowl crown. Colonel Miller fought his first professional bout at the age of 12, in the loft of Maas' barn in Milwaukee—See COL. MILLER On Page 7

System Of Clothing Issue To Be Uniform For Armed Forces

AFPS—Army and Air Force enlisted personnel will draw clothing against a credit allowance beginning July 1, 1949, while Marines will use the Navy's existing cash allowance method, under a new system which is being placed in effect to bring clothing issuance practices closer together throughout the National Military Establishment.

A directive to this effect has been issued by Secretary of Defense James Forrestal as a result of recommendations made by a committee composed of representatives of the three departments.

The new system is expected to save approximately $8 million a year in administrative and maintenance costs, and result in more economical use of clothing by enlisted men and women. Enlisted personnel who take care of their clothing may gain about $25 a year, since any unused amounts of clothing credit will be given to them in cash. Under the present system, where clothing is issued directly, this incentive is lacking.

These savings were estimated on the basis of pre-World War II experience when the credit system was in effect. The new practice will be used only during peacetime.

Eventually the Army, Navy and Air Force will use a cash allowance system under which enlisted men and women will be given cash sums

Gen. Hart, Linscott On Senior Officer Selection Boards

Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart and Brig. Gen. H. D. Linscott are members of the senior boards to be convened this month in Washington for the selection of officers for promotion. General Hart is presently at HQMC serving on the board which convened yesterday to select brigadier generals for advancement to major general.

The board to select colonels for promotion to brigadier general, of which Gen. Linscott is a member, will meet at Headquarters January 26.

The Marine Corps will convene boards for promotion of officers to fill vacancies in all grades during the first half of the calendar year 1949.

Promotion zones for each grade are not yet definite since they are dependent on vacancies in the authorized distribution of Marine officers by grade, to be determined as of January 1, 1949, by the Secretary of Navy.

Members of the senior boards convening in January are:

Contest Underway To Find Suitable Name For Bulldog

Sir Dusty of Dreadnought was officially accepted as a mascot for this giant base by the Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, during ceremonies Monday morning. The purebred English bulldog was presented by Commandant C. A. Fisher of the New River Detachment, Marine Corps League, and TSgt. R. F. Casey, Vice-Commandant of the detachment.

Purchased by the local League detachment, Sir Dusty embarked on his Marine career midst the flashing of bulbs and clicking of shutters as he was welcomed on behalf of the officers and men of Camp Lejeune.

Shortly after the conclusion of the ceremonies, Sir Dusty was fitted for his uniforms and assigned quarters at Building 201.

CONTEST STARTS

Starting today, a contest is underway to find a suitable name for this new Marine mascot. Each Leatherneck at Lejeune is invited to participate by sending his choice of a name to the Camp Public Information Officer in Building 1005.

A sport jacket will be awarded to the man who selects the best name in the opinion of the judges and a pair of sport shoes will be the prize for second best.

Entries will be judged by the Camp Special Services Officer, Division Special Services Officer, Camp Public Information Officer, and Division Public Information Officer. In the event a suitable name is not determined from the entries received, the two most appropriate names will be submitted to the CG together with the mascot's present name and the Commanding General will make the final decision.

This contest ends next Thursday January 13.

First Baby Honors Unclaimed Tues. Noon

For the first three and a half days of 1949, no births were reported at the Family Hospital here. The last query at 1330 Tuesday produced the rather unusual statement that, as of that moment, no infant had claimed the distinction of being the first-born in the New Year at this giant Marine Base.

Indications Tuesday were that the situation would definitely be changed by today, the stork having been expected momentarily.

The "Why" Of The Payroll Plan

Easiest Safest Saving

Every so often someone asks "Why should I sign up on the Payroll Savings Plan?"

The "why" of the Payroll Plan is simple. You begin with the logical premise that every one should save something (if he has the means to do so—) that no one ever was sorry that he saved.

The Payroll Plan is the easiest way to save. There is no cost or trouble to the saver. His savings go into U. S. Savings Bonds which pay a high rate of interest and give absolute safety. The Bonds are far more valuable to have as savings than currency, not alone because of the interest-paying feature, but because they are registered in the name of the owner and if lost or stolen or destroyed, will be replaced by Uncle Sam. This, of course, is not true of dollar bills.

You many buy Savings Bonds in your own name or jointly with another co-owner, or name a beneficiary. We speak of "buying" Bonds, but you can't actually buy Bonds. You can't "spend" money on Bonds. You merely exchange some of Uncle Sam's dollar bills, which do NOT pay interest, for U. S. Savings Bonds—Uncle Sam's Bonds—which DO pay interest.

Savings Bonds are "take home" savings, for which you exchanged $18.75 and for which you will get back $25.00 at maturity.

It is impossible to lose anything on Savings Bonds. If you have to redeem one before maturity you will get your $18.75 back, plus interest due, at any bank or post office at any time after 60 days from the day of issue. Savings Bonds never decrease in value. They are not traded in on the stock market and they are not, therefore, subject to market changes in value. Only the United States Government can "buy" them back from you, and the Government has guaranteed their value—will give you what you paid for them, cash on the barrel head, plus interest due.

Saving today is doubly important because you not only accumulate funds for your own protection but you and the millions of other wage earners help to hold prices down by saving REGULARLY through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Laughter

Not only can a man think and feel, but he can weep and laugh. Laughter is a beautiful symbol of humanity. No creature but man can laugh. Beauty there is and power and survival, in the vegetable, the animal and the mineral kingdom, but laughter can be heard in the forest only if children play there or lovers stroll beneath its high colonades. Upon the ability to laugh, to perceive the humorous, to sense perspectives, to catch proportions, to see oneself as ridiculous on occasion, depends the achievements of much of one's relationship to God. For to be able to laugh presupposes personality and humanity, moral nature and outlook, as contrasted with the attributes of dumb animals. Knowledge of good and evil is man's most distinguishing characteristic. That knowledge dates from Eve's encounter with the serpent. But the knowledge of good and evil carries with it all the richness of reason and emotion. To be able to remember, to reconstruct one's past, to feel remorse, and to project oneself into the future and dream new dreams, to choose, to imagine, to grieve, to laugh—all these were reserved for man and are summed up in that poetic line: "And God created man in his own image, in the image of God created."

Laughter and tears are above organic nature. Only God and his final creation know how to laugh and why. But man is not God and so man does not always know how or when or why to laugh. Laughter can be the trademark of the cheap, of the cruel, and the evil. Like all other of man's moral attributions, laughter may be the mark of his good or his evil ways. It is because man has the capacity to be a sinner that he may hope to be a saint. He is not an automaton, but he has enough God-given autonomy to move toward all the life, all the joy and the righteousness of which his nature and experience are capable.

It is therefore a sin to be gloomy. The man who sees only the dark side betrays God who is eternal joy and presence. Radiance, joy, even gaiety characterized Jesus. One feels his humor ever near the surface. The late Mahandas K. Gandhi was a sad man because he lived within the dimensions of the suffering and injustice of a caste system, and of national turmoil. However he was one of the gayest and wittiest of men. He was able to see the humor in every situation, the mirth in every smile, the joke in every conversation, not because he was irreverent or trivial, but because he was a man of proportion. This kind of thing is not optimism in the face of disaster, nor Pollyanna's solution to the dark tangles of a troubled world. Laughter, full-toned and free, is that without which there can be no healings of the souls of men.

Sunday Evening Services Scheduled At Camp Chapel

Informal evening services will be held at 1900 in the Camp Protestant Chapel on the next four Sundays, the 9th, 16th, 23rd, and 30th of January.

3. It has been suggested that the President's salary be raised from $75,000 to $150,000 a year. In order for such a salary increase to affect President Truman's pay in the next four years, it would have to be voted by Congress before his inauguration. True or false?

4. By the way, which of these officials receives the salary closest to the President's: (1) Chief Justice of the United States, (2) Vice-President, (3) Economic Cooperation Administrator?

ANSWER

1. The speech—outlining the plan that was to become the European Recovery Program—was made by Secretary of State George C. Marshall at Harvard University in June, 1947.

2. Rio de Janeiro
3. True. Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution, says: "The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected."

4. The Chief Justice of the United States, who is paid $25,500 a year. (Associate Justices get $25,000.) The Vice-President's salary is $20,000, as is that of the Economic Cooperation Administrator.

NEW RIVER RIPPLES

This is a story about a wreck.

It was reported to police by a civilian in Fairmont Park. He called the cops when he saw a car pile up on the sidewalk. Its radiator grill was caved in; its front fender was damaged; it had a smashed headlight, and the front bumper was dangling near the ground.

The police, the park guards and ambulances turned out with sirens screaming. They arrived at the wreck and found a soldier—a private from Camp Kilmer, N. J.—walking around the car and sizing up the situation. And he was very much surprised at all the excitement.

"Sure," he said, "the car belongs to me. A wreck? No, I didn't have a wreck. Yes, the car was in the very same shape when I left camp. Why all the fuss?"

The cops were not satisfied. They wanted an explanation.

"OK," said the soldier, "here's what happened. The wire holding the bumper to the fender broke and caused me to run up on the sidewalk."

"You mean," the cops asked, "that you drove this wreck in its present condition all the way from Camp Kilmer to Philadelphia?"

"Whaddaya mean wreck?" the private asked. "Apparently, you people are not familiar with the sort of private transportation driven by privates in the Army."

Nonchalantly, the soldier borrowed a piece of wire from park police. He fixed up his bumper and dangling fender and drove off to keep a date.

"For gosh sakes," said a cop. "That," said another, "is a masterpiece of understatement."

Hopley Report Stresses Urgency of Civil Defense

Russell J. Hopley of Omaha, resident of the Northwestern Bell telephone Company, was appointed director of the Office of Civil Defense Planning and deputy to the secretary of Defense in civil defense matters last March, to develop and submit to Secretary Forrestal a permanent peacetime program of civil defense which could be quickly expanded in the case of an emergency.

Mr. Hopley's recommendations are the pooled thoughts of specialists from essential fields of participation in an over-all program.

The Hopley group proposed: A National Office of Civil Defense to organize and train the people for civil defense tasks.

Operational responsibility placed in states and communities with mutual assistance plans for aid in emergencies.

Well organized and trained units in communities through the United States and its possessions, prepared and equipped to meet the problems of enemy attack.

Special planning to meet the particular hazards of Atomic or any other modern weapons of warfare.

A permanent peacetime organization which could be used in national disasters.

J'ville NCCS Club Reactivated As USO; Policy Unchanged

The service club for military personnel which has been operated in Jacksonville by the National Catholic Community Service at 9 Tallman Street, during the past year will be known as a USO club and will be operated under USO auspices in the future, Albert J. Ellis, chairman of the NCCS Operating Committee, announced recently.

Coincident with the announcement of this change-over in program sponsorship, USO headquarters officials announced that the National Catholic Community Service has been designated to operate the local USO club under the new arrangement.

During the year of 1948, the NCCS club served 206,079 service men, members of their families and volunteers. Accommodation services have included checking, shopping, wrapping and mailing packages, long distance telephone calls, ironing equipment and shaving and shower supplies.

The program has included dances on Wednesday and Saturday nights, skating on Tuesday and Thursday nights. These programs will be continued in 1949 and new programs will be added.

Arts and crafts, ping pong games, record playing, the use of musical instruments, message recording and photography have provided very popular programs during 1948. These programs will also be continued.

'March Of Dimes' Drive Starts Jan. 15th; Lejeune Is Organized For '49 Campaign

From next Saturday, the 15th, through January 30, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will conduct its annual "March of Dimes" drive to raise funds to combat infantile paralysis. Preparations for the conduct of the 1949 campaign at Camp Lejeune are now nearly completed.

Barracks Hospital

North Carolina's record polio epidemic last summer so overtaxed hospital facilities that it was necessary to convert army buildings in Greensboro and Monroe into polio treatment centers. March of Dimes funds were used in equipping and staffing the centers. Shown above are two polio patients being admitted to the center at Camp Sutton near Monroe, N. C.

The Commanding General, Major General Franklin A. Hart, in a recent Joint Memorandum, expressed the desire that all personnel at Camp Lejeune, military and civil service, be extended the opportunity for participation in this worthy cause. All contributions to be on a voluntary basis.

The following organization has been established for the operation of the 1949 "March of Dimes" campaign at this base:

Campaign Chairman and Marine Barracks Campaign Director: Commander Richard E. Barnes, (ChC) USN, Camp Chaplain.

Second Marine Division Campaign Director: Lt. Comdr. Raymond McManus (ChC) USN, Assistant Division Chaplain.

U. S. Naval Hospital Campaign Director: Capt. Allan S. Christman (MC) USN, Executive Officer.

Civil Service Campaign Director: Major Kermit C. Zieg, Industrial Relations Officer.

Campaign Treasurer: Capt. E. E. Gebhart, USMC, Camp Adjutant.

Complete Pay Revision Recommended; All Services Agree On Major Points

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—The three services are in "general agreement" on the major provisions of the Hook Commission's recommendations for general pay increases in Service pay, and Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal has stated that he expects to forward to the Budget Bureau draft legislation which will certainly embody its principal features," it was recently reported.

The proposed revision of the military pay structure was designed to give most Service personnel pay increases to bring them in line with comparable civilian responsibilities. It was emphasized, however, that these are merely proposals and must be acted upon by various agencies before any changes are forthcoming.

Responsibility was the paramount factor in determining pay adjustments. Longevity was given less importance.

SOME OF THE INCREASES

First three-graders under the proposed plan would average about one-third increase over present pay and they would receive allowances comparable to those provided for commissioned officers.

"Fogie" increases would be made on a flat scale every two years for the first 18 years, and every four years thereafter, instead of the present rate of five per cent for every three-year "hitch."

Grade seven soldiers should not receive increases, the Commission recommended, because (a) cost of living is taken care of by free clothing, shelter and food; (b) automatic promotion at the end of four months; (c) the $75 a month pay along with other benefits is better than comparable pay in industry and future opportunities are more promising.

RECOMMEND TAX EXEMPTION

Pending Congressional action on the proposed plan, the Commission recommended that the income tax exemption for military personnel, which expired December 31, 1948, be extended.

The Hook Commission's exhaustive, year-long study was the first comprehensive survey of military pay made since 1908. "During the 40-year interval," the report states, "the concept and pattern of pay in general have undergone radical changes," with certain inequities arising as a result.

In the Commission's effort to revamp pay schedules along more equitable lines, it sought the representative views within the Services themselves as well in private industry so that a comparable basis of comparison between the two might be reached.

SOME "SPECIAL PAYS"

RETAINED

The Commission would abolish family allowances, but allowances for first three-graders would be increased and extended to include fourth-graders with as much as seven years' service. Enlistment allowances would compensate for future, not past, service.

Elimination of all special pay, including so-called "fringe" pay which have been added to basic pay from time to time because of a generally inadequate pay rate, was recommended in the report. Three types of special pay, however, would be retained. They are: (1) hazardous duty, (2) sea and foreign duty (for enlisted personnel only), and (3) induc-

Course In Effective Salesmanship Being Offered Through MCI

Everyone has something to sell. Often it is an idea, a commodity, or a service, but hardly a day passes that we are not called upon to sell ourselves. In applying for a position it is necessary to convince the prospective employer that the applicant will be an asset to his business. He must be sold. A fundamental knowledge of selling is required if this is to be accomplished effectively.

In selling, false modesty and under-estimation of personal ability must be pushed aside. When the individual has accurately determined what it is he has to sell there is nothing left but to learn how to sell it. One of the tricks then is to master the rudiments of the profession.

SALESMANSHIP A SCIENCE

Salesmanship is the very hub of commercial life. The entire business world is dependent upon it and the man who aspires to the profession must assume a dignity equal to its importance. He cannot do this without learning the essentials of selling or by lacking the confidence gained by knowing the right way to sell. Unless he can justify a claim to efficient salesmanship, the "hack" salesman must certainly give way to the more learned and experienced men who have prepared themselves.

There are well-defined laws of selling no intelligent individual would knowingly ignore if he would safeguard himself against slammed doors. The efficient salesman of today realizes the importance of public speaking, personal appearance, and the necessity of being familiar with his product. High pressure "foot-in-the-door" selling is as dated as the buggy whip.

Businessmen explain that it is necessary to enter the field to gain experience but foolhardy to do so

Dedication The memorial stained glass windows in both the Protestant and Catholic Chapels were officially dedicated on Sunday, 25 April, in beautiful ceremonies attended by many distinguished persons including the Commandant of the Marine Corps. At 1100, the Very Reverend Father Ignatius Smith, Ph.D., Ltd., S.T.D., Dean of Philosophy at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. preached the Pontifical Mass at the Catholic Chapel. The Right Reverend Vincent S. Waters, Bishop of Raleigh, blessed the windows and is shown below with Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart (left) and General C. B. Cates. Rear Admiral William N. Thomas, chief of Navy Chaplains, delivered the dedication address at the Protestant Chapel at 1500. The tower chimes were also dedicated at the Camp Chapel during the service.

Swimmers of the Camp Lejeune swimmers total of 51 awards in the aquatic teams in many years. In the court meet, dropping only one second place while premacy in all events in the Group VI competition the All-Navy finals; then went on to win A. Hart presented the trophies and awards shown below (center) with the members of the team and Cpl. Walter Sorg, team captain.

Matches TSgt. Percy W. Hawes (inst) broke existing Marine Corps pistol record during the SE Division match the last week in May, firing 562 out of a possible 600. High scorer in the rifle match was MSgt. Aaron C. Ivey with a 568. Both men were from Camp Lejeune. The Lejeune rifle and pistol team showed exceptional marksmanship and won highest honors during these matches held at the Lejeune range (below). The 2d Com-SerGrp rifle team went on to Quantico to win the Elliott Trophy and the SE Division rifle team, composed principally of personnel of the 2d Division, copped the Inter-Division Rifle Match at Quantico.

Reserves The largest Marine Corps Reserve training program ever undertaken at Camp Lejeune really got under way the first week in July and ended the first week in September with approximately 12,600 officers and men of the civilian component of the Corps brought up to date on the latest in tactics and techniques. Volunteer reservists, within quotas, received on-the-job training and organized units participated in an intensive training program concluded with an actual amphibious problem (below) which was one phase of the comprehensive program similar to all others in that practical application of lessons was emphasized.

Maneuvers The 2d Marine Division participated in a simulated attack and amphibious landings in a key operation during the 30-day training maneuvers of the Atlantic Fleet held in the Western Atlantic and Caribbean areas 9 February through 19 March. The new mobility of the division was proven highly effective during the exercises and coordination between all branches of the services was termed "excellent." Below, the 4th Marines storm ashore to establish a beachhead on Vieques Island, West Indies, during the maneuvers.

Commandant of the Marine Corps, General Clifton B. Cates, arrived at Camp Lejeune April 23 on his first official visit to this giant base. On Friday afternoon, he reviewed the entire 2d Marine Division. As the final stage of the parade, aircraft of the 2d Marine Air Wing passed over head. Gen. Cates is shown below, extreme left, with Lt. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, CG, FMFLant; Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of Camp Lejeune and the 2d Marine Division; and Maj. Gen. Field Harris, CG, AirLant and 2d Marine Air Wing, on the reviewing stand. Friday evening, a reception in honor of the Com mandant was held at the Officers' Mess. The personnel and facilities of the Marine Barracks were i nspected by General Cates Saturday morning. On Sunday, the Commandant was among the disting uished guests at the Chapel Memorial Window dedication.

Anniversary Camp Lejeune observed the 173rd anniversary of the United States Marine Corps with many special events and cake-cutting ceremonies. In the morning, personnel of the 2d Division and Marine Barracks participated in a parade in honor of Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, Commander in Chief, Atlantic Fleet, who was honored guest on this special occasion. At Marston Pavilion, Montford Point, the Staff NCO Club (below), and the Officers' Mess, Admiral Blandy, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, and Brig. Gen. H. D. Linscott, performed the traditional cake-cutting ceremonies during Anniversary dances at all four places.

Sports The entire sports program at Lejeune during 1948 was one of which all hands could well be proud. The major varsity teams racked up impressive records for their respective seasons and minor sports also worked their way into the limelight through outstanding contributions to this base's already enviable reputation in the world of service sports. An intensified program during the past year boosted the Marines' sports stock and at year's end the outlook for 1949 was indeed bright.

NEA Visit Lejeune was host to many distinguished guests on 10 May when more than 230 members of the National Editorial Association visited this most complete amphibious training base. The group arrived at noon and was escorted to the Supply Schools Battalion mess hall for luncheon. In the afternoon, the editors and publishers witnessed a full-scale mock invasion at Onslow Beach. Over 1,600 troops of the 4th Marines, reinforced, established a beachhead and secured an area suitable for landing a more heavily armed force. Concealed demolitions, blank amunition, and flame throwers gave the demonstration the atmosphere of the real thing.

'Fireballs' Top 5-Man Bowling Team At Staff NCO Club; Mixed Doubles Next

Another season of the five-man team bowling league at the Staff N. C. O. Club, Hadnot Point, drew to a close recently after a hard fight and much spilling of the maples. Famed Basketball Trick Shot Artist May Appear Here

Tentative arrangements are being made for Mr. Wilfred Hetzel to appear as a preliminary attraction at the varsity basketball game between Greenville AFB and Camp Lejeune in Gym 201 on the 28th.

Mr. Hetzel is a famed basketball trick shot artist who can do just about anything with the ball including drop-kicking it through the hoop. In fact, he can do a few things that seem to border on the impossible.

Thirty minutes of fine pre-game entertainment is in store for Lejeune hoop fans on the 28th if all goes well. Keep the date in mind and watch for further announcements in following issues of the Globe.

Baseball Schedule Shaping-Up; 60-Game Season Expected

The baseball schedule is being prepared with approximately a 60-game season expected. Several major league teams have been invited to play exhibition games here but as yet no confirmation has been received.

Officers Interested In Starting Another Bowling Tournament

Cause And Cure

Teachers of more than 2,000,000 children in elementary grades last year received American Red Cross guides for instruction on prevention of accidents, which are the greatest causes of death among children. The guides have been revised and distributed again this season.

Bulletin

The Camp Lejeune quintet defeated the Langley Field Air Force team Tuesday night by a score of 72-53, according to a dispatch received yesterday.

Coming out strong, the Marines, behind the fine rebound play of Howie Westphal and the scrappy back court ball handling of Anderson, held the lead at the half 34-24.

Bishop was high scorer with 20 and Westphal was right behind him with 17 points.

The local court stars now have 14 wins to their credit in 16 starts.

Ft. Monroe Five Topped By Locals To Tune Of 76-48

By SSGT. E. M. GREEN
FORT MONROE, Va., January 2:—The Camp Lejeune quintet started the new year off in fine style tonight as they put the Fort Monroe Army five down to defeat 76-48.

The Marines, sparked by the outstanding rebound play of Howie Westphal, took command early in the game and were never pressed. The first string five were pulled about halfway through the first period with Bishop having scored 12, Anderson 11, and Kubisley 10. The second string continued to score at will, making the score at halftime 49-22.

The second half saw the same team come back on the floor to run up a 60-31 lead with 10 minutes left to play. The first string then took over, and in spite of the determined play of Brown, Army's flashy forward, pulled ahead to leave a convincing final score.

The game was played on a very small floor, which caused many fouls and resulted in a rather rough and rugged game.

The Marines will travel to Langley Field where they will play on the 4th, and thence to Norfolk, where they will engage the Naval Air Station five on the 6th.

Explanation Of Judo Aim Of Forthcoming Series Of Articles

Commencing next week, the Globe will print the first of a series of three articles on Judo by Lt. Donn Draeger who holds his 1st Degree Black Belt and has teaching rank in this sport.

Lt Draeger, who is presently coach for the Camp Lejeune Judo Team, hopes to dispel the common misconception about Judo and point out the capabilities of this sport in order that a better understanding may result. The art of Judo as practiced here is considerably different from the military version with which most Marines are familiar.

TEAM MEETINGS

The Judo team will meet in Gym

The Airborne fighters are all conceded to be the best Southeast and this contest, unknown at this writing, may prove a good indication of our fighters' prowess.

The tempo of squared engagements steps up this month with a series of bouts scheduled on the 13th, 14th, and 15th. Concord, N. C. These Golden Gloves elim will serve to the team on a long road through the various stages of amateur competition, which, if the fighters can hold their own, will lead to the top in a few months.

Indications are that boxing will be this year, as in the one of Lejeune's strong sports. Lt. Cockrum, boxing manager, named no one fighter as a particular standout prior to the match inasmuch as they have been training rigorously and nearing top condition. Only in competition will the skill of the be determined; and by next something should be known definitely of the strength and weakness of the team.

Training Warning Sounded This Week For Diamond Hopefuls

The Athletic Office sounded a warning this week to all potential baseball candidates for the varsity team. It must be remembered that, to get in good physical condition, the individual should wait to start conditioning until team actually turns out.

All baseball hopefuls are urged to start conditioning now on their own hook and get the jump on the boys with all the surplus weight and short wind who wait till the last minute to start training. A few hints to start aspiring on the right track are:

1. Cut out or cut down on sweets.
2. Eliminate all alcoholic beverages.
3. Watch the food situation. You have an inactive job, do partake of too much heavy food. Heavy eating becomes a habit and is hard to break.
4. Maintain regular sleep hours.
5. Perhaps the most important hint to any athlete is to get plenty of road work. This should start at least 45 days prior to the first organized practice for try-outs. Start out with short trots and increase the distance daily. Connie Mack is generally credited with saying, "A ball player's legs in shape and his arm will be in shape."

If a baseball player is in good physical shape when he turns out for a team his chances of making the team are increased fifty percent.

Did you ever hear the story of the little moron who flooded the gym because the coach told him he was going in as a sub?

401 for the remainder of this week. Beginning Monday, the team will meet in Gym 300 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights at 1800.

RAMBLING ON A ROYAL: Full provisions for extraordinary radio coverage of the precedence-establishing activities that will historically mark the Presidential inaugural on Thursday, January 20, have been made by M.B.S. and will in turn be beamed out to you by WJNC. WJNC and Mutual plans to start its broadcast of the ceremonies that day at 11:30 A. M.

Mutual's broadcasting plans, based on the schedule now outlined by the inaugural committee in charge, call for the network to go "on the air" from Washington when the President leaves his home to proceed to the Capitol for the ceremonies.

The four and one-half hour parade from the Capitol to the White House, during which Mr. Truman is expected to establish a precedent by riding in the lead car, will intermittently be aired by MBS starting at 1:30 P. M. This broadcast will feature running descriptions and commentaries from the assigned MBS men in the jeep flanking the parade, from the men on their hotel marquee and rooftop vantage points and from those with the mobile packs mingling with the crowds.

In addition to the actual inaugural ceremonies Mutual's plans include a special broadcast from the Washington Armory on Wednesday evening, January 19, where stars of radio, stage and screen will highlight a three-hour inaugural ball honoring Mr. Truman and Mr. Barkley. Broadcast time is set for 9:15 P.M. and still climbs into the ring to deliver practical instruction to his collegiate charges at College Park. In 1908, after being knocked down thirteen times in a match with Jimmy Dwyer, he came back to win the bout.

Born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in 1888, Colonel Miller enlisted in the Navy in April, 1906, first serving on the USS Constellation and USS Boxer, both sailing ships. First combat ship assignment was an armored cruiser, the USS Maryland.

Foreign service with the Navy took him to Cuba, the Philippines, China, Nicaragua, and Mexico.

After service in World War I as a Navy Reserve Officer, he was appointed a captain in the Marine Corps Reserve in 1925. Four years later he recruited, organized and commanded the 401st Company, Marine Corps Reserve, in the District of Columbia, drawing the first 65 members from the Washington police force.

From 1930 to 1940 he commanded Washington's Fifth Marine Corps Reserve Battalion, mobilizing the unit in November, 1940. For some months, during training in Cuba and Puerto Rico, he commanded a regular infantry battalion of the 1st Marine Division, and later commanded service troops, equivalent to a Colonel Miller has held high office in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is now national vice-president of the Marine Corps Reserve Officers Association.

Onetime sports editor of the Washington Herald, he was also managing editor of Our Navy Magazine and founder and managing editor of the U. S. Coast Guard Magazine.

Both of Colonel Miller's grandfathers served in the 5th Wisconsin Infantry, Union Army, in the Civil War.

Colonel Miller takes special pride in the rare Reserve Special Commendation Ribbon which he earned for service as a commanding officer in the Organized Marine Corps Reserve commencing in 1929.

At the present time a course in Effective Salesmanship is being offered to Marines by the Marine Corps Institute. Your interest, time, and effort are all that's necessary to take this college level course. Analyzing character, memory training, selling procedure, public speaking, sales-letter writing, and other phases of selling are all included in this course. ment pay for doctors, surgeons, and dentists (except internes) on active duty.

About the same retirement, disability and allied benefits for officers and enlisted men, Reservists as well as those on active duty, are recommended. At the present there are no disability benefits for enlisted men with less than 20 years service, nor are there any disability benefits for Reserves in training, except through the Veterans Administration, and no death benefits except through the VA and National Service Life Insurance.

DEATH BENEFITS

Free death benefits up to $10,000 are recommended for all active and retired personnel to replace the present death gratuity of six months pay and National Service Life Insurance. Repeal of NSLI, except for policies then in effect, is recommended if and when a pay bill is enacted.

In the matter of retirement, the commission recommends that an officer have the right to retire, if he has 20 years or more of service, after he has reached the age of 60 and the right to request retirement at any age after he has served for 30 years. The same provisions apply to enlisted personnel except that the latter have the right to retire at 50 with 20 years of service.

Disability provisions, applying to active and inactive personnel, relate disability to years of service. A retirement of 30 per cent disability, under VA standards, is recommended for retirement pay. Distinction is also made between disability resulting from active or inactive training and disability sustained in normal civilian

DISPLACEMENT PROGRAMS

It is the responsibility of the Civil Service Commission to determine the minimum qualifications necessary for the performance of the duties of the various positions in the competitive service.

Once the qualifications have been determined for the various positions they are announced in the form of a competitive examination. These examinations are open to the general public except when restricted to veterans.

The names of persons who receive eligible ratings in the examination and are otherwise qualified are entered on registers according to their assigned numerical rating. Persons with the highest numerical rating are listed at the top of the register and are certified for appointment in that order.

Once a register has been established and consists of an adequate number of names to fill all the positions in that classification, a certificate is issued to the agency to replace persons occupying positions in the competitive service who do not have competitive or probational status.

This is called a displacement program and would be made in the following order:

(1) War-service and other tem-activities. No such difference presently exists.

Mr. Forrester called the report a "monumental document" in which there were "naturally some differences of opinion" among the Services. But, he added, these were "not numerous."

Suitor (kidding little sister): "I'll give you a dime for a kiss."

Little Sister: "Heck, I can make more than that taking castor oil."

porary appointees who have competed or qualified in the appropriate examination.

(2) All other war-service and other temporary appointees in inverse order of ranking on Commission's register of eligibles unless they are reached and selected for probational appointment.

(3) Whenever the Commission has available eligibles of a particular sex only, it may order displacement of war-service temporary employees of that sex before the displacement of service and temporary employees of the other sex. In such case the order of separation of employees of the same sex shall be set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) above.

Boards of U. S. Civil Service examiners have been delegated responsibility to handle displacements of temporary and war-service appointees whenever and to the extent that the condition register and the administrative situation permits. Camp Lejeune has been affected by a few displacement programs and must expect others in the future until all positions are filled by competitive probational appointment. Personnel employed at this Camp are advised that they should compete for all examinations for their position until they acquire competitive probational status or they may expect eventually to be displaced. A person is displaced under a program it would mean the termination of his appointment in that classification but would not remove him from any temporary appointment for which he may be qualified in other classifications.
