Outstanding EM Be Assigned Naval School

A limited number of outstanding, unqualified, and interested enlisted men of the Navy and Marine will be assigned to the Naval School, Academy and College in January of 1949, according to AINav 74. Nominations must be in the hands of Personnel by 15 December and be accompanied by Form Y. Applications for candidates are as follows:

- of officer caliber.
- a citizen of the United States
- have enlisted in the Navy or Marine Corps on or before 1 of the year in which the Academy entrance examination is held.

Home Tax Relief Services Will Be Sought By NME

National Military Establishment will press for extension of the 10 income tax exemption for military personnel as a stop-gap measure until Congress acts on coming pay revisions, it was stated by the Army-Navy Journal last week.

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal reported intention to guard service personnel from cuts by restoration of the exemption—at least until pay scales are adopted.

The proposal that the income tax exemption be continued is embodied in the 1949 legislative program of the NME, which will be submitted to the Bureau of Budget at the White House on 29 Nov.

Secretary Forrestal told a press conference this week that the Commission on Service Pay "just about completed" its awaited report.

Marines' Present Call To China Service Continues A 128-Year-Old Tradition

WASHINGTON, D. C.—November 19—Announcement that 1250 United States Marines from Guam are being rushed to China to assist in the evacuation of American nationals marks another chapter in Leatherstocking service in the Orient which extends over the past 128 years, historical records of Marines Corps Headquarters reveal.

During their long service in the Far East the Marines have helped to maintain order in the midst of two revolutions, the Sino-Japanese war, untold minor rebellions and in all this time the Marines have drawn into actual field operations only one disorder—the Boxer Rebellion of 1900.

China's long record of internal disorders has been marked by frequent waves of anti-foreign sentiment, particularly under the

Special Holiday Leave Periods Designated

The leave periods for Marine Barracks personnel for the Christmas-New Year Holidays were designated by Camp Headquarters this week. Fifty percent of the command may be on leave during each of the eight-day periods.

Similar leave periods have been designated for 2d Division personnel in Division Memorandum Number 213-48.

For Marine Barracks, the first period commences at 0800 December 21 and ends at 2400 December 28. The second period will be from 0800 December 29 to 2400 January 5. The percentage of personnel on leave from Marine Barracks commands during each of these periods will not exceed fifty percent of current strength.

Applications for leave will be submitted in accordance with existing regulations. Approval is subject to the exigencies of the service. Requests for extensions of leave during this period will NOT be granted or answered unless prior verification is received from the American Red Cross indicating the actual need for such an extension.

Personnel who live great distances away and desire to avail themselves of leave in excess of eight days may do so, provided they have the necessary leave to their credit, by commencing the first period earlier than 21 December, or by extending the second period beyond 5 January 1949. Leave granted extending

10th Marines Stage Demonstration For Students At MCS

QUANTICO, Va., November 19—Heavy guns of the 10th Marines roared again yesterday afternoon on the ranges here as the famed artillery regiment staged a demonstration for students at the Marine Corps Schools.

Taking part were, one battery of 75mm pack howitzers, three 105mm howitzer batteries, one 155mm howitzer battery, one 155mm self-propelled gun and a platoon of 4.5 inch rocket artillery. All but one of the units came from Camp Lejeune.

Lt. Gen. Keller E. Kockey, commanding general of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic; Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., and Brig. Gen. Dudley S. Brown, the commandant and assistant commandant of Marine Corps Schools; Brig. Gen. Robert Blake, Inspector General of the Marine Corps, and Brig. Gen. Louis R. Jones, president of the Marine Corps Equipment Board, attended.

Turkey Hunting On The Reservation Starts Monday; Sportsmanship Urged

Turkey season opens Monday, 29 November, on the Camp Lejeune reservation and continues through 8 December. Only gobblers may be taken and the bag limit per day is one, possession limit 2, and bag limit for the season 3.

Obey the law and preserve the game.

The current Hunting season is the first time that North Carolina or Camp Lejeune has been open for turkey shooting since the 1943-1944 season. During these closed years the turkey population of Camp Lejeune, which had been in danger of extinction, has increased until this year there are a reasonable number of turkeys on the reservation. These turkeys, however, could hardly be called WILD turkeys, having become partially tame due to their not having been hunted for the past several years.

Hunters are asked to be sporting in their taking of any game, and of turkeys in particular. Any personnel who are apprehended shooting game out of season, or in possession of more than their authorized limit of game, will be subject to disciplinary action.

We Have Much For Which To Be Thankful

Thanksgiving

On December 21, 1620, a small group of pilgrims landed off Cape Cod, in Massachusetts, and settled in Plymouth.

The London Company, anxious to have more settlers in Virginia, had readily granted them permission to settle in Virginia. Their pilot, through error, had brought them to the shores of Cape Cod, where they landed, without a patent right to the soil—nor a charter, or power to set up a government.

This hardy band of settlers was determined to find a home in the wilderness, and carve out a community where they might worship their God according to their own consciences.

Their first winter on the stern and rock-bound coast of New England was not easy. Bradford, their first Governor and Historian wrote later—"It pleased God to vassite us, with death dayly, and with so general a disease that the living were scarce able to burie their dead."

These hungry pilgrims discovered a store of buried Indian corn, which staved off starvation. They made friends with an Indian, Squanto, who taught them how to plant the grains, and how to fertilize them by placing two dead fish in each hill of corn. The hardy and courageous colonists survived.

The following spring, realizing how essential it was to produce a bountiful harvest in order to stave off sickness and starvation during the coming winter, this little group worked long and hard in the fields and was rewarded with a bountiful crop. Being deeply religious people, they set aside a day for thanksgiving for the harvest.

From that time until today, each year after the harvest we celebrate Thanksgiving. Each year the President of the United States, beginning with Lincoln, has issued a proclamation setting aside a Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day. The last Thursday in the month was chosen.

The hardy spirit and courageous vision of this group of pioneers, carried on through the years by our ancestors, has enabled us to build a great nation of plenty. With starvation grimly stalking the war-torn world, we in America truly have much to be thankful for on this Thanksgiving Day.—W. B. K.

Marine Brigadier General John H. Russell was appointed by Warren G. Hardin in 1922 as American High Commissioner to Haiti.

Amphibian tanks, known as "alligator" tanks, were used by the Marines as early as 1924.

Chaplain's Corner

Thanks, God

We are pretty proud of this country of ours. We appreciate it a lot more after we have been around a bit in the Mediterranean or Pacific or Caribbean and had a chance to see how the rest of the world lives. True, there are some things here that need adjustment and clearing up—but all in all there's no place like the good old U. S. A.

But suppose our American history had begun a bit differently—suppose that our great and inspiring leader—"The Father of Our Country", George Washington—had not been on our side in the Revolution with his military genius his towering confidence and his ability to hold together an effective fighting force of volunteers? Suppose he had been on the other side and fighting against us?

When Washington was just a boy his father died, leaving George and his mother rather poor. The boy decided to earn his own living. An opportunity arose for him to enter the British Navy and in time become an officer in that service. The English Admiral Vernon, after whom Washington later named his historic estate, had promised to help him. Everything was arranged. George even had his uniform.

But when the time for parting came, his mother broke down and cried. She pleaded with George not to leave her alone. The boy's face must have been white in the agony of his decision, this giving up of something upon which he had set his heart. But for his mother's sake he gave it all up. He took off his bright "middy" uniform and laid it away in his sailor's chest. Next day he watched the warship on which he was to be an officer sailing away in the bright sunshine. He had given it all up to show his mother he really did appreciate what she had done for him. A young boy's sacrifice—but it may well have been an apparently insignificant and merely personal decision that actually changed the pattern of world history. The United States of America that grew from his military victories is today the greatest nation of the modern world.

The tremendous amount of sacrifice that has gone into the building and preservation of our wonderful country, the thousands and thousands of Marines, sailors and soldiers who gave their priceless lives to pay the interest on our freedom and plenty, may well be forgotten by a thoughtless majority on this holiday of feast-making. In our frailty we are so apt to take everything we can get without a thought of looking around for someone to whom we should say "Thanks".

For example, the man who, when the subject of religion comes up, declares his position thus: "Like the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, I say, 'Take the Cash, and let the Credit go'—religion hurts my head". Thanksgiving to him means a day wherein traditionally you get a big meal of turkey and all the trimmings—only that and nothing more.

Now, the number of men who THINK in that agnostic or selfishly materialistic groove may not be very great; but, there are a great many who ACT as if they did. The vast majority of men, after they have matured to straight thinking to the extent of being able to recognize the evidence of a Supreme Intelligence controlling the planets and nature and all in the universe, have no question about God running the show. Every good fortune with which our country and we personally have been favored can have come to us only by the Divine Providence we recognize as God. He has directed us as a minimum of recognition to give up a part of our time to acknowledge Him publicly by worship. Sure, it's a sacrifice of a bit of our ease, but it's also a duty of gratitude. It's meant to be and should be a pleasant duty to perform, like showing affection to our mother, wife or father. It's not enough to THINK gratitude or love; we are naturally geared to EXPRESS such things, and the young man who does not give over at least, say, that one hour out of the week's 168 to adore God publicly on Sunday is ACTING as if he does not recognize God.

The keynote of the Thanksgiving holiday was intended to be gratitude—to Divine Providence. Take a check: has our vocabulary with our Creator run more to "Please" than to "Thanks"?

In a world of hunger and want and tyranny, our blessings of plenty and freedom are not to be taken for granted. To Him from Whom we have received, so much we should—not just on this national holiday but regularly in public worship through the year—express our sincere and heartfelt "Thanks".

Follies De Paree' Well-Received; Miller And McBee Comedy Team Stars

The latest stage show to play Lejeune, the "Follies De Paree," was received for both performances at the Camp Theater Monday night by the comedy team of Miller and McBee rated best by the enthusiastic Marines.

The old-time minstrel act of Miller and McBee took three curtain calls and won thunderous applause for the hilarious routines. Well-formed blackface is always a fire pleaser and this show's comedy team was well "on the spot."

Christina's original jungle dances definitely held the rapt attention of the audience and the graceful rhythm of this lovely young dancer made a very appealing part of the show.

The fast repertoire of humorous and an original comedy skit led Jean Ederle, Mistress of Ceremonies to keep the audience laughing from the first act to the last. Kayne and Foster charmed the audience with bright smiles and exciting dancing, their gay routines interesting why they starred at the stage Barn in New York.

The entire show was well backed-up with the Parisian rhythm band featuring hot drums, saxophone, and trumpet.

This was another successful show engaged through the efforts of Camp Special Services.

Navy And Marine Personnel Study Guided Missiles

(SEA)—Selected Navy and Marine Corps officers and enlisted technicians are undergoing intensive training to learn the inner workings of guided missiles.

Under the surveillance of civilian scientists and technicians, sailors and marines are being prepared for the day when the new weapons will be operationally ready. Principal instruction is at the Applied Physics Laboratory, Johns Hopkins University, in Silver Spring, Md.

On-the-job training is stressed in the present program which started in 1946. The initial class still is in session. Trainees study jet propulsion, guidance, telemetering and test range instrumentation. In addition they learn about pre-flight testing, launching and control of missiles in flight.

"Bumblebee"—a scientific project involving development of guided missiles powered by ram jet engines—is coordinated with on-the-job training. The Maryland laboratory coordinates and supervises technical research. See GUIDED MISSILE On Page 6

'British Combined Operations' Featured In New Gazette; Amphib Experiments Traced

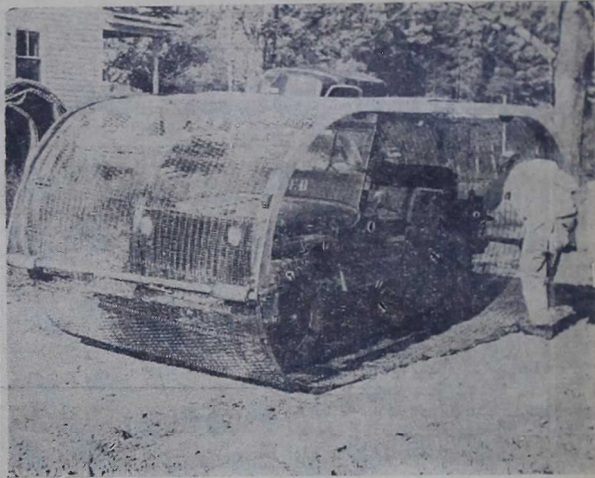

Featured in the December issue of the MARINE CORPS GAZETTE is BRITISH COMBINED OPERATIONS by Lieutenant Colonel Rathvon M. Tompkins. The Colonel traces British experiments in amphibious operations and their unfortunate early failures in this type of warfare.

With the coming of World War II, Great Britain had no material and not even a sound tactical doctrine on which to build for counter-landings against Hitler-held Europe. Hence the abortive expeditions against Narvik and Trondheim; the brave, but somehow frantic improvisation of Commandos; the "success in reverse" at Dunkirk; and the gallant but futile Dieppe. Britain emerged from the war with a sound concept of "combined operations," but the lesson was bitterly taught.

Colonel Tompkins says "... In

Squirrel Cage

For driving over swamps, pot holes, bogs, soft beaches, and heavy underbrush, the Marine Corps has developed a "squirrel cage" for jeeps. It is a continuous road matting which runs under the wheels of the vehicle and then back over the top, providing a continuous portable road surface wherever the jeep goes. In tests the vehicle has climbed over logs and pushed over sapling sized trees.

Equipment Board Tests Amphibious Materiel; Keeps Corps Combat-Ready

One of the organizations which has assisted in keeping the Marine Corps combat-ready in times of peace and in maintaining its 173 years of fighting tradition is the Marine Corps Equipment Board at the Marine Corps Schools in Quantico, Virginia.

With the Corps striving to maintain a peacetime readiness of both Regular and Reserve components, the board, headed by Brigadier General Louis R. Jones, backs up the men with the guns by developing, testing, and perfecting the equipment employed by landing forces in amphibious operations. One of its main obs is to prevent any fiascos from new equipment failing in actual field or combat operations.

For example, once the Marines were interested in a manufacturer's sample of a paper blanket which was light, inexpensive, and warm. But when the Equipment Board sent a detachment of Marines on a wet, snowy bivouac one winter to test the blanket, they found to their chills discomfort that the blanket was not durable when exposed to rain or wet snow.

Among the types of equipment being tested or developed by the board are combat weapons, new types of electronics and signal communications equipment, and amphibious vehicles and the accessory equipment for moving them across soft beach-heads, swamps, and undeveloped terrain.

The board is also modifying or improving standard weapons, landing vehicles, clothing, and cooking and eating utensils. Furthermore it tests material and equipment developed by other services to determine their suitability for landing force use.

For instance, the board has been testing a light portable roadway mat which can be laid by a truck or a DUKW. By laying this matting the vehicle can make a roadway for itself and other vehicles as it comes ashore from a landing craft. A modification of this portable matting is a continuous traction roadway mat, called a "squirrel cage" which can be attached to a standard jeep. This permits the See EQUIPMENT BOARD Page 6

Lejeune Scuttles USS Coral Sea Gridders 78-

Camp Lejeune Vs. Parris Island Today At PI; Final Game For Local Eleven

The Lejeune Marines went South this week to spend Thanksgiving afternoon on the Parris Island gridiron for the final game of the local schedule. Fresh from their stunning victory over the Coral Sea, the local lads were accompanied by a large body of rooters on the journey.

Parris Island has record comparable to the Lejeuners, — they have beaten teams like Ft. Jackson, S. C.; Greenville, AFB, S. C.; and Cherry Point, while suffering defeats at the hands of Jax NAS, and last weekend, a 51-7 loss at the hands of mighty Quantico.

Two weeks ago, they almost scored an upset when they forced the Fort Bragg All-Americans to come from behind to gain a 20-13 victory. Chief PI threat in this game was halfback Ed Petrevitch, who made a 105 yard touchdown dash late in the fourth quarter.

Fullback Bob Kaiser, who has scored 21 points this season, will spearhead the Recruit Depot attack in today's game, with a 200 pound forward wall to front for him.

The Lejeuners will probably use their passing attack often during the afternoon, and the local gridgers are bound to run into some tough opposition whether they try the aerial or ground route. One thing is definite; the game will not be another "Coral Sea".

Rooters who accompanied the team for the game will feel right at home, for the Second Division Band and Drum and Bugle Corps will take to the field at half time, along with the Parris Island Band, to entertain all hands with music and marching.

Lejeune Cagers Look Well Against NC State Wolfpack

The 800 basketball fans who crowded into Gymn 201 last Saturday evening were treated to the finest display of basketball talent this base has been accorded as Everett Case, Coach of the N. C. State Wolfpack, and his Southern Conference Champions went through an exciting scrimmage with the Camp Lejeune Marines.

As an added feature, Coach Case held an hour long clinic on coaching prior to the scrimmage, using his squad as a demonstration team. The Wolfpack showed the reason for their prowess on the hardwood as Coach Case put them through their paces—they are one of the best coached teams any of the spectators had ever witnessed. Also included in the clinic was a brief and interesting review of current basketball rules by Southern Conference Official Ernie Bello. Bello made his officiating interesting and enjoyable during the scrimmage also, as he proved that officiating can be fair, and almost a pleasure for both teams.

The Wolfpack had nothing to fear from the Marines, as the majority of the NC State cagers stood at least a head over everyone on the Lejeune squad. The final score read 103 to 59, with the Wolfpack naturally on top, but the fact that the Lejeune squad was able to make nearly 60 points against their far superior opponents, when teams like Cherry Point and Fort Bragg were not able to go higher than 30 or 40 points, proves that the Lejeune squad should be able to hold its own in service competition this year.

Nearly all the first half Lejeune goals were made by set shots—the height of the Wolfpack squad and their tight defense, made any close ball handling virtually impossible. The local cagers were nervous, and several times their ball handling was off. Almost any team, however, would appear lacking in finesse alongside the Wolfpack. At the half, State led by a 59-31 margin.

During the second half, Lejeune kept pecking away at the Wolf-

Scoring better than a point a minute, the Lejeune Marines triumphed over the USS Coral Sea at Hadnot Point last Saturday in a touchdown spree that gave them three touchdowns in the quarter while holding the opposition scoreless.

'Growlers' Tournament At Local Golf Course Won By Pfc Williams

The golfers of Camp Lejeune, using perfect weather as an inspiration, played some near perfect golf over the weekend while competing in the "Growlers" Tournament at Paradise Point.

Pfc. K. B. Williams won himself a $14.00 PX Merchandise Chit by taking first place with the narrow margin of 1-2 a stroke. M/Sgt. C. C. Adams won second prize, a $12.00 PX Chit, and third place went to Major F. J. Lutz. The third place prize was a $9.00 PX Chit.

WO V. T. aGarrison and Lt. W. S. Anthony placed 4th and 5th, respectively, to win PX Chits of $6 and $4, while Lt.Col. P. R. Tyler and HM1/c T. J. Hornbuckle tied for the 6th prize, and each was awarded a $2.50 PX Chit.

Low gross honors were captured by M/Sgt. C. C. Adams, who shot a 70. Lt. W. S. Anthony was next in the race for low score with a 72. Winners were determined by subtracting 3-4 of their established handicap from their gross score.

Scores are listed below:
Williams—65 3-4 (83-17 1-4)
Adams—66 1-4 (70-3 3-4)
Lutz—66 3-4 (78-11 1-4)
Garrison—68 (74-6)
Anthony—68 1-4 (74-5 3-4)
Tyler—69 1-4 (88-18 3-4)
Hornbuckle—69 1-4 (76-6 3-4)

The touchdown parade commenced with the opening kickoff quarterback Plak took the ball and ran through a broken field of splendid blocking to score, continued until the final moments of the game when Gardner accepted a Navy pass and ran yards for the final score of 3-0.

Ptak and Hershey headed the scoring list with two apiece. Building at 20-0. The Hipps brothers, Bayless, kula, Westfall, Moody, and Gardner all hit pay dirt at one or another in the course of the afternoon.

Stein kicked three extra points and Steepe, Ward, and Little H each made one conversion.

It was the passing of quarterback Mauro Sanchez that stood out, as, for the first time this season, the Lejeuners demonstrated power in the air as well as on the ground. During the first half Lejeune threw seven passes, all of them completed. The last half saw seven Lejeune passes thrown, with four of them complete and one intercepted. Sanchez completed nine out of ten passes he threw, and L. Hipps and Zakula accounted for the remainder.

The Navy ground attack suffered a sudden death at the hands of the local line every time they stepped a move during the ball game, the entire line outcharging the Navy all afternoon.

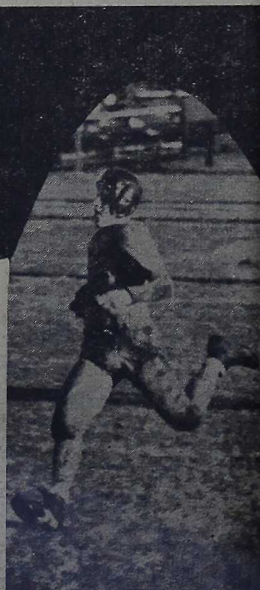

While the Coral Sea election was definitely outclassed, the local line refused to accept the fact as told made every effort to catch up with hard-running Marines. Hipps and Duryea were standouts.

8th Marines Commence Touch Football League; H&S, Baker Score Wins

The Eighth Marines inaugurated their touch football season Monday night, 15 November, with H&S Co. defeating Charlie Co. 17-0.

Tuesday night Baker Co. downed Charlie Co. 6-0 in a close game decided by a touchdown scored in the first period.

The season had a late start because of the battalion training schedule. Games postponed because of night problems and training schedule will be run off at a later date.

The schedule calls for each team to play three games with each other company in the battalion.

Working from a "T" and single wing, H&S Company broke loose Somjai, their scat-back, repeatedly for long gains that kept Charlie Company deep in their own territory. Two scoring threats by Charlie Company ended on the 10 and 8 yard lines when passes were intercepted by the alert H&S backfield. Charlie Company used a two-team system, fielding a new team each quarter.

The Baker Co. — Charlie Co. game was a touch and go battle all the way with both teams evenly matched. Both teams threatened repeatedly; but, other than the lone touchdown in the initial period, neither team was able to cross the pay-off stripe.

Officer Bowlers Take Two Matches From Wilmington Teams

The Officer's Club engaged in their first bowling match of the season against outside competition at Paradise Point last Sunday and came out on top in both matches.

In the first match, Team No. 1 won over the Sports Club of Wilmington, and Team No. 2 beat out the Wilmington Post Office Team in the second match of the afternoon. Clark, of the Sports Club, was high bowler of the afternoon with a 549.

Trojans Score With Passes Twice; Defeat Boondockers 13-0 At Hadnot Pt.

On Sunday, 21 November, the 2nd ComSerGrp Trojans topped the 21st Marine Boondockers by a 13-0 margin to win their final game of the year before a good crowd at the Hadnot Point field.

Boondockers Play Bulldozers Today At Hadnot Point

The 21st Marine Boondockers have their last chance to win today when they play the 2nd Engineer Bulldozers at 1400 on the Main Camp Field at Hadnot Point in the last Intra-Mural game of the year.

Losers in four straight games,
the Boondockers have nevertheless been steadily improving, and should prove a match for the Bulldozers. In their last game they showed promise; and, although their line will again be outweighed, the Boondockers will force the Engineers to fight for a win, every minute of the game.

The Bulldozers can always be counted on to play a hard game, and they will be out as much as the Boondockers to end their season with a win. Albers and Hoppe, ends for the Engineers, will be in shape for the game, providing strong anchors for their line.
Cochran, Farrell, Terrell, Palmer, and Florence, along with scatback Dion, will be backfield dependables for the Bulldozers this afternoon.

pack offense, and was able to use the fast break effectively several times. Both the Wolfpack and Le-jeune used the man to man system of defense almost exclusively.

The final ten minutes of the game saw the Marines play great basketball as they stole the pill from their giant opponents time and again. In the opinion of most spectators, the final minutes of the game were just about even.

Both Coach Case and his entire squad were loud in their praises of the Marines and their coach, Major Anthony Caputo. There is no doubt but what every man on the local squad gained much from the experience of watching and playing with the great State team, and the scrimmage defeat will only serve to inspire the Marines to greater heights in their coming games.

Bishop and Kubiskey were high scorers on the home squad, with 16 points each. Cartier, State forward, was high man for his team, also with 16 points.

The Trojans scored twice via the aerial route during the first half, then held off repeated Boondocker attempts to score during the last half of the game.

It was during the first quarter that the passing might of the Trojans struck first—left half Schoener passed 30 yards to Thompson, Trojans right half, on the sidelines, and the speedy blocking back ran 10 yards to score for the first time in the game. Witowski, Trojan fullback, kicked the extra point.

The Boondockers came back after the touchdown to drive deep into Trojan territory, but on their own 15 the Trojan line stiffened and held, and the Trojans took over on downs.

After an exchange of punts. The Trojans again commenced passing, and, in the most exciting play of the day, Quarterback Romey of the Trojans threw a long one to end Wiggins, who was standing on the goal. The pass was high, and both Wiggins and the Boondocker back covering him went up for it. The elusive ball was finally taken by Wiggins, who fell on the paydirt side of the goal line, to send his team ahead 13-0.

As the half ended the Trojan pass attack was once again in high gear, with Romey connecting time and again with Wiggins on short, snappy buttonhooks.

During the third quarter, the Boondocker ground attack started to click, with Serres, Ryan, and O'Connor and Lunsford ripping off long gains. They carried the ball to the Trojan five yard line, where it was first and goal, but the Trojan line, with Sparks, and Wiggins, Pratt and Angus carrying the load, held fast and once again the Trojans took over.

The Boondockers tried passing in the fourth quarter, and O'Connor conected with Sewell on the Trojans 15, giving them another chance, but this threat was broken up when Schoener of the Trojans intercepted the next Boondocker pass.

The game ended a few minutes later, with the Boondockers in possession and driving toward the Trojan goal.

During the current season, the Trojans, coached by Lts. Anderson and Moody, have won two and lost three, while earning themselves a reputation as one of the strongest defensive teams in the league. They allowed only 50 points to be scored against them, while scoring 32 points against the opposition.

Civilian Personnel Guide

The Industrial Relations Office takes this opportunity to welcome Mr. Charles G. Cordell as the new Safety Engineer for Camp Lejeune. Mr. Cordell replaces Mr. Carl A. Armstrong, Jr., as civilian head of the Safety Section of the Industrial Relations Office. Mr. Armstrong was transferred to the Charleston Naval Shipyard, Charleston, S. C., in September of this year.

Mr. Cordell transferred to this activity from the New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn, New York. While serving there he received a wide and varied amount of experience. His employment record shows that in July 1941 he received an appointment with the Industrial Department of the Shipyard as a Shipfitter. Mr. Cordell was promoted from this position to Inspector of Safety; then to Chief Inspector of Safety, CAF-9. He continued to climb and go forward receiving a promotion to Safety Engineer, P-3, in October 1945. About a year later he was appointed to the position of Assistant Safety Superintendent and was serving in this classification when he accepted the assignment at this activity.

Mr. Cordell will soon visit each department at Camp Lejeune having industrial civilian personnel and it is believed that Department Heads and Supervisor will find that he will be a great help to them in carrying out their Safety Programs.

deep to traverse swamps, soft beaches, heavy underbrush and rough ground. The matting runs under the wheels and back over the top.

Also being developed is a 42-inch circular saw mounted on the front of a two-wheeled, self-propelled tractor frame. This can make level, flush-to-the-ground cuts of 40-inch trees in clearing roads for combat and supply equipment coming ashore.

Ideal for the amphibious operations in which Marines specialize is the under-water breathing arrangement for land vehicles which permits them to be driven around in water up to the driver's neck.

Other items being tested by the Marine Corps Equipment Board include recoilless rifles, rocket launchers, water purification equipment, camouflage nets, water and gasoline containers, high-power telephoto cameras, bridges, improved packs, high-speed aerial delivery equipment, a light field sawmill, and a poncho which can be used in emergency as a litter for a wounded man.

Object Lesson Accidents are usually caused by human error. The driver who is always careful and uses his head at all times makes fewer errors and can look forward to a longer life expectancy than the jockey who acts first and thinks afterward. received from an activity on the West Coast to the effect that the competitive promotional exams for IVA personnel, leadingman through Chief Quartermaster, will be given during the month of November. This action is taking place in the 11th Naval District.

Okay, IVA's! Lets get hot, dust off those manuals and start boning up. Exercise your "gray matter" and let's hear those "thinking gears" grind into high. Your chance for competitive status as a supervisor is just around the corner.

The examination will, in all probability, be closed to this activity and all personnel with "status" will be eligible to take these supervisory exams.

It is expected that the examination will be given in three parts; the first to be based on the employee's application, the second part will be a written test and the third will consist of a personal interview.

it was reluctantly decided that it was not practicable under the circumstances prevailing. However, it was directed that the study of amphibious operations at the Staff Colleges should be extended and that large-scale exercises should be carried out frequently, so as to spread the knowledge of amphibious operations throughout the three services. It is noteworthy that during those discussions no mention was made of any possible requirement for special ships, craft, or equipment.

"Towards the end of July 1938, just after the Inter-Service Training and Development Center gathered for its first meeting, a landing exercise, under command of Rear Admiral Edward Collins took place on the south coast of England. The infantry brigade making up the landing force was commanded by an obscure Brigadier—B. L. Montgomery, by name, who was later to make himself rather well-known from El Alamein to Tunis and from Sangro to the Baltic. The infantry brigade was landed in whalers and barges; the weather deteriorated rapidly, troops could not be re-embarked, and they had to spend a miserable night ashore. Brigadier Montgomery remarked that the exercise was valuable from the physical hardening point of view. From this exercise, apparently the only one between the Wars which was carried out by operational troops, it was apparent that the technique employed was archaic almost to the point of being completely useless."

First Aid For School

When statistics showed that 223 accidents were suffered by its employees during 1946-1947 at a cost of $14,707, the University of Illinois this year began providing Red Cross first aid instruction to non-academic workers in each of its departments.

The events included a show of comparative effects of shells of different types and sizes with various fuses, and of the rockets. At the close a problem was held simulating artillery fire in support of an attack.

Motorists Warned To Guard Against Harmful Anti-Freeze

A warning to car owners auto supply dealers to guard against harmful anti-freeze was issued yesterday. E. W. Constable, chief chemist of the State Department of Agriculture.

Reports received from western part of the State, he indicate that one of these has been widely distributed area.

Samples of the following the chemist reported, have analyzed and found to contain materials illegal in the State: Cascade Permanent Type freeze, distributed by the Distributing Company of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Spirit Permanent Type freeze, distributed by the Chemical Corporation, Philadelphia.

Polar Zone Permanent Antifreeze, manufactured by Federal Chemical Company, more, Md.

The Atlas Perma-Guard freeze sold by The Exchange Station is a safe "permanent" solution and is not confused with the Cascade distributed by the Atlas Company of Cincinnati. All freeze solutions sold through Camp Exchange are standard and safe for use in automobiles.

RAMBLING ON A ROYAL: Today it's Turkey Day all around these forty-eight states, and it makes no difference whether you primed the pump for Harry and Alben or Thomas Edmund Dewey, we still pause together to do homage to that crowd in antiquity who landed on the bleak shores of Massachusetts to set up a new land. Let's always remember that fact.

When a typewriter tapper starts bouncing verbs and adjectives around on Turkey Day, he can't help but toss a few paragraphs around about a few who's who in the grid world. It so happens that today WJNC will bring you the Wake Forest-South Carolina game. If the game lacks anything in tradition, it most certainly will make up in spills and thrills. Kick-off is slated for 2 p.m. but we'll go on the air at 1:45.

Still keeping in the spirit of the festive day, 1240 will beam out to you at 4:30 a special Thanksgiving program that should be a must. I'd advocate it. You won't be disappointed.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Good grief, I'm three, I mean we are three years old on Friday. I wish someone would be so kind as to explain to me where time has gone after it goes past the old garden gate. While I was still on dear old Guadalcanal when WJNC opened its doors in November of '45 and didn't know that such an outfit existed, I was at the first birthday party, and here we are still at the same old stand as the third one comes up.

I have witnessed many changes not only in the programming end, but also in the personnel. What ever mistakes that we have made in the past, let it never be thought that we never tried to rectify all poor programming and beam* the desired shows at an hour that was to your liking.

So it is another milestone. What ever you have thought of us in the past, I frankly don't know, but I do care. We have tried to serve this community as a community radio station would with the community's likes and dislikes uppermost in our minds. If we have failed to please at certain times, that is the frailty of the human make-up. However, function of safeguarding American lives and property threatened on foreign soil.

By 1898 anti-foreign sentiment had increased to such an extent that a Marine guard was established at the Imperial City of Peking (now called Peiping) to protect the American Legation there. This guard was withdrawn in 1899. The following year the Boxer Rebellion began and Peiping was surrounded by aroused Boxer forces, bearing banners which read, "Exterminate the foreigners and save the dynasty!"

In order to rescue the staffs of the foreign legations in Peiping, forces of many nations were rushed to the scene. Marines helped the Allied Relief Expedition capture Tientsin and rescue an American naval force surrounded there, and the Marine unit led the successful attack on the ancient walls of Peiping, capturing the main gate from Boxer forces which vastly outnumbered the Allied expedition.

Marines were assigned to the Legation Guard in Peiping again in 1905, and remained on duty there until the start of World War II. It was during this period that mounted Marine messengers won the title of "Horse Marines." Beginning in 1925 Marines were also stationed at Shanghai to protect the Americans living in the International Settlement there. Allied troops were also placed in the Tientsin-Peiping area during Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's campaign against the war lords in Northern China in 1927.

Anti-foreign feeling was running high at the time, but the late Major General Smedley D. Butler soon improved the situation. This colorful Marine officer insisted on the highest degree of discipline, a measure which won the respect of the Chinese, and in addition combined diplomacy with forthrightness in dealing with local officials.

Nevertheless, there were times during the fighting that swept up and down the country when Marine units were close to the line of fire. In every case, however, they conducted themselves with restraint and diplomacy. This experience proved invaluable at the time of the "China Incident" in

P-TA Notes

The Parent-Teachers Association convened at a special meeting on Monday evening, November 15, in the High School Auditorium. Seven high school girls rendered a vocal selection as part of the evening's entertainment. Members of the P.T.A. sang "America the Beautiful."

Reports of interest were presented by the various committees. Col. J. H. Goldberg, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, mentioned the forthcoming movie which will be given by the P.T.A. in December. The movie will be: Pat O'Brien in "Fighting Father Dunn" and will be given at the Midway Park Theatre on December 3.

Mr. Ezzard, Assistant Principal of the Camp Schools, spoke on the school lunchroom. He hopes more of the children will make use of the school lunchroom.

Two attendance pennants will be given in the future. One will be given to the Midway Park School and one to the Camp High School. Miss Lane's first grade and Mrs. Backus' twelfth graded won the pennants at this meeting.

It was voted at this meeting that the regular meetings of the P.T.A. will be held on the first Monday of each month instead of Thursday evenings. There will be no regular meeting of the P.T.A. until January. The schools will present a Christmas program on December 13.

At the close of the meeting, P.T.A. Membership cards were distributed among the members.

1937, when Japanese troops swept across Northern China in an "undeclared" war. The Marines remained neutral, but carried out their assigned mission of protecting the lives and property of American citizens in Peiping and Shanghai.

At the beginning of World War II the Fourth Regiment, known as the "China Marines" was withdrawn from the International Settlement at Shanghai and took part in the gallant defense of Bataan and Corregidor. The 500-man guard at Peiping was captured.

In September of 1945 the Marines returned to China to enforce the surrender of large Japanese elements there. Several hundred thousand Japanese were disarmed and repatriated during the following year. Marine forces were gradually demobilized and returned to the United States, but growing hostilities between Nationalist and Communist forces led to American mediation under General Marshall and the retention of Marine units. These units were employed to guard railways and mines essential to providing food and fuel to the starving cities of North China and to form "cease-fire" teams to halt the spread of hostilities.

During the past year, approximately 3600 Marines have formed the Fleet Marine Force, Western Pacific, at Tsingtao, according to the Navy Department. This force, composed of ground and aviation units, is under command of Brigadier General Gerald C. Thomas, USMC. The force is under overall command of the Commander, U. S. Fleet, Western Pacific.

The 1250 Marines who, the Navy has announced, will land in Tsingtao November 23rd from the USS Bayfield are members of the First Provisional Marine Brigade, which has been based on Guam. The Brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Edward A. Craig, USMC, is part of the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, with Headquarters at Pearl Harbor.

Repairing, Servicing, And Improving Is Job Of Camp Maintenance

Renowned Beauty And Facilities Of Lejeune Preserved By Efficiency Of Maintenance Sect.

By PFC. R. K. DALY

Upon the weary shoulders of the maintenance section of Camp Maintenance falls the task of repairing, servicing and improving all of the buildings, utilities and equipment on the reservation. In the various shops of this division the woes and laments of the camp fill the air. The long-suffering chiefs of these sections must assume the air of chaplain, Red Cross worker and laborer. However, it is through these men that Camp Lejeune preserves the beauty and efficiency for which it is renowned.

There are many shops in Camp Maintenance; but, due to space restriction, it is impossible to give detailed descriptions of all activities.

ELECTRIC SHOP

All the electrical equipment on this mammoth reservation is repaired and maintained by the Electrical shop. Here all of the motors from activities on the East coast are rewound and it is through this section that the stoves, heaters, and other electrical appliances at some 495 houses at Paradise Point are serviced. The construction of a special unit at the Officers Mess has just been completed. This shop repairs all of the mess hall electrical equipment and the apparatus at the Midway Park shopping center.

PLUMBING SHOP

The Plumbing shop maintains and services all plumbing and heating facilities of this base which, in itself, is a herculean task. There are approximately 85,000 fixtures to keep in smooth operation, 221 miles of outside steam, 68 miles of inside soil and waste, 126 miles of inside hot and cold water, and over 400 domestic heating plants. About 60 men are employed. They have just completed some minor construction jobs at Paradise Point, the Camp Nursery, and two fire houses.

PAINT SHOP

All of the buildings, floors and fixtures are painted and refinished by the Paint shop. Replacing broken glass, painting posters and signs, and refinishing floors are jobs which also come under the Paint shop. Approximately 10,000 gallons of paint are used a year by the 120 men of this activity, which gives one an idea of the tremendous amount of work this department accomplishes.

CARPENTRY SHOP

Then there is the Carpentry shop, which does all of the cabinet and mill work, repairs window frames, retouches new construction work and does many other tasks. At present they are working on the new residences at Paradise Point. This shop employs about 125 men, and they are busy as beavers from early morning until evening.

REFRIGERATION

The Refrigeration and Air Conditioning shop maintains about 400 domestic ice boxes and close to 700 tons of mess hall refrigeration and air conditioning units. The 8 men in this shop repair the air conditioning systems in the telephone exchanges at Hadnot Point, Paradise Point and the optical building. In addition to this work they also maintain the 150 tons of air conditioning in the Camp Theater. They work on approximately a half million dollars' worth of equipment, such as the 700 water coolers in the buildings around the camp, which cost about $200 apiece, the $90,000 worth of equipment in the Camp Theater and close to $100,000 worth of equipment in the mess halls. These men are all experts in their field.

MACHINE SHOP

The Machine shop makes gears, motor bearings and about anything else needed. They recently made some condenser tanks and constructed the pontoon bridge at Onslow Beach. The sheet metal section makes stove pipes, elbows, duck work for the mess halls, gutters, down spouts, safety flues and flashing for roofs. All of the welding needed by camp is done by this shop, which is manned by 22 men.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT

The Heavy Equipment shop has a wide variety of heavy equipment including drag lines, cranes, motor graders, bulldozers, transit mixers and miscellaneous engineering and industrial equipment. It maintains this equipment and furnishes the operators, with the exception of the lawnmowers which it maintains but does not operate. It loads and unloads all of the material shipped in and out of the base. It also does all of the grading and construction work required by the camp. Of the 62 men employed, there are about 30 maintenance men and 32 operators. They are now laying an un-

Machine Shop

On one of the giant lathes in the Camp Maintenance Machine Shop, Linwood King turns out a vital replacement part to enable the vast facilities of Lejeune to continue functioning without a noticeable break. This is but one of the many shops playing an important part in the maintenance, servicing, and improvement of this giant base. (All photos by Pfc. Powers, 2d Division Photographic Section) derground storm drainage system and have started construction on some buildings for the electronics project. Along with the heavy equipment they have five LCVPs and a large barge powered with two 325 hp diesel engines, and a 225 hp Chrysler-driven pile driver. They perform all of the dock work for the entire area, such as the work recently completed at Town's Point, and service about 100 hand-mowers, 30 powermowers and 15 tractor mowers that are operated by the Roads and Forestry section. All equipment hauled on the "low-bed" trailers is carried by their trucks.

ACCOUNTING, ENGINEERING

The Accounting, Engineering and Inspection shop is at present installing a file of all equipment, buildings and utilities on the reservation. They keep duplicates of all plans used on the base since it was first built. The file has extremely detailed construction data on every phase of the camp, which includes the size of the buildings, whether they have hot water, telephones, and how much floor space, what material the building is constructed of, safety capacity load, how many water coolers, fire doors, cost of construction, year built and electrical intake. This is only a small amount of the information filed. They have approximately 700 cards at the present moment and have file space for about 31,200, which they fully expect to fill.

STEAM, GAS, OIL DISTRIBUTION

The steam gas and oil distribution in the camp is repaired and maintained by the Steam, Gas and Oil Distribution shop. 14 miles of steam lines are stretched throughout Hadnot Point alone. The steam traps and automatic cellar drainers all must be cared for by this shop. Recently they dug up and replaced 350 feet of 2 1-2" steam supply line extending from the Catholic Chapel to the Red Cross building. This was a twenty-four hour job, which indicates the speed and efficiency with which they work. At Montford Point, 152 feet of 2" overhead line to heat the new firehouse has just been installed by them. This shop handles the maintenance of all outlying boiler plants, all work and the insulation on the pipe lines as well as the gas and oil pumping and distribution lines and the dispersing pumps throughout the station enable them to pump oil from tank cars, steam lines are heated up to heat the heavy oil, thinning it for pumping purposes. This shop has about 23 men on payroll.

WATER AND SEWERAGE

All of the repairs of pumps, water lines and fire hydrants is done by the Water and Sewerage shop. Grease traps in mess halls are cleaned by them and they are now putting in a sewerage disposal line at Paradise Point.

Maintenance, with its many aspects, is at best a difficult job. A camp of this size, it is even complicated because of the fact that the base is still growing. Men of Camp Maintenance are doing excellent work on an important task.

Electrical Shop

An armature is rewound by "Jack" Buchanan in the Camp Maintenance Electrical Shop, one of the many phases in the maintenance of the vast reservation. Lejeune is one of the finest posts of the Corps. In this shop, thousands of motors from activities throughout the East Coast are also rewound and returned to service. From burned-out uselessness to like-new efficiency in a matter of hours—the story of a motor turned in to this efficient shop.

Check Motors HERE

Carpenter Shop

Robert S. Roister and Henry G. Macon use the cut-off saw in the Camp Maintenance Carpenter Shop to make the large number of identical pieces required in a routine repair job. Virtually every type of carpentry job falls to the lot of this shop and its employees in the course of a normal year's assignments. Skilled craftsmen daily tackle jobs ranging from ordinary sawing to difficult cabinet-making while keeping Camp Lejeune's unequalled facilities in A-1 condition.
