Marine Reserve Training Program Completed At Lejeune Last Week

More Than 2700 Were Trained Here

With the departure of the last group of organized Marine Corps Reserves from Lejeune Friday, the summer reserve training program here comes to a close. Since 19 July, approximately 2700 officers and men in organized units have been instructed by personnel of the Second Marine Division. In addition to this number, there have been about 200 enlisted volunteer reservists who have received training in their military specialties as well as with the organized units.

The training for each group, though of two weeks duration, was broad in scope and was designed to both indoctrinate the men to the Corps and bring up to date those with previous service. Instruction in basic military science was backed up with actual training and experience.

Since 5 May, there have been four groups of volunteer USMCR officers to receive training here. Depending upon their rank and their respective specialties, they were familiarized with the latest in Marine Corps weapons and tactics. For the field officers, amphibious warfare technique was particularly stressed.

Organized units that received training here this summer were: 1st Inf. Bn. from New York, 2nd Inf. Bn. from Boston, 3rd Inf. Bn. from St. Louis, 10th Inf. Bn. from

Inf. Bn. from Chicago, 16th Inf. Bn. from Indianapolis, 3rd 105mm Howitzer Bn. from Atlanta, 11th Eng. Bn. from Baltimore, 16th Eng. Bn. from Roanoke, and the 20th Eng. Bn. from Charleston.

It is requested that each individual endorse his or her bond exactly as the name appears on the face thereof, with his mailing address under the signature, before presenting it to the tellers for cashing.

Guadalcanal Vets Are Extolled By Admiral Nimitz

(SEA)—The distinction of having fought at Guadalcanal will forever set these men apart," said Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, USN, CNO, in a statement on the fifth anniversary of the landings on Guadalcanal.

"The Marines who fought in the mud at Tenaru River and flew from the hot dust at Henderson Field along with the sailors who went into the waters between Lunga Beach and Savo Island knew that they were the vanguard of mighty forces to come. But they knew in their hearts that this had to be won or victory would be set back years and thousands of Americans might die in future battles."

Hiroshima 'Lady'

HIROSHIMA (AFPS) Dedicated the city of Hiroshima to world peace, it has been announced that a Statue of Liberty, similar to the one in New York Harbor, will be erected there on the site of a feudal castle destroyed when the first war-time atom bomb fell.

Greens Fee Will Be Charged At Golf Course

At a meeting of the Golf Committee at which there were thirty-nine representatives of the Camp Lejeune golfers it was unanimously decided that a small greens fee should be charged for the use of the Paradise Point Golf Club. Recommendation was made to the Commanding General who approved a schedule of $.25 a day for each player.

It is expected however, that all the regular golfers will take advantage of the monthly rate of $1.50. Anyone who expects to play six times or more a month and wishes to save the bother of paying two bits each time may save by purchasing a card good for the entire month.

All service personnel and their families will be allowed to play for this small sum. Civilian who live in Onslow County will be required to pay a daily fee of $1.00 and must be the guest of a serviceman. Civilian guests from outside Onslow County may play on payment of the regular 25c fee.

Master Sergeant Adams, the NCO-in-Charge of the Golf Course is having tickets printed of different colors for each month. It is expected that the sale of tickets will be heavy the first few days of each month, so come early to avoid a long wait in line.

In its recommendation to the Commanding General through the monthly report of the recreation council, the Board of Governors of the golf club proposed the new schedule of greens fees with the provision that all money taken in would be used exclusively for the maintenance and upkeep of the course and the purchase of new equipment. It was further recommended that in view of the fact that charge was then being made that enough additional money should be allocated by Special Services to maintain the golf course at the present standard or better.

The two bits charge therefore, is to insure that the fairways and greens be kept up as they are now, in as good if not better shape than any course in this part of the country.

Wit may be quicker than death, but it is not so lasting.

Club "21" Owner, Marines' Friend, Died Recently

WASHINGTON, D. C. (August 14).—Officers and men of the United States Marine Corps were saddened today by the death of Major John Carl (Jack) Kriendler, USMCR, New York restaurateur and owner of the famous "Club 21" last night, at his club in New York.

Major Kriendler, who catered to a generation of night life seekers at the "21", will be particularly remembered by the many Marines he entertained. At "Club 21" there was always "open house" for Marines. In addition to the entertainment Major Kriendler was of real value to the Marine Corps through his keen understanding of Public Relations matters.

He constantly used his standing with public officials in behalf of the Marine Corps and through his contact with the many stage and screen celebrities who visited his club since its opening in 1930, he arranged for shows and talent to visit Marine stations during the early part of the National Emergency.

Major Kriendler was born in Vienna, Austria, November, 1893 but came to this country when only two years of age. He learned the restaurant business from an uncle and became well known to New Yorkers through the "Jack and Charlie's" club, which he opened with Charles A. Berns, in Greenwich Village, in 1922. The combination later moved uptown and finally, in 1930, Jack opened the "21".

Major Kriendler was commissioned a captain in the Marine Corps Reserve in September, 1939 and served with the Third Reserve Battalion in New York. When he failed to pass a physical examination in September, 1942, he resigned his commission. He was reappointed to Major in the Marine Reserve in April of this year and resided at his Club, 21 West 52nd Street, where he was taken ill and died of coronary thrombosis.

"Leatherneck" Wants Stories About Marines

The Leatherneck Magazine has issued a call for stories of interesting or humorous incidents concerning Marines for publication in the "We—The Marines" section of the magazine. For every item published, the "Leatherneck" will pay $5.00.

The appeal is being made to every individual on the theory that every Marine could use an extra "tin" or two and has at least one story tucked away in his head that would be of interest to his fellow Marines.

In its call for material, the "Leatherneck" requests articles about interesting, everyday occurrences, primarily articles of Corps-wide interest; and, secondly, humorous or unusual events of interest primarily to the men of a particular unit.

The magazine has requested that each item sent in for publication should carry pertinent information, such as: full name and rank of each man mentioned, the time and place of each incident, and the possible future developments of activities covered. In general, the magazine is interested in humorous items and little stories about individual units, regardless of size. No man needs to be a writer to snag $5. The facts will be written up by staff writers if necessary.

Pictures will also be accepted by the "Leatherneck", either with a story or alone.

When the article is ready, have it read by your C. O. if it concerns your outfit. Then, before sending it to the magazine, have it cleared through the Public Information Officer in Bldg. 1005.

That's it! Think it over and then get in for your share of the green stuff.

About two weeks ago I happened to bump into a guy in the mess hall. His face looked kind of familiar. You know how it is though. You hate to just waddle up to a guy and give him the old "Don't I know you from some place"? Generally they look at you and say, "Maybe—where you been"? And that takes a lot of time. Of course you can always relieve the tension of an introduction by the old stand-by "I don't know your face but your breath is familiar"! But a lot of guys just don't have a sense of humor and I personally need all the teeth I've got.

Finally my curiosity got the better of me and after staring at each other for about ten minutes I broke down and asked him if we hadn't done mess duty together in Nicaragua. That always gets them. But once in a great while you meet a guy who has done mess duty in Nicaragua and you have to admit that, at the time, you were still in grammar school. Luckily the first place I asked him was the right one. He had done duty at Parris Island. He was a coach at the Rifle Range when I was a callow youth being indoctrinated into the Coah! And he was my coach! The walls of the mess hall and time itself melted away as in my thoughts I wandered back to those happy, carefree days before the last great war.

I remember the first time I met this particular guy. We all stood at attention while he informed us that, while the weapons we had in our hands looked like the 1903 rifle they were really .22 caliber bores on .30 caliber stocks. We didn't know what that meant but we guessed it was all right. For the benefit of the beginners we were to fire on small targets. They were stuck up on sticks about five feet high and held there by, of all things, common clothespins. Apparently there was a severe shortage of clothespins because he informed us that it would go hard on the man who hit a clothespin instead of the target. We took our places on the firing line. I lined up my first shot, being careful to squeeze instead of jerk, and fired. What happened in the next few minutes still isn't clear in my mind. But when the smoke had cleared away there was my target fluttering toward the deck—the clothespin was in splinters. This nice guy who is now sitting across from me breaking bread with me jumped straight up in the air like a wounded kangaroo. He screamed! He yelled! He jumped up and down! He grabbed me by the stacking swivel. He held me up in the air and let me run awile! "Report to the mess hall tonight, STUPID," he boomed.

My nerves were shattered but I pulled myself together and decided to try another shot. I took careful aim at the lower left hand corner of the target. I didn't care about the score—I just wanted to miss that shiny new clothespin. Bam! I fired. Another clothespin was in splinters! His rage was magnificent and awesome and uncontrollable. "You're a wise guy. Boot, arencha a wise guy?", he thundered. "N-n-n-n-sir," I stammered. "Two nights in the mess hall," he boomed. "Do it again and I'll kill ya—hear me, I'll kill ya," he said real softly like I got the idea.

There were no trees in the background to aim at and no hills. But upon on the horizon there appeared the answer to my prayers. It was a big, white, fluffy cloud. I couldn't miss that! I aimed dead center at six o'clock and pulled the trigger. Another clothespin in splinters! He came up softly beside me. Lburied my face in the dirt. He spoke softly, menacingly, to one of the other coaches. "I'll string him up by his eye-balls. I'll hit him so hard on the top of the head he'll have three tongues in his shoes. I'll . . . ! But cool heads finally prevailed and I was ordered off the line for my protection. I reported to the mess hall and stayed my allotted three days and nights within those white walls. They were white when I left anyway.

I put down my fork and said to him, "You must remember me, I used to shoot off all the clothespins!" "Heck," he said, "We had a lot of guys used to do that!"—BARROW.

"Ruth," moaned her long-suffering husband, "you promised me you wouldn't buy a new dress. What made you do it?"
"Dear," replied the modern Eve, "the devil tempted me."
"Why didn't you say: 'Get thee behind me, Satan'?" the poor man inquired.

"I did," the little woman replied sweetly, "and then he whispered over my shoulder: 'My dear, it fits you just beautifully in the back'."

"At last," said the novelist, "I have written something that will be accepted by any magazine."

"What is it?" asked a friend.

"A check for a year's subscription."

Sam took his five-year-old boy to church for the first time. When the service was over and Sam and his boy were outside, he asked his son, "What part of the church service did you like the best?"
"Well," replied the youngster, "the part of the service I liked the best was when they passed that plate of money. I got ten cents. How much did you get?"

The doctor rushed out of his study. "Get my bag at once!" he shouted.

"Why dad," asked his daughter, "what's the matter?"

"Some fellow just phoned he can't live without me!" gasped the doctor, reaching for his hat.

His daughter breathed a sigh of relief. "Just a moment," she said quietly, "I think that call was for me."

Second Regiment

By PFC. JUSTUS J. FENNEL

When it comes to entertainment it looks like the Second Marines and Montford Point are out to furnish the excitement and the good fun. On September 3rd the Regiment will hold a gala boxing smoker with Medium Depot Group of Montford. This match, the first of its kind for these two teams, will prove to be the most exclusive and colossal affair of the year. The Second Marines has a crack team of fighters, and so has the Montford Point team. Here's how the fight will stand: Marvin Davis, "F" Co. is matched against Leon Franklin in the 126 lb class; in the 135 lb. class Ed Beecher of Wps. Co. is pitted against "Willy" Walker; Ed Murphy, "A" Co. will fight against Ernie Britt, as will Jim Mullen contend with Joe Thompson in the 147 lb bout. Bob Thomas, "B" Co. and Louis Alphonso in the 160 lb. class will prove to be a fight worth seeing as will the bout between Art Niedzwiecki, Wps Co. and Thad Barnes in the 175 lb. class. Feature event for the evening will be the contest between Mel Esdaile and "Champ" Joe Mahoney for the heavyweight title. Mahoney, Davis, and Walker are defending their titles as the champions of Camp Lejeune in the class they represent, so if any of them are defeated the victor automatically becomes the Camp Champion. Time and place for the smoker: The Area No. 2 Gym, Building No. 201 (tentatively chosen) at 2000.

The referees for the smoker will be Sgt. Johnson and Lt. Daigle (veteran of the First Battalion bout aboard the U. S. S. Oskaloosa.) Judges will be Lt. Yoder, Lt. Emmons, and Lt. Diagle. Seconds for Montford Point team are Allen, Hayward, and Smith; the seconds for the Regiment will be announced later.

MAN OF THE WEEK —When you think of Kentucky, visions of the blue grass that helps raise race horses appear. When you think of the Marine Corps, you realize that the Corps makes men (not bookies, of course). So take a man from Kentucky, give him forty-five months service, marry him to a charming wife, and most likely you will meet Sgt. William Vincent.

Sgt. Vincent volunteered his service in the Corps when, as he says, "the Draft Board was hot on my trail." Sgt. Vincent has been the Plt. Sgt. of the 3rd Platoon "A" Co. (a good platoon, they say) since early this year. While the Company was on maneuvers in Culabra, he acted with Gy-Sgt. Petokas as second man in charge of the Platoon and from all appearances kept the men in line and everyone returned safely to Camp. While the Forward Echelon was at Camp Perry, Sgt. Vincent acted as Property Sergeant.

The Sgt. comments on the Regiment in this manner, "I believe there's a swell bunch of fellows in the outfit at the present time. Of course they're younger than the men during the war, but there is no doubt that they have the capacity to hold the tradition of the Marines very high."

"Welcome Home" is the comment that has been flying around the First Battalion since Friday. The troops are now back with the rest of the "gang" and are already bragging about the wonderful time they had. Pfc's J. L. Rogers and J. A. Sterling of "A" Co. look about the same as they did before they left, except Rogers has gotten stouter, and Jonathon Sterling has gained a few more gray hairs. Ed Murphy came back looking for Joe Mahoney. In fact he saw him this morning. "When do we fight," was his first comment. This does not refer to the Montford Point match, either.

Headquarters And Service

By SSGT. C. R. BARROW

It looks like everybody and his kid sister's getting transferred. Everytime I look around someone else is packing his "Z" Bag and taking off. The First Sergeant's school in Parris Island for administration and classification is taking a big bite out of the ranks of the Swamp's Zebras. Looks like they're all going down there. And just when a lot of them were getting to like this place too! I know a couple of the high priced help that went down there. They said the school itself was all right but it was sure nice to be back in the Swamp after seeing how the poor people lived. I'm not trying to start a war between the inmates of Parris Island and Camp Lejeune. But after doing duty at both places I think I like it better here.

A day never goes by but what I hear someone taking the good name of the Swamp in vain. You've seen 'em too, I'll bet. Guys sitting on their lockers boxes off in the corner of the squadbay furiously scribbling, "Dear Senator—If you want my vote when I get to be 21, you better get me the heck out of this hole!" My life isn't going to be worth living after I say I don't want you all jump the same time but—I do this place is so bad.

Of course some guys like and other guys get a bit out of sticking their nose in the electric fan. That's what's interesting. We don't all the same things. I can hear me telling me what I can do place. But before you'll selves worked up into another, let me explain. T put down those guns to ute.

First of all let me say saying that I'm not trying you like it. I didn't twist when you enlisted. I had do with getting you here or you here. I don't even care like it or not. But you'll happier if you do because or not, you are here!

If ever there was a P strictly for the convenience troops, this is it! ## B Company 2nd Tank Bn.

By PFC. WILLIAM WAYLES

Inspired by the Tenth Marines boxing team, some of our own boys are getting up a similar team to compete against other boxers, so far Nail, Abuso, Bellanca, Ford, Glover and Deruise. Anyone who has had experience in this line or thinks they have the "stuff" it takes, see Nail for further details.

The company, along with the rest of the battalion, is readying itself for the division field exercise coming up soon. The tank park looks like a hornet's nest with everyone running around attempting to fix this and that little thing that's wrong with his tank. The maintenance men seem to be the busiest for their job is to do the complex and difficult work that the crewmen lack the experience to do.

Quite a few of the boys are studying up on their weapons and tank nomenclature for tests for corporal and pfc. are coming up and they don't want to be caught short on knowledge. This test is rumored to be a tough one; so study hard and hope that you make the grade.

Question of the week: Why did you join the Marine Corps?

Pfc. Olson—I wanted to get away from home.

Pfc. Terry—To go on adventurous trips.

Pvt. Samaras—To get a change from home.

Pfc. Hrubetz—So I could make sight-seeing tours in foreign lands.

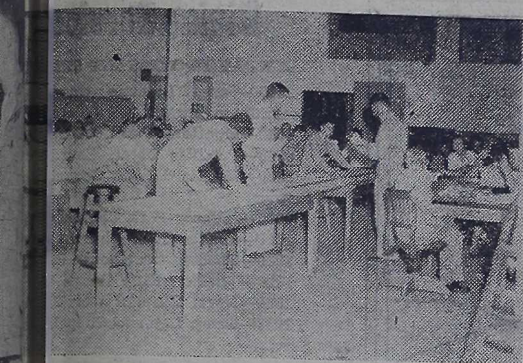

Corp. Maurer—I thought I was going to be drafted.

Pvt. McDonough—To stop working.

MCI Introduces New Course In Accounting

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In answer to the demand for a basic preparatory course of executive training in accounting and business administration, the Marine Corps Institute introduced a new college business course, Mathematics of Accounting, now available to all Marines.

This newly developed course, embracing many innovations in instructional methods seldom offered in similar studies, is presented in a clear concise, explicit manner readily comprehended by any student with a fundamental knowledge of mathematics. The new 1947 edition of Mathematics of Accounting, by A. B. Curtiss and J. H. Cooper, was selected as the most suitable text available following an extensive survey of numerous books on this subject.

AUTHOR FORMER MARINE

Ira E. Steele, has a degree in business administration and did graduate work at the University of Texas. Following discharge from the Marine Corps as a First Lieutenant, Mr. Steele joined the MCI as a Civil Service staff instructor in advance accounting. He also instructs accounting at the George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

This practical subject, now a required course in the accounting program, appeals not only to the students majoring in accounting, but also to the vast number of men who contemplate a business career other than the accounting profession. Top executives of America's large corporations cite and emphasize the value of a knowledge of the fundamentals that underlie all business transactions. Familiarity with the theory of accounts is invaluable for the men who aspire to managerial and executive positions in the business world. The astute man is preparing himself now for the positions of responsibility in the future.

DELAY IS COSTLY

Many MCI students who deferred their enrollments because they "didn't have too much spare time" have informed the Institute of their regret for not starting sooner. If a man looks to the future, if he wants to work and advance himself, if he is not merely content with just "getting along"—he'll do something about it, and quick! He finds the time to invest in his future.

Start your training now. Education helps you help yourself. Through education you can lift yourself up to the type of man for whom there is always a job. For qualified men the demand always exceeds the supply.

Owing to the restrictions on the use of motor fuel, government buses operating within this camp were replaced by commercial buses operated by the Seashore Transportation Company on Monday. ## Crime Hits High (AFPS)—J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, reported 1946 set a 10-year high for total crimes in America.

The increase over 1945's crimes was 7.6 per cent. Only auto thefts diminished in number among major crimes. Murders increased by 3.3 per cent, rape by 5 per cent, manslaughter by 7.2 per cent and robbery by 15.7 per cent.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AFPS)—Misswald Cends Wrandvakist, 50, assured the court that his name was unlucky, asked permission to change it to Linkols Disgrowels Wrandvaugjlmolhrets.

Stop Dates On Vet's Rights Worth Noting

(SEA)—Stop dates for many veterans' benefits were set when the President approved repeal of 175 wartime laws. The repeal of the law does not take away the benefits of any veteran who now has a right to them, but it does limit the time which he or she may ask for the benefits.

About 16,000,000 veterans are affected by the legislation. Personnel entering the armed forces in the future will do so under a peacetime basis.

Veteran's Unemployment Pay will stop two years from the date of enactment of the repealing legislation—25 July 1949. Fifty-two payments of $20 per week are authorized for each unemployed veteran. Education and on-the-job training must be started by 25 July 1951 and completed by 25 July 1956.

Loan guarantees will continue for 10 years. Training for disabled veterans must begin within four years and end within nine years.

Anyone with at least one day in service before 25 July 1947 and who serves at least 90 days in all is in the war veteran class and is eligible for benefits.

Heads Red Cross Drive

(SEA)—Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, MC, USN, (Ret.), former Surgeon-General of the Navy, will head the American Red Cross national blood program.

Chief innovations of the new armed services unification are the National Defense Council, where diplomatic and military policies will be coordinated, and the Central Intelligence Agency, which will work for and in conjunction with all three branches.

Transportation Cut

A Lift

That man chop-chopping along with an envelope in his hand or heading from the barracks to the Industrial Area in the morning is probably a victim of the transportation cut.

This cut has caused many Marines to carry out official business on foot. Sometimes they are in a hurry, but they must still walk. We know, that's tough! But there is actually something that can be done about it.

A Marine can't hitch-hike, even when on official business. That's definitely against regulations and there's no way around the fact. There isn't a thing in the book, however, that says a man can't accept a ride when it's offered.

Many vehicles, both civilian and government, travel throughout Camp with empty seats. This is not making the best use of existing facilities. A "Share the Ride" attitude would fill many of those empty seats and alleviate a transportation problem at the same time.

If you see a man plodding along in your direction and you have an empty seat, stop and offer him a lift. He'll appreciate it and you'll feel as though you've done something constructive.

It May Have To Last

Leave Bond

Slow down there! Give a second thought before you cash in that Terminal Leave Bond. You can rush to the bank September 2 and change that piece of cardboard into the long green stuff, but it looks as though it will be the last money Uncle Sam is going to hand out to veterans for a while.

Experts of the national veterans organizations and Veterans Administration officials believe the bonds are the last new cash benefit Congress is likely to hand to veterans for a long time.

These views are based on an analysis of veteran's legislation passed by the 80th Congress.

Congress appears convinced that the U.S. Government has now done just about enough for its fighting sons and daughters. Proof seems to lie in the fact that the 79th Congress appropriated more than $10,000,000,000 for veterans benefits while the 80th gave only $5,000,000 worth of new benefits—the increasing of payments to disabled veterans taking vocational training.

Enabling vets to cash terminal leave bonds didn't require a new appropriation, the money was already there. It is now believed that the chances of a bonus law being passed much before 1960 are pretty slim.

If you're convinced you want or need to pass up the two and a half per cent interest you'll get for five years on your bond, it's a simple matter to cash it. You and you alone can cash it in person at any bank and you must have either your discharge papers or a certified photostatic copy. If you have sent your bond to the VA for payment of insurance premiums, you can write and ask for the unused part of the bond to be returned in cash.

Chaplain's Corner

Four Words

Life is just full of paradoxes, isn't it? Take for instance, the man who daily trains his body so that he can attain to the most healthful state possible; and then watch that same man as he drives madly down a highway endangering his life at the wheel of a motor car! Or take again, the individual who goes to school to achieve an education; and then watch him as he squanders his time in and out of class, perfectly satisfied with himself when he just gets by in his examinations.

Or, if you will take the official religious attitude of the United States Navy and the Marine Corps; and then compare it with the attitude of too many sailors and Marines.

How few of us who profess to be so Alnav or Almar ever pause to reflect on Navy Regulations? For sure, we acquaint ourselves with the data on punishments for breach of same, and on rewards for details well done. But in addition to the letter of the law, how about considering the spirit of the law?

Consider, please, all you sea lawyers and legal beagles, Article two of those Regulations. Could it be that the Navy officially expects Divine Services... with no attendance at same? And why should "the Book" prohibit irreverent conduct, etc. during those Services? Surely it is not because the entire ship or station must subdue itself for the convenience of one man. And for the jackpot, glance over what the Department has to say in Article one forty-one. Quite interesting isn't it, that these instructions could have been given merely to consume valuable paper space? Not likely!

"See the Chaplain" is a popular expression among us. When troubles beset us we gladly "see the Chaplain"... and then the Chaplain is just as glad to see us. But how about eliminating the above paradox in our lives by adding just a bit to that old expression? Harken to that old philosopher who queried: "If we work as though we were doing it all, and pray as though God was doing it all, how can we fail?" And so why not add just four little words to that "See the Chaplain". Let's add "on Sunday as well."

Church attendance is our right. It is a right that should be exercised. The Constitution guarantees Freedom of Religion; Navy Regulations provide for it; Marines and sailors have suffered and died to preserve it.

Why should you be the one to squander it?

ARTHUR F. McQUAID,
Division Chaplain.

It's easy to turn the bond into money now, but consider carefully the advisability of doing so.

From Washington

Report

By SGT. H. M. TAYLOR, JR.
Armed Forces Press Service

The Army and Navy Promotion Bill has gone into effect. When Pres. Truman signed this measure designed to establish a permanent promotion system for the armed services, he approved legislation which discards the Army's system of elevation by seniority and improves the old Navy system of promotion by selection.

The promotion-by-merit law will weed out the less fit officers and replace them with the better qualified.

Although the Navy has maintained a selective system of promotion, the new law carries this arrangement to the grade of admiral. Hereafter, officers in that rank must justify their retention after each four years of service.

When the President signed the promotion bill, the Navy announced that all its temporary wartime appointments since 1942 would be ended within the next 120 days.

The new law abolishes the rank of five-star general and admiral except for the eight flag officers now holding that wartime rank.

It limits four-star officers to five for the Army, four for the Navy, four for the Air Force and one for the Marine Corps.

Seriously disabled war veterans receiving special training to gear them for self-supporting jobs will receive a cost-of-living increase effective Sept. 1, 1947.

New rates allow a vet with no dependents $115 a month, one dependent $135 a month. The Veterans Administration reported that former servicemen whose disability is rated at less than 30 per cent still will receive training allowances at the old rates.

Hurry-up-and-wait note: VA is alarmed at the way its employees rush to quit work at five o'clock. Officials have posted a memo warning employees not to dash from their places of work at five because in three cases, employees have been knocked down and injured.

The problem of unification is becoming a perplexing one for Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal. He is having difficulty in obtaining services of aides necessary for the organization of his staff.

Mr. Forrestal has not at this writing taken his oath of office. However, he has scheduled several conferences with Pres. Truman and has started blue printing the new organization he will head.

The Senate Armed Services Committee is debating a Navy recommendation that would authorize medical care payments to service personnel on active duty who become ill while on leave or furlough.

Such payments are made to Army per-

PRE-VACATION DREAMING
Yes, indeedee, there's no bout adoubt that I've got a fooldin' you're feelin'. Oh, nuts! What another spot to read? Why in the name of Throckmorton Q. Butts can't that clock move. It has stood just as still as Joe Jacobs ever did in in bed. Hello!!! What game? Oh, the second half of the double header. Just a minute, I'll see. That's right, Slidding Central beat Cow Pasture Normal, 16 1/4 to 3/4. I mean . . . Look my friend, I'm leaving on my vacation, and all those guys can go hang. They can lose everyone. Even Harry can tie Man Mountain Dean's corset in front of George Howard's histro and I wouldn't care. I'm going on vacation.

Still I've got two columns to do before I leave, so let's drop a few adjectives here and an adverb there and, don't forget a column isn't one without tossing the split infinitives around.

A contestant on the WJNC-Mutual "What's The Name Of That Song" show heard over 1240 every Wednesday from 8:30 to 9 saw $160 of jackpot dough quickly passing before her eyes, but managed at the climatical, crucial moment to reach out and pocket the prize. The matron had successfully answered all the song questions. Then, Dud Williamson, the show's master of ceremonies, had a familiar tune played. Mrs. Louise Levin, the contestant, hummed the song and mouthed all the lyrics to it . . . but couldn't remember its title. Then, as Dud was just about to disqualify her, she shouted excitedly: "Beer Barrel Polka," collected her prize money . . . but nearly yelled the program off the air.

Jim Backus, comedy star of WJNC-Mutual's new Sunday night program feature, "The Jim Backus Show," 8:30 to 9, believes in doing the unusual . . . where the guest-star routine, at least, is involved. Jim heard the Hoagy Carmichael recording of "Casanova Cricket" and liked it so much he contacted Hoagy and asked for a guest appearance . . . of the cricket. Actor Jerry Hauser doubled for the cricket this past Sunday.

SEWING MACHINES AND WASHERS

Your Camp Exchange has made efforts to secure sewing machines and washing machines for Camp Lejeune personnel. There is a great deal of reticence on the part of suppliers to sell these items to the Exchange. However, it has been arranged for the top forty on the sewing machine list to be supplied with Singer sewing machines by the New Bern dealer within the next few months.

Your Exchange now has commitments for five "Easy" and ten "Maytag" washing machines per month. "Bendix" machines are available for delivery without quota stipulations. There is little possibility of securing other makes. "Maytag" washers will be sold through the local Jacksonville agent at regular retail prices.

Prospective sewing and washing machine purchasers are advised that the large mail-order house in Wilmington might give more prompt delivery on these items.

Your Exchange has a new assortment of golfing gear which is now on sale at the Golf Course Exchange. Ask to see this worthwhile assortment of merchandise which has recently arrived.

FLOWER TELEGRAPH SERVICE

No matter where that special person may be, you may now remember her with the thoughtful tribute of flowers sent by wire. Facilities are set up at Central, Court-house Bay, Tent Camp, and Montford Point Camp Exchanges which will enable you to bring your thoughtfulness close to the hearts of those you hold most dear.

Wives and daughters of Lejeune personnel are reminded of the fine quality of the work which is done by the three expert beauticians now on duty at the Exchange Beauty Shop. If your hair needs that end-of-summer pick-up which a new permanent will give, dial 3388 for an appointment, or visit this modern shop in building No. 62, under the same roof as the Post Troops Service Club. A new permanent

Located in the Central shopping area, your Correlier Shop will put new life and appearance into those shoes which are too comfortable to neglect. It is not too early to think of the changes in uniform—make improved shoes a part of your spruce-up plan.

SPECIAL—CIVILIAN CLOTHING REDUCED

Effective 2 September, prices on all suits at the Camp Men's Shop will be drastically reduced from present markings. This will represent a saving of from eight to fifteen dollars on each suit. This has been done to conform to the new policy of establishing regular Exchange mark-up on civilian clothing.

all seems to hold all the interest this week. Stan Musial's tiring batting average is held responsible for the St. Louis' eighth place to second while arguments are waxing hot as to whether or not Burt Shotton will replace Leo Duro-
Dodger manager for 1948. Of course Musial's batting ld be said to be incidental to the rise of the Cardinals for men to play ball but there is no such stock answer for en-Durocher affair. Shotton has taken a team that was outside chance at the beginning of the year and literally into a pennant-contender.

In the bottom of the eighth, Vomacka got on through Hyames' error. Link batted for Latessa and walked. Bourbeau sacrificed but Frazee held up the rally when he was thrown out. Kelly to Booe. Hyames' committed his second errors of the inning on Fairchild's grounder and the run scored, giving the locals extra insurance against the eventual run which the Yosemite squad was to score in the top of the ninth.
