THE WORLD'S MOST COMPLETE AMPHIBIOUS TRAINING BASE

DL 5 WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1948 — CIRCULATION 10,000 NO. 45

Today the United States Marine Corps commemorates its 173rd Anniversary. Still holding to the fighting traditions of the early Marines who sailed the wooden ships of the new nation during the Revolution and the War of 1812 its modernized forces can now be found in China (l) or on maneuvers at various training bases of the country (r).

The Commandant's Anniversary Message

The United States Marine Corps has had 173 years of experience in keeping itself ready. During the coming year, we will maintain that tradition.

Even now we are re-examining the organization and mission of the Marine Corps in the light of current developments. The Fleet Marine Force and all supporting components are being re-organized to provide for what we know of future conditions of warfare. The changes are far-reaching and will give added flexibility, speed, and striking power to our combat units.

The Marine Corps' research program is hard at work developing and perfecting new methods and equipment for use in the pursuit of our mission in the National Military Establishment.

Today, on the occasion of the 173rd Anniversary of the Marine Corps, we commemorate the achievements of those gallant Marines who worked and fought in the service of their country. We salute them as free men with initiative, courage, and ability.

We of the regular establishment are genuinely happy to share our proud traditions of readiness and fidelity with our comrades in the Marine Corps Reserve. Those men and women who served with us in World War II contributed much to our traditions.

I take this opportunity, then, to extend my personal congratulations and greetings to all Marines on this our 173rd Anniversary. Let us renew our pledge to remain "On Guard for Peace."

Marine Corps Observes 173rd Anniversary Today

Camp Lejeune, More Than 7 Years Old, One Of The Finest Posts Of The Corps

Camp Lejeune has truly earned and easily retains the title of the Corps' most complete amphibious training base. Occupying 111,155 acres and stretching for eleven miles along the Atlantic coast, Camp Lejeune, though only a little more than seven years old, has already earned an enviable reputation and is rapidly gaining fame as one of the finest posts of the Corps.

During the war, this base trained men in almost every kind of assignment, fitting them for the rigorous combat in the Pacific where their tough training paid big dividends.

And now, in peacetime, the training that was so indelibly etched on the battlefields of the Pacific continues to fit Marines for any eventuality. Modernized and streamlined in keeping with the times, today's training incorporates the invaluable lessons learned during 173 years of experience with the latest concepts of warfare, producing a balanced program designed to enable Marines to be sent anywhere in the world at a moment's notice to keep any situation "well in hand." Camp Lejeune, with its unequalled facilities, is the means to that end.

This base boasts about 3,150 buildings, a modern airport at Parris Point, as well as the most up-to-date training facilities. It contains an unusually attractive arrangement showing the careful planning that has marked its construction and expansion. The major lines of the Georgian style

NEW RIVER RIPPLES

The man being admitted to the mental hospital was unusually gay. As a matter of fact he was actually joyous and didn't seem to care about his being placed in an institution. This was so unusual that staff physicians held a conference and asked the patient many questions. It was discovered that the man had no living kin, though he steadfastly claimed he had a twin brother. Every time he mentioned his mythical brother he broke out in a hearty laugh, or a wide smile came over his beaming face. The doctors decided that herein was the trouble, so they asked him to tell them all about his "brother."

"Well," the patient laughed, "My brother and I were twins. We looked so much alike that no one could tell us apart. Why, I remember when we were kids and going to school that he used to throw spitballs and the teacher would punish me for it. He was arrested for speeding once and I had to pay the fine. I had a girl and he ran off with her. But just last week I got even with him."

"How was that?" asked one of the doctors.

"I died and they buried him!"

"Is the housing shortage bad near where you're stationed?"

"Bad?" The place I'm living in now is so small that if I die, they'll just put handles on the sides and carry me to the graveyard."

Chaplain's Corner

Semper Fidelis

November 10, 1948 marks another epoch in Marine Corps history. On that day we celebrate our 173rd birthday. We who serve today along with those who served before, have made this day a memorable one. Each of you should be proud that you are Marines and take personal pride in the accomplishments of the Corps. Yet no one man or group of men has made the Marine Corps what it is today. The Corps has been the result of collective study, work, sacrifice and unending service. Nor does the traditional courage of Marines come from the deeds of individual heroes or isolated battle episodes, though they are many. Marines raised the first flag over Alaska and, at the opposite end of the world, they accompanied Admiral Byrd on his expeditions to the Antarctic regions. We have always been first to land, have fought where the battle was thickest, and have stayed until the victory was won. In peaceful lulls, the Marines have continued to uphold its traditions in any task that falls our lot.

It is always the Corps, true to its tradition and its high motto—Semper Fidelis—always faithful. Marines have showed themselves time and again to be always faithful and always prepared. From the time that the Corps was created by resolution of the Continental Congress on November 10, 1775, it has grown into a mighty fighting force. The term, "Marine" has come to signify all that is highest in military efficiency and soldierly virtue. I would like in this article to cite some of the experiences and deeds of Marines, both living and dead, that illustrate what I am talking about. To do so would necessitate much more space than the writer is allowed in this brief tribute.

I am proud that I served in the Marine Corps. Going through boot in San Diego, I served as a Marine until transferring to the Navy for the Chaplaincy. So, as a Marine, I join in the celebration of this, the birthday of our Corps.

On this occasion, let us resolve to ever uphold the highest traditions of service that is ours. May we be always faithful to the best that is within us and the best that we know. We know the value of team work. If we stick by the team, every man pulling together, victory is won. Our strength becomes multiplied by thousands because every man on the team is faithful. Almighty God demands our best, those who have gone before and set such a noble example demand it, and no individual Marine can be satisfied with less. We must not and cannot fail them. We cannot let them down if we are to be worthy of the name, Marine. It's a great heritage that is ours and a great outfit to be in. We are the routin', tootin', devil-may-care United States Marines, fighting our way down the pages of history—fearless, courageous, finding no odds too great, no job too dangerous to tackle.

CHARLES S. PIGOTT
Chaplain, USN.

The teacher had a lot of work to do, so she set her hat in front of the class of 6-year-olds and told them to write some sentences about it.

The class was silent for about 5 minutes. Then came the voice of little Edward: "Please, teacher, are there two b's in 'shabby'?"

"Ole Luke looks well preserved for a man of 55."

"He should—he's been pickled and canned often enough."

Watchword Of The Marine Corps

On Guard For Peace

Today, Marines in every part of the world celebrate the 173rd Anniversary of the United States Marine Corps. Impressive parades and reviews will be held at all points throughout the day. In the evening, colorful and traditional cake-cutting ceremonies will take place.

First, to understand the Marine and his mission let's look back several thousand years—Ever since Solomon took cedars which Hiram rafted down from Lebanon and built for himself swift galleys of war, there have been Marines on the vessels of every Navy which has sailed the seven seas. Probably Solomon did not have any such word as tactics in his vocabulary, but the Marines of his day had tactical missions just the same. First, to help fight the second, to capture and hold the land approaches of a harbor when it was necessary for the fleet to put into port in some strange country, and, third, to enable the fleet to strike blow on land by means of a compact offensive force. Today the mission of the Marine is still basically the same. It was three thousand and more years ago.

Let us pause for a moment and briefly review the history of the Marine Corps to better understand why Marines are so proud of their Corps—from a modest beginning in 1775, the United States Marine Corps has performed illustrious and efficient service on land and on sea and in the air.

Discipline, spirit, courage and teamwork have played an important role in their successes on the field of battle. Inspired with these attributes Marines have written glorious pages in our history.

During the Revolution vessels of the navy carried Marines who served with distinction throughout the war and played an important part in the operations against the enemy. The naval war with France (1799-1801) found the Marines in every important sea fight, either boarding or repelling boarders of enemy vessels with bayonet, cutlass and sword, or in the tops as sharpshooters picking off the enemy by the deadly effect of their musket fire. Always the Marines acquitted themselves with honor.

In the war with the Barbary States they gained fame by marching several hundred miles across the African desert assisting in the capture of Derne in April 1805. After lowering the Tripolitan flag, they hoisted in its place the Stars and Stripes over the fort—the first time the American Flag had the honor of flying over a fort in the Old World. Once more, the spirit and training of the Marine brought him through with flying colors.

In the War of 1812, Marines again took an active part in battles on both land and sea, serving creditably and adding to their laurels.

Then came the campaigns of Mexico, Cuba, China, Samoa, Domingo, Korea, Nicaragua and Haiti with the Marines upholding their already illustrious traditions.

In 1914, the dark clouds of war again were on the horizon and upon the entrance of the United States into the World War in April 1917 our Marines again were called upon to serve their country.

Chateau-Thierry, Aisne-Marne, Meuse-Argonne and Belleau Woods are names to be remembered where Marines fought valiantly and brought great honor and distinction to the Corps.

After a period of peace, World War II struck civilization with unabated fury, and from the dark days of Guadalcanal to their final victories at Iwo Jima and Okinawa the Marines fought courageously and gallantly and another proud chapter was added to their already distinguished history.

So, on this memorable day, every Marine can proudly and justly pay homage to his gallant corps with its rich tradition inherited from a long line of gallant soldiers who made the Marine Corps the splendid fighting organization that it is today. With 173 years of experience behind it, the Marine Corps is keeping itself ready "To Guard the Peace," and in the occasion arises will strive to justify the great faith and distinction.

citizens have in its ability to serve with honor and distinction.

The spirit of the Marine is echoed in his Hymn as he proudly and reverently sings:

"First to fight for right and freedom and to keep our honor clean;

We are proud to claim the title of

Top-Ranking Bands Engaged For Anniversary Dances Tonight

Duke Ambassadors For Marston Pavilion Dance

Tommy Farr and his Duke Ambassadors will play for the Marine Corps Anniversary Dance at Marston Pavilion tonight from 2000 to 2400. Hostesses from many local cities will be present to make the music of "The Nation's Leading College Dance Band" definitely a dancing proposition.

Ever since Sonny Burke organized a campus dance band back in 1935 and called it the Duke Ambassadors, the aggregation with different members but always the same name, has been an integral part of Duke social life and is one of the few real traditions at Duke.

In the past two years, Sammy Fletcher and Tommy Farr have carried on the Duke Ambassador tradition, elected as always by the members of the band to act as spokesman, coordinator, and

"let's end on the same beat" man.

Tommy, known for some inexplicable reason as "Fred Bass" to his fellow-Ambassadors, started spitting into his trombone at fifteen. He took no lessons, but learned his horn by playing with the Charlotte High School band and teaching himself in his spare time. In a few years, conscientious "Fred" had progressed to the point of winning several national contests. He auditioned for Leopold Stokowski's All-American Youth Orchestra, but abandoned possible concert work when he joined Dean Hudson's band early in 1941. In June of that year he left Hudson to play for a year with Tony Pastor. Finally Woody Herman hired him for his lead trombone spot and Tommy stayed with Herman until he entered the Army.

Farr went to Duke from the Army and immediately joined the Ambassadors then under the baton of Sammy Fletcher. No one can deny his skill at the music trade. Farr has always played lead trombone, which speaks well for his tone and reading ability, and the things that he does with his slush pump when improvising just aren't in the book of things that have been done before. His sweet style and perfect tone are shown to his credit in Woody Herman's recordings of "There'll Never Be Another You" and "I'll Pray For You."

The Ambassador talent doesn't end with maestro Farr for each of the men has developed a special talent that blends into a harmonious whole.

All enlisted men of this command and their guests are invited to attend this gala dance. Besides the top-flight music of the Ambassadors, there will be the traditional and impressive cake-cutting ceremony at 2215 with the Commanding General doing the honors.

Jimmie Livingston At Staff NCO Club

The number one band on the Staff NCO Club hit parade, Jimmy Livingston and his orchestra, will play for the Marine Corps Anniversary Ball at the club from 2030 to 0030 tonight. All members and their guests are cordially invited to attend for an evening of unsurpassed entertainment.

At 2200, the Commanding General will cut the beautiful birthday cake in the traditional ceremony which will be complete with honor guard, drum and bugle corps, and color bearers.

Jimmy Livingston is no newcomer to the Staff NCO Club and can boast that every previous appearance has drawn a capacity crowd. Tonight will be no exception.

Officers' Mess Has Elliot Lawrence Orch

Elliot Lawrence, youngest of the big-name bandleaders and one of the most colorful figures in the world of popular music today, will play for the Marine Corps Anniversary Ball at the Officers' Mess from 2100 to 0100 tonight.

At 2300, the Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, will cut the birthday cake in the colorful and traditional ceremony.

Elliot made his professional debut at the age of 3 when he "conducted" a kid band on the Horn and Hardart radio program. He started piano study at 4 and at age 6 he composed his first work, "Falling Down Stairs," a piece which even the author agrees had some shortcomings.

Scarcely 16, Lawrence enrolled at the U. of Penn for an accelerated course.

Lejeune Holds Kindley Air Force Base Scoreless Flyers Out To Hand Defeat To Local Gridde Lejeune Faces Cherry Point Flyers In Closest "Away" Game Saturday

The Cherry Point Flyers will be pointing for the Camp Lejeune Marines when the two teams meet Saturday on the Cherry Point gridiron at 1400 in a game between the two greatest Marine Bases on the East Coast.

Cherry Point has a football record equal to that of the Lejeuners this year. They have won five while dropping two of their contests thus far. Parris Island's strong squad handed the Flyers a defeat last Saturday, and the Fort Bragg All-Americans defeated the Flyers early in the season. Their victories include wins over Philadelphia Naval Base and Eastern Carolina State Teachers College.

Tom Shepherd, Flyer backfield ace, was out with injuries during the Parris Island game, but will be on hand to harass the Lejeuners in the coming game. John Kreamcheck, All-Navy tackle, was also on the injured list Saturday, but he too will be fit for the Lejeune tilt.

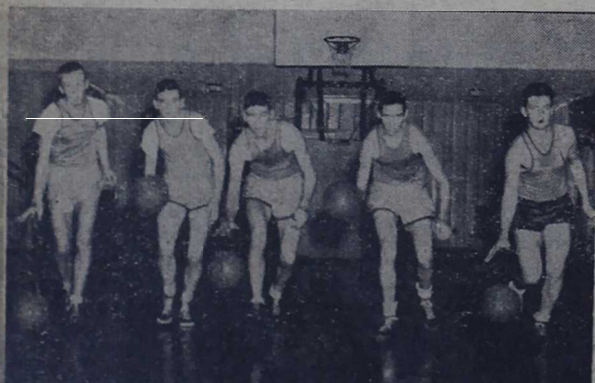

Chief threat against Lejeune Saturday, however, will probably be quarterback Marv Arnold, who, passing from the "T" formation, threw three touchdown passes and set up a third with a 45-yard "heave" when the Flyers downed Philly three weeks ago.

Barring injuries during practice this week, the local lads should be in top form for the game with the airdales. Big Hipps is back in the lineup, and Moody is a very able replacement for Maksin.

Men from Camp Lejeune who have signed up for one of the Special Services Buses and who are billeted in the Hadnot Point area must be ready to board the buses at the Bus Terminal at 1100. Men from outlying areas will be picked up in their respective areas prior to 1100. For those who wish to drive in private vehicles, plenty of parking space is available at the air station. A Camp Lejeune tag will admit any car. Winter service green, or blue undress, may be worn.

Those who witness the game will be given a special treat—Lt. Col. Carl, famous Marine pilot, Assanpink, January, 2, 1777.

will lead his exhibition squadron of Jet planes—known as the Marine Phantoms, in a 15 minute demonstration of tight formation flying over the football stadium before the opening kickoff. In addition, the 2nd Marine Air Wing and the 2nd Marine Division bands will provide half time marching and music.

Eighth Marines Now Playing Intra-Batt Touch Football

The Eighth Marines, one of the division organizations unable to enter the Intra-Mural Football League because of training commitments, has organized an intra-battalion touch football tournament which will run for thirty days, with a total of 18 games being played between now and 8 December.

Able, Baker, Charlie, and H&S Companies will each field a team, and rivalry will be torrid among the outfits until the champion is decided.

Each team will play every other team 3 times, and all games will be played at 1630 on the 4th Area football field, located on the River Road across from Bldg. 423.

At the conclusion of the tournament, a 15-inch silver cup will be awarded to the winning team, to be held in their possession until it is again placed in competition. The cup will be awarded on the basis of points given for games won during the course of the tournament.

Camp Boxers Prep For Coming Bouts; Lighthavy Needed

The Camp Lejeune Boxing Team has been developing rapidly during the past two weeks and is nearing top condition. With the addition of several heavyweights, the team is now deep in talent at every weight except light heavy. Lt. J. E. Cockrum, coach, is anxious to secure additional fighters in this class, and anyone with any experience at all would be extremely welcome at Gym 401 any afternoon during the week.

Archie Ballanger and Alex Diaz, both veteran Marines and boxers, are assisting Coach Cockrum in training and handling, and with these two to help him, Lt. Cockrum is positive that he can turn out a worthy team.

Tentative plans call for entry in the Georgia Cracker Tourney at Savannah during the middle of this month. If the plans are completed, the local pugilists will meet some of the finest competition in the South.

Red Davis is still the standout in the 112 lb. class, while both Tommy Otero and Woodard are looking hard-to-beat in the 118 pound weight. Coach Cockrum's hopes in the 128 pound class are based largely on Pete Schiro, a tricky southpaw with considerable experience, and, of course, Joe Pinelli, who will be harder to stop than last year, when he swept through just about all.

Lejeune Gridders Loud In Praise Of Air Force Hospitality At Bermuda

The Lejeune gridmen completely mastered the Kindley airmen on the football field last Saturday, but the "fly-boys" certainly didn't need any lessons in hospitality and fine sportsmanship. Upon their arrival at the air base late Thursday afternoon, the team was greeted by a welcome party, headed by Lt. Col. George S. Geanetos, Executive Officer of Kindley Field, and from then on were literally "treated like kings."

A complete schedule of activities for the entertainment and enjoyment of the visitors had been arranged and all who made the trip praised the cordiality and friendliness displayed not only by the opposing team, but by the base in general.

After taking a wallop on the gridiron Saturday afternoon, the locals were loud in their praise of the Marine's football prowess and gave the visitors a sincere welcome everywhere on the base following the game.

Highlights of the entertainment program enjoyed by the Marines follows:

Friday morning the squad motor-toured the picturesque island and were given a free hour to see the sights and gift shop in the city of Hamilton. A fishing trip had also been planned for the morning, but had to be cancelled due to unsafe surf conditions.

The Marine forward wall played a bang-up supporting role, tugging gaping holes in the Air Force defenses while allowing only a scant 43 yards on ground.

The passing arm of Royce ton, Kindley halfback, accounted for several advances and remained a touchdown menace through the game, while the line played Bill Schwartz, end, and Ray J. gione, guard, sparked the offense.

From the beginning, the Lejeuners dominated. The opening kickoff, the Marine drove 85 yards, via a series of long jaunts by Moody, to the lead before the game was five minutes old. "Big" Hipps contributed the final drive, skirting his own right end, 12 yards and a tally. Stein kicked the extra point.

Late in the second quarter, the Marine's took advantage of a fumble on the Kindley 25 to set again, with Moody smashing through center to score from 13-yard line. Ward's attempted conversion was blocked.

It was Moody again in the third quarter, scoring on a verse around his left end, after Miller snatched a Kindley punt out of the air on the Skyline 41 and "Big" Hipps carried the 25 to set up the touchdown. Stein's kick was good, 20-0.

Shortly afterward, Chiap took a Kindley punt on the opponent's 38 and zig-zagged to the eight-yard line. Lejeune was penalized five yards for too much time in the huddle, setting the back to the 13. Dick Stein ran around his right end to go 34-0. See AIR BASE On Page 8

Deacons, AlMars, Intra-Mural Winners Week-End Thrillers At Hadnot Point

Deacons Still On Top; Beat Trojans 13-7

The Deacons led 13-0 at the half in the Sunday thriller at Hadnot Point and it appeared that they would encounter no difficulty in maintaining their lead. Then during the third quarter, the Trojans suddenly came to life, and as their charged through to halt the Deacons on offense, they took to the scoring early in the fourth quarter and driving into position another that could possibly have won the game if time and a Deacon line had not stopped them.

It was a precision-built Deacon line that rolled up an early lead, taking command on the field 40 by virtue of a quick punt, and then advanced to the 10 on ground plays. Mangine and Strein doing good share of the ball carrying. Drayton scored on a touch-down pass from Schlicker that the Trojans by surprise conversion placement by plavage was blocked by Wig-Trojan end.

In the early moments of the third quarter, the Deacons again took command of the game when intercepted Romey's pass on the 30, and then Gortvent for 11 yards over his right guard. Mangine and Schlicker made another first down to the 10, and then, two plays later, Schlicker again passed to Drayton for a touchdown. Tomalak kicked successfully to make the score 13-0, about one third way through the second period. The remainder of the half was a see-saw battle, with neither team penetrating beyond the 30.

The Trojan pass attack really clicked in the fourth quarter as Romey passed twice for gains for a first down on the 20 yard line. Romey then passed to Lynn for another yard pass gain, and a first down on the Deacon 10. Two plays later, Schlicker passed from Romey to Drayton, from where full-back Szewczuga went over to the end zone. Kishel passed to Wiggins for the extra point with about five minutes remaining in the game.

The Trojans gained possession of the ball immediately after the game when they recovered a fumble on the Deacon 35.

AlMars Topple 21st, 19-14, In Sat. Struggle

Taking advantage of every Boondocker miscue, and combining a hard running ground attack with their fast and rugged line, the AlMars scored in the first, third, and fourth periods, while holding off a fourth quarter drive by the Boondockers in a Saturday game at Hadnot Point.

The AlMars took an early lead when, after Kmetz had punted to the Boondocker 10, Craig, AlMar fullback, broke through the Boondocker line and blocked an attempted punt by Serres. Hubany, playing right half for the AlMars, fell on the ball behind the Boondocker goal. The conversion attempt was no good, and the AlMars led, 6-0.

The Boondockers came right back, however, and looked all powerful during the next few minutes as they received an AlMar fumble on their own 32 and then swept to the AlMar 25, with Serres, Ryan, and Lunsford leading the way. Rollins, big end for the Boondockers, took the ball on a left end around to the nine yard line from the 20, and then Serres went off left end to the one-foot line as the first quarter ended. Ryan scored over right guard on the next play. The Boondockers went ahead by one point when Serres passed to Vipiano in a surprise conversion play.

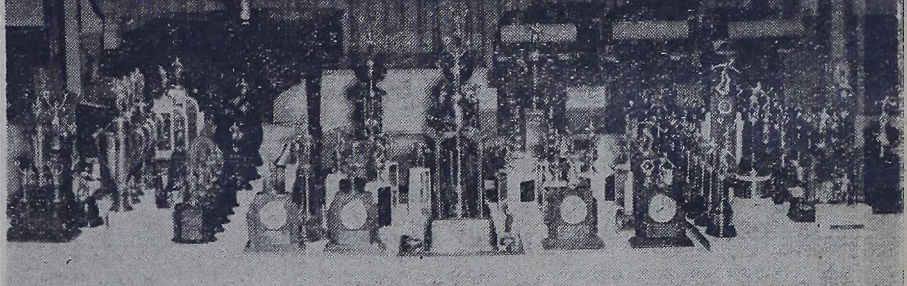

Serres of the Boondockers kicked off to open the second half, and the AlMars put on a show of power that took them to the 21st 15 on runs by Hubany, Craig, Geter, and Kmetz from their own 25, but a fumble at this point was recovered by the Boondockers. An exchange of punts followed with the result that the 21st were once again deep in their own territory—on their own ten to be exact. Serres attempted a pass to the flat at this point, and Geter, diminutive AlMar scatback, leaped high in the air to haul it down and dash across from the 15. The conversion attempt by a pass was incomplete.

The third quarter ended a few minutes later with the AlMars leading, 12-7, as the Boondockers punted out of bounds on the AlMar 30, and the AlMars went into high gear a few minutes later as Kmetz took another Boondocker punt on his own 45 and twisted down to the 21st 35. From this point Geter shot around right end and down the sideline to the 12 before he was driven out of bounds, and then Kmetz and Hubany drove to the 2 on successive plays. A 5 yard penalty set the AlMars back to the 7, but Hubany and Geter brought the ball back to the 2 in two plays off opposite ends. Kmetz went over for the third score on a quarter back sneak on the next play. Jenkins kicked the only AlMar conversion to make the score 19-7 with about half the final period remaining.

When the Boondockers took the touchdown kickoff they held possession until they scored on a 60 yard march. Serres led the way with a twenty yard run to the AlMar 40, then he passed to Rollins on the AlMar 14 in three tries, and then a penalty set the Boondockers on the AlMar goal with four tries to score. They only needed one, however, as Ryan drove through center for the second Boondocker score. Serres converted successfully with a placement, and the Boondockers pulled within

Football Personalities Right Half Moody

PFC. LEO J. MOODY

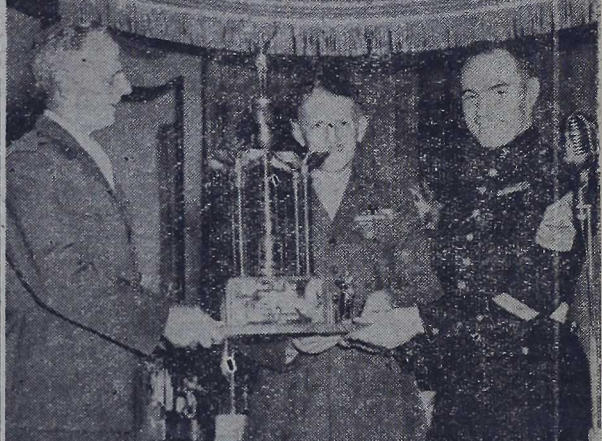

Downfield blocker with speed to burn is right half Leo Moody of the Camp Lejeune Marines. A late-comer to his present backfield assignment, Moody has done well, both offensively and defensively, and is sure to give an excellent performance in every game from now on.

Moody is comparatively new in the Corps—he enlisted in Columbia, S. C., early this year, but he's no novice at football. He earned his letter for three years at his home town high school in Dillon, S. C., earning all-state honors in his senior year, as well as being named the most valuable player on his high school

5 points of the AlMars. Time ran out however, and the game ended a few plays later with the AlMars in possession.

Doubles Winners

team. Football was not his only sport; he found time to earn letters in baseball and basketball also, and got around enough to be a member of the student council as well.

After boot at PI, Moody joined the Second Division at Lejeune, and was assigned to the anti-tank platoon, H&S Co., Second Marines. This is the first time he has ever played with a service team; but, judging by his performance so far this season, it won't be the last time.

Paul Blasko, Tackle

200 muscular pounds on a six-foot-plus frame can give quite a jolt; so many opposing linemen and backs have found this season when they ran into Captain Paul Blasko of the Lejeune Marines. Nearly always a starter at the left tackle position, the formidable New Jerseyite has seen many minutes of action this season for the home team.

Captain Blasko has been strictly a football man from his early high school days at Perth Amboy, New Jersey. He played three years there, then got in two more while attending prep school in Pennsylvania. From prep he went on to Cornell University in New York. While earning high marks in the famed Hotel Administration College of Cornell he also made a name for himself on the gridiron. Paul Blasko played first string tackle for three years at Cornell—in his final year Cornell went undefeated and was invited to the Rose Bowl.

The rugged captain enlisted as a private in July of 1941, and, after boot at Parris Island, he went to Quantico for officer's training. While at Quantico he played for their football squads in '41 and '42. After being commissioned, then lieutenant Blasko was assigned to aviation ground units, and served both overseas and in the states with them until he was assigned to the Amphibious Warfare School in Quantico in 1946.

CAPT. PAUL J. BLASKO

Captain Blasko joined the Second Division in 1947, and served as Division Adjutant until recently, when he took over the management of the Officers' Mess at Paradise Point.

Red Cross services are extended daily to war veterans requesting help with personal and family problems, to those many veterans who still lie in hospital beds.

In fact, recreation facilities are one of the outstanding features apparent to every man stationed here. A large and completely modern bath house on Onslow Beach is available for the use of enlisted personnel and their guests. Adjacent to this is a slightly smaller edition of the same facility which is for the use of the officers at Lejeune. Montford Point Marines also have a bath house for their own use.

There are numerous gyms, recreation fields, and a boathouse with a large fleet reserved exclusively for Marines and their guests. Across from the boathouse, on Wallace Creek, is the immense Marston Pavilion where dances are held regularly. Boasting two ballrooms and a beautiful central lounge, this dance pavilion is unequalled within hundreds of miles.

Two golf courses and a fine club house at Paradise Point provide all golfers with clubs and place to use them. Theaters, service clubs, and indoor swimming pools round out the complete facilities for the entertainment of the men who draw Lejeune for duty.

In addition to providing a base for the Second Division, Camp Lejeune is engaged in various other activities of wide scope.

In connection with the Marine Corps' comprehensive Reserve program, the base is utilized as a training base for the officers and men of the Organized and Volunteer Marine Corps Reserve.

During the past summer, members of the Marine Reserve received two weeks of active duty training to familiarize themselves with the latest developments in Marine equipment and tactics.

Because of its location Camp Lejeune is practically self-sufficient. As a community within itself, it provides all of the utilities of a small city, including electric power, water, sewerage, telephone and telegraph, central heating, fire and police protection, libraries, commissary, post exchange, and a multitude of other services.

presented. While the enlisted men were enjoying the NCO shindig, the Marine officers were guests of honor at a dance at the officers' club.

Transportation was furnished the Marines for all activities during their stay and Sgt. Joseph A. Jacobson, USAF, was on hand at all times as a guide and liaison NCO.

When the Lejeune squad departed early Sunday morning, the general consensus of opinion was that the trip was a very enjoyable and successful one and that the airmen, as hosts, were head and shoulders over those of any previous trip.

The School Board and the Camp Lejeune Faculty presented a social hour on Friday, November 5, at five o'clock at the Camp Lejeune School Auditorium. Parents were introduced to all the teachers.

Few parents realize how the the P-T. A. dues are spent. Part of the money is paid to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. It is used to advance education. Extra equipment for the school is bought by the P-T. A. The cost of entertainment programs is paid for by the P-T. A. funds.

An interesting program has been planned for the special meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association on Monday evening, November 15. BY GORT WILBUR

RAMBLING ON A ROYAL: Congratulations, Marines, on your 173rd birthday. May you have many more of them.

It is really a big day for all hands, and WJNC is pleased to do its part to make it a big success for all concerned.

This afternoon at 2:30, J.B.C. will bring you a play-by-play account of the game between the 2nd Engineer Bn. and the Marine Barracks from the Main Field.

Then this evening at 10, WJNC will broadcast the music of the collegians' favorite, namely that of Elliott Lawrence and his orchestra from the Officers' Mess.

Deacons

Starting to pass immediately, Romey connected with ever-present Wiggins twice to give them a first down on the Deacon 20, and then a pass and an offside penalty put the Trojans on the Deacon 5 with a first down. Three passes went incomplete before Szwczuga connected with Wiggins, but the lanky end was hauled down just about a foot short of a touchdown, and the Deacons took over on their goal. Time ran out a few seconds later with the Deacons still in possession.

Outstanding and instrumental in giving the Trojans an opportunity to upset the league-leading and undefeated Deacons were Wiggins and Sparks. They, together with the rest of the Trojan line, practically stopped the Deacon attack cold during the second half, and it was the passing combination of Romey and Wiggins that twice put the Trojans in scoring position.

European Talks

past war with the French Colonial Troops until the fall of France in 1940. After the French capitulation, he returned to the United States to continue the fight in the uniform of the U. S. Marines.

"The Balkans Behind The Iron Curtain," to be presented by Capt. A. A. Jidenoff, officer in charge of the Topographic Section of the 2d Engineer Battalion, will also ring with the authenticity of one who has lived there. Capt. Jidenoff, a native Russian now an American citizen, has only recently returned from the Balkans. During the years 1946, 1947, and until mid-1948, he was stationed in Bulgaria. His duty in Sofia was initially as liaison officer with the Russian Army. Later he was the U. S. Naval Attache in Bulgaria. His duties took him into all of the Balkans where he was able to observe at first hand the life and politics of these countries. These talks will do much to clear up the mysteries in many minds as to the real life in this explosive part of Europe.

The Camp Lejeune M Chorus needs new voices. I rehearsals and try-outs at 18 every Monday at Area T gymnasium, Building 201.
