Armed Services Field Medical Materiel Group Holds 3rd Meeting

A five-day meeting to further the program of unification of the Services, a host of the nation's foremost medical and dental military specialists convened at the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory Monday.

The meeting is the third of its kind held by this group in the past year and a half. More than two years ago, the Headquarters of the Armed Services Field Medical Materiel Group commenced unification of the standardization of all military equipment and supplies. The group actually issued their first Navy Catalog of Medical Ma-

Patrons Advised To Shop First Of Week At Sales Commissary

It has been necessary to reduce the number of civilian employees at the Sales Commissary so as to decrease the operating expenses in accordance with instructions from higher authority. This reduction in force will naturally be reflected in the service at the Commissary.

Patrons are advised that the greatest numbers of customers shop on Thursday and Friday. The store opens at 0700 and until 0930 it is seldom crowded. If more customers would shop at the first of the week or between the hours of 0700 and 0930, the load would be more evenly distributed and would improve the service to all. There is a better assortment and a higher quality of fruits and vegetables available on Wednesday than any other day of the week.

Special Birthday Edition Of Globe Next Wednesday

The next issue of The Camp Lejeune Globe will be distributed on Wednesday, November 10, the 173rd Anniversary of the United States Marine Corps, instead of on Thursday.

A special birthday edition is planned and complete schedules of events will be published.

This change in publication date is for this one issue only. The following issue will be distributed on Thursday, November 18, as usual.

Housing Office Opened To Assist Incoming Marines

Greatness

There is a goal which we are all aiming at, and the more power and character we have, so much more the energy of that aim.

Greatness is the fulfillment of a natural tendency in every man and self-respect is the early form in which greatness appears.

All of us possess many of the qualities of greatness and if we cultivate and develop self-respect, character, firmness of purpose, understanding and intelligence and apply it to our daily duties we cannot but help to succeed in our chosen field of endeavor.

Napoleon was neither generous nor just, but was intellectual and knew the law of things. He had enormous self-trust—the habit of seeing with his own eyes, never the surface, but the heart of the matter, whether it was a road, a cannon, a character, an officer, or a king—and by the speed and security of his action in the premises, always new.

Lincoln portrayed greatness by his simplicity of manner and speech, and a fullness of understanding which made him beloved by his countrymen. His qualities of humanity, firmness of purpose, leadership and kindness were the basic qualities responsible for his greatness.

There is no strict measure of greatness, signs of it appear here and there in men of unequal character, and are by no means confined to any one class. Any man filled with an idea or purpose will find examples and illustrations and aid wherever he goes and in whatever he does.—W. B. K.

In 1891, a special detachment of Marines was assigned to the Pacific Squadron to assist in putting a stop to the wholesale destruction of seals in the Bering Sea by poachers operating out of season.

When Queen Liliuokalani of Kingdom of Hawaii was deposed and a provisional government formed in 1893, Marines were sent ashore to maintain order.

In 1895, U. S. Marines wore spiked helmets as a part of their uniform.

Time—The Refreshing River

Every so often I hear someone say, "If I only had another chance." We may feel that we could do things differently if we had that other chance to prove ourselves. Time, the Refreshing River, gives us that new chance. Time is one of God's ways with men. It is the garden in which we grow. It is the precious ointment by which we are healed in the experience of grief and bitterness. Because of its restorative qualities, because it is the symbol of ongoing life, it is a sacred trust. Since it renews like a river of water, we dare not waste it, although like the river it seems to be so plentiful. Every day is new and gives an opportunity for refreshment, improved outlook, a remade grasp of human values. Thus, time becomes a spring of cleansing water, a healing potion, a warning, a challenge, a prophecy.

The Christian must view time always in two ways, paradoxically. Each instant is an intense encounter with reality. He who is careless with any moment is guilty of a kind of blasphemy. This does not mean that he never plays or dreams, but rather that his life has that inner unity which gives meaning to his every activity, so that time is regarded always with reverence.

On the other hand, we must view life with what Mabel Cratty used to call "the thousand year look." On any other basis than these two views of reality, our days are unbearable. The quality of perspective and proportion which comes from the thousand year look is like the poise of the astronomer and the anthropologist whose attitudes have tone and quality because they are rooted in millions of light miles and aeons of human life.

Time is also a prophet's lantern. It reveals upon the walls of the years the signs of the times. He who will read what is written by the great scribe, Time, has a chance to recast his outlook and approach the future dynamically. Time opens doors, heals wounds, discards dross, summons men to holy obedience to God and His will for history and eternity. Whatever our doctrines, we may well heed scriptural injunction about the urgency of our day. At what time, more than today, when both our public and private lives are caught in the break-up of an historic era, have men, lost in confusion, been more prone to wander and worship strange gods? Indeed, the times are upon us!

NEW RIVER RIPPLES

A reporter had been sent to cover a great mine disaster. He was so impressed by all he saw that he tried to indicate the magnitude and heroism around him that panorama of death.

In a wire to his editor, he wrote: "God sits tonight on a little stool overlooking a scene of startling disaster."

His editor wired back: "Never mind disaster—interfere! Get pictures if possible."

A favorite food of the Hawaiians is called "poi." It is prepared by pounding taro roots in a mortar and pestle until they are as soft as butter. At any rate, a tourist in a Honolulu hash house was asked to try it.

He ordered a portion of this poi. "What kind would you like?" asked the waiter. "Well, have you got any pie so I could practice while before the company comes?"

Jackie: "Ma, when we were in the company for dinner today I got a pie with a fork."

Ma: "Yes, indeed you do."

Jackie: "Well, have you got any pie so I could practice while before the company comes?"

Voice: "Shhh... I'm not here. I'm coming back."

Marines Invited To Wilmington Armistice Dance

The City of Wilmington cordially invites the enlisted personnel of this command to attend an Armistice Day Dance at the Community Center in Wilmington on Thursday evening, November 11, and on Saturday evening, November 13.

Dancing will commence at 2000 and will last until 2400 both nights. The City Manager has made arrangements with the Community Center, the YMCA and many private homes to provide ample sleeping accommodations for those who attend.

The city fathers of Wilmington have been very cooperative with this command and are sponsoring these dances so that our personnel may become better acquainted with the people of this North Carolina port city. A big turn-out will show the city fathers that their kind invitation is appreciated. They are going all-out to make these dances a huge success for those who attend.

The same charming hostesses who have been regularly attending the dances at Marston Pavilion will be present at both of these dances.

The YMCA is located at Third and Market Streets and the Community Center is at Second and Orange Streets.

The Commanding General has received the following letter from Major General C. E. Byers, USA, Commanding General of the 82nd Airborne Division:

Dear General Hart:

The morning after our return from our fine visit with you finds the overwhelming consensus that it was one of the most interesting trips any of us has ever experienced. The perfect arrangements to care for such a large number of officers and enlisted men could have been made only after a great deal of thoughtful and intelligent planning. Topping all of this was the cordiality with which everyone was greeted.

I sincerely hope that "Big" Hipps is feeling his old self once again. He played a magnificent game. I want to congratulate you again on the outstanding game your men played. We were fortunate indeed to come out victor. It was one of the closest, hardest and most spectacular games of football I have ever witnessed.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. BYERS,

Undefeated Deacons, Improved AIMars, Play Week-End Intra-Mural Games

Two intra-mural football teams come out of hiding this week-end to take on their first opponents in almost a month. One team, the Division Deacons, will be battling to retain their unmarred record, while the other team, the Marine Barracks AIMars, is determined to make a strong bid for their first win of the current season.

The Marine Barracks eleven takes on the 21st Marine Boondockers at 1400 Saturday afternoon at Hadnot Point in the first of the two games. Using a new formation and several new players, the AIMars will be out to hand the Boondockers another defeat, and enter the win column themselves.

Sunday afternoon at the same time, and also at Hadnot Point, the Division Deacons return to the scene with a rush when they meet the ComSerGrp Trojans. The Trojans boast one of the strongest defensive teams in Camp, and they might be the team to snap the Deacons' winning streak.

The Deacons have been hit hard by transfers, and if they stick to the short punt formation as they have in their previous games, they will undoubtedly encounter some difficulty in penetrating the Trojan line.

Passing will probably be the watchword of the Trojans in their coming game, as it was against the Bulldozers. If their passers could improve they would field a strong team in this department also.

The AIMars have been working hard to overcome their weakness during the past three weeks, but once again they meet a tough opponent in the Boondocker gridders. Although they lost to the Gunners, the 21st Marine team showed flashes of power that could develop into something extra strong as the season progresses.

The Second Division Band will provide music throughout both games, and refreshments will be sold.

The tune of the Marines' Hymn, first sung after the Mexican War in 1847, occurs in an old Spanish folk song and in the French opera, "Genevieve de Brabant" by Jacques Offenbach.

AmPhibs Push Across TD In 3rd Lejeune To Play In Bermuda Saturday

The Little Creek Amphibious Base gridders ground out victory last Saturday over the Camp Lejeune Marines in the gruelling battle recently witnessed on the local field.

The Lejeune team leaves today for the isle of Bermuda, British West Indies, where they will play Kindley Air Force Base Saturday in the "most away" game of the season.

Guests at the game last Saturday included the Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, and the Chief of Staff, Amphibious Forces, Atlantic, Capt. Phillip Welch, USN. A crowd of well over 5,000 was on hand, including a small but ardent band of Navy rooters. The Second Division Band and Drum and Bugle Corps put on one of the finest half time demonstrations of the season.

Navy kicked to start the ball game, and fullback Stein carried the ball to the 50 from his own 20 on 4 plays before the Lejeune offensive bogged down. Stein kicked out on the Navy 25 in the first of the long series of punts that marked the first half.

The Amphibs could get no place against the local line on their first offensive plays, and Bailey kicked out on the Lejeune 25. Maksin made 5 on the first try, and then Stein went over center to the Navy 44. On the next play Stein again took the ball and went across his own left guard for 15 yards to the Navy 23. Little Hipps made six yards on the same side of the line, but two incomplete passes gave Navy the ball on their own 30. Bayless threw Kelly, Amphib back, for a 4 yard loss, and after two more tries they kicked out on the Lejeune 47.

Lejeune started passing at this point, but the Navy secondary kept the receivers bottled up for three attempts. Stein kicked, and the Navy in turn kicked to the Lejeune 20 a few plays later, where Ptak, Lejeune safety, took the ball and made it to his own 37 before being hauled down. The quarter on another of Stein's punts. Navy 21.

Navy made their first down early in the second as Hancock and Wood carried the ball to the midfield, but again they were forced back as the local line stiffened. Maksin, Stein, and Little started a drive that fizzled the Navy 40, and the Amphibs took over on their own 20. An end zone kick by Stein.

Once again the Lejeune offense stopped them cold, the line contributing greatly to warding off the navy offense.

The first half came to a short time later with the Creek eleven in possession of their own 20 after Martin's quarterback, had set there with a long punt.

Lejeune had a slight edge in the first half—the home team were usually able to rip off able gain on the first try, but the Amphib line had the able asset of holding when the down seemed imminent. Stein, Lejeune fullback, was the ground gainer as well as a standing line backer. His play was always good. In the line Moledor, Gigli, and O played well, as Moody, Miller, Bayless backed them nicely in the secondary.

AmPhib line play was made by the work of four ends—Tillman, Neely, and Riddle refused to be trapped when the defense, and did fine on the offense. Kelly and cock did most of the ball carrying for the visitors, and fullback Van Orman was a block of fense.

Adams Low Scorer In Novel Tourney At Paradise Point

The amateurs looked like tyros at Paradise Point last week-end as hardy Camp Lejeune golfers struggled through a novel "consecutive clubs" tournament. Allowed only four clubs; a brassie, a mashie, a niblick and a putter, the players had to struggle over 18 holes, using the clubs in the order named, regardless of the practicability of the rules.

M/Sgt. C. C. Adams, local expert, came out on top with a 40-48, minus 1/2 handicap, for a low of 85 1/2 net. He was awarded a

2d Engineers Bulldoze To 12-6 Victory; Line Play Dominates Navy Day Game

A fighting Bulldozer eleven subdued the Combat Service Group Trojans at Hadnot Point on Navy Day before a good crowd of civilians and Marines. The Bulldogs broke up a tie late in the fourth quarter to take the ball game 12-6.

The Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, witnessed the game and his guests included Mr. Billy Arthur, Jacksonville publisher, as well as other prominent citizens from the surrounding area. The Second Division Band and Drum and Bugle Corps performed at half time.

Line play was the predominant factor throughout the game. Only one first down was made on the ground during the first half.

The Trojans' passing worked well during the first half, as Thompson and Meniffee connected with effectiveness to Lynn and Wiggins, Trojan ends. Both teams penetrated deep into the other's territory: the Gunners held for 4 downs on their own 9, and the Trojans did the same on their own 7.

It was men like Hoppe, Breuer, Brown, and Steadward in the Bulldozer line that kept the Trojans tied down, as they put up a seemingly impenetrable wall across the line. The Bulldogs, in turn, got exactly no place against the forward wall of Wiggins, Washington, Lynn, Lively, Angus, Pratt, Ciarricco, and Moore. These "immovable objects" held the Bulldogs for practically no gain during the first half.

During the second half, however, it was a different story, as a vitalized Bulldozer team took the Trojan kickoff on their own 25, and then on the next play sent Dion between his own right tackle and end on a double reverse for 65 yards to the Trojan ten yard line.

Florence and Albers took the ball to the five on plunges, and then Dion took a lateral around right end to score the first touchdown of the game. Furguson, attempting a dropkick for the conversion point, failed as the kick went wide to the left. The score remained 6-0, with about nine minutes remaining in the third quarter.

After an exchange of punts the Trojans unleashed a running attack, highlighted by a thirty yard dash by scatback Meniffee from his own 35 to the Bulldozer 35. Held for two downs, on the ground, Schoener passed to Lynn for 11 yards to the 24, and then Schoener went to the 13 over his own right guard.

The drive was climaxed on the next play when "Choo-Choo" Szewczuga passed over center to Lynn in the end zone. The conversion placement by Szewczuga bounced off the upright.

The Bulldozer line buckled down again for the remainder of the game, holding the Trojans to few gains of any sort, while opening up holes for their own backs during a late fourth quarter drive. The Trojans didn't exactly lie down however, in fact, they forced the Bulldogs to take to the air several times.

Albers, Furguson, and Cochran sparked the late drive of the Engineers. They took over on the Trojan 45 after a punt, and drove down to the five yard line, where they appeared to stall as the Trojans tightened up with a seven-man line.

Then, on third down with seven yards to go for a touchdown, Florence, blocking back for the Bulldogs, went wide around his own left end and dove over into the end zone from about two yards out, to send the Bulldogs ahead for the second time, with only 90 seconds left in the ball game.

The Trojans almost did the impossible when Szewczuga gave the ball to Meniffee on a fake kick, but the speedy back was driven out of bounds after 40 yards on the Bulldozer 35. The game ended two plays later on an incomplete Trojan pass.

Hancock lost ther five on the second play n he was hit by Stein and on next play Bailey kicked to Ptak the 50, and the little quarter- twisted his way to the Navy where Steiner, 210 pound le, brought him down.

Maksin, on the first Lejeune y, went over his own right ard and down the field to the y 4 yard line, to make the epest penetration of the game y far. A fumble on the next y cost Lejeune 3 yards, but the next two plays Stein drove the 1 foot line. On the last wn the AmPhib line held, and Navy took over on their own al.

After an exchange of punts, Le- ne had the ball on their own 40 n another fumble was recover- oy the Navy. Then, with only a minutes remaining in the third rter, the AmPhibs showed their card, sending in a little half- named Schuler who just ldn't be stopped. He went to Lejeune 11 yard line on three s, striking first on the right and then on the left. Schuler lost 4 when Stein broke from his line-backing spot to hit him, but on the next play the ball went to Schuler's running mate, Thomas, who went around left end for ten yards to the 5. Thomas went over on the next play for the only score of the game as his teammates provided perfect blocking.

The third quarter ended soon after the touchdown kickoff with Lejeune in possession on their own 48. Attempting to pass twice, Lejeune finally kicked to Sands on the Navy 15, and he was brought down in his tracks by Bakewell and Dawson.

For the remainder of the half both teams battled to a draw—both lines fought fiercely to the end, as play was highlighted by the defensive work of both teams. The local lads tried passing, but the always alert AmPhib secondary held this threat down to a minimum.

Bakewell and Dawson headed the Lejeune defense; and, with Canzona, Burnett, Romero, Gigli, and Marshall, formed an almost impenetrable line. Stein, Miller, Martin, and Bayless kept the Marine secondary tightened up, with few long gains of any kind by the Navy.

Little Creek remains undefeated, but they have reason to remember this game where their longest single gain of the afternoon was the 12-yard dash of Schuler that set up the winning touchdown.

Number 46 on the Camp Lejeune football roster this year is S/Sgt. Norris E. Martin. Although Martin has been on the squad since the start of the season, he is a newcomer to his present playing position, quarterback. Martin started out at the tackle spot, went to end early in the season, and is now one of the spearheads of the Lejeune passing attack.

Martin first enlisted in the Corps in 1943, after playing four years of high school football and completing a year at Prairie View College in Texas, his native state.

The husky staff sergeant is 6'3", and weighs close to 200. Remarkably fast on his feet, he was

Drowning Rate Drops

Since establishment of Rec water safety courses in 1917, drowning rate in this country has been cut in half—from 10.4 per 100,000, despite the fact the number of persons swimming each year has multiplied many times in the past decades.

Cash For Ideas

For suggesting that a refrigerator for storing lunches be placed in the Camp Laundry to enable employees to bring more nutritious lunches which in turn would contribute to greater efficiency, Edna Grant, an employee of that activity, recently received a check from Cmdr. G. S. Robinson (below). The check was one of many presented to thinking people who passed their ideas along to the Beneficial Suggestions Committee. You may be missing a good thing. Object Lesson

Just for a moment, consider that this is YOUR car and that YOU have stepped out o survey the damage after hitting another vehicle. YOU should feel mighty unhappy when you stop to think (after it's too late) that you could have avoided the accident by using your head all f the time. One careless or thoughtless moment or action can

Committee On Medical Sciences Visits Field Medical Research Lab

The Committee on Medical Sciences of the Research and Development Board, directly a part of the National Military Establishment under Secretary of Defense Forrestal, paid a visit to the Naval Field Medical Research Laboratory here last Tuesday, 26 October. A complete review of the laboratory facility, with its research and development program, was made by the staff for the committee.

The entire group was met and greeted by Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General, and Brigadier General H. D. Linscott, Deputy Commander, Marine Barracks. The guests were entertained for luncheon by Major General Hart at the Officers' Mess.

The Research and Development Board was established as a permanent board for the Armed Services by the National Defense Act of 1947 and replaced the Joint Research and Development Board, which had been previously set up as a war-time Army-Navy agency to coordinate these functions. This board is made up of leading research and development personages of all three services, as well as outstanding civilian scientists. The board is further divided into several committees, each of which is commissioned to deal with its specific field of research and development.

Among the dignitaries on the committee visiting Camp Lejeune were:

Dr. Francis G. Blake, Chairman of Committee on Medical Sciences; former Dean of Medical School, Yale University; and currently "Sterling Professor of Medicine," Yale University.

Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, Dean of Medical School, University of Chicago.

Dr. John S. Lockwood, Professor of Surgery, Columbia University.

Dr. Wallace O. Fenn, Professor of Physiology, University of Rochester.

Marine Corps League Notes

Movies are now in full swing at the community building in Holly Ridge. There is a movie each night except Friday, which is Bingo night. Starting time for all movies is 2000.

A recent membership drive to add to the strength of the New River Detachment proved to be very successful. There is, however, still a need for new members in the detachment.

Listed below are nine reasons for joining the Marine Corps League. Read them over and decide for yourself whether membership is worthwhile.

1. To preserve the traditions and to promote the interests of the United States Marine Corps.
 2. To band those who are now serving in the United States Marine Corps and those who have been honorably discharged from that service together in fellowship, that they may effectively promote the ideals of American freedom and democracy.
 3. To fit its members for the duties of citizenship and to encourage them to serve as ably as citizens as they have served the Nation under arms.
 4. To hold sacred the history and memory of the men who have given their lives to the Nation.
 5. To foster love for the principles which they have supported by blood and valor since the founding of our Republic.
 6. To maintain true allegiance to American institutions.
 7. To create a bond of comradeship between those in the service and those who have returned to civil life.
 8. To aid voluntarily and to render assistance to all Marines, civilian and uniformed, as well as to their widows and orphans.
 9. To perpetuate the history of the United States Marine Corps and by fitting acts to observe the anniversaries of historical occasions of particular interest to Marines.
