- October 16 and 30
- November 13 and 27
- December 11 and 24

Permits for hunting deer will be issued by the Provost Marshal one week prior to each hunting date, and the permits must be returned to the Provost Marshal by noon of the following Monday. Passes will be issued for all members of the party and it shall be the responsibility of the person organizing the hunt to see that all members of the party possess hunting permits, that all kills are reported to the Provost Marshal, and that all passes are returned by the end of the following Monday. In order that dogs may be available for the hunt, it is permissible to have dogs and drivers for a hunt party, not more than two (2) drivers to be included in any party. Such drivers will be permitted to carry guns and hunt, provided they possess a permit issued by the Provost Marshal for this purpose. Hunters will be required to have a conspicuous RED marking on their clothing visible for five hundred (500) yards. Shotguns only are authorized, and pump and automatic guns will be plugged so that when loaded only five shells can be fired. Hunting hours are from sunrise to sunset. The areas and boundaries prescribed are as follows:

Area 1: Bounded by Holcomb Boulevard, Highway 24, Smith Road, Bear Creek Road, Cowhead Creek, Sneads Ferry Road.

Football Dance At Quantico For Men From Here Announced

Men from Camp Lejeune attending the grid contest of the year at Quantico on 2 October will find that they are well taken care of by the reception committee at Quantico. Messing facilities and sleeping arrangements have been made, so no one will have to worry about sleeping in his blues or eating hot dogs. The doors of the gigantic new enlisted men's club at Quantico will be open wide to Lejeune Marines for a huge football dance after the game, with hundreds of beautiful dancing partners from Washington and Arlington present to welcome any and all visitors, no matter whose team they supported during the game.

Lejeune Returns To Standard Time On Sunday, 26 Sept.

At 0200 on 26 September, 1948, Camp Lejeune will return to Standard Time. All organizations and activities of this camp will comply with this change of time by turning clocks back one hour. Appropriate steps will be taken to change the schedule of Seashore Transportation Company buses bringing employees to and from their work.

Marine Jet Pilot Featured In Issue Of National Weekly

"World's Fastest Fighter Pilot" is the title of the story, which features Marine Lieutenant Colonel Marion Carl, and appears on pages 50, 52 and 53 of the October 12th issue of Look Magazine, it was announced here today. The story is illustrated by eight pictures showing the Marine Ace proudly displaying a model of the "Skystreak," in which he set the official world's record of 650.6 miles per hour. The Skipper of Cherry Point's "Phantom" jet squadron is also pictured as he dons his nylon G-suit, prepares for a round of his favorite sport, golfing, and Colonel and Mrs. Carl are shown fishing, and relaxing at their home. Arrangements for the story were made by the New York Marine Corps Public Information Office of Brigadier General J. T. Selden, Director, Division of Public Information. Captain H. L. Jacobi, USMC, representing the Director, assisted Look's staff at Cherry Point, N. C. Don't delay! Put in for the Quantico trip today and witness one of the top Marine grid battles of the year.

Camp Team Looking For First Win Against Philadelphia Naval Base

The Lejeune eleven will meet the Navy in the second game of the current season at 1600 on the Hadnot Point gridiron Saturday in attempt to avenge last week's defeat at the hands of Campbell College. Philadelphia Naval Base will provide the opposition, and the sailors will face a slight handicap in that this is their first game of the current season.

Sale Of Football Programs A Success; Will Continue On

Football programs sold at the Camp Lejeune-Campbell College game last Saturday provided $156.62 for the Family Hospital fund. This was a good start and indicates that Lejeune personnel are interested in assisting their own as well as interested in the line-ups, but the response should be even better at the next game with everybody behind the program 100 percent. The first game of the 1948 season witnessed the inauguration of this project intended to supply such items to needy dependents as are not furnished by the Navy. The Family Hospital takes excellent care of the families of military personnel stationed here but there are certain items, particularly for newborn infants, which are not standard items of issue to hospitals. Nursing bottles, diapers, and special foods come in this category and the purchase of these items by the parents may occasionally work a hardship. That is when the fund goes to work. Although the babies' needs will form the biggest drain, the fund may be applied in all types of cases. The programs will be sold at the game this Saturday and at every football game played here this season. The proceeds from all sales will be given to the Family Hospital Fund. This is a very worthy cause. Back it throughout the season and make each succeeding week's proceeds greater than the last.

Sure to be on their toes for the game, the Lejeune Marines have been working hard all week to correct the faults noticed in last week's game. They are determined to hand the Navy a defeat, and it goes without saying that the sailors can expect no quarter from the Camp team.

The Naval Base team will bring along about thirty-five experienced players, with a formidable line average of 195. Their backfield is captained by 205-pound fullback Jack Muzj, who specializes in ripping opposing lines to shreds.

This is the first service team the Marines will play, and should be a good indication of how the locals will stack up against other service teams on the Atlantic Coast, for the Philadelphia team is reputed to be the pre-season choice in their district.

The Second Division Band will again play intermission music, and they have another demonstration of trick marching for the half time entertainment. Refreshments will be sold, and the cheer leaders will be on hand to urge the Lejeune rooters.

Beach Closing

Onslow Beach and all its facilities will close until next year on Thursday, September 30. All personnel are warned against swimming at Onslow Beach without properly trained lifeguards, and must understand that any further swimming at Onslow after 30 Sept. is at the risk of the individual.

A Mark Of Respect

The Salute

The origin of the salute is interesting and unknown to many in the service. It dates back through the ages to those times when all men went about armed and prepared for sudden attack. When two such men happened to meet in a friendly manner, each signified his peaceful intentions by raising his right arm on sighting the other. This custom continued and finally developed into the modern military salute.

The salute is an exchange of courtesy and a manifestation of mutual respect between individuals in a military organization. It is in no sense an admission on the part of the one who salutes first that he is mentally, morally, or physically inferior to the one being saluted.

Most service personnel worked for their livings in some capacity before entering military service. As employees few of them would neglect to bow or to greet in some way their employers or bosses when meeting them in the street on a holiday. And the young bank messenger or clerk would have been looked upon as decidedly uncivil and lacking in courtesy and proper respect, had he failed on entering his place of employment to greet those over him. And when the foreman of the shop or the floorwalker in the department store made his rounds in the morning, the employees would have taken great pains to say "Good morning," and with a smile thrown in for good measure. And their politeness would not have belittled or humiliated them any more than the salute and greeting in the Marines belittles or humiliates the Marine.—W. B. K.

Chaplain's Corner

Throbbin' Noggin Or Sicker Ticker?

Ecclesiastes is usually regarded as the most pessimistic book in the Bible, but in spite of this book's general atmosphere of gloom, it contains many valuable insights into the nature of life. For example, verse 1:16: "The more you KNOW the more you SUFFER: the more you understand the more you ache." (Moffatt). On first sight, the writer seems to have not one, but several bats to loose in his belfry. Certainly this thought seems to contradict contemporary educational theories. Most people would argue this point by maintaining that knowledge does not increase suffering nor understanding increase pain. I do not wish to labor the point unduly but I do wish to point out two things which may indicate some correction is needed regarding the address of the bats.

More and more reputable doctors regard headaches and ulcers as the scare of civilization. These afflictions are, in a sense, the price man pays for enlightenment, understanding and knowledge. In spite of the vast store of medical knowledge we possess, headaches and ulcers are becoming more common. If you are not yet convinced, here is a tip—buy some stock in Bayer, Bromo Seltzer or some related product and your whopping dividends may change your mind. The chaos, complexity and conflicts of our time have made a throbbin' noggin a chronic complaint.

Throbbin' noggins should not be the only manifestation of increased knowledge and understanding. Certainly if our minds are stirred our emotions should not remain unaffected. A throbbin' noggin should be accompanied by a sicker ticker. There are many who complain of headache who have never experienced heartache.

When it seems impossible to restore order from chaos, simplicity from complexity, concord from conflict, where do we ache the most? Is it our heads or is it our hearts? If throbbin' noggins are not accompanied by sicker tickers, there is little chance to eliminate enmity, injustice and selfishness from our world. The world's most intolerable burdens cannot be lifted unless we place our shoulders, our heads and our hearts under them.

SELF RESPECT GROWS DIRECTLY FROM DISCIPLINE

September Brings The Return Of School Days; Enroll In MCI Today

As school bells ring through the land on a bright September morning, youths put aside fishing tackle, say good-bye to the 'ole' swimming hole and return to the classroom. The call to school beckons all seeking education, young and old alike.

Statistics of the United States Office of Education indicate that this is a year of record breaking enrollments. The growing number of country boys and city youths entering high schools and colleges shows the interest in education and the desire for advancement. Progress through education and self-improvement is the key-note of the present generation.

Competition has become keener in the past few years. Increasing enrollments indicate that most young men seek degrees in the professional fields and requirement standards are more stringent than before. Hard work, perspiration and ability are needed by students hoping to make the grade.

An Eye To The Future

Veterans using their G-I rights and young boys with an eye to the future realize the value of education. They prepare for a profession or a career. Work today brings rewards tomorrow. The lawyers, doctors, engineers and scientists of today were the students of yesterday.

The Marine Corps offers educational opportunities for Marines with an eye to the future. Marines seeking advancement and self-improvement can start their training through the facilities provided for them by the Marine Corps.

The Marine Corps Institute is the Marines' own correspondence school, the oldest in the services, run by Marines for Marines. It offers 203 free courses to all Marines, Regular and organized Reserve. All fields—academic, business scientific, technical—are covered by MCI courses.

Choice Of Courses

The Marine seeking college courses has his pick of liberal arts, engineering, science and business subjects. For the man working for a high school diploma, the Institute has the required courses of English, history and language. The trade- and hobby-minded Marine will find many technical courses to occupy his spare time and prepare for the future—automobile, radio, shopwork.

Marines at all posts and stations are served by the Marine Corps Institute year round. Every day is "Back to School Day!" at the Institute.

Jewish Services And Social Hour Held In New Location Now

Building 67 is located opposite the Central Camp Exchange and was formerly used as Veterans Reserve Officers' Barracks.

Navy Relief Society Announces Need For Registered Nurse

The North Carolina Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society at Camp Lejeune reports more interest and assistance to the men and families stationed here during the three months than was reported the entire year of 1947. Navy stands ready to assist not only financially in case of emergency but also with advice and the solution of problems which may arise.

In addition Navy Relief Society announces the plan to introduce Camp Lejeune a service which has been found excellent in other areas and which we know will be an outstanding contribution to Camp Lejeune, namely: a 12-month visitation Navy Relief nurse. Approval has been granted from the National Headquarters to employ such a nurse and an appointment now made through this society for any registered nurse, married or unmarried, in this area who is interested in such employment contact the Navy Relief Society in Building One, Phone 5584.

Feature Article In October Gazette On Airborne Operation

A feature article in the October issue of the Marine Corps Gazette part one of The Fight At Market-Garden Operation in the September issue. The article is a report on one phase of the Market-Garden Operation in the Netherlands. It is a re-creation of the small unit action and elements of the 502d Parachute Infantry Regiment.

General Kurt Student, commander of the German airborne division, was having lunch with Major General Rudolf Christopher von Gersdorff, Chief of Staff of the Seventh German Army, when they were discussing the operation of the Nazi war machine. Student stated that the reason for the misfortunes of the night were due to the fact they had never learned to do a proper airborne operation. The two Nazis could not agree on their discussion, and lunch above them was filled with the sound of the 502d Parachute Infantry Regiment's Market-Garden Operation. The operation itself wasn't a failure.

General Marshall says "... Some miles to the southward of Student and Von Gersdorff to depart their table without for dessert, the 502d Parachute Infantry Regiment came to and assembled neatly and without untoward incident in several fields just north of the Rhine Canal.

They had initially, and according to the least spectacular aspect in the whole show. 101st Airborne Division's general assignment was to hold the southern third of the bridgehead and the British XXX Corps hoped to cross from the Belgian border to the north bank. With the 101st Airborne leading, XXX expected to roll up this air-bridgehead and consolidate the position within 56 hours.

That this was not done finally, Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery attributed to a bad break in the weather, which is a convenient way of passing the buck to God. The student of history might better regard the irreducible fact that the whole plan was as tight as a straight-jacket, leaving almost no margin for error in the calculations of either time or space.

"The costs were exacted right at the beginning, in the very hour when the airborne forces were making their first moves to capture and defend the broad highway from Eindhoven to Arnhem. The Guards Armored, which had figured on a prompt break-out from the Escaut Canal Bridgehead and a smooth advance to Eindhoven, couldn't get out of its tracks. A few German rocket men had taken a surprise position the night before in a conveniently placed wood copse flanking the line of advance. Their first fire brewed up a dozen tanks. The road being blocked, the attack was temporarily given over to the infantry. So it was next day—after the lapse of a fatal 20 hours—before the link-up with the airborne, which had been scheduled for that evening, was finally made at Eindhoven."

Now they were going back home. They had originally planned to spend the night at the University, but the flush of victory was too deep to be quenched by reason. By hurrying, they could get back to their own school in time for at least part of the Senior Hop where they would reap a harvest of adulation.

Charley, the lithe little middle-weight, was driving, and the other three were asleep in the back seat. No one saw the frightful collision. Charley didn't because—for just four seconds—he had gone to sleep too. They found the car against a tree, pounded into an incredible ball of steel, wires, glass—and flesh.

Miraculously, none of the boys were killed, but not one will ever box again.

Marine Corps League Convention Is Being Held In Milwaukee

Two candidates—Theus J. MacQueen of Albany, N. Y., and William J. Brewer of Milwaukee—will run for the office of national commandant of the Marine Corps League, national all-Marine veterans group, at the organization's twenty-sixth annual assembly at Milwaukee September 22-26. More than 3,000 of the League's 47,000 members will attend the convention.

MacQueen, now serving as the League's senior vice commandant at its national headquarters in Albany, and Brewer, past commandant of the Department of Wisconsin, announced their candidacies several weeks ago and have been conducting active campaigns. MacQueen served in the Marine Corps from 1939 to 1947, Brewer from 1907 to 1911.

The Marine Corps League, incorporated by an Act of Congress and recognized by Veterans Administration as an official body to represent veterans, was organized in 1922 by the late Lieutenant General John A. Lejeune, World War I hero and the League's first national commandant.

President Harry S. Truman has been invited to the convention and has made a tentative promise to be present at the "Parade of the States," which will be held on the evening of September 24. The United States Marine Band will be a feature of that program.

Varsity Schedule Has Changed—Intra-Mural Game Time Now 1430

Lt. Col. A. N. B. Robertson, Camp Special Services Officer, has announced that a game has been arranged with the USS Mississippi to replace the Albright College game on 16 October. The Mississippi has long been known for the fine teams she puts out in every sport, and the game should be a welcome addition to the Lejeune schedule.

A further announcement has been made regarding the times of the intra-mural football games. With the change to Standard time, the games will be played at 1430 commencing with Sunday's game at Midway Park.

Bus transportation will be available from unit areas to Midway and return for the Marine Barracks-Div. H&S Bn. game on Sunday.

Orange Tide Sweeps Four Touchdowns Across To Defeat Lejeune Team 26-1

Archie Brigman and Co. from Campbell College handed the Lejeune Marines a defeat in the opening game of the season before a crowd at the Hadnot Point stadium last Sunday. Coming from behind near the end of the second quarter, with Lejeune leading, 19-0, Orange Tide swept over the amazed and stunned Lejeune gridde two touchdowns in the few remaining minutes of the half and went to hold the Marines scoreless in the second half while scoring two themselves.

W&M Workout Rated Very Satisfactory By Both Teams' Coaches

In preparation for the game with Campbell Junior College, the Lejeune Marines scrimmaged the William and Mary Indians, rated one of the top teams of the south, in a one hour and forty-five minute closed practice session at Williamsburg, Va., on Sept. 14.

Claude 'Big' Hipps, Marine left half, made several outstanding runs and pass receptions, while Stone Quillian was an outstanding defensive lineman for the Marines.

The Camp team suffered a serious blow when Dick Koen, outstanding fullback, received a shoulder injury which may put him out for the rest of the season.

Ironically, the greatest damage to the Leatherneck defense was perpetrated by William and Mary's freshman back, Jack Place, who only last season played for the Marines at Quantico. Tommy Thompson, All-Conference center, and Jack Cloud, flashy fullback for the Indians, played their usual outstanding game.

Substitutions were frequent as both coaches took this opportunity to see as many as possible of their men in action under game conditions. Both seemed satisfied with the development of their teams and are confident that they are nearing peak condition for the opening game.

Southern Conference Football Official A Camp Lejeune Visitor

Mr. F. G. Heath, president of the Southern Conference Officials Association, was a visitor at Camp Lejeune last week while on a tour of Southern Conference schools. Mr. Heath, one of the highest rated officials in the Conference, was head linesman at the Marine Corps Birthday football game at Lejeune last year.

During the coming season the veteran head linesman will officiate at most of the important games in the Southern Conference, including the Duke-North Carolina and George Washington-Virginia games.

Richard—And The Door

(SEA) — A 10-year-old lad named Richard boarded a passenger liner at Honolulu to see some friends off. Unnoticed, he entered a room of which he could not open the door. When his plight was discovered the vessel was well at sea headed for the U. S. Steamship company officials notified the "shut-away's" mother who wired money to Los Angeles for his return passage home.

Lejeune scored easily three times with a powerful ground attack. Hipps scoring first from the Campbell 35 on a slash off tackle. Stein drove across for another touchdown the eight yard line early in the second quarter. The third Lejeune score came on a quarterback pass by Chiapuzio from the Campbell two.

The preliminary of things to come came when Brigman returned the Lejeune third touchdown pass off for a touchdown of his own for ninety yards. The Lejeune started a scoring march immediately, but it came to a sudden stop the Campbell 10 when ever-present Brigman intercepted a pass. He again ran the entire ninety yards for another score. The half ended as Campbell made an unsuccessful try for the extra point, the remaining 19-13, Lejeune lead.

The second half opened with a march to the Lejeune 10 by Orange Tide, but the threat was stopped when Big Hipps intercepted a pass on the goal and made it his own four yard line. W. Stein kicked off nicely. Toward the end of the third quarter Campbell pass attack started rolling, and was climaxed when Hipps threw a long one to Brigman the Lejeune five. Deal went for the tying score, and the contest failed.

The winning touchdown was up in the fourth quarter when a long pass play, Brigman, the receiver, was interfered with, and the ball was set down on the Lejeune five, where Nichols went over for three tries. When the game ended Campbell was in possession of their own nine yard line after covering a fumble.

Maksin and Big Hipps were working hard for Lejeune throughout the game, and Stein's kicking was excellent. Burnett and Quillian were outstanding in the line, as Bakewell's line backing. Ed Nichols and Walt Deal were backfield standouts for the Orange Tide. Archie Brigman was always spectacular. Staley was a driving line back for Campbell, and the big tackle did all the place kicking for the team as well.

Over 7000 attended the game, including Major General and Mrs. Franklin A. Hart, and Dr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Campbell. Dr. Campbell is the President of Campbell College. The Second Division Band put on a fine demonstration of time marching and playing, the cheer leaders provided more of the football atmosphere.

Marine Brks AlMars To Meet H&S Deacons At Midway Park Sunday

The Division Deacons will be out for their second win in intra-mural Sunday when they take on the Marine Barracks AlMars at Midway at 1430 Eastern Standard Time. The Deacons, who showed promise in their game with the Tenth Marine Gunners last Sunday, have been working hard on their pass defense all week, and the AlMars will have a time making any completions against the Deacons this week.

AlMars are practically an own quantity, as their coach, Krohn, has been keeping them wrapped since practice started a few weeks ago. It is known they will use more than one formation, but probably principally a double wing.

Deacons, meantime, have been polishing up their backfield and in an effort to avoid fumbles which set them back in last week's game. Their backfield line has been doing the steady workouts which will be of such value in the first half and they will again attempt to put up the opposition's backfield.

One thing is sure, though they go into the game at a slight disadvantage, the Deacons are a team of surprises, and they are a team to beat. The AlMars don't have the injury problem the Deacons face, but coach Krohn is following the usual trail of much weeping and gnashing of teeth—before the game. Whether he is justified or not will be known only after the game. It is known, however, that the AlMars do not regard the Deacons' record as a thing to be taken lightly and they will be out to defeat the Deacons from the start. The game will run from all units at Midway Park to accommodate spectators, and will make a fine run after the game.

Football Personalities

F. P. Maksin, Backfield

A right half who can block and tackle with the best of them, and an outstanding ball carrier as well, is an unusual occurrence on most teams, but Francis Maksin wearing a gold "IT" on his red jersey, proved he could do both in last Saturday's game with Campbell.

Five feet eleven and 180, the blonde, quiet halfback is from Pittsburgh, where he played three years of varsity ball for Myles Bryan High School, and in his senior year was captain of the team.

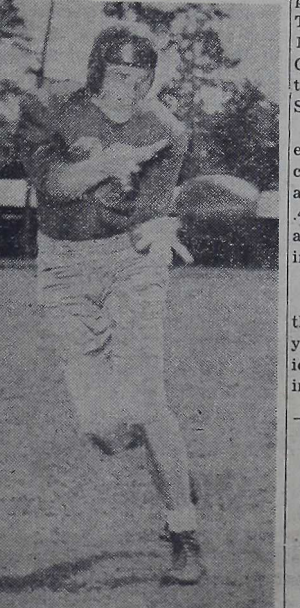

CPL. FRANCIS MAK SIN

Maksin has been in the Corps since early '46. Recently returned from the Pacific, he played on the FMF team at Pearl Harbor in 1947. He was assigned to the ComSerGrp on reporting to the Second Division, and is still a member of that organization while playing with the Camp eleven.

L. E. Burnett, End

First Lieutenant Loren Burnett is built like an end, looks like an end, and is one of the best ends on the team at the present time. A pass snatcher with glue on his hands, the lanky lineman is a top defensive player as well.

A natural athlete, Burnett was a star in both football and basketball at the Dodge City, Kansas, Senior High School. So good that a scout all the way from the University of Mississippi came up to look at him, and an athletic scholarship to "Ole Miss" resulted after graduation from high school.

1ST LT. LOREN BURNETT

At Mississippi he was a regular member of the varsity teams in football and basketball from 1939 to 1941, and won All-Conference basketball honors in his final year at "Ole Miss".

H&S Bn Deacons Upset 10th's Gunners 19-0, In First Intra-Mural Game Sunday

The Division H&S Bn Deacons triumphed over the 10th Marine Gunners at Hadnot Point last Sunday in a thrilling struggle highlighted by the outstanding line play of the Deacons throughout the game.

Sports Program At Lejeune To Be On WJNC Friday Nite

The activities of Marines at Camp Lejeune will again be aired over Station WJNC this Friday night, at 8:15 EST when Lt. Edward Bailey, coach of the 1948 baseball team will be interviewed by Gort Wilbur, local sports announcer.

This and all succeeding shows will be designed to give the civilian populace a word picture of the varied duties and types of recreation in TODAY's Marine Corps.

The first in this series of programs was broadcast last Friday night, as Majors J. C. Missar and R. C. Portillo, coaches of the current football team, were interviewed by Gort Wilbur.

This show is brought to the public in the interest of gaining a higher respect for the military life. It should be to the interest of every man to tune in, and gain further knowledge of activities and opportunities here at Camp Lejeune.

Quantico Nine Wins All-Navy Baseball Title For 2nd Time

Quantico again won the All-Navy baseball title when they defeated the SubPac team in the final game of a three out of five series at Quantico on September 20. The Marine nine scored 13 runs, on 16 hits and 3 Navy errors. The Submariners had 6 runs, 8 hits, and the Marines made 4 errors.

CWO Stowers Wins North Carolina Skeet Championship

CWO Stowers, leading Lejeune skeet shot, added another laurel to his already fine record last week when, on the eve of his departure with the Camp Skeet Team for the National Match in Nevada, he captured the North Carolina Skeet Championship at the annual match in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mr. Stowers fired in three events, the .410, .20, and 12 gauge competition, and set the high overall high score with 46x50 in the .410 shoot, 96x100 in the .20 event, and 97x100 for the 12 gauge firing.

YOU'LL never owe anyone a thin dime—not if you've added to your emergency fund by systematic payroll purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds.

Striking with a ground attack from the short punt formation, the Deacons took advantage of the Gunners' mistakes and their own hard driving line play to score in the first, third, and fourth quarters.

Lipsinski scored first when the Deacon line crashed through to block a kick on the Gunners' own one yard line. The Deacons marched up the field into scoring position several times during the remainder of the half, but costly fumbles lost them their chances.

The next touchdown came in the third quarter when D'Ambrosio went across over center after the Deacons' line had recovered a fumble deep in Gunner territory. D'Ambrosio scored again in the final period on another buck over center, and Tomalage kicked the extra point successfully.

The entire Deacon line played aggressive and heads up ball, with McCormack and Marshall spending a large part of the afternoon in the Gunner backfield. The Gunners' pass attack was working well during the last half, and Settimio and Ogden showed up well in the Tenth Marine backfield. Coach Harris of the Tenth avowed that with this defeat under their skins, the Gunners would be hard to stop from now on.

young flyer was progressing smoothly when suddenly, a take-off instructor stepped over and cut the two star-engines. He told the startled pilot to circle and make an emergency landing.

B-24's are hard to hold on with two engines out—especially when the dead engines are on the same side. But when the instructor appealed for help to "hold the plane," the instructor with mild, blue eyes barked:

"I'm in combat: Two engines out. Co-pilot killed. You got to rudder yourself."

Over The Counter PX PERSONALITY

Technical Sergeant John H. Hobaugh hails from the mountainous regions of that grand old Quaker State of Pennsylvania. More important, though, to the men of the 8th Marines and other units located in the 4th Area, is his ability to manage the Service Club there in an efficient manner.

Quarterly, Hobaugh comes through with a witty saying destined for posterity, the latest of which is his "People should give me the cigars!" and he refers to the recent birth of a lovely baby daughter.

The new open hours for Central, Men's Shop, and Special Orders, designed primarily to fit into the scope of reserve training, have been accepted as a better service to all personnel at this Camp, and have been designated "permanent" by the Commanding General.

This means the above mentioned activities will be open until 1700 on Saturdays and closed on Mondays.

It's a natural thing to appeal to the public to "do your Christmas shopping early!" This is even more necessary at Lejeune—for with a dire lack of warehouse space and a limited square footage of store space, all merchandise must be put on sale as soon as it can be "run through" the proper receiving procedures. So, be prudent, and begin to watch your Central activities NOW for Christmas bargains that are beginning to come through. Don't wait for one certain day to do your shopping—it's impossible to put everything in the store for that day!

PREPARE NOW!

Now is the time to take your service winter uniform to the Camp Cleaning and Pressing Shop to be readied for the approaching uniform change. By taking your uniform in now, you will avoid the inevitable last-minute rush. Be the early bird!

Remember—watch our ads for additional savings to your pocket-book!!

Men's Shop

A large selection of ladies materials are on hand the Central Exchange, and orders will be taken for ladies suits and coats. Orders will also be taken for Men's made to order suits, priced from $44.00 to $64.00. A selection of over 200 of the finest worsteds, gabardines, tweeds, and coverts are available for these suits.

Special orders will be taken for Navy Blue uniforms and raincoats until October 5, which is not too far away for those interested. North Carolina Hunting and Fishing Licenses are on sale at the Men's Shop, as well as a complete line of hunting equipment and hunting clothing.

Camp Fire Department Always Ready

By PFC. R. K. DALY

It is the life ambition of most firemen to run amok in the burning homestead with his trusty fire-axe. His greatest delight would be to nooze right through the mother lovin' alarm and let the fire burn itself out. But, alas, it is not so. At the first sound of the alarm he must leap out of his warm sack like a boot at revile. With one hand clutching his pants he makes a dive at the general direction of the pole, and along with a half a dozen other guys who have the same general idea, he lands in a heap at the bottom. Without even the luxury of a cup of coffee and a cigarette, he climbs into cold, clammy boots and staggers to the truck.

Within the limits of Camp Lejeune there are eight modern fire stations. The firemen are marines, who originally were indoctrinated in the methods of fire fighting by the Wilmington Fire Department. The marines were assigned to the Fire Department in Wilmington on a temporary duty status, where they were taught the most advanced fire fighting techniques.

The "short way" down is shown is by Cpl. J. J. Hartsoe.

But those days are soon going to join the roster of "Old Corps" items. "I can remember back in the ole corps when they used to have marines doing everything at Camp Lejeune" may soon be the word, for around the first of September a nucleus of civilian fire crews was established with the hiring of additional civilian firemen. It is contemplated to man the fire stations at Paradise Point and the Industrial Area with civilians. However, Marine fire fighters will man the balance of the fire stations located within the camp.

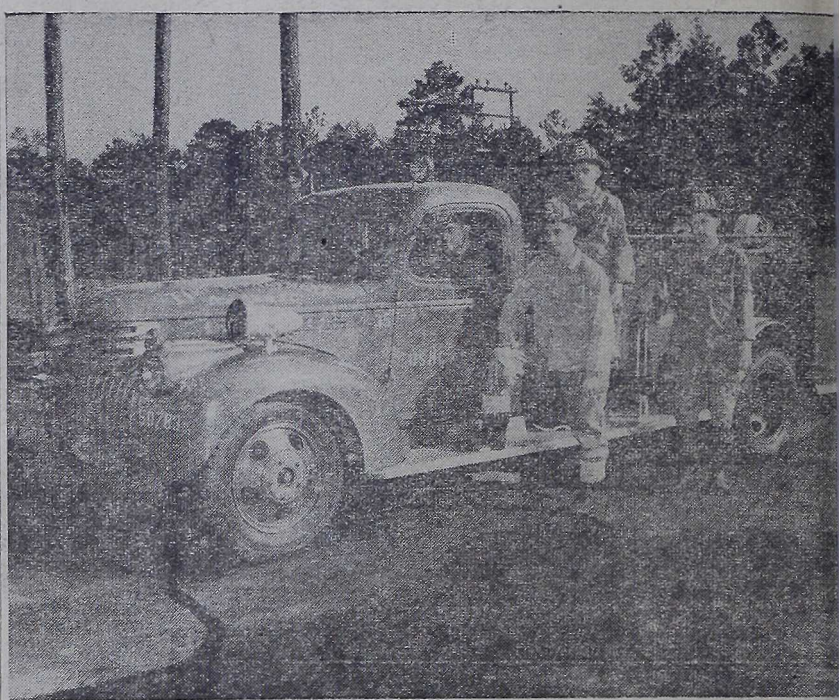

Under Camp Fire Marshall, Lt. Col. J. L. Winecoff is 1st Lt. R. E. Gilmore, assistant to the Fire Marshall. He has attended the fire fighting school at Norfolk, Va., and generally supervises the operation of the Fire Department. Lt. Gilmore is assisted in turn by M/Sgt. C. X. Forre, Marine Fire Chief, in these duties. The civilian fire companies are under the control of civilian Fire Chief, A. B. Anderson, who has as his assistant Deputy Chief R. Wrenn and Drill Master F. J. Schlarp.

Fire Chief Anderson was formerly a Lieutenant in the United States Navy, and commanding officer of fire fighting schools at Newport, R. I., Boston, Mass., and Norfolk, Va. Deputy Chief Wrenn is an ex-marine and has been associated with the Camp Lejeune Fire Department since 1941. He received training at the Wilmington Fire Department and has served in the capacity of civilian Deputy Chief since the latter part of 1946. Drill Master F. J. Schlarp was formerly an instructor at the Penn State Fire College.

In the very near future a training program and school will be inaugurated in a permanent location in Camp Lejeune. It is hoped that this school will eventually be able to assist all Naval and Marine Fire Departments throughout the newly designated 7th Naval District. It will be similar to the school in operation at the 5th Naval District, Norfolk, Va.

The average complement of each fire station is twelve men. The senior NCO is the station captain. A civilian station captain will be in charge of those stations to be manned by the civilians. At present the marines are quartered in the fire houses and in due time this will apply to the civilians. The Fire Headquarters on the main service road will be manned by a full company of marine firefighters. All the fire stations perform weekly drills under scheduled supervision. (All you people who envy the marines on duty at the fire houses should first participate in one of these drills.)

It was requested that we stress the importance of drivers pulling to the side of the road and stopping when the alarm is sounded. Or for that matter when any emergency vehicle is on the road. Time is the essence in combating any fire.

With a fleet of modern fire trucks housing the latest equipment, the Camp Fire Department now provides continuous extensive training to keep its members abreast of the latest methods and techniques in fire fighting. In addition, special training in the systems employed in fighting forest fires are emphasized. There are five fire towers scattered throughout the reservation manned by civil service employees of the Forestry Department. The central fire station at Camp Lejeune maintains radio contact with the fire towers at all times.

In the stations in the immediate vicinity of the camp there are crash trucks, 500 gallon pumpers and boondockers. In the event of forest fires the boondockers are assisted by the Camp Roads and Forestry Department.

It is the desire of Camp Fire Marshall Winecoff and all concerned, through constant training, to make the Camp Lejeune Fire Department an efficient organization second to none.

A program of fire inspections and prevention is underway to cooperate with all activities in reducing fire hazards of all types. All hands may help promote this program materially through "good housekeeping."
