Live Ammo Employed In Camid Exercise; Termed "Splendid"

NORFOLK, Va. (AFPS)—This little seaport town recently was the "objective" of a full-scale invasion.

Climaxing the "Camid" war games, 147,000 ship tons of an amphibious force of the United States Navy's Atlantic Fleet, aided by the Army, Air Force and Marines, staged a landing in full war dress.

Using "live" ammunition in the simulated attack, 1,500 men with tanks, trucks, heavy guns and all necessary supply equipment, were put ashore within a few hours.

William H. Draper, Jr., Under Secretary of the Army, termed the operations "splendid," and said the war games "demonstrate practical unification of the three Services."

While the last phase of the "Camid" operations used only simulated fire, the operations at Bloods-worth Island in Chesapeake Bay were just the opposite. A sustained bombardment by ships, together with the use of rockets, was carried out in the full-dress maneuvers.

A highlight in the war games was the parachuting of 200 men by the 82nd Air Borne Division.

Operation "Camid" was staged as part of the training of West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen, who made the amphibious landings.

Mermen Win Many Points, No Crowns In All-Navy Swimming Tournament

Lejeune's star mermen put their best into the All-Navy Swimming and Diving Tournament at Philadelphia last week to garner many points but no firsts according to dispatches received this week. The Group VI team, with Lejeune swimmers holding down the majority of berths, won no All-Navy crowns but the members acquitted themselves well by bettering their previous times against the top swimmers the Navy had to offer.

Cpl. Walter Sorg, H&S Bn., Camp; Pfc. Luke A. Dommer, 4th Marines; and Pvt. J. W. Garrett, 10th Marines; placed in individual competition. Sorg copped second in the 400 Meter Freestyle to gain the top individual spot in the meet as far as the locals were concerned. Dommer placed third in the 100 Meter Backstroke and Garrett also came in third in the 200 Meter Breaststroke.

The Group VI team composed of H. L. Mize, SRNC; Pfc. Mike Mizers, 8th Marines; Cpl. William Carrithers, 10th Marines; and W. D. Kein, PRNC, gave a good account in the 800 Meter Freestyle Relay to come in for second place.

This is the old-time minstrel, with the traditional endmen, Mr. Bones and Mr. Tambo, the Interlocuter and the chorus. In a sense, Minstrels are not ordinary shows, but are based on tradition dating from before the Civil War.

Star specialty attraction is Mr. Billy Arthur, publisher of the Jacksonville News and Views, who will feature gags and songs. Also featured are "Young" Ron Hanneman, accordionist; John Wagner, singer; N. R. Smith, Whistler's son-in-law; a combo of endmen featuring hot jive and jazz; Louis Cabral, fast speech and patter; and last but not least, Burch and "Frenchy," trombone specialty.

The technical staff will be under the tutelage of Cpl. Val Shaw. Sound men and electricians: Cpl. Dave Christie, Pfc. Ray Bruner, Pfc. Dave Taylor, Sgt. George Burke, HMC Harry Gardner will handle make-up. Artists: Sgt. Thomas Dauer and Pfc. Arnold Christiansen. Music will be under the direction of T/Sgt. Jack Holt and selected members of the Division band. Publicity by Cpl. A. W. Rush and Pfc. Allen Mainard.

This is the first of a series of live shows to be presented by Camp-Division Special Services, now planning for one show a month in the future. Come early and stay late for laughs, good music and all-around entertainment. This is your show, don't miss it.

Starting Next Week

'New Look'

The Globe, in keeping with the times, will sport a "New Look" commencing with the next issue. Most noticeable changes will be in the format.

For more than a year, the body type has been Corona, a new face found to be more readable and presently being adopted by many of the nation's large dailies. Now, in addition, the lines will be spaced further apart to make your Camp newspaper even easier to read.

The old and rather illegible front page flag will be replaced by a completely new design which will be more attractive and pleasing to the eye as well as more utilitarian. The word GLOBE will be emphasized and the Camp Lejeune patch on either side will be replaced with a neat scroll.

Making a newspaper more readable and attractive is a waste of time if there is nothing in it worth reading. Therefore, several new features will appear weekly. Some of them make their debut this week and the others will be added at the same time as the change in format.

This week, transfers of officers and staff NCO's can be found as well as a list of quarters assignments.

Starting next week, social notes concerning officers and staff NCO's at Camp Lejeune will make their appearance in print and items of interest from other Marine Corps posts and stations will also be published.

On this, the world's most complete amphibious training base, there are many interesting activities, both at Hadnot Point and at outlying areas, which function smoothly in performing important tasks and rarely are brought to the attention of personnel of this command. In an effort to make every man at Camp Lejeune familiar with his Camp and its many facets, each playing an important part in the over-all picture, a new feature will highlight one activity a week and attempt to present a brief but complete story of that activity with pictures and words.

Look for the "New Look" next week!

"What's your name, corporal?"
"Don't know."
"How come you don't know?"
"I ain't myself today."

If you want to see how important you are, stick your finger in a bucket of water and see the big hole it leaves when you pull it out.

When two women suddenly become very friendly, it is a sign that some third woman has lost two friends.

Adrift on a raft, two sailors had just about given up any hope of rescue.

One began to pray. "Oh, Lord," he intoned. "I've led a worthless life. I've been a drunkard. I've beat my wife and neglected my children. But, if you save me from this, I promise. . . ."

"Hold it," interrupted his companion. "Don't promise too much. I think I see land."

"I hear you sold your pig."
"Yep. Sold him this morning."
"What did you get for him?"
"Eight dollars."
"What did it cost you to raise him?"

"Paid three dollars for him, and five more for his feed."
"Didn't make much, did you?"
"Nope, but I had his company all fall."

"With a single stroke of a brush," said the school teacher, taking his class around the National Gallery, "Joshua Reynolds could change a smiling face to a frowning face."

"So can my mother," said a small boy nearby.

A company of Engineers was building a bridge and their Sergeant was pushing the job. He drove them without mercy until one of his men tried to reason with him. "Get off our backs, Sarge," he pleaded. "Rome wasn't built in a day."

"I guess not," the NCO retorted. "but I wasn't bossing that job."

"Hit Song"—One that stops being popular by the time you learn all the words.

Children are natural mimics. They act like their parents in spite of every effort to teach them good manners.

Two ladies had not met for some time when they encountered each other while shopping.

"Oh, Mary," one began to chatter. "I've had a lot happen to me since I saw you last. I had my teeth out and an electric stove and refrigerator put in."

Recruit: "I think I've lost a dollar."

NCO: "Don't worry. It's around here some place. You know a buck doesn't go far these days."

An enterprising war veteran cleared some land in the Northwest and started a farm. By dint of much struggle, trial and error he had the place in fine shape. Villagers were loud in praise of his industry, not the least of whom was the local minister who made capital of the fact in all of his sermons.

The young man took it all in stride, but he disliked the way in which the minister kept bringing the "Good Lord" into it all the time. Virtually everything the boy did, from clearing the land to growing fine crops, was the basis for the minister's sermons.

Then the boy dug an artesian well which flowed freely. "Tis a fine job, son," admired the pastor with a devout air. "You and the good Lord are to be admired, my boy!"

"Yes, reverend," he said politely. Then as an afterthought he added: "But you should have seen this place when the Lord was doing it all by himself."

Pilotless Jets New 'Clay Pigeons' For Gunnery Training

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—The Air Force and Navy are buying a number of newly developed pilotless jet planes that will be used for target practice, it has been announced.

Contracts with the Ryan Aero- nautical Company call for the development and manufacture of a "service-test quantity" to high- speed craft. An Air Force spokes- man said that 13 planes were on order and that others would be purchased if the tests are success- ful.

The target plane will be design- ated as XQ-2. It is described as a pilotless jet plane, less than half the size of a standard fighter. It will be used as a "clay pigeon" for both anti-aircraft and combat plane gunners, and in interceptor prob- lems.

Chemistry Important Science In Modern Industry & Life

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The para- troopers waited tensely as the large four-engined plane roared nearer its destination—Normandy Beach- head. Seconds later the anxious veterans got the signal. The jump- master passed the word, "Hit the silk!" The men with split-second precision approached the door and jumped screaming "Geronimo!" as they fell into space.

The expression, "Hit the silk," stems from the days when para- chutes were made of silk. The need for parachutes and the lack of silk in the last war increased the de- mand for a substitute. Chemists produced a synthetic cloth—nylon. This material proved so adaptable and suitable for parachutes that it has replaced silk.

This is one of the contributions of chemistry. The chemist has extended the scope of his work into every phase of life—the home, the office, the recreation center. His aim is better and more healthful living.

In many industries he makes more durable and dependable goods than nature, as in the case of rubber. Celanese, a chemical prod- uct, is fire-resistant. Diamonds and rubies as beautiful as those of nature can be produced through chemistry. These jewels are used for precision work in industry.

SPECIALIZED RESEARCH

The chemist spends long hours of research and experimentation in his laboratory until he can give the industrialist a finished product. Then the wheels of industry turn to make a new medicine or plastic. The creative zeal of the chemist results in better products and en- joyable living.

The man preparing to enter the field of science needs chemistry. Doctors, pharmacists, engineers make constant use of chemistry. From the general view of the field, the student progresses until he is able to specialize in industrial chemistry or chemical engineering. He may not use a testtube but he works with chemicals every day—gunpowder, paint, even toothpaste.

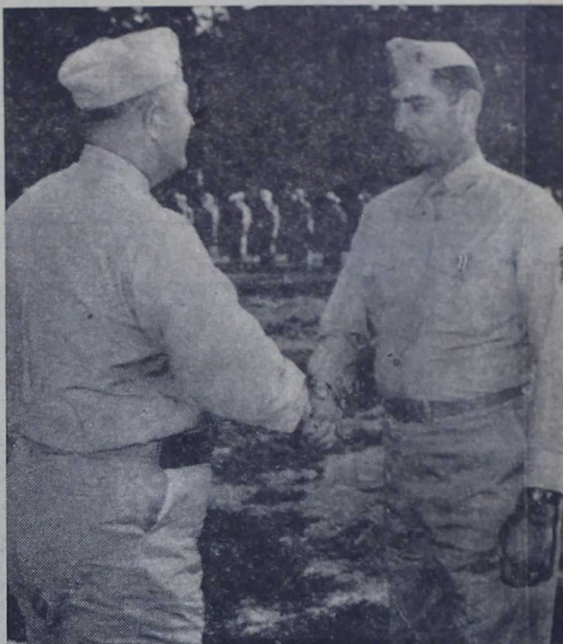

The Marine Corps Institute's course, General Chemistry, ex- plains the laws of the science and their application in industry. Ma- rines can acquire a greater under- standing and take a keener interest in their daily lives through a knowledge of chemistry.

ROAD TO SPECIALIZATION

Marines intending to study more advanced and technical matter, medicine or engineering, should en- roll in this course. It is a prere- quisite for any student of science. Start on the road to advance work by seeing the Education Officer or writing to the Director, Marine Corps Institute, Washington 25, D. C.

'Of All Fool Things' New Book Authored By Marine Reservist

Marine Reserve Captain Dick Hyman is the author of another book. This time it's "Of All Fool Things," is published by Duell, Sloan & Pearce of New York, and due to hit the book stores in Sep- tember.

Reviewers have stated that "Dick Hyman has assembled a batch of wonderful American non- sense, practically proving that Americans live in a wild and lu- natic world of their own. Singled out for special attention are some of the choicer laws on our statute books, some of the wierder deci- sions of our law courts, along with exhibits of extraordinary epitaphs and last testaments."

Jimmy Durante in what he calls "Forward" to "Of All Fool Things," exercises his own genius when he calls the book, "Colossal—gigantic—magnanimous—and, last but not first, aurora borealis."

A monthly feature called "It's the Law," authored by the Marine Reservist has appeared in the American Magazine since June, 1935, and a book of the same title was published in 1936 and again in 1942. Captain Hyman is also the author of other books such as "Loony Laws," "Jinxes and Jon- ahs," and "Marine Comedy."

Davis Over Otero By Close Decision In 10th Mar. Match

The Tenth Marines brought back boxing with a bang to Camp last week after the summer slack when they staged an explosive seven bouts at the Fifth Area gun park. Though no artillery other than that packed in leather was carried into the ring, the boys who like to make thunder with the 105's showed plenty of high-powered action under the lights.

The fourth and feature bout of the evening was a three-rounder between Red Davis, FMF Atlantic champ, and Tommy Otero, 118 pound AAU champion of Nebraska. The fight started fast when Otero moved after Davis and caught him with three hard jabs to the head, throwing the West Virginia flash into the ropes. Davis, always a classy boxer moved away, and after a few exchanges, bored in on the New Mexico upstart.

The best Davis could get was a decision, and he took quite a few left jabs from Otero to earn it. Tommy will be a definite choice to take over Davis' title, if he can get in shape at his present weight. The new addition to Lejeune's boxing potentialities has had thirty-five wins and six losses since he first entered the ring, and he isn't the type to forget any defeat easily.

The opener on the card was a fast-moving, if rather one-sided, bout between Lyles and Shiro, both weighing 125. Neither boy had any previous experience in the ring, but it was a crowd pleaser in that Lyles was knocked down six times before the referee gave Shiro the fight on a TKO.

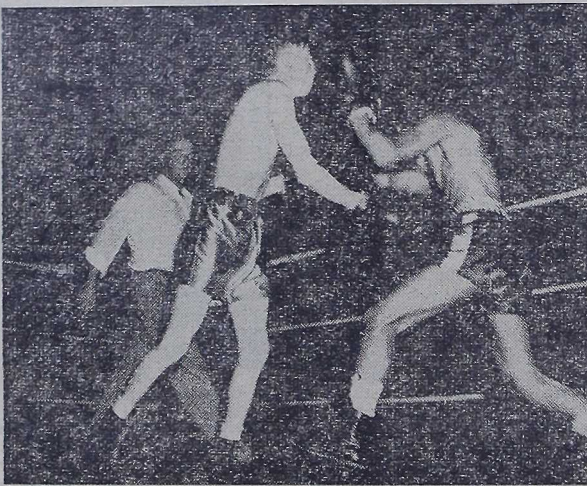

"Sonny Boy" Anderson, at 162, met Galvin, also 162, in the second match of the evening. Galvin came in very fast in the opening round, and Anderson was forced to give ground before the onslaught. Galvin tired fast, and during the second Anderson rocked him with a series of hard body blows, followed by a left hook that picked Galvin off the deck. Both men were tired in the third, but Anderson still had enough left to punish Galvin about the head. Anderson won by a decision.

The third bout of the slug-fest was an exhibition meeting that turned out to have some of the finest action of the card. Powell, Division Welterweight champion

Heat Adds To Warm Competition In Flag Day Tourney At PPGC

The weather was torrid last week-end, and so was the competition at Paradise Point in the Flag Day Tourney, where HM1c Hornbuckle birdied No. 20 hole to plant his flag in the number one spot. Hornbuckle was rewarded with a $10.00 PX Chit for first place, followed by M/Sgt. W. J. Wylie, who completed his strokes twelve feet from No. 19 cup, taking second place and a PX Chit for $8.00.

Sgt. J. S. Hilboldt received a PX Chit for $7.00 when he ended in third place just 17 feet from No. 19, and Lt. Col. A. P. McArthur was fourth for a six dollar chit when he raised his flag 35 feet from No. 19 cup. Lt. Col. Glenn R. Long collected fifth money of a $5.00 PX Chit when he completed his strokes sixty feet from No. 19 cup.

There was a repeat in the Town Class race also, where WO Krohn again led the field home, followed, as usual, by Lt. McPherson.

Qualify Now For Golf Championship Play; Deadline Soon

Only fifty-four Lejeune golfers battled the heat last week-end to complete their first 18 holes, 36 needed of qualification play for the Camp Lejeune Golf Championship. It is absolutely necessary for everyone to qualify with 36 holes for assignment to flights, and September 6 is the last qualifying day.

The weather may be warm, but so will the competition for the championship, to say nothing of the $500.00 in PX Chits which will be awarded to the winners in each flight as well as the grand winners.

A handicap is not necessary in order to play in the tournament, as each golfer will be matched against another golfer who shoots the same score in qualification play. The lowest 16 qualifiers will compromise the Championship Flight, the next 16 the first flight, and so on until everyone is matched against an opponent.

All that is necessary to get into the running is: notify the Pro Shop at the Course that you intend to qualify, and then play your qualifying rounds. The results of qualification play and the pairings for Matches will be announced in the next issue of the GLOBE as well as being posted in the clubhouse.

The first round of Match Play must be completed by no later than 19 September, the quarter-finals by 3 October, and the finals of all matches will be played on the week-end of 9 and 10 October.

Football Personalities

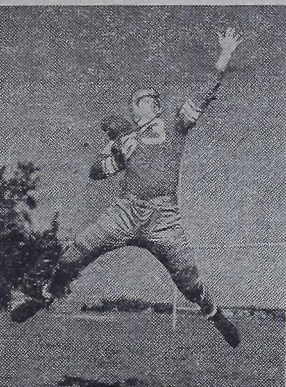

Claude Hipps, Back

Take a six foot frame and hang about 180 pounds of muscle on it, give it a sharp eye and swivels at the hips, put a motor in it that seemingly carries it through anything, and one would have a pretty fair model of one of the brighter lights among those trying for the left half spot on the Camp Football Team.

Claude M. Hipps is the name he put on his enlistment papers in 1945—the same Hipps who made a varsity letter in his frosh year at the University of Georgia. And before that, in his final year of high school football, has been named left half-back on the All-Conference team.

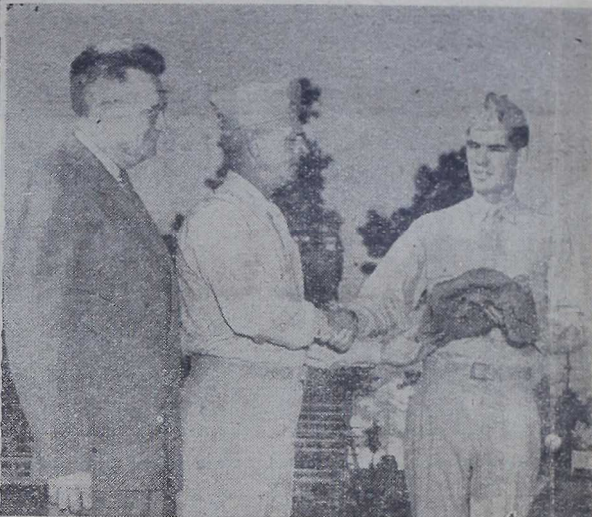

Football was not his only sport while going to Waycross High School in Waycross, Ga., he also lettered in basketball, and when his team went to a tournament to play for the State Championship, Hipps was named to the All-Tournament team.

Hipps served with both the 6th and 1st Divisions in China, and at present he is a sergeant in Headquarters and Service Company, 16th Marines.

The fifth match of the card, of Atlanta, Ga. at Lejeune Reserve battalion, weighing 125 lbs. Johnson, at 135, from 11th McGill, a fiery redhead, the bout with a bull rush most succeeded in flooring 1. The Tenth Marine, however, McGill down with a head movement until the red-headed guard, when he immediately stepped in and an uppercut brought the canvas on McGill's jaw. He saved McGill for another where both slowed down. The second was even, Johnson took the "Citizen" the third with those connections from way down. He won by a decision.

His reserve went down in the final bout, when Kraft, Decatur, Ga., lost to Brennan, at 135, from the Tenth Marines, by a decision. It was Kraft's first ring experience, and the game had tried to overcome the wiser Brennan's advantage. When Brennan connected with his hardest blows, the reservist still refused to drop, and he declined defeat until the final bell.

The final, and heavyweight bout of the power-packed program, saw Raeburn, of Richmond, Virginia, come up against Gregory, a South Bend, Indiana, boy. Both weighed in at 170, and both had had three previous ring engagements. Raeburn fought from a crouch, which Gregory had a tough time in penetrating until the second round, when a long, looping uppercut found its mark, and Raeburn went down for a count of five. Gregory, having once found his target, poured it on unmercifully until the referee stopped the fight early in the third round, awarding Gregory a TKO.

The smoker was arranged by Lt. R. H. Wilson, Special Service Officer of the 10th Marines, assisted by Sgt. Hykes and Cpls. Chandler and McNeill. Lt. W. K. Byrd of the 8th Marines did a fine job of refereeing, and excellent judging was done by Capt. Kusiak and Cpl. Hall. Cpl. Coleman was timer, and HM3c F. C. Chester, assisted by HM3c Sechrist, were the standby corpsmen.

Stone Quillian, Guard

1st Lt. Stone Quillian is just as solid as his name indicates. One of the chief threats against every team facing Lejeune this year will be this fast charging guard, always ready to break in on a pass or kick play, and harder still move out of the way on a running play.

His downfield blocking is all that any back could ask for, and well it might be, for Stone Quillian is a tough Texan who learned his football on the great Rice Institute teams of 39-42.

Before entering Rice on a scholarship, the stocky guard played for Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio, where his parents now reside. He was All-State—and Texas is a big state—for two years, and was captain of the team in his senior year.

At Rice, where he lettered for four years, he was a member of the team which received a big write-up in Colliers Weekly, and one of the twenty-five men on the squad who came into the Marine Corps en masse immediately after graduation.

After O C S, he went overseas and participated in the recapture of Guam. He remained on Guam as aide to the Commanding General, Island Command, until 1946, when he returned to Quantico for school.

In 1947, Lt. Quillian was stationed at Little Creek, Va., where he was coach-player of the Naval Amphibious Base team of 1947.

Young, and went to second on a steal. Garrison was hit by a pitched ball, going to first and Gill, the next batter, singled to right, sending in Wheelis for the final run of the game.

Midway had eight runs, twelve hits, and one error. Wheelis was the leading batter, with three for four. The Amtracs got five hits, no runs, and made four errors.

Both catchers played great ball throughout the series—Huffine was always a Midway threat at bat, and Verno prevented several Midway batters from getting another pitch when he caught difficult fouls.

The three umpires called fair decisions throughout the series, and there were few of the arguments that often mar crucial games like the six in this play-off. M/Sgt. May and T/Sgt. Brasier, from Division and Camp H&S Bn., respectively, are both members of the National Association of Baseball Umpires, and have been refereeing for several seasons, in both service and civilian leagues. The third umpire, HM1c Moulthrop, has had over five years experience in baseball refereeing, with a large part of it in the service leagues.

The Camp Intra-Mural Baseball Leagues were marked by close play in almost every game, especially in the National League where a play-off was necessary to determine the winner, and General Hart, in his presentation speech, stated that he was well pleased with the spectator interest at the series.

Around the top of these plates is the legend, "In Air, on Land and Sea," and around the lower part of the plate are inscribed the words, "The U. S. Marines."

The picture, bearing the signature of J. Clymer, the noted artist, will add interest to any collection of fine things and furnish a memento of service life which should prove of lasting interest to all admirers of the unusual.

See these at Central—you'll probably want a pair for yourself when you notice how decoratively they may be used—and, for your added convenience, the necessary hanging gadget is available at the same time.

Civilian Personnel Guide

VETERAN'S PREFERENCE

As veterans, you have certain rights under Civil Service employment, herein below described, but before you can claim any of these benefits you must establish your "Veteran Preference." If you have not already done so, take your discharge certificate, or a photostatic copy of same, to the Industrial Relations Office, Camp Lejeune, where the proper forms for your signature will be prepared. If you can claim preference, it is to your advantage to establish that preference NOW to avoid the possibility of loss of certain benefits to which you are entitled.

The following persons are entitled to establish veteran preference under the provisions of the Veterans' Preference Act:

(1) Honorably discharged veterans who have served in any branch of service in the United States, with service connected disability, or who are receiving compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension;

(2) The wives of such service-connected disabled ex-servicemen as have themselves been unable to qualify for any civil service appointment;

(3) The widows of deceased ex-servicemen who served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign for which a Campaign Badge has been authorized, and who were honorably separated, provided that the widow has not remarried.

(4) Those ex-servicemen and women who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign for which a campaign badge has been authorized, and have been separated therefrom under honorable conditions.

There are two main types of Veteran Preference: five-point preference and ten-point preference. Five-point preference is allowed only to veterans (men or women), who served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during a war, or in a campaign for which a campaign badge has been authorized, and have been separated from such active duty under honorable conditions.

Ten-point preference is subdivided into Disability Preference, Wife Preference, and Widow Preference, as follows:

(1) Disability Preference is allowed only to honorably discharged veterans (men or women) who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States at any time, and have established by official records the present existence of a service-connected disability of not less than 10%, or the current receipt of compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension;

(2) Wife Preference is allowed only to wives of veterans. The wife must be qualified for appointment, and the husband must be an honorably separated veteran who has a service-connected disability which prevents him from qualifying for civil-service appointment along the general lines of his usual occupation.

(3) Widow Preference is allowed only to widows of veterans. The deceased husband must have served on active duty in a branch of the armed forces of the United States during a war, or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized, and have been separated from such active duty under honorable conditions.

In Civil Service appointments from a register, selection will be made from not more than the highest three names available, unless objections shall be made, and sustained by the Commission, to one or more of the persons certified, for any proper and adequate reason as may be prescribed in the rules of the Civil Service Commission; PROVIDED, that an appointing officer who passes over a veteran eligible and selects a non-veteran shall file with the Civil Service Commission his reasons in writing for so doing, which becomes a part of the record of such veteran eligible and is available upon request to him, or his designated representative.

The Civil Service Commission is authorized and directed to hold an examination during the next succeeding quarterly period for any position to which an appointment has been made within the preceding three years, for 10 point veterans upon application for examination for any such position.

In any reduction in personnel in any civilian service of any Federal Agency, competing employees shall be released in accordance with Civil Service Commission regulations which shall give due effect to tenure of employment, military preference, length of service, and efficiency ratings; PROVIDED, that the length of time spent in active service in the armed forces of the United States by each such employee shall be credited in computing length of total service; PROVIDED FURTHER, that preference employees whose efficiency ratings are "Good" or better shall be retained in preference to all other competing employees.

Any preference eligible who has resigned shall, upon request to the Civil Service Commission, have his name again placed on all proper civil service registers for which he may have been qualified, and shall then be eligible for recertification and reappointment.

The following are conditions under which preference is lost:

(1) Divorce from veteran. The wife of a veteran loses preference based on his service when she is divorced from him.

(2) Remarriage of veteran's widow. The widow of a veteran loses preference based on his service when she remarries.

(4) Recovery from disability. A veteran loses disability preference when he recovers from his disability, unless he is receiving pension, compensation, or disability retirement benefits; or when he ceases to receive pension, compensation, or disability retirement benefits, unless he has an existing service-connected disability. The wife of a veteran loses wife preference when her husband recovers from his service-connected disability to such an extent that he is no longer physically disqualified thereby for positions along the general lines of his usual occupation.

The Civil Service Act provides that, whenever there are already two or more members of a family in the Federal Service, no other member of such family is eligible for appointment unless the person is a veteran.

Veterans will be permitted to report to the Veteran's Administration, when so ordered for physical examination in connection with matters pertaining to a pension. Such absence from duty will be charged to sick leave, annual leave, or leave without pay as appropriate.

New PX Sandwich Shop

Pictured above is honest proof that your Camp Exchange is striving to give the best service possible to the men of Camp Lejeune. This is an "inside" view of the new Camp Exchange Sandwich Shop, located in the galley of Building 67, and managed by that old-timer, Master Sergeant Clement D. Browncombe, better known as just "Brownie."

In passing, it should be said that "Brownie" seems to have the touch with things "new" and "first"—he has a new addition in the 1st Marine Division Exchange, the Camp Exchange's Lot Sales, and now he is starting the Sandwich Shop as its Steward-Manager.

Approximately 175,000 sandwiches are consumed each month by the personnel of this base through the many area exchange shops, and, heretofore, it has been a major problem to insure receipt of sufficient fresh sandwiches through suppliers located miles from the base.

Though yet in its infancy, this new activity has already proven true by supplying sandwiches as required to all the outlying exchange activities on the same day they are made. This means a more wholesome food, with better service—at no extra cost.

by, your favorite Friday show over WJNC 8:30 to ave It to the Girls, will con-rough the Fall and Winter allywood.

I don't know how many of you remember, but the first show was on April 25, 1945. We don't because at that time we were still snug overseas on Guadalcanal and didn't give much of a thought about Leave It to the Girls. One Man's Family, or John's Other Wife. It was believed at that time that, to obtain a panel of four career women from diversified professions as regular participants, it would have to remain a New York show. However, earlier this year the MBS program department officials decided to move it to Hollywood and to use "name" actresses and actors on the panel which discusses heart-and-home problems posed by the listeners.

Such stars as Connie Bennett, Binnie Barnes, Robin Chandler, Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Rudy Vallee and Turhan Bey, have appeared and liked it. However, while this bunch in Hollywood is doing a pretty good job, I still think that last year with Ted Malone was a good solid job. I still have to find a belle out there who has the pick-up and toss-back like Eloise MacElhone. My friends, there was a gal who had a quicker clout than anyone I have yet heard on radio.

Salt Is Important Summer Health Factor Safety Office Provides Valuable Pointers

In view of the current heat wave, the Camp Safety Office directs the attention of all personnel to the use of salt during the summer months. Personnel exposed to high environmental temperature and/or engaged in prolonged physical exertion which results in sweating, may suffer from heat cramps or exhaustion due to normal amount of salt in the body.

Experience has shown that employees can work in extreme temperatures without ill effects, provided the salt lost through perspiration is replaced by simply taking salt tablets and drinking cool, not iced, water at all times. Heads of Departments shall detail a person to inspect the conditions of the dispensers, and also to insure there is an ample quantity of salt in the dispensers at all times. Additional supplies of salt and dispensers may be obtained from the Camp Safety Building 33, Phone 2108.

Married Men Exempt From Draft; Altar Traffic Heavy

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The number of marriages throughout the nation rose quickly during the last part of August when President Truman announced that married men would be among those exempt from the draft and directed local draft boards to start mailing classification questionnaires to all single, non-father, non-veteran registrants the second week in September.

Others exempted by Presidential order were men with dependents, most farmers, and others who must be engaged in activities which are "necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest." Even those in the latter category must be "irreplaceable" in their respective fields.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Director, has assured industry that there need be no cause for concern over the draft's effect on personnel requirements.

100th Millionth Auto Manufactured In U.S.A.

DETROIT (AFPS) — Without halting the assembly lines, Detroit recently noted with casual interest that the 100 millionth automobile manufactured in the U. S. had been turned out.

This amazing stream of automobiles began coming from the factories back in 1893-94 when the Duryea brothers built their first car.

Every person, if he is well and maintain his efficiency as a productive worker or man, should take a sufficient number of salt tablets to replace salt lost through perspiration. Tablets should be taken daily vary the temperature and amount of perspiration, but usually five to eight (8) tablets, one at a time with at least one glass of water, is recommended.

Some time is required to salt into the blood stream. Symptoms of heat exhaustion come apparent. Nausea may if tablets are taken without sufficient quantity of water. For all persons should be urged to drink plenty of cool water each time tablets are taken.

All supervisors and Non-Commissioned Officers should insist that employees and those not accustomed to working in high temperatures should take salt tablets to reduce fatigue and increase efficiency of the trial worker and Marine and keep his physical condition high standard during extreme hot weather.

Ordnance Supply Division, MCSD, Fixes Anything From Watches To Tank Crankshafts

BY PFC. R. K. DALY

Deep down in the heart of the Industrial Area are a group of men who daily repair anything from a watch to a medium tank. These men of the Corps, begrimed with grease and covered with sweat, repair and issue the various vehicles, weapons and instruments that are necessary equipment for a fighting Marine.

Storing their own parts and making their own repairs, they ask for your carelessness. Think first of the men of the Ordnance Supply Division.

Under the command of Lt. Col. S. N. Young, of the Ordnance Supply Division, Marine Corps Supply Depot, this compact group of expert fixers are the ones who make certain that the tanks won't lose a tread, or that the howitzers will fire when the time comes. When you carelessly let that M-1 stand uncleaned or uncared for in a corner after an afternoon's hike in the rain, the men in the small arms shop will silently mutter a malediction and wonder how you managed to get into the Marine Corps. But they will have your rifle looking like new, so you will not be left behind when your buddies sail away.

Those men flat on their backs under the wreck which some tank jockey lovingly ran through a brick wall will mutter about the ancestry of said tank jockey. But, when the ship arrives for the tank, it will be ready to operate smoothly to enable you to carry out your mission.

And beside the tank repair men are another group of men who get grey hairs over the conditions of some of the howitzers that were unloaded on their backs. Wild shouts may be heard after some fool looks into the bore. But the same gun crew that manned that same piece would not recognize the smoothly operating, gleaming howitzer that is trundled out of the shop a short time later.

Precision work is routine in the engine repair shop, and most of the engines which come out of there would make a hot-rod enthusiast jump with joy. Gasoline or Diesel, it is all the same to them, and greasy work does not mean a dirty shop. The same goes for the machine shop and the welding shop. Lathes are sparkling clean and drills give off bright gleam, but not from being idle.

A track runs through the shop, permitting flat cars to go inside where a huge forty-ton crane will lift any item of ordnance equipment off the flat car and deposit it gently on the deck. Over in the corner is the office of Major Lloyd O. Williams, officer in charge of Ordnance Maintenance and Repair. Under the supervision of the major, work goes on smoothly and competently. On the second deck, over the office, is a shower room and a locker room where at the end of a day's toil these begrimed men can clean up.

Building No. 900, which boasts among other things, an air-conditioned third floor, is the tallest building of the group. Besides repairing watches and delicate instruments, it has an optical and fire control unit repair shop, a machine shop, a large elevator, a repair shop for remote control units and a textile shop.

The various warehouses store a complete stock of ordnance equipment and supplies, small arms equipment kept in a strong room, and a carpenter shop. There are also three warehouses and an open storage area at Courthouse Bay. Behind the buildings in the industrial area are open storage areas where there is enough ordnance equipment to make a BLT commander's eyes gleam with joy, howitzers, anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft guns, medium tanks, tank recovery vehicles, landing vehicles, searchlights and power units.

no sympathy or no tears, but they would appreciate a little help from the outside. Don't drive your tank through a stone wall, or drop your watch on the shower room floor. Think first of the men who will have to fix the damage wrought by

The Ordnance Supply Division of the Marine Corps Supply Depot, east of the Mississippi River, even some units west of the Mississippi, with all manner of small arms, and ordnance equipment in addition to repair equipment of all east coast units. You never hear very much about this outfit. They are usually too busy working too hard! They handle all of the maintenance work for the Atlantic, Regular and J. units. Besides that, they also the ammunition required for use of the Second Division transport all of the division's. They don't get the glory of infantry, or the glamour of the combat organizations with weapons fire, the landing storm ashore, and the tank smoothly as they charge from the beaches.
