SUBSCRIBER — Smiling Cpl. Rodney Klingensmith, holder of the lucky subscription in phase of the Navy Relief Drive, shakes of SSgt. Herbert B. Liles who subscribed nith for membership. Klingensmith, who drives a 6-ton truck for 2nd Motor Transport Battalion by day, plans to "play it cool away from the Motor Pool" by night when he'll drive in style in the sleek new coral and ivory 1956 Ford convertible.

Base Total Reaches $34,000 As Relief Drive Ends Here; Lucky Ten Receive Bonanza

A new Ford Sunliner convertible was put into circulation by a happy Marine and a total of $28,000 went into Navy relief accounts this week as the second phase of the 1956 fund drive came to an end.

Holder of the lucky membership subscription was Cpl. Rodney C. Klingensmith of "B" Co., 2nd Motor Transport Bn. In addition, two television sets and seven clock radios were passed out as the drive terminated.

In all, a total of $34,000 was contributed to the Navy Relief campaign by Marines, sailors, dependents, and civilians at this base.

Final figures of the Navy Relief drive (first phase):
MCB	$ 6,882.05
Civilian	1,056.00
2nd Div.	7,591.50
FT	1,922.10
MCAF	641.00
	$18,092.65
(Second phase)
MCB	$ 7,303.00
Civilian	597.50
2nd Div.	6,473.50
FT	1,314.50
MCAF	560.50
	$16,177.00
GRAND TOTAL	$34,269.65

However, a total of $6,000 was expended in fund drive expenses, leaving a net contribution of $28,000.

A total of $18,000 was contributed in the first phase of the drive which ended May 8. Another $16,000 for the second half of the drive, which ended last Tuesday, brings Camp Lejeune's total of $34,000 considerably under the $46,000 contributed in 1955.

However, since the drive last year was more extensive than this year's, Navy Relief campaign officials still had a heart-felt "Well- Done" for all contributors and unit representatives.

Other happy recipients of Navy Relief gifts last Tuesday were MSgt. Robert Crow, MT School, MCSS, television set; Pvt. Henry J. Johnson Jr., formerly of ITR and now of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, television set; and Pfc Perry J. Domelevich, "D" Co., 2nd Engr. Bn., and Pvt. Gillett C. Ford, "H" Co., 2nd Bn., ITR, clock radios.

"Bonus" clock radios went to TSgt. Clarence McCampbell Jr., Wpns. Co., 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines; Pvt. Norman W. MacKenzie Jr., "H" Co., 2nd Bn., ITR; Cpl. Gordon L. Eck, 1st School Co., Engineer Schools Bn.; Pfc Joseph L.

Zboravan, "C" Co., 8th Engineer Bn.; and Sgt. Lauren L. Headrick, Service Co., Service Bn., MCB.

At ITR in Camp Geiger, the race to subscribe the most memberships in the Navy Relief drive was virtually "no contest" as Lt. Malcolm E. Gregory signed up a total of 2,180 members.

His closest competition, all in ITR, was provided by Sgt. Arlen B. Rasey, "B" Co., 1st Bn., with 810 membership subscriptions, and MSgt. O. B. Grantham, "A" Co., 1st Bu., with 700 memberships.

As might be expected, ITR led all MCB units with a total of $2,948 in the second phase. MCB units contributed a total of $7,200 to the final half of the drive.

Corps Keeps Reins On Rate Of E-7 Boosts

Sergeants and staff sergeants have a good chance for promotion this fiscal year 1957. But those techs up for master have the same advancement chance they have had for the past two years: slim as the eve of a needle, according to the Navy Times.

The excess of master sergeants—286 as of March 31 over the required strength of 7,300—is what stymies the techs and forces down to 100 the number of promotions to that rank, the same number that have been promoted in the past two years.

In other grades things are not so grim. The required strength of staff sergeants is 16,600 and, also as of March 31, there were only 11,456 in that rate. And, people moving upward from staff to tech are in good shape. Their required strength, as of the March date, was 10,139 with only 9,328 actually wearing five stripes.

However, all is not lost for men aiming for the top enlisted billet. The only way to increase their number is to increase the size of the Marine Corps and, according to the Navy Times, this is being considered by Headquarters, Marine Corps.

Attrition among master sergeants will help some. There are 228 due for transfer to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve this year,

AF Officers Witness Trainees In Action

Making their second stop on a tour of Marine Corps training facilities, four officers from the Air Force Academy yesterday observed individual combat trainees of the First Infantry Trng. Regt. here.

Headed by Lt. Col. J. B. Townsend, the group inspected training facilities at Parris Island earlier this week.

After leaving here late yesterday afternoon, the visitors flew to Quantico to observe officer training.

Lt. Col. C. S. Robertson, of HQMC, is serving as escort for the tour.

Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Marine Corps Commandant, prepared the itinerary to give the officers an overall picture of Marine Corps training procedure.

Plaque Unveiling Highlight At Agganis Field Dedication

By CPL. STEVE GOLDBERG
GLOBE Sports Editor

The unveiling by Mrs. Georgia Agganis of a bronze plaque honoring her son will highlight dedication ceremonies here June 19 when the Camp baseball stadium is named "Harry Agganis Field" in memory of the late Boston Red Sox, Boston university and Marine athlete.

In addition to Mrs. Agganis, an impressive list of visitors here for the ceremonies will include his sister, Mrs. Mary Raimo, Aldo (Buff) Donelli, B. U. football coach, and Thomas B. Dowd, Red Sox executive secretary. Agganis' hometown of Lynn, Mass., will be represented by Mayor Thomas P. Costin.

Chaplain Alexander G. Seniavsky will open the ceremonies, followed by a speech of welcome by Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Camp commanding general. Lt. Gen. Edwin H. Pollock, Commandant, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, is also slated to speak.

One of the greatest athletes in Marine Corps history, Agganis was playing first base for the Boston Red Sox at the time of his death, June 29, 1955.

Known as the "Golden Greek" to New England sports fans, he got his start at Lynn Classical High school, winning nationwide recognition in football and baseball. He had 85 college offers, but chose Boston university, expressing a desire to be near his mother.

Agganis entered B. U. in 1949 and made the varsity football team as a freshman, completing 14 touchdown passes over the season. He also was picked to the All-New England baseball team.

Called into the Marine Corps in September, 1950, Agganis paced Camp Lejeune to an 8-2-1 football record and a ranking as number three service team in the nation.

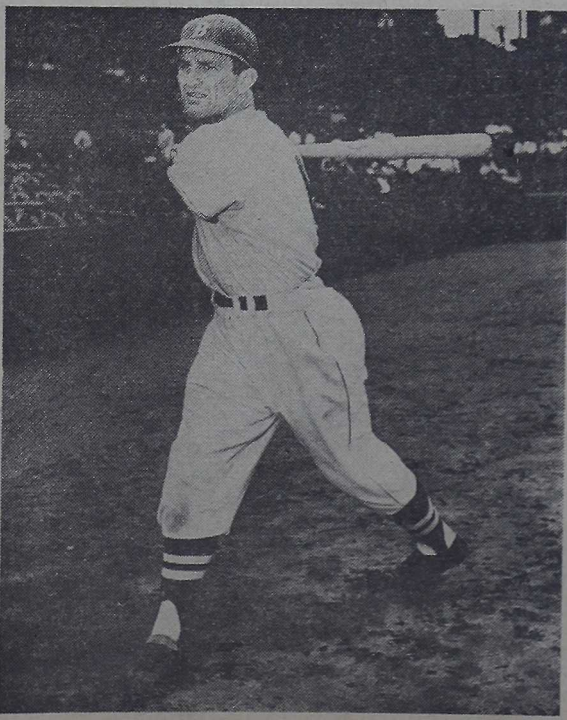

His outstanding performance came in the Marines' post-season 32-7 victory over Keesler AFB in the Electronics Bowl. Harry ran for three touchdowns, passed for another and booted two extra points.

The Golden Greek really came into his own during the following baseball season, hitting .362 and leading the Camp Lejeune baseball team in base hits (100), runs (78), runs-batted-in (83), doubles (20), triples (19), home runs (14) and stolen bases (35).

Rolling along behind Agganis' big bat, the locals compiled a 72-17 season record, beat Camp Pendleton three straight for the All-Marine title, and finished fourth (See AGGANIS, Page 11)

If you ask me...

WHAT'S YOUR PET PEEVE?
(Asked residents of Camp Lejeune's animal haven.)

BAMBI (No relation to star of same name)—Deer me! That question took me by surprise. I guess I could say it's the odd balls who take one look at me, then come up with some ridiculous statement like, "Some Fawn, eh?" That burns me, brother. Pardon me, I have to high-tail it for a salt block. Fawncy that!

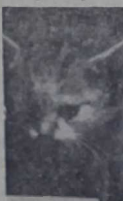

A RABBIT CALLED PETER — Gee, I don't know. I guess it's those so-called friends of mine who insist on making snide remarks about those little things expected of rabbits. Why don't they lettuce alone! Incidentally, what this country needs is a good, five-cent carrot.

SAM THE RAM — I fell rather sheepish about the whole thing, but as long as you ask, here goes. I'm the victim of a vast plot, believe it or not. Not too long ago, some kind soul clipped my horns. Now all my pals take one look and call, "Hey, ewe!" Disgusting, ain't it?"

FELIX—Well, I don't wish to be catty, but I am frequently disturbed by those misinformed people who insist that dogs are smarter than cats. I would like to refer them to the Encyclopedia Americana, which states, "Cats are the most intelligent of all domesticated animals. Their refusal to perform tricks like a dog should not be considered as lack of intelligence. They simply see through the maneuver and refuse to be made a fool of." (Oh, yes, the Encyclopedia ended the sentence with a preposition, I didn't!)

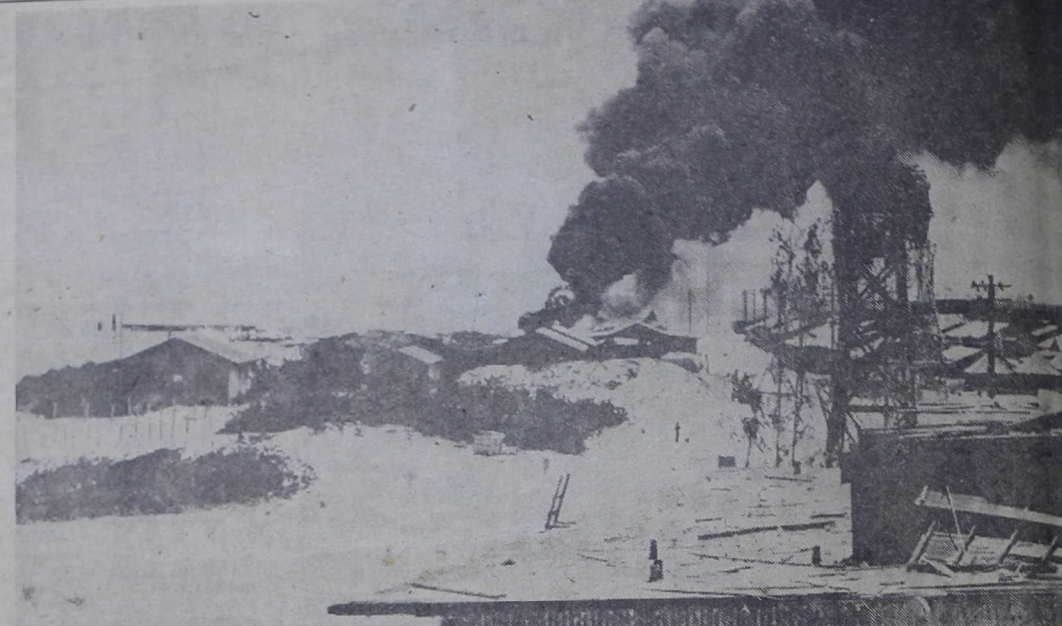

TIMBO — I have a profound disgust of sayings that reflect upon the dignity of a dog. Sayings such as, "die like a dog," "a dog's life," "dog days" and "dog eat dog." When I hear someone use such disparaging remarks, I get sick as a dog.

Maj. Louis M. Bourne, a Marine Corps pilot, was the first man to fly non-stop from the United States to Nicaragua. The flight was made from Miami, Fla., and required 15 hours for completion.

Answer to Puzzle

AFTERMATH OF A BATTLE—The scene is Sand Island of the Midway atoll. From the island's bombproof power house, a photographer recorded the results of the last offensive effort of the Japanese in World War II. An enemy pilot had dropped a bomb into three oil tanks in his futile effort to destroy the island prison. The pilot was shot down by Marine anti-aircraft fire.

TURNING POINT IN PACIFIC NAVAL WAR

Midway Marines Fought Odds, Wrote Fantastic Report

Midway!
Fourteen years ago this week, a Japanese fleet, intent on blasting one of the few remaining Pacific defenses of the U. S., steamed into two days of fury unparalleled in modern Navy history.

They called it "the turning point of the Pacific naval war," and rightly so. When the battle was over and heads counted, the enemy had suffered a mortal blow from which it never fully recovered.

To Marines at Midway (actually two islands, Eastern and San), it was like sitting front row center at the Greatest Show on Earth. Only both sides were playing for keeps. Sixth Battalion (Reinf.) Leathernecks burned out more than one gun barrel in 'round-the-clock action during the two-day affray.

Three-inch, 37mm, 20mm, anti-aircraft and 50 and .30 cal. machine guns had been set up in defense positions along the beaches. Some gun pits even boasted Lewis guns.

For several days prior to the Jap attack, word had it that the enemy was in the area. Daily PBY air patrols were sent aloft from the small strip on Eastern, manned by several dozen planes from Marine Air Group 22. Flying a handful of F4F "Wildcats," SBD's, obsolete SB2U's and equally-old F2A3 "Buffalos," Midway's air arm kept an alert vigil as June 4 drew closer.

The attack against Midway actually began at 4:30 a.m. on the 4th, when 109 planes, in three waves, left Admiral Nagumo's Striking Force, then 250 miles northwest of the atoll.

Meanwhile, PBY "Dumbos" from Midway had taken off on their daily scouting mission. Marines of the defense units were by this time at general quarters, and pilots and ground crews of MAG-22 were standing by for orders; which were not long in coming.

Two hundred fifty miles northeast by east of Midway were two U. S. carrier task forces: Sugar and Fox. The first was built around the Enterprise and Hornet; the latter around the ill-fated Yorktown.

At 5:55 a.m., Defense Battalion radar logged "many planes, 89 miles, 320 degrees." Condition One was set.

Minutes later, 25 Marine planes from VMF-221 attacked 109 Jap aircraft, consisting of fighters, medium bombers and fighter-bombers. Divided into two groups, the Midway planes fought like angry hornets attempting to penetrate the thick sides of the well-protected bomber flight. Three Marine pilots survived in one group of 12.

Back at Midway, defense units received the order to "open fire when targets are in range." A minute later, at 6:31 a.m., every anti-aircraft battery on the islands opened fire.

Shrieking through low-level strafing attacks and dive bombing runs, the Japs unleashed a terrific assault on every visible object on the islands.

One Marine had a particularly close brush with the Grim Reaper when the observation tower he occupied suddenly became the target for a flaming Jap plane winging low over Sand. While trying to make up his mind whether to jump from the perilous height, the enemy plane swerved and crashed into a nearby CP.

By 10 a.m., all surviving Marine aircraft had landed, and all hands were standing by for further attacks. A note of relief, which could have had tragic results, entered the picture at 11 a.m., when a flight of SBD's from the carrier Hornet were sighted coming in low. Gunners were preparing to open fire, and one perforated fighter plane was already aloft, before the Navy flyers identified themselves.

Heroes were made that first day. To list them all would take pages, but one is particularly familiar to any 1st Division Marine who fought at Guadalcanal. Henderson field, where so many pitched battles took place, was named after Maj. Louis M. Bourne, CO of VMF-221, who died when his SBD was shot down in flames June 4.

The night of June 4 was a relatively uneventful for the Marines. Planes took off on a reception mission, but failed contact with the Japs. The night was directed back to the land fires—some the result of bombings, and AA bursts.

Defense battalion turned their pieces warmed-up during the night, however, firing at Jap sub wendings and fro offshore. This, incidentally, survived 42 hours of the Yorktown the following night to return to action at 2nd Bn.

To all intents and purposes, the Battle of Midway as such ended June 5. The part played by Midway Marines was in the toiling around the clock, batteries, radar sites and details, the 6th Defense Battalion contributed a workhorse unit suffered several wounded.

MAG-22, at a cost passed in the history of aviation, had faced a superior in numbers and wrote one of the most records in the Pacific aviation Marines were action. Thirty-five men were as missing and dead.

Adm. Chester A. Nimitz, a tribute to the Midway victory, shortly after the battle. "Please accept my sympathy for the losses sustained by our personnel and their families. Their sacrifice was vain. When the great came, they were ready, unflinchingly the attack superior numbers and attack ineffective. The first blow at the end. They were the special great victory. They were a new and shining page in the history of the Marine Corps."

First Impressions Count

As noted elsewhere in the GLOBE, the first group of Marine Reserves are due aboard Camp Lejeune this weekend. Hailing from towns and cities from Ohio to Alabama, 1,800 reservists will start their two-weeks' summer training in a variety of military specialties.

To many reservists, it will be the first time they are away from home. As with any recruit, their impression of the Marine Corps will be gained through contact with Regulars who should, on all accounts, act as Marines.

However, there's always that (infamous) 10 per cent that doesn't get the word. They're the wise guys who manage to make fools of themselves—and their buddies, by hurling barbs at reservists.

You know what we're talking about. These characters, usually still wearing their first issue of socks, are the know-it-alls who relegate the Reserve to a low rung. "Aw, we don't need you guys. Reserves are part-time Marines."

As we say, these are the guys who make the Corps look bad in the eyes of young reservists. It's a big thing to them, leaving home and traveling to summer training. They're proud of being part of the Marine Corps—or they wouldn't have joined. There's no room for souring those first impressions with derisive remarks.

Don't be classed as a jerk; you'll overload the ranks.

Raise Your Voice

An idea has been kicking around in the minds of the world's best political theorists for hundreds of years: just governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed. The idea of the cornerstone of our Declaration of Independence, although Thomas Jefferson, who was largely responsible for the document, was not the first to express the idea.

Down through the 170 years or so of our existence, we Americans have given life to this idea every time we entered a voting booth or held a town meeting. "Consent" came to mean the will of the majority; the "governed," every citizen.

During these 170 years, we have seen governments based on other notions tumble like the walls of Jericho. Absolute monarchies—government by the "consent" of one man, the king or tsar—have all but disappeared. Other totalitarian varieties—government by "consent" of a Fuehrer or Duce—have also been given the gate.

Some totalitarian forms are still around but their lives and lives of their leaders always are in doubt. This must be so when a government mutes the voice of its people.

We servicemen—no matter how far from Washington or the state capital—will have an opportunity to express our "consent" by voting this year. If our way of life is to rest on a firm, democratic base, we must cast a well-considered vote. (AFPS)

Career Facts

A recent survey of the nation's pension systems conducted by the Institute of Life Insurance contains several points of interest to career military personnel.

There are approximately 20,000 retirement plans, with the majority designed to supplement Social Security at a retirement age of 65. Some are based on an employee's average salary during his employment, others on length of service or some combination of the two forms.

Under the plans, the institute found that you could draw as little as $47 to $53 a month for a regular salary of $2,400 a year or from $133 to $166 for a constant $6,000 a year.

Keep in mind that this is at a retirement age of 65 after possibly 40 years of service. Compare these figures with the $152 per month retainer pay received by a master sergeant retiring after 20 years' service at an approximate 40 years of age.

IT'S A GOOD CAREER
... STICK WITH IT!

Chaplain's Corner

George Washington, the Father of our Country, is well known for many achievements but the one achievement which always impressed us as children was his strict adherence to the truth as we pictured the fallen cherry tree and young George exclaiming, "I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little hatchet." True or not, as a child I was impressed by his honesty and truthfulness. What has become of this wonderfulness. What has become of these wonderful virtues today?

So many people hardly know the meaning of truthfulness and in fact are not particularly interested. "Oh I never really lie; I perhaps exaggerate a little once in a while." As long as no one is hurt by your tall story it is perhaps not a sinful lie. However, the time eventually comes when we are branded as having a terrific imagination and then no one believes anything we say.

The exaggeration wherein no one is fooled is not too serious but it makes lying so easy at a later date.

If Herman tells Sadie she is the most beautiful gal in the world she likes to hear it but a quick glance in the mirror will shatter any illusions. No harm is done and love is in bloom.

The salesman who pushes insistently on the front doorbell knows that little Johnny is following out orders when he answers that "Mommy isn't home". She isn't home to Elmer the salesman! Not wrong, — but it could lead to something serious later.

The real problem arises whenever someone's reputation is in danger as the result of loose handling of the truth. This form of lying goes under the high-sounding name of calumny — when we say something that we know to be untrue or only partially true. And a life or home is ruined!

One of our former presidents had a sign in his room that might well be placed in the hearts of all of us.

"A wise old owl lived in an oak;
The more he saw, the less he spoke
The less he spoke, the more he heard;
Why can't you be like that old bird!"
J. C. Canty,
Ass't Division Chaplain.

The Old Corps

Ten years ago this week: The Woman Reserve Battalion, a permanent fixture at Camp Lejeune since 1943, was brought to a close this week with those WR's either not eligible for discharge or those planning extensions of their enlistments transferred to Headquarters, Marine Corps, Henderson Hall, Arlington, Va.

A little gal featured as a vocalist with the Raymond Scott orchestra appeared for the first time with the musical group at Wallace Creek Pavilion. She was virtually an unknown in the singing field then but today we all know her as Dorothy Collins, a regular on the TV show "Hit Parade."

Lejeune's baseball team was setting the service league on fire. Dave Petros and Wally Kirk blasted homers to help the locals belt down the powerful Norfolk NAS squad, 17-16.

Discharge figures were released by HQMC to show that 346,000 Marines had been discharged since the end of hostilities.

EXTRA!

An "extra-important" meeting of Camp Lejeune's enlisted Little Theatre group, the Masquers, will take place next Monday night, June 11, at 7 p.m., in the topside lounge of the Central Area Service club.

CHECKING-IN—SSgt. John R. Aspinall checks in Cpl. Thomas E. Bjorkback to the 2nd Division.

Gone are the days when Marines, loaded down with seabags and suitcases, will have to wander throughout Camp Lejeune looking for their "new home."

The Tri-Command Reception Center, opened May 15 and reputed to be the first of its type in the Marine Corps, functions as a haven for bewildered new arrivals.

Marines now reporting aboard are directed to the Center, located in Bldg. 1110, where they receive fast, courteous treatment during their check-in process.

A representative of either Marine Corps Base, Force Troops or 2nd Division, depending upon the man's new organization, will greet the new arrival and within an hour, fully process the man and have him on his way to his organization.

Col. Paul Drake, chief of staff of Marine Corps Base, fostered the idea for a check-in, check-out center and was instrumental in its becoming a reality.

Colonel Drake said, "A man's first impression of a new base is important; and Marines who receive a favorable impression, through a fast, centralized check-in process, will be in a better frame of mind to be an asset to their unit."

Capt. William L. Coulton, Base Housing officer, is also officer-in-charge of the Reception Center.

ALL-MARINE TRACK... Quantico's Wes Santee and Bob Mathias of Camp Pendleton led an all-out assault on All-Marine track and field records last week that ended in every All-Mar mark except three being cracked by the more than 150 athletes who assembled at Quantico for the ninth annual meet.

For both it marked what may be close to the finish of their athletic careers. They will participate in the Inter Service meet as members of the All-Marine team, but are ineligible for further pre-Olympic competition.

Mathias, 1948 and '52 Olympic decathlon champion, was declared a professional as a result of his movie role in his own life story. He made his final All-Marine performance a memorable one by winning the shot-put, discus and high hurdles, the latter two in record-breaking style.

The big red-head, who startled the world with his Olympic decathlon victory in 1948 as an unheralded 17-year-old, says that he'll probably go into television as an actor next year.

BOB MATHIAS

A "pro" breaks records

Mathias, whose running fight with the AAU has made headlines, smashed the All-Mar marks in the 800 and 1500-meter runs to smithereens. He took the Olympic half-mile in 1:49.5 and the longer race in 3:48.9.

One surprise to a reporter whose only impressions of Santee were those received through newspaper accounts is his good sportsmanship and affability on the track. Time and again, he was the first to congratulate the winning runner and give the loser a hand.

It's obvious the lanky Kansan enjoys his sport and all the more pity he should have become involved in court squabbles.

★ ★ ★ ★ CALIFORNIA-BOUND . . .

While most of the attention was on Santee and Mathias, eight members of the Camp Lejeune track team turned in good enough performances to win trips to the West Coast as members of the All-Marine track team.

Raleigh Wright, Lejeune's only undisputed winner, continued his string of victories with a 400-meter triumph against what may have been the classiest field assembled for one single event. Five of the six starters in the final heat had bettered the All-Marine quarter-mile record of 48.7 at one time or another this year.

On pre-race calculations, it looked like a three-way fight between Wright, Quantico's Cordell Brown and Larry Brailsford of the 3rd Division, winner last year in the All-Marine quarter-mile.

Brown, who had been unable to beat Wright this season, opened up an early lead of about three yards, holding it around the first turn. The two were about eight yards in front of the pack. Wright went ahead at the far turn and held off a home stretch drive by the powerful Brown to win by five yards in a record-breaking 47.8.

Right behind them came little Les Wallace of Lejeune and Ev Trader of Quantico in a desperate duel for third place and a possible berth on the All-Marine team. Wallace outlasted his opponent to gain the third-place nod and his trip to the Coast.

Failing to place was Brailsford, who broke a bone in his left foot at about 300 yards and had to drop out of the race.

Lejeune's Walt Clarkson, outsmarted by Wes Santee and Bill Taylor in the 800-meter, qualified for the All-Mar team with a second-place finish in the 1500-meter. He tried to stay with Santee in the first race, trailing by only three yards in a furiously fast 0:51 quarter-mile. Taylor hung behind, made his bid in the backstretch and out-kicked Clarkson, who had nothing left.

It was a different story the next day in the 1500-meter, as Clarkson let Santee go, waited for Taylor and beat him by about 10 yards.

The locals made an excellent showing in the javelin throw, taking second and third and placing both Ed Muhlbeck and Carroll Miller on the All-Marine team. Muhlbeck got off a heave of 204', with Miller getting out 195', both peak performances for the season.

Tony Szalkowski almost had a first-place trophy in the hammer throw, but through a series of wrong and fumbling decisions ended up second. Quantico's Frank Morze, declared the eventual winner, failed to qualify on his first three throws. When a misguided official allowed every participant another throw, a clear violation of AAU rules, Morze qualified and went on to win. A protest by all the coaches had no effect on the decision, but "Ski" had the consolation of being picked for the All-Mar team.

★ ★ ★ ★
LOCKER-ROOM HUBBUB... Lefty Ron Fincher is rapidly becoming known as the hard luck guy of the Lejeune baseball team. He's lost four one-run decisions. . . His earned run mark of 2.94 is tops on the mound staff, followed by Dave Nafie's 3.20. . . There were only two 300 hitters on the squad after the Little Creek series, Bob MacHardy and Paul Hoffer, both hitting .300 on the nose.

Lejeune Nips Little Creek 10-7 To End 10-Game Losing Streak, Then Loses 5-4

Joe DeGregorio posted his first win of the season last Wednesday night as the Camp Lejeune baseball team broke a 10-game losing streak with a 10-7 victory over Little Creek. The 'Gators came back to take the series' wind-up, 5-4.

After relieving starter Dave Nafie in the third inning, the chunky left-hander went the rest of the way, striking out 10 and allowing only four hits. He also knocked in three runs with a pair of doubles.

The locals scored three runs in the fourth frame and four in the fifth to overcome an early 4-1 deficit.

★ ★ ★ ★
A bases-loaded single by Little Creek shortstop Mel Roach in the ninth inning of the nightcap climaxed a two-run rally that gained the 'Gators a 5-4 win and a split in the series.

Ron Fincher, who went the route and gave up only four hits, was the victim of the late-inning uprising.

Leading 4-3, Fincher got himself in trouble by walking lead-off batter Ralph Goins. He then threw pinch-hitter Jim Zehoe's sacrifice bunt into centerfield on an attempted force-out at second base.

With runners on second and third, Fincher struck out the next batter and issued an intentional pass to Ken Hargens.

Shortstop Beanie Kraus forced in one run on a free ticket to first, and Roach's shot into left-field supplied the game-winner.

Lejeune scored single runs in the second and third innings, and two in the sixth on an error, a single by Gordon Hopkins and a Blaine Davis double.

McCree To Tryout For Olympic Team

Cpl. James McCree, 8th Ordnance Field Maintenance Co., 2nd Combat Service Group, qualified for entry in the final Olympic weightlifting tryouts by winning fourth place in the light-heavyweight class at the junior National Championship sponsored by the Olympic Health club at Cleveland May 17.

His winning lifts were: 225-lb. press, 230-lb. snatch and 305-lb. clean and perk.

Hold Lead and Marines

Second Marines, continuing their winning habit Tuesday night over a 1st Bn. team, won a straight victory in an intramural baseball game.

After dropping their first three games, the Montford Point nine have come back to take five straight.

Jack Norsworthy of the Rifle Range belted a homer to account for three RBIs, as the Rangers scored a 9-6 victory over the Engineer Schools Bn. John Templin, first baseman, tripled twice during the game.

Wayne Smith (5-1) went the distance, allowing five hits, while fanning eight and giving up only one walk.

Headquarters Bn. overpowered the 3rd AAA Bn., 11-6, helped by catcher Bill Francis' three RBIs.

Ed Tarko started on the mound, but had to be relieved in the sixth by Mac Cleveland.

Tarko, "Stu" Stewart and "Chetty" Hargett each accounted for two runs.

A forfeit was awarded the First Infantry Trng Regt. during the past week of play in the MCB intramural golf league, giving them a 24-0 victory over the Engineer Schools Bn.

Service Bn. last Tuesday scored a 15-0 win over the Marine Corps Supply Schools.

Shore Party's Tibbs Hurls 1-Hit, 7-0, Tilt Against Engineers

A fast-starting Shore Party softball team jumped into first place in the Group 1 intramural softball league by defeating the other two members of the loop, the Engineer and Tank battalions, in successive games.

The Tank men fell first in the opening game Monday by a 5-1 deficit. W. G. Davis, Shore Party hurler, was the big difference between the two clubs. In addition to pitching a six-hit ball game, Davis drove in every Shore Party run with two hits.

Tuesday, Jim Tibbs set the Engineer aggregation down 7-0 on a one-hitter. Charles Martin, with three hits, and Jim Brown, who blasted two home runs and a single, led the winners at the plate.

Charlie Stanton, Engineer infielder, spoiled Tibbs' bid for a no-hitter late in the game when he drilled a line drive single over the infield.

Locals Face Eagles Tonight At 8 P. M.

Game time is slated for 8 p.m. The two teams also meet tomorrow night, with Ft. Lee scheduled to move in for a two-game series opening Wednesday night.

Lefty Joe DeGregorio, who picked up his first win of the season in a relief role against Little Creek, has received the mound assignment for tomorrow night.

His probable opponent will be Juny Floyd, 6-5 winner over DeGregorio in their last meeting at Ft. Jackson.

Gordon To Meet 2nd Army Titlist

Boxers Hit Ft. Eustis, Then Move To Virginia Centennial

After Army Brig. Gen. Rush B. Lincoln, Ft. Eustis commanding general, officially opened the new Post field house last night, Camp Lejeune's boxing team forced the soldiers to "put up their dukes" in self defense at the Virginia Army base.

JAY J. REARDON

Undeclared in three outings this year, the Army team met CWO Pete Benson's brawlers, unbeaten in their past six matches, to initiate the new field house.

Results of the matches were unavailable at presstime.

Coach Benson expected his heavyweight, Harry Gordon, to stop undefeated Alonzo Small, in the last fight of the evening.

Gordon scored a knockout over a Ft. Bragg opponent last week, in 45 seconds of the second round, as the Marines scored an 8-2 victory for their sixth straight.

Small, 6'3" tall, weighing 205, is undefeated in his past three starts, all on forfeits.

Though untried in the current season, the Army heavyweight lays claim to the 2nd Army title, and three European titles. He was runner-up in last year's All-Army finals.

For Camp Lejeune, Ron DeCost will open the 10-bout match in the flyweight class, followed by bantamweight teammate Basil Blackson, All-Marine and Atlantic Fleet champion.

Jackie Lennon will enter the ring at 126, followed by Jay "J" Reardon at 132 pounds and Bob Fostmire at 139. Bob Powell will represent the local Marine team at welterweight.

Larry Redmond will weigh in at 147 for the Camp Lejeune team, followed by middleweight Bill Ryan, light-heavyweight Luis Williams and finally, heavyweight Gordon.

BOB FOSMIRE

The locals are scheduled to appear at the Virginia Beach Centennial on June 18, when they will meet four state champions, four boxers from Ft. Eustis, and two Naval boxers, for a total of 10 bouts.

Travellers' Nine Sinks Locals 4-0, 6-1; Lejeune's Story: 'Good Pitch, No Hit'

Two pitchers who played for the United States team in the 1955 Pan-American Games combined forces to hold Camp Lejeune to seven hits and one run in two games this week as the Ft. Lee Travellers humbled the locals, 4-0 and 6-1, at the Virginia Army base.

Right-hander Bill Lore, a former North Carolina hurler, allowed only three hits in the opener, with port-side Ray Hyde being touched for four in the series' wind-up.

The double defeat drops Lejeune's record to a season's low of 19-26. Ft. Lee, possessors of a split with Quantico in a two-game series, has a 10-2 mark for the year.

Shortstop Carl Hanta paced the Travellers to their 4-0 opening game win with a pair of triples, scoring after both. The 1953 College All-American, who fielded flawlessly in the series, came home on the front end of a double steal in the third inning, and on a wild throw in the fifth.

Lejeune's hard-luck hurler Ron Fincher (2-7) was tagged with the loss. He gave up only four hits and struck out eight in his seven-inning tour of duty but, as usual, received little stick support from his mates.

Ron Gillam, Hal Horan and Gordon Hopkins had the Marines' hits.

Coming up with three runs in the first inning, Ft. Lee went on to defeat Lejeune 6-1 in the series' wind-up.

Mike Kostuba pitched 4-1/3 scoreless innings in relief for the losers, but it was a case of locking the barn door after the horse had been stolen. The side-arming left-hander, who relieved loser Dave Nafie (1-4) in the fourth inning with Lejeune trailing 6-1, allowed only three hits the rest of the way.

Lejeune's only run came in the second inning. Lon Rotelli beat out an infield bouncer, advanced to second on a passed ball, and scored on Bob MacHardy's line single to centerfield.

Rotelli had two of the losers' hits. MacHardy and Ken Queen collected the other pair.

Displaying a sharp-breaking curve that had the left-handed batting Marines back on their heels, Traveller hurler Hyde struck out 10 batters in registering his second win against a single defeat.

'Sgt. Sam' Recalls Agganis As All-Around Athlete, Gentleman While Stationed

(June 19, 1956, will mark formal ceremonies at the Camp baseball stadium, when representatives from the Tri-Comands, Boston university and the Boston Red Sox will be on hand to dedicate the stadium "Agganis Field." The following story, told by TSgt. Florio Sampieri, was written by Cpl. Tom Bartlett, GLOBE assistant sports editor.—Ed.)

"I'm standing there in my T-shirt when this fellow comes in and says, 'Go tell the coach that Agganis is here.'"

"Me! A tech sergeant. Been in the Corps 16 years and this fellow tells ME to tell the coach. He just stands there, smiling a big smile, so I says, 'Agganis? I never heard of you.'"

TSgt. Florio Sampieri leaned further back against his tractor and re-lit, for the third time, a cigar stub.

"Harry Agganis. Sure, I remember him, his smile, his football playing and his hittin' home-runs. Most of all, though, I remember him as a gentleman. He never smoked, never drank and I never heard him use a word of profanity during the year he worked for me."

"He was an unusual kid, but as I was saying, he was a gentleman and a great athlete."

"Sam" Sampieri was, in 1950, NCO-in-Charge of the varsity store-room for Camp Special Services. His job was to issue uniforms to varsity players.

Now, six years later, Sampieri is back at Camp Lejeune as the NCOIC of playing fields and grounds around Goettge Memorial field house.

Six years ago the field house was nearing completion. Football coach Bruno Andruska was wondering what was to become of the Camp football team after losing so many top men who had sailed with the 1st Division to Korea.

Sitting in the storeroom, Coach Andruska was checking uniforms as Sampieri checked over gear by the issue counter. It was at this point that Harry Agganis came in. But let Sam tell the story . . .

"At the mention of Agganis' name, Andruska jumped to his feet, ran from behind the football lockers and started pumping Harry's hand. 'Well, I says to myself, 'this Agganis must be SOMEBODY.'"

Sgt. Sampieri looks back now and grins, for during that 1950 football season and the 1951 baseball season, he learned who Agganis was.

"I remember that the grinning Greek came up to me later to check out football shoes. I handed him a pair of 9-D's, and he just looked at me and smiled."

"Where's the other pair?" he asks.

"What d'ya mean—other pair? You got four feet?"

TSgt. FLORIO SAMPIERI

"Agganis always checks out two pair of shoes," he says.

"Tell you what, I says, 'you show me two right feet and two left feet, and I promise you, you'll get two pair of shoes.'"

"Don't get me wrong. We got along fine. Everybody got along fine with the kid. He was wonderful, always smiling and carrying on. Like I was saying, the kid belonged in any group, and when Agganis was there, no matter where, everybody enjoyed themselves."

"He came up to me just before the start of the football season, real quiet-like. He comes real close and says, 'Sam, I gotta favor to ask.'"

"Sure, kid, what d'ya want?" I says.

"When you give out the uniforms to the team, would you do me a favor and save number 33 for me. It was my number in high school and college, and I'd feel a lot better with it on my back during the coming season."

"That was the only thing I can remember about him being superstitious. Him and number 33."

"Harry played quarterback, and with him playing, it was a pleasure to watch. You know how it is with the crowds. Some like football, and some don't. During the first game of the 1950 season, there were about 200 people in the stands watching Agganis pass the ball. The kid was great."

"People told other people at the second game, more people in the stands. At the third game the team played, more people. Before the game the stands were filled with that number 33 jersey calling the plays."

"Agganis got most of the attention, but Big Jim Louie Darnell, Wall and Little Minnie helped to give Camp Lejeune the best football team in the 1st Division."

"On his feet, Agganis was with legs and feet like a horse. He had good legs. I remember him losing ground."

"Watchin' that 'Go on play was a big thrill. I was saying, the kid was a real winner."

"I can't ever remember without a smile on his face. He was a real winner. His mouth. In football, n't help noticing that he was a real winner."

"He weighed about 180 and stood 6'2" tall. When tackled, he'd bounce and then help the other side."

"Even now, a long time after he's gone, the crowd shouting, every move. He reminded me of Otto Graham."

"During the baseball season, encouraging the pitcher about 17 homers over that season, and not on the scoreboard on a straight line."

"Yeah, I'll tell you all the athletes that were here, and Agganis was here. His mother and father were great job bringing up a great athlete."

"At night, he'd go show, come back to the time. Then after season, his dad died at a hardship discharge."

"I think of him a lot. Seems I can't forget him."

Dick Calisch, co-coach of the Lejeune team, holds the Camp Lejeune record of 13'8".

★ PROGRAM NOTES ★

By TSgt. JACK MCCARTHY

How do you become a blues singer?

Well, it isn't easy.

First you pick out a day like July 21, 1922, and you say to yourself, this is for me. I'm gonna be born. And you are. Where? There are a lot of good places, but Dougherty, Okla., will do. Especially since that happens to be where your folks are living at the time. Your folks, incidentally, aren't just plain old run-of-the-mill-type parents. They've got a little Irish and Cherokee blood mixed up in them. And that never did anyone any harm.

Dougherty being what it is or, more properly, what it isn't, you and the family decide to move. Now, if you're going to wind up singing the blues, Dallas is a good place to start and Memphis is a good place to stop.

Agganis

in the Wichita, Kan., National Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament.

Named All-Tournament first baseman, in addition to his All-Marine and All-Navy honors in football, Agganis received a hardship discharge from the Marines in September, 1951, following the death of his father.

He returned to Boston university that fall and was named to several All-American teams, both offensive and defensive. He also was picked as the winner of the Bulger Loew award as New England's outstanding football player.

Rounding out his college career by being named Most Valuable Player in the 1953 North-South football game, Agganis was drafted by the professional football Cleveland Browns, but passed up the gridiron pact in favor of a baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox.

He played every game for Louisville the following season, hitting 281 with 23 homers. Called up to the Boston team in 1954, the hometown boy had 11 homers and eight triples among his 109 hits for a fine freshman record.

Agganis got off to a good start the following season, when tragedy struck in the form of a severe bout of pneumonia. On June 29, 1955, he died at the age of 25.

Camp Lejeune's tribute to the memory of the Golden Greek is the second to be announced recently. Also planned for the month of June is a nation-wide fund drive with a goal of $250,000 for the Harry Agganis Memorial Foundation.

LONG MEASURE—Workmen from Camp Maintenance take the measure of the 76-foot flagpole to be placed in front of Bldg. 1. Before the pole could be positioned, workers had to drill through about seven feet of concrete to sink a foundation. The job began Monday and is expected to be completed today.
