Craig And Orchestra Play Pavilion Dance On 7 October

The Camp Special Services Office has announced that the second in a series of Thursday night dances at Marston Pavilion will commence on October 7 at 1930 when Allan Craig and his renowned dance orchestra will be at Camp Lejeune featuring "Novelty Entertainment."

Craig orchestra is probably the best of the semi-name bands in the East of the Mississippi, and has been scheduled to play the Edison Ballroom in New York City later in the season.

In addition to the band, Betty Jo Blackwell, lovely and the Dream Beams, a vocal trio. There are several other acts in the band's repertoire for the Glee Club, consisting of the entire band.

During the intermission there will be again presented a short play on a movable floor show, starring Arthur, well known for both his singing and comedy routine, and little Pauline Kennedy, a native tap dancer and singer.

Further anticipated that a number of charming hostesses will be present than in the recent plans indicate that the show will come from Morehead City, Beaufort in addition to Wilmington, Jacksonville and Kinston.

The Fall series of dances which commenced on September 16, the inauguration of several new features which offer an attraction than ever for those who like to dance, those who like to listen, or those who just plain look.

The music, which may sound like a new sound in view of past dances which have played at the pavilion, and a more well rounded program of entertainment are a few of the new additions.

Those who attended the last dance at the pavilion, which featured Roy Cole and his fine dance music, can testify as to the liveliness of the floor show that time, which starred Mary Alice Carmichael with a fast moving tap routine. Cpl. Val Shaw's ravenous act was greatly enjoyed by the crowd, and doubtless any mess sergeant watching him devour razor blades and light bulbs would wonder if his chow was

Military Police To Be Interviewed On WJNC This Friday

Radio station WJNC will again air a program on Marine Corps activities at Camp Lejeune this Friday, at 1915, when Gort Wilbur will interview two members of the Camp Military Police.

The program is aired in the hope that Marines and civilians alike may gain a better understanding of the function of Military Police, and to describe some of the work which they do which few of us know about.

Produced by the Division Public Information Office under the supervision of Lt. C. I. Campbell, the shows are written by Cpl. David B. Chrystie of the Public Information Office.

This is the third of a series of shows which will eventually cover practically every unit and activity in Camp Lejeune.

Lejeune Marines Face Quantico Bulldogs In First Travelling Game At 1430 On Quantico Field

The Camp Lejeune football squad travels up to a rather large boy's school on Quantico Creek, Virginia, tomorrow, where they will face the football giant of the Navy and Marine Corps in Butler Stadium on Saturday afternoon at 1430.

Lejeune followers are going in droves to the game, and they will meet an equally large number of enthusiastic spectators from Quantico. The Second Division Band, the Lejeune cheerleaders, and practically everyone in Camp who can possibly arrange transportation will be on hand to watch the underdog Lejeune Marines face the strong Quantico eleven in the grid classic of East Coast service football.

The Commanding General received the letter printed below from the President of Campbell College. He desires that the contents of the letter be printed in order that all members of the team and the spectators present be cognizant of the impression which everyone, players and spectators, gave Campbell College.

"General Franklin A. Hart
Commanding General
Camp Lejeune, N. C.
Dear General Hart:

I desire to add this written expression of my deep appreciation to you and your entire camp for your most gracious hospitality to me and the entire Campbell College representation at the game last Saturday. As I had the honor to say to you during the game, your entire organization gave evidence to us civilians present of the finest type of public relations program, making us all feel your royal welcome.

I cannot close without witnessing to the very fine spirit of good sportsmanship and clean athletics evidenced by every member of your squad. They proved to us in the early minutes of the game what they can do, and I believe will do for you during the season. Every member of the squad and coaches, however, bear evidence to the clean sportsmanship of your team.

I should like to renew my invitation to you to visit the college if you have opportunity at any time.

Yours very sincerely,
(s) Leslie H. Campbell
President"

The type of sportsmanship displayed by both the team and the spectators has elicited the Commanding General's sincere approbation.

Most of our home games will be played against teams who will have few of their own rooters present. Our team will give them a good clean fight, and it is anticipated that the rest of us will give them a few cheers for their efforts.

You needn't be a mathematical wizard to understand that Savings Bonds are the World's best investment.

The Lejeune spectators will be headed by the Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart. It is expected that the Commandant of the Marine Corps, General Clifton B. Cates, will head the list of Marine and Naval guests present from Washington, D. C. Maj. Gen. Lemanuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commanding General, Quantico, will also be present.

Under Head Coach Major Joseph Missar, the Lejeune team has been working hard for the past week, with heavy emphasis on defensive tactics. Most of the team will be recovered from the bumps and bruises received in last week's game, and the local lads will be in their usual top shape for the game.

The Lejeune offensive was effective last week, to say the least, but the Lejeuners can not hope to find another out of condition squad in Quantico. If they are to win they must play heads up ball at all times, and crack the tough

Never "Good Enough"

Necessity Of Education

Are you going out of the Marine Corps? If you are, you will enter a highly competitive world where you will need every weapon at your command to find and to keep a good job. The best weapon you can have for this is a good education. If you intend to enter a high school or college, you will compete with men who have formed the study habit and whose knowledge of basic academic subjects is still fresh in their minds.

Are you staying in the Marine Corps? Soon you will be taking examinations for promotion and will perhaps find yourself in a job requiring more knowledge and a better education than you now have.

Whether you are a professional Marine or a civilian, a good education is a necessary and an invaluable asset that can never be taken from you.

The Marine Corps Institute offers 203 courses of instruction. These are designed as aids in learning trades and skills; to prepare you for a higher education; or to increase your general knowledge.

There is no place in modern industry, business, or the Marine Corps for an uneducated man or a man who is content with being "good enough". Anyone who is content with mediocrity is unfair to himself and to American tradition.—G.S.W.

Chaplain's Corner

The Symmetrical Life

In any person there should be a four-fold development in order for that person to have a well-rounded life. Otherwise, he is lopsided somewhere. There should be proper physical, mental, moral and spiritual development.

The Bible does not advocate the disregarding of the physical body. The Old Testament has its precepts relative to diet and sanitation inasmuch as they have to do with the welfare of the physical life of man. Christ always gave recognition to the legitimate needs of the body. "Come aside and let us rest awhile." "Give ye them to eat." He went about healing the bodies of men; He frowned upon acts of asceticism.

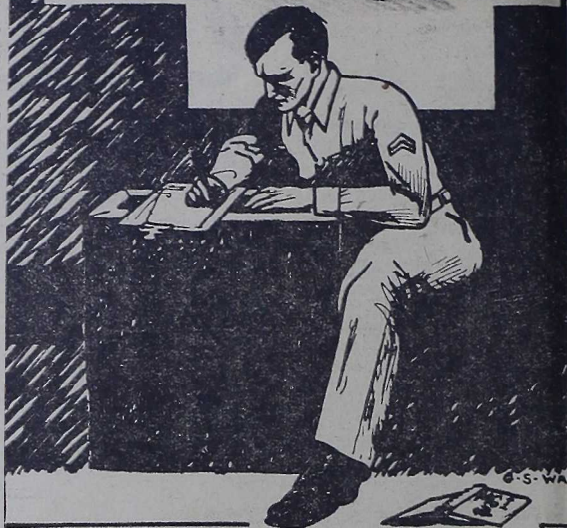

But man was not intended by our Creator to be merely animal. Life must not be a round of physical activity. Christ refers parabolically to the foolishness of the man who lived solely for the accumulation of crops and barns and wealth. "Thou fool this night thy soul shall be required of thee; then whose shall these things be?"

We should experience an intellectual development. We must not die from the neck up. Christianity places no premium upon ignorance. Where Christ is given room ignorance and illiteracy and superstition vanish away. What an age of educational opportunity this is! The vast public school system with nearly uniform high standards scholastically; state supported and private colleges and universities with both day and evening classes; great public libraries open to all; educational offerings to those honorably discharged from World War II; schooling offered to those in the various branches of the armed forces. There is little excuse for our being stagnant intellectually.

There should be in our lives a moral development. Morality is man's relationship with other men. In the giving of the Ten Commandments God saw fit to provide for men a code of just and fair laws six out of the ten of which have to do with our getting along with other people. As far as possible we should seek to cultivate fair dealings with others. It is only natural that we should desire to have the favor of others; but in doing this we find that success in the long run is not gained by compromising our convictions. Jesus didn't compromise His. As a result while pressing home spiritual claims upon his followers to which many were unwilling to respond, Jesus became most unpopular—so much that eventually He was crucified. But today this same Jesus has the homage and love of millions of followers. When tempted to conform to moral standards beneath your convictions of right and wrong, remember that in the long run it pays to be true to our high Christian calling.

But above all, man is spiritual. Even though there is proper recognition given to the physical, mental and moral phases of our lives, in the spiritual—"favor with God"—is lacking, then we are only 75% activated. Without a recognition of the claims of God upon our lives we are left without stable moorings. Though we reach the heights of material and intellectual attainment and though we are aware of how we should get along with others, we seem to be left with an inability to do that unless the sense of "ought" is contingent upon a primary allegiance to God. Truly when we "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness all these things are added unto us."

Lejeune Officer's Article Appears in October Marine Corps Gazette

Lt. Col. Cecil W. Shuler, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, Second Division, has written his way into the Marine Corps Gazette with an article concerning the advantage of having a tangible "enemy" in the form of highly trained men to oppose attacking troops in maneuvers and other training operations.

Lt. Col. Shuler has been in the Second Division at Lejeune since August of 1947, and has held his present position since November of that year. He joined the Division from the staff of the National War College, and during the war was Intelligence Officer, ComAmphib. He entered the Marine Corps after graduation from "The Citadel," well known military academy in South Carolina.

According to Colonel Shuler an aggressor force would add realism to any field or maneuver problem; would give actual targets for training of scouts, observers, aerial observers, aerial photographic interpreters, provide POWs and captured documents for training of troops and intelligence sections.

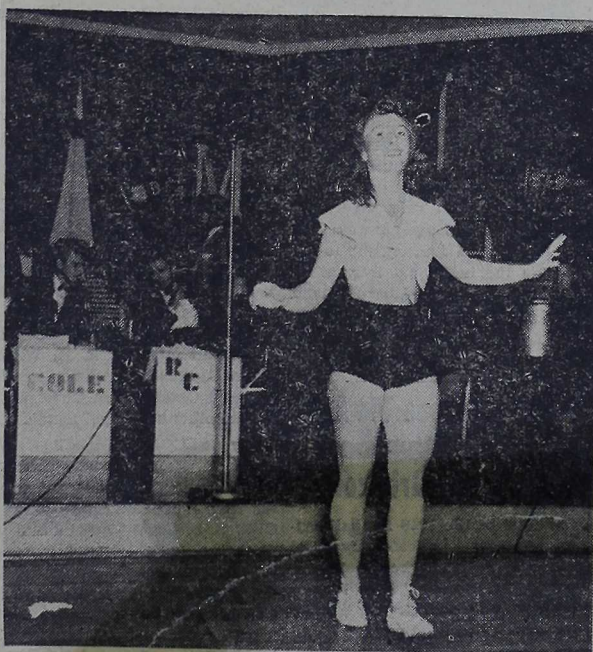

The Colonel says "... The Army, in 1947, in order to prevent a return to the prewar conditions and to improve upon the wartime expedients, planned and brought into being a truly fictitious force called "Aggressors." In the preparation of Aggressor, the U. S. Army made a definite effort to create as complete an air of realism as possible, even the extent of creating an imaginary country with a purely fictitious background. Reference toward any real country or people were strictly avoided. The Army's plan of use of Aggressor is intended to minimize the employment of flags and other thoroughly artificial devices, and to leave as little to the imagination of the individual soldier as possible. At a ratio to the real force, men and material, of but one to six, this enemy will be used habitually wherever logical and practicable in all maneuvers and in the zone of interior and wherever at the direction of the commanders. An Aggressor force can be employed on any size maneuver in any area. . . ."

The author explains that the Marine Corps could adopt the same plan by selecting a few intelligent men and several capable and energetic officers to form the nucleus of an Aggressor force for training and directing troops assigned to the force. The necessary equipment could be obtained from available stock or from units from which troops are assigned.

This small Aggressor Training Unit could then be made available for training troops assigned to the Aggressor force for major FMF maneuvers and field problems.

Officers' Wives Club
Will Present Fashion
Show At Camp Theatre

An Officers' Wives Club has recently been organized at Camp Lejeune, and as a result the wives and guests of all personnel at Camp Lejeune, both officers and enlisted, will be enabled to view the latest in styling and fashion at the Camp Theatre in the near future at a Fashion Show.

Officially known as the Officers' Wives Club of Camp Lejeune, the organization was formed to foster and promote acquaintanceship and cooperation and provide a source of cultural and social stimulation in matters of common interest.

All officers' wives are members of the club, and the members are divided into ten groups for the purpose of arranging the monthly program meetings for all Lejeune wives. Program meetings are held once monthly from September thru June. There are no regular dues, but a door charge may be levied to defray the cost of lectures or other entertainment expenses.

Club Officers are nominated and requested to serve by the Commanding General. The first, and present President, is Mrs. Franklin A. Hart. 1st Vice President is Mrs. William E. Riley and 2nd Vice President is Mrs. Henry D. Linscott. Secretary of the Club is Mrs. Galloway, and the Treasurer is Mrs. Jeschke.

Royce Stoenner And Orchestra Will Play At Staff Club Dance Fri. Nite

The Staff NCO Club will commence the Fall series of Friday night dances tomorrow, October 1, at 2030, when popular Royce Stoenner, "The Young Man from the West", will bring his ten piece orchestra to the club for the opening dance.

Stoenner's band, in addition to featuring his own sweet music on the trumpet and sax, has the added attraction of Skeets Morris, a balladier who can sing both sentimental and hot, and make you like it either way.

The band is one of the most popular in the country, and is well remembered at the Staff Club for the memorable music it has rendered on other occasions. Every song is danceable when the Stoenner band starts playing, and the singing of Skeets Morris is excellent listening as well.

The music will start at 2030 and continue until 0030, and those who have danced to Stoenner's music before will be as reluctant as ever, along with the new listeners, to leave when the music stops.

This is the first band of a new entertainment program which will feature a new and different orchestra each week, and the "Young Man from the West" is sure to get the program off to an excellent start.

Also scheduled for Friday is the opening of the newly refinished bowling alleys, and in addition to the individual play a tournament is planned for the latter part of October. In connection with this, all members of the club who are interested are urged to be present at a meeting on Tuesday, October 5, at 1930, to elect a bowling committee.

Navy Overwhelmed By Straight Running

Philadelphia Sailors Overwhelmed As Lejeune Rolls Up 53-0 Score

The Lejeune Marines poured on a powerful ground attack for four quarters last Saturday to overwhelm the game but hapless Philadelphia Sailors by a score of 53 to 0. There was just too much running for the Navy to keep up with as the Lejeuners opened up wide holes and ran the ends ragged to score at least two touchdowns in every quarter.

Lejeune fumbled only three times, which although not perfect, was a considerable improvement over their opening game. Big Hips and Little Hips both scored, along with Maksin, Zakula, Slater, Ptak, and Miller. Steppe kicked for one conversion point.

The entire Lejeune line was outstanding, the Philadelphia backs actually lost more yards from scrimmage than they gained. To mention one Lejeune player is to mention them all—they stood head and shoulders above their opening performance, and if they can maintain their high standard there is a chance that they may beat Quantico.

Philadelphia played clean ball, and there were several players on their team who caused our team many worrisome moments in the course of the game. Fidel Dejesus, a little scabback from Annapolis, Md., played a sparkling defensive game, and quarterback Dan Guilday pulled the Navy out of several holes with his long punts. Neapolitan was an excellent passer, and with Brown and Guilday to toss to provided a constant threat.

The score sounds a bit lopsided, but the play was enjoyable throughout the game. Clean blocks were the order of the day for Lejeune, and the clicking, running plays of the local eleven provided thrill after thrill.

Intra-Mural Boxing To Commence In Nov.; All Units Competing

Details relative to the forthcoming intra-mural boxing season were recently released in a memorandum by the Camp Special Service Office.

All units of Marine Barracks, Second Marine Division and attached units stationed at Camp Lejeune, and U. S. Naval Hospital are eligible to participate. Members of the Camp Varsity Boxing team are not eligible to participate with respective unit teams, unless officially cut from the varsity team.

Any boxer interested in participating in the intra-mural league, yet who is a member of an organization not sponsoring a team, is eligible to fight with the team of his choice providing it is cleared with the Camp Athletic Officer, Phone 3659, prior to his first fight. Once having fought with one unit team this fighter is ineligible to fight for any other unit team.

Many units will find it impossible to sponsor an eight man boxing team representative of all weight divisions. For this reason, no regularly scheduled league will be conducted by the Special Service Office. However, any unit sponsoring a boxing team consisting of at least 4 men of different weight classes may contact the Camp Athletic Officer who will arrange challenge-bout smokers as desired.

Smoker competition may be arranged through the Camp Athletic Officer any time subsequent to 14 November, 1948 and until 14 January, 1949. Commencing on or about 17 January, 1949. This athletic office will conduct a camp-wide boxing elimination tournament to determine the individual intra-mural champions in all weight divisions. Both the champions and runners-up in each weight group will be presented with appropriate awards.

Guam Marines Tie 20th Air Force Team On Home Made Gridiron

Success of the 1948 football season on Guam, indicated by 5,000 fans who watched the opener between the First Provisional Marine Brigade and 20th Air Force early this month, can be attributed largely to the efforts of Brigade personnel in providing a playing field.

The Marines put the field into playing condition, marked it off, erected bleachers and goal posts, improved roads, and provided parking space.

To add color, they obtained a Brigade Cannon—a surveyed 37mm gun with shortened barrel—to signal the raising of the National Colors at the start of the game and to mark scoring of the Brigade eleven.

The opener, played on a muddy field, ended in a scoreless tie with both teams threatening but failing to tally. The airmen gained the edge in yardage gained and scored five first downs to the Marines' one.

Deacons Push Across Two Last Half To Overcome AIMars

The Division Deacons defeated the Marine Barracks AIMars in a sixty minutes of football at Midway Park last Sunday which the AIMars make a desperate bid for a last minute score as the final blow.

Before stands crowded spectators who were aroused in feet many times during the game the Deacons combined a strong ground attack and smart five play to hold the AIMars less throughout the second half the Marine Barracks team passed and ran their way to a down early in the second half.

The AIMars scored on a tricky all-forward pass combination sent Ski Kuzman across from Deacon thirty yard line after Kmetz and Casino had led their way on successive plunges from their own 45.

In the second half opened, it was the Deacons to strike, they did with a vengeance, moving downfield without an interruption from their own 40 to the Al goal, where Black went across for their first score. D'Ambrosio crossed for the conversion on a backer sneak.

The final score of the game was up when D'Ambrosio intercepted an AlMar pass on the Al thirty, Mangini followed him with a twenty yard dash over tackle, and Black again led on a run around left end.

Kmetz of the AIMars played out the game, along with Rudd, the center and captain for the Deacons, Casino and Banker were all a threat in the AlMar back and Wycuff, Gritz, and Henner were excellent in the line. The Marine Barracks AIMars are composed of players from all sections of Marine Barracks and the Supply Division.

D'Ambrosio and Strein, Lipski and Black, and Mangini all backfield standouts for Deacons, and men like Lay McCormack, McGrath and Wycuff in the line made the Deacons' running attack click as it was.

The Division Deacons are composed of players from the 1st A Bn. and H&S Bn., Division.

Football Personalities

Bert Gigli, Tackle

As big and tough as they come is Bert Gigli. The rugged tackle is from Glassport, Pa., and was a standout in the line in last week's game with the Philadelphia sailors. Gigli, at 6'3" and 210 pounds, is one of the biggest men on the team, and certainly a man to keep the holes filled when the opposition has the ball.

Bert joined the Marine Corps in Pittsburgh during September of 1945, and after a short period in California went to China and joined the 1st Marines, remaining in China for two years before returning to the states. He was assigned to the Division in April of 1948, and at present is in H&S Co, H&S Bn, Division.

PFC. BERT GIGLI

R. M. Marshall, Center

Captain Robert M. Marshall, of Whitehall, Illinois, is the heavyweight anchor of the Marine line this year at the all important center position. With 225 solid pounds molded to his 6'1" frame, the captain is more or less a rock that anyone would find hard to move from the line, and just as hard to resist when the hard charging center comes in for a block or tackle, as he did so often in the last Lejeune game.

When in high school Bob Marshall was captain of the varsity team in his fourth year of football, as well as making the All-Conference team and being nominated to the All-State eleven. He went on to Shurtleff College, Alton, Illinois, where he spent one year, and made the varsity team in that short time.

CAPT. R. M. MARSHALL

Captain Marshall entered the service as a Naval Air Cadet, and after receiving his wings transferred to the Marine Air Corps. He joined VMF 216 in El Toro, and spent 15 months in the Solomons with that organization. He went overseas again with the 1st Marine Air Wing to China in late 1945, and returned to Cherry Point in September of '47.

At present he is on detached duty from Cherry Point as a forward air observer in H&S Bn, Second Marine Division.

Marine Corps League Notes

As a result of the election Monday night, 27th of September, the following officers and alternates elected to office of the New River Detachment, Marine Corps League.

To Commandant, Claude Fisher; Alternate, R. D. Chaney.

To Sr. Vice Commandant, John Woodfin; Alternate, R. F. Casey.

To Jr. Vice Commandant, James Groover; Alternate, George Cicala.

To Judge Advocate, David Groover; Alternate, J. V. Murry.

To Adjutant, Ernest Bear; Alternate, H. G. Torbett.

To Paymaster, Welby Cronk; Alternate, H. G. Torbett.

To Sgt. at Arms, Byron Groover; Alternate, J. J. Cressman.

The purpose of the alternate officer became evident when, during past meetings, duty and temporary transfers have cut the attendance of officers present at meetings so badly that normal business could not be properly transacted.

The alternate officer is to take the place of the regularly elected officer when he is not present, and was elected to the officer as runner up on the ballot.

A Ladies Auxiliary was voted in at the same meeting and it is requested that all women, daughters, mothers and wives of marines or ex-marines be present at the next meeting of the club, so that this section of the club may be fully inaugurated.

The Teen-Agers section has gotten off to a new start after being held up from its meetings by the polio ban. The Teen-Agers are having their meetings on Tuesdays now instead of Mondays, and have just held an election of new officers in the same manner as their sponsoring club.

At the next meeting there will be installation of officers, and also on the agenda is the formation of a set of club rules.

The next meeting of the Marine Corps League will be held at the Community House in Holly Ridge on Monday, 4th October. The meeting will get underway between 2000 and 2030. (Please Note: Free Beer to Members During Meetings!)

Also remember your membership card expires Oct. 1st, so get out the three dollars and renew your membership now.

Will you be Quantico-bound on October 2?

The Indians are more or less an unknown quantity, it is known that they have been practicing for some time, and whether they have developed a creditable eleven during their long weeks of practice in the boondocks of the Fifth Area will be determined only after the opening whistle.

They did, when last observed, have some rather cute surprises which the Gunners can be on the lookout for in Friday's game. Though they have a light line, the Indians cannot be discounted on this disadvantage, as the Gunners well know.

Coach Harris, of the Gunners, has been working his men hard for the past two weeks, and expects a great improvement in the blocking and tackling of his team. Their pass attack, which came so near to triumph many times in their first game, has been improved to the point where it can be expected to be the chief worry of the Indians Friday.

The Indians can, however, as previously mentioned, be expected to spring a few of their own, and anyone who figures the Gunners a favorite might learn differently at the game.

Varsity Boxing Team Will Be Organized; Try Outs On 4 Oct.

The training period will commence Monday October 4, at 1500 in Gym No. 401, and tryouts will be held on this date. Transportation will be provided for personnel from Montford Point, Tent Camp, Rifle Range, and Courthouse Bay by the Camp Motor Transport Officer.

There are comfortable sleeping quarters and excellent meals in the friendly atmosphere of this non-profit organization, which is partly supported by the Community Chest. Lounges, Billiard Room, Study Halls for student veterans, Laundry and Checking facilities are only a few club offerings. Friday night guest dances and dinners are part of the entertainment program.

Sponsored by the Woman's Army and Navy League, whose volunteer workers give their services, the Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' Club at 1015 L Street, N. W. Washington, invites servicemen to drop by for a meal, register for a night, or stay indefinitely. When in Washington additional information can be obtained by going to the Club or by calling Executive 1919.

2d Tank Battalion, Second Mar Div, FM

By PFC. R. K. DALY

When the 2d World War started the armies of the world had a relatively new and experimental weapon—tanks. The Germans started the ball rolling with the invasion of Poland. Then came the coordinated air-tank blitzkrieg which won the battle of France and decided the question of the value of air-tank-infantry coordination in combat.

The Marine Corps formed its first tank battalion in Cuba in 1940. Since then the Marines have used tanks in every major operation in the Pacific. The 2d Tank Battalion, 2d Marine Division, won outstanding recognition during the war, winning several Presidential Unit Citations. The Congressional Medal of Honor was posthumously awarded Sgt. Timmerman, "B" Company, 2d Tank Battalion, during the conquest of Saipan.

In peace, as in war, the 2d Tank Battalion carries on the tradition of gaining plaudits wherever they go. The battalion is proud of its record of taking raw recruits and molding an outstanding group of tankers out of them. They have provided invaluable training for thousands of Citizen Marines, as well as acquainting the Second Division infantry units with the nature and use of tanks.

The present commanding officer of the 2d Tank Battalion, Lt. Col. Robert L. Denig, Jr., is an old tank man. He was CO of "B" Company, 2d Tank Battalion on Samoa and on Guadalcanal. While commanding the 6th Tank Battalion on Okinawa he won the Legion of Merit and later was with the same battalion in the occupation of North China.

Major Edward G. Roff, Jr., executive officer of the battalion, was a tank instructor at Quantico previous to joining the 2d Tank Battalion. During the war he was with the 1st Tank Battalion. Another tank man is Major Edward L. Bale, Jr., who was with the 1st Corps (medium) Tank Battalion and the 2d Tank Battalion during the war. He rejoined the 2d Tank Battalion in July, 1947.

During the occupation of Japan by the 2d Marine Division, the 2d Tank Battalion was stationed at Fukuhori and later Sasebo. The battalion returned to the states around June, 1946, and unloaded at Norfolk. Since that time they have been stationed at Camp Lejeune. The battalion, or units from the battalion, make all the landings held by the Division, with the exception of the cold weather maneuvers.

At the present time there are two companies in the battalion. "A" Company, commanded by Captain Edward C. Nelson, and "B" Company, commanded by Captain David Foss, Jr. Captain Nelson was with the 2d Tank Battalion when it was first formed and received the Navy Cross on Iwo Jima while commanding "C" Company, 5th Tank Battalion. He rejoined the 2d Tank Battalion around December, 1945. Captain Foss was with the 2d Tank Battalion on Guadalcanal and Tarawa and with the 6th Tank Battalion on Okinawa. He was Commanding Officer of "C" Company, 6th Tank Battalion, when it was attached to the 4th Regiment for the occupation of Japan.

Early last week the battalion held a tank-air coordination exercise in conjunction with the 1st Air Wing. Despite an acute case of ergophobia, the writer was persuaded to accompany the battalion during one phase of this exercise. I was permitted to ride in the gunner's hatch on Baker-14. It was quite an experience.

The Tank Commander of Baker-14 is M/Sgt. Vern V. Wall. Originally from Oklahoma, Sergeant Wall has some 17 years in the Marine Corps, eight of which have been with tanks. He fought with the 5th Tank Battalion on Iwo and was with both the 5th and the 2d Tank Battalions during the occupation of Japan. The driver, Pfc. Paul "50 Weight" Klingler, from Belleville, Ill., has been with the 2d Tank Battalion for more than a year. He said he enjoyed driving tanks. (Me, I like bronc bustin', it's easier all around.) The remaining crewmen were Pfc. Bob Hroza, from Chicago, and I need not say what state, and Pfc. Jerome A. Krug, who hails from Indianapolis, Ind.

I will not, due to certain restrictions, mention anything about the exercise. But I can and will say that I was sore for days following, and that the photographer, Cpl. Pajakowski, have his deepest sympathy.

The next day I limped to the tank farm to meet some of the men. I was fortunate to run across T/Sgt. George W. Bush, a wit amongst tankmen. This Sgt. Bush helped form the 3rd Tank Battalion back in July, 1942 and served with it until he returned to the states in May, 1945. He was awarded the Bronze Star, with Combat V.

The 2d Tank Battalion is fortunate to have throughout its ranks many veteran tankmen. The 1st Sergeant of "A" Company, M/Sgt. Frederick C. Leach, was with the 1st Tank Battalion from the Canal to Pelieu, and has been with the 2d Tank Battalion for almost two years. Another old tankman is S/Sgt. Joseph A. Cavalluzzi. He was with the 1st Tank Battalion from November, 1941, until May 1944. He joined the 2d Tank Battalion in January, 1947.

Cpl. Charles E. Vallandigham was with the 1st Tank Battalion from April, 1942 until after the Pelieu operation, and joined the 2d Tank Battalion in February, 1947. 1st Lt. Carl M. Viner was with the 1st Tank Battalion from June, 1944 until he was wounded on Okinawa in May, 1945. He has also been with the 2d Tank Battalion since the first part of 1947. 1st Lt. Richard M. Taylor was with "C" Company, 6th Tank Battalion on Okinawa and Japan, and when the 4th Regiment was deactivated he rejoined the 6th Tank Battalion in China.

These men, and other veterans of the war in the Pacific, are now training the new men the art of tank warfare. Men such as T/Sgt. William O. Koontz, Weapons Co., 24th Marines, who received a Purple Heart for Saipan and Iwo Jima, and Captain Lawrence H. Bosshard, wounded on Tarawa and Saipan, are now actively engaged in the preparation and training of men for the 2d Tank Battalion.

The idea conveyed by tanks is not a new one. Firepower, mobility and defensive power are the essentials of any combat equation, however simple. From the last days of Rome to the Swiss pikemen, the cavalry, despite its moderate firepower, was the dominant arm of war. Railroads, during the First World War, made possible a great gain in speed, but without a corresponding gain in maneuverability, since the railroad ordained the direction the armies were to take.

From time to time, certain ill-appreciated inventors suggested how armed and armored self-propelled machines could play a part on the battlefield similar to that of the cavalry. The role of the cavalry on the field had been slowly diminishing due to the advent of gunpowder. The inventors, however, were brushed aside as quacks, as the general staffs of all nations had just got around to figuring out ways to beat Napoleon.

The British finally adopted the idea in 1916, and early one November morn in 1917 at Cambrai, the tank proved itself. Three hundred and seventy-eight tanks had been assembled secretly by the Allies, and, without a preliminary bombardment, captured ten miles of German held territory. Unfortunately, there were no spare parts for repairs, and the triumphant adolescent blitzkrieg stopped.

After the "war to end wars," the tank was dropped by most of the nations of the world. The horse still reigned supreme in the established military circles. This era may be divided into two periods: the before and after of the Spanish Civil War. The before was the dark age of tanks, the after, the light wilderness. Yet, as far as mechanization goes, there were two countries that achieved things before 1939: Germany and Russia.

The experts have never agreed to all the uses for Scouting, smashing the defenses and penetrating into his territory are paramount. A comparatively new development is the employment of in defense. It has swiftness, and enormous strength. It also has many limitations. Of the many requirements are need of fuel, repair sections, engineer sections, roads and ges.

We have learned through experience that the best way to machines is with other, better machines. Larger tanks, aircraft, anti-tank weapons are necessary. These men now training with the 2d Tank Battalion are becoming skilled in the most advanced methods to fight with tanks. The latest equipment the Marine Corps possesses, is enabling men to learn now a comparatively new science of war.

It's not quite the same as an M-1, but it still has to be cleaned. Crew members of the tank turn to on the 105mm Howitzer after a hard day in the field. The gun is only one of the many details which demand constant attention if the tanks are to operate properly. (All photos on this page by Cpl. Pajakowski, 2d Division Photo Section.)

Back in the parking area the work really starts; preventive maintenance plays a great part in keeping the tanks fit for their arduous tasks at all times, and the men of the 2d Tank Bn. are skilled in both operations and maintenance.
