The United Way

There is a tendency among the most generous of us to become disturbed over the many and various fund drives we are asked to contribute to each year. Worthy as these causes are and the benefits they heap upon each and every Marine, the majority are inclined to sidetrack the solicitors when they try to contact us.

In order to relieve this constant pressurizing, the United Fund drive policy was put into effect in the large metropolitan areas. Its success was immediately apparent and the smaller communities soon followed.

All this leads up to the annual Onslow County-Camp Lejeune United Fund drive which is currently in progress.

Camp Lejeune personnel are asked to contribute to two funds each year, Navy Relief and the United Fund.

The Fund services 20 agencies in the Jacksonville area and along with the Navy Relief provides for the recreation, health and social needs of local personnel, both those living on Base and ashore.

In order to quell any prevalent opinions that these agencies only service the families of dependents, how many Marines, away from home, have stopped at a USO center and been received in a courteous, friendly manner. As one of the agencies, the local USO stands ready to help and guide as well as provide recreation for any Marine.

By contributing to a drive of this nature, the men and women will aid in increasing the standard of living and health of the neighborhood in which they reside. Most of us should take pride in our community which during a tour of duty takes the place of the "home town."

Regardless of the amount of talk and salesmanship, it is up to the individual to reach down deep and make that donation which to the majority of us is a real sacrifice.

The decision is entirely up to you . . . what will you give?

AT WORK—Members of the 2nd Division pitched in to erect the traditional Tabernacle in which Marines of the Jewish faith are celebrating the feast of Sukkoth, or Thanksgiving. The celebration, which commenced Wednesday night, will last for seven days.

Chaplain's Corner

Conformity is one of the outstanding aspects of the American scene, evidenced not only in the fads of teenagers but in the adult world as well. We dress alike, we talk alike, we think alike, and so on. We are afraid to be different! And yet to be different is what we are told by the Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Romans (12:1,2), "Be not conformed to this world."

Now certainly some cases of conformity are harmless enough—styles, for example—but there are times when the desire to conform may lead one to do things that he would not otherwise consider. This is especially true in military life, where home and church influence seem to be far away, and temptations previously unencountered suddenly must be faced. A man's training may have been such as to teach him to avoid alcohol, perhaps, or to cherish chastity; but in the face of invitation, or insistence, or even ridicule, he decides he had better "go along with the crowd" in its indulgence, and he gives up his attempts to maintain standards higher than those of others.

A man's decision in such situations ought to be made on the basis of what his long-range desires are. If his highest aim is to please his parents, or his girl, or his wife, or his God, then let him "dare to be different." Certainly, it takes courage, and determination, and perseverance, and prayer, too—but these are the things which go to make up character! Seek character, not conformity.

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him." (James 1:12).

WASHINGTON REPORT

The Veterans Administration has handed 43,000 disabled veterans compensation payment cuts after reviewing their cases. The review, VA said, has also resulted in payment increases to 5,421 disabled veterans.

Since the review began in December of 1954, some 23,344 veterans have had payments cut off for disability. Another 18,312 veterans have had payments reduced.

Eventually the reviewing board will look into some 1.7 million cases of veterans under 55 years of age who are receiving benefits for World War II disabilities. The reviewed cases since January 30 have covered some 29,000 veterans.

The Veterans Administration review has been under sharp criticism from major veterans organizations, particularly the Disabled Veterans. Agency officials said the review may require another three years to complete since it is being conducted on a time available basis in order to keep up the VA's day-to-day work.

The General Accounting Office in the Washington area has turned up a number of errors in veterans' claims. The VA ordered a review of the claims and a breakdown of the latest report said that 6,676 payments were ended after it was found that errors were clear and unmistakable.

Being out of practice, it is many, including the colonel, that he reached first base safe next batter connected with the ball, sending the aging coloring for second. Foul ball. Colonel Straine jogged back to first the batter connected; again the colonel high-tailed it for second; again the ump called, "Foul." Five hits, five times the colonel ran for second and five times the ball went foul. Finally, out of breath, the colonel sat down on the bag at second. He'd made so many trips back and forth, he was out of breath. So, it was agreed that he deserved to stay at second base . . . after all, he is the exec!

Students Of Service Families Get Varied Education At Camp Lejeune

Students from service families, due to traveling from base to base, acquire greater and more practical knowledge of the world around them than the majority of the public school pupils, according to some educators.

Advantageous as this may be, it presents difficulties when a student is transferred in the middle of the school year to another school clear across the country.

The entire Camp school system, and particularly the high school, has been planned with this in mind.

This is especially obvious on the high school level where so many students are working towards the necessary credits for graduation.

Camp Lejeune High School has faced this problem and its record of sending 90% of each graduating class on to higher education indicates that it has been successful, inasmuch as the national average for college attendance after public high school is only 20%.

A visit to the sprawling campus, on Brewster blvd. near the main gate, will convince the visitor that he is at any metropolitan area high school. The school grounds are luxuriously landscaped and the 387 students of the school have ample space in which to participate in intramural activities.

Under the supervision of Principal B. A. Barringer, the high school offers three courses of instruction—college preparatory, commercial and general—preparing students for the leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

Since the school is accredited by the North Carolina State Board of Education and the Southern Association of Colleges, students may transfer to any accredited high school without loss of credit.

Fourteen teachers compose the faculty, all of whom are college graduates and hold the Class A teaching certificate.

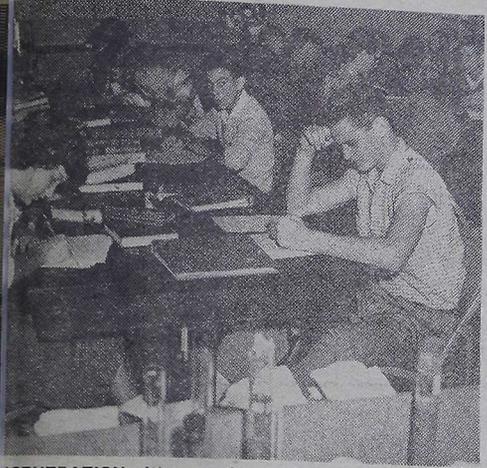

A wide variety of courses are offered, including English, mathematics, science, biology, social studies, health, languages, home economics, industrial arts, physical education and band.

President of the Student Council this year is Pat Baker. It is her responsibility to enforce the laws and rules of the high school. The student council enables the students to participate in their own affairs and to practice the principles of citizenship.

A wide selection of extra-curricular activities are available including the major sports, the glee club, the band, cheerleading, driver education and school publications.

The spirit that prevails at the school can best be exemplified by an excerpt taken from the school handbook which reads, "Life holds great things for you; it demands great things of you. We shall expect you to justify at all times and in all places the faith and hope we hold for you."

CONCENTRATION—It's exam time again and these two Camp Lejeune high graders, Carol Stallings, left, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. C. Stallings, and Jerry Rowe, right, son of TSgt. and Mrs. J. C. Rowe are engrossed in deep thought.

Bargain Hunters Find Thrifty Values At Opportunity Shop

Bargain hunters will have a crack at saving some money when the Opportunity Shop opens at Midway Park on Oct. 21.

Scheduled to be open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p.m., the shop is set up to handle all types of merchandise to benefit the base kindergartens.

The shop is the sole means of support for the school, other than for tuition, and last year contributed more than $4,000 to its operation, according to CWO Phillip Edmondson, officer-in-charge.

Located behind the Midway Park School, the shop has a wide assortment of clothing and furniture at low costs. In addition to selling household goods, clothing and other items, the shop will take any merchandise—be it a refrigerator, stove or baby buggy—to sell on consignment.

Beginning Monday trucks from the shop will cruise the MOQ and Tarawa areas to receive donations for the shop in order to have a full stock of items for the opening. The trucks will roam the areas for a week and wind up the trips on Friday.

Already on hand at the shop is a good supply of children's clothing from infants to five-year-olds. Also available are mahogany chairs, children's toys, electric heaters and many other items of interest for smart shoppers.

WILMINGTON, HERE WE COME!—After weeks of hard and extensive practice, Camp Lejeune Marines were ready to put on their own TV show. Producer TSgt. J. J. McCarthy, flanked by Pfc

Lejeune Marines

Approximately 150,000 eastern North Carolinians had Camp Lejeune Marines as visitors in their living rooms on the evening of September 30.

Local personnel produced, directed and starred in the initial television show which was televised in the studios of station WMFD-TV, Wilmington, N. C.

After three weeks of intensive training and rehearsing at the Camp theater under the supervision of TSgt. J. J. McCarthy, station manager, WCLR, the local entertainers were under the impression that they were ready!

This assumption was quickly destroyed when upon arrival in the nearby port city, they had to be instructed in the techniques of television production.

During the next few hours, the Marines were back in school, receiving classes and training on the subject. Instruction involved proper lighting effects, use of props, and make up procedure.

Bob West, production manager at the station, aided the entertainers in explaining the do's and don'ts of TV stagecraft.

KEYBOARD STYLIST—TV cameraman Ben Piper of WMED-TV moves his camera up on pianist Jerry Sease. Piner managed to manipulate one camera so viewers could watch Sease's fingers go back and forth on the keys. Sease, an HM2 at the Base Dispensary, was the only Naval performer in the show.

vision as the show is continuous with no glaring breaks.

With 15 minutes remaining before show time, panic broke out when one of the continental Marines lost his headpiece. After a few hectic moments, the sought-after object was found and a sigh of relief went up.

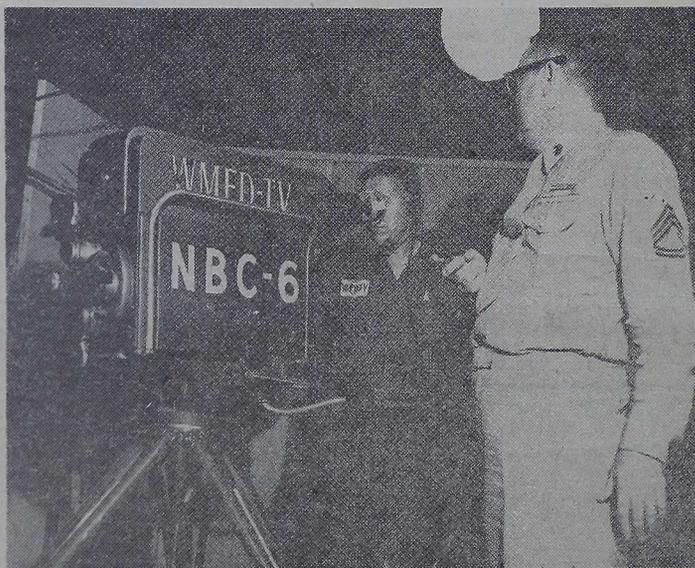

Although pre-show butterflies were evident among the cast they quickly disappeared once the camera picked up their image.

At 7:30 p.m., Woman Marine Maxine McDonald introduced emcee Will Robbins and another first in entertainment history had been recorded at Camp Lejeune.

A similar production will be aired over television station WNCT, Greenville, N. C., the first week in November.

TO THE EXACT MOMENT—TSgt. J. J. McCarthy, with stop watch in hand, checks the time consumed by the first performer of the evening. Each act ran according to a prescribed time limit which had already been determined at previous dry runs. Similar to the football quarterback, the producer brings the entertainers on and off the stage by set signals.

SONGS BY McDONALD—Pfc Maxine McDonald was one busy Woman Marine as she had to change from the uniform she wore in the opening scene to this glamorous gown she donned for her song number. Maxine sang the very difficult "Desert Song" in clear and resonant tones.

FINALE—The entire cast was introduced at the closing of the evening's performance. At the far right can be seen Marines dressed in uniforms appropriate to the Revolutionary and Indian War period. A stirring resume of the Corps' accomplishments over the past 182 years brought the program to a dramatic close.

Activities Of Sea Urchins Club Recently Increased

Every Tuesday night, commencing promptly at 6 p.m., Camp Lejeune's Sea Urchins gather for what they consider to be a "wet meeting." At this time, under the direction of the training group within the organization, the old as well as newcomers learn the approved methods of the uses of the snorkel, mask and rubber fins.

This is only the initial step, however; and after these methods have been learned through practical application, the student advances to the self-contained breathing apparatus, better known as the SCUBA.

All this takes place in the Area Five swimming pool where the Sea Urchins learn everything there is to know about the aqua sport before going out into the unknown to investigate and explore.

The club's activities have recently increased. The 60 active members readily boast of the new lungs they have received from the Recreation Council. The complete sets of SCUBAS number 18, which does not include the privately-owned equipment used by different members.

Divvy Boxing Will Begin October 23

Division's 1957 boxing season will get under way next week when the Second Marines and Eighth Regimental teams meet inside the ropes.

This year, two classes will be featured. A novice class will include all beginning pugilists, while all other candidates with former experience will enroll in the open class.

Novice bouts between the two regiments are slated for October 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Area 2 gym. Open matches will start on the 25th at the same time and place. The cards are to be announced.

Besides these classes, the Urchins hold "dry meetings" every first Thursday of the month in Bldg. 441 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Any prospective member is invited to attend these meetings, as the club's activities and equipment have increased in size to accommodate many more people.

During the "dry meetings," movies may be shown, lectures on safety are conducted either by a qualified member of the Sea Urchins or by a guest, and the club's business is dispensed.

The mission of the Urchins is to check persons out in the safe use of skin-diving equipment. The club still maintains an accident-free record which can be attributed to the painstaking efforts employed in conducting safety classes.

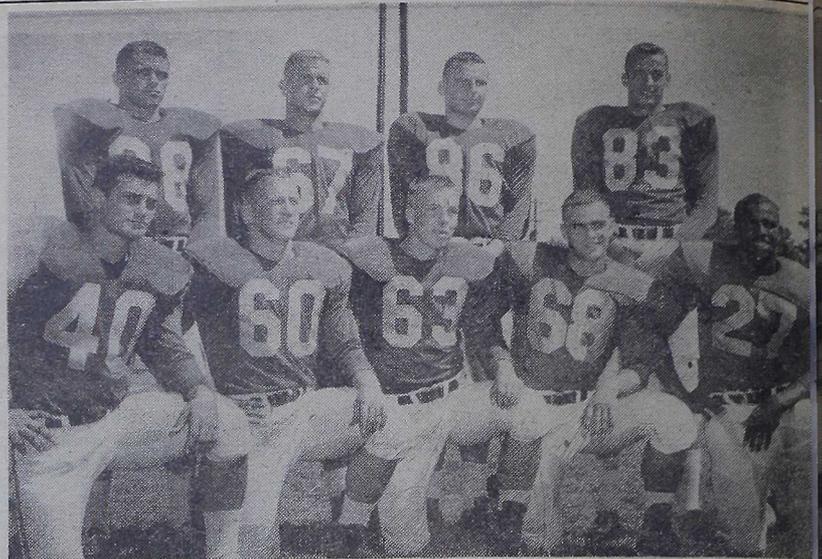

The unique organization spends much time spear fishing but other activities include rescue work, exploration, and salvage operations.

The club's operations do not slow up during the winter as commonly believed. Some of the stouter Urchins don rubber suits and continue with their expeditions.

Because there is more equipment available to Urchins, it is the club's plan to help outfit Marines embarking on cruises to Vieques where they might indulge in the watery sport. This will be especially good news, as there are many sunken galleys, as well as modern ships to explore in that area.

Even more conducive is the fact that the water is warmer and clearer, which should make the game fishing a better attraction than here as the cold weather in North Carolina will now eliminate, to a degree, much of the spear fishing.

The club also is experimenting with diving helmets.

Football Team Meets Eglin Eagles In Weekend Clash

Camp Lejeune's varsity football team travels to Eglin AFB in Florida to meet the Eglin Eagles tomorrow afternoon. This will make the third time the two elevens have met with locals coming out first in the previous encounters. In 1950, the Lejeunites bested the Eagles 41-7 and came back the next year to win 20-7.

Last season, the Eglin team boasted an 8-2 record, but with the loss of key players has found the going rough this year. To date, the Eagles have beaten Fort Stuart and have lost to Fort Carson and Fort Knox, the latter defeat coming last Sunday by a 32-6 margin.

The Air Force team boasts an average line of 211 pounds with their first string tackles weighing in at 235 and 245. Elgin's Bobby Trawdy is expected to carry the load for the Eagles from his fullback slot. Trawdy is an ex-University of South Carolina player and was named to South Carolina's All-State College Eleven and All-Southern. On the line, ex-University of Miami (Fla.) center, Ernest Tobey, will be a key man from the line backers' position. Tobey appeared in last year's Shriners game and was named Most Valuable Player.

Other ex-collegiate stars appearing in the lineup will include North Carolina's Larry Parker, end Jackie Croy from Ohio State, and RHB Louis Roth, a 49'er draft choice from Southwest Louisiana Institute.

Coach Wil "E" Overgaard, head Lejeune mentor, is extremely optimistic about the remaining games on the Marines' schedule. The likeable coach strongly feels that as of tomorrow afternoon his boys will begin to move in the fashion that he knows they are capable of performing on the gridiron.

"We are still working on the mistakes from our first two games," he added, "and we might say that our offense is now really polished, better than it has been all season," the head coach concluded.

The Camp Lejeune team has had a two-week layoff since its encounter with the Bolling AFB Generals as they had an open date last weekend. However, the local eleven has been preparing every day in preparation for tomorrow's game. Stress has been placed on pass defense, ball control and the sharpening of offense.

A week ago the team went through a morning game in which all the players seemed pleased with the performance. Coach Overgaard pointed out the attitude shown in practice the squad as a whole is very confident and that the team should come stronger with each game. The inexperienced players will work as a unit.

Favored ITR Team Tied By MCSS MCB Grid Act

Marine Corps Supply School team came a giant among the MCB six-man football teams with a come from behind victory in the highly regarded and 1st ITR squad.

J. Weldon, fleet tailback of the Supply School team, put the needed spark in the offer and had a hand in every tally run by the winners in their success.

ITR lived up to their early billings by scoring three touchdowns while the Infantry defense was holding their opponents scoreless.

By then, Weldon and team have decided that it was the Early in the fourth period Grill caught a pass thrown by Weldon and went over for the touchdown.

With only 44 seconds remaining in the game, Weldon scored second touchdown and with clock ticking away the remaining seconds, W. D. Weldon attempted an on side kick. ITR fumbled and VonBerg covered. In a long desperation play by Weldon, Able managed his hands on the ball and was standing. With the pressure on, Weldon once again, the 170 lb. runner ran over with the point to knot the score.

Devilpups Scuttle Pirates 14-6; Host Morehead City

Last year the Camp Lejeune Devil Pups lost to the Pirates of Swansboro 48-0. Members of that team never forgot the humiliating defeat they experienced nor have they forgotten the losing season they were subjected to last season.

With all this in mind, and led by ace quarterback Bucky Muford and guard Paul Anthony, the Pups avenged last year's loss Friday night when they defeated the Pirates 14-6 for their second straight win. Youthful coach Tom McGee has now directed his team to three victories against a lone loss suffered at the hands of a strong Beaufort eleven.

The Camp Lejeune high school squad began clicking early in the second period with a 60-yard march. John Stivers falled from six yards out and Neil Sullivan ran the extra point.

Neither team could score again and the half ended with the Pups leading 7-0.

Swansboro tallied in the third period as quarterback Danny Kirk directed his team on an 80-yard drive capping it himself when he picked up a fumbled ball on the Lejeune 35-yard line and scampering the remaining distance for the Pirates' only score. The attempt for the extra point failed with the junior Devil Dogs still leading 7-6.

Camp Lejeune came right back on a 70-yard march with Bee Chapman going off tackle for the score and Sullivan again running the extra point.

Neither team was able to score in the last quarter.

Coach McGee singled out line men Anthony, end Larry Potts, Muford, Stivers, Sullivan and Burgess as his outstanding performers.

The Pups gained a total of 271 yards compared to 114 by the Pirates. Sullivan paced the winners' offensive attack with 82 yards followed by Chapman's 78 and Stivers' 58 totals.

Camp Lejeune will face its toughest opponent of the season when they meet undefeated Morehead City tonight under the lights at Harry Agganis field. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. The visitors beat the locals last year by a 51-7 margin.

THE TRUE MEASURE OF AN ATHLETE—A losing streak, a defeated team, a demoralized and dejected group of athletes. This usually is the way a writer will stereotype a team and the men comprising the squad that have tasted defeat.

Perhaps in some cases this is true. Even the followers begin to ripe and call for the head of their coach. This is especially so in the big time where the pressure from many exerting forces are at work.

Service ball is different. It remains in the big time brackets, but the many factors attributed to pressure in a college, or even in a large high school, are eliminated.

Even the ball player might be considered different as now he volunteers his skill out of sheer desire to participate. His rewards aren't measured in paid tuition nor an expense account nor a sponsor. It is true that he might find service ball a stepping stone to these items, but while in the Corps, he will not be subsidized to any extent.

It would be debatable to state that service ball is the purest form of athletics in the sense that it is on a volunteer basis only and the athlete will derive little materially from the game. Yet many will support this argument.

What makes, then, a losing club?

Let's consider the Camp Lejeune football team. They have lost their first two encounters. Technically and on paper, the fact is they have lost. But this is where the arguments begins. Ask the coaches or the players or the trainers if this is a losing squad. The answer is always, "No." Watch the squad in action as they practice, keeping in mind that these men are not getting paid. Watch as they hit, and observe the way they pay particular attention to their coaches.

After observing for a while, one cannot help but feel that this is a winning team. Everything about the players points towards that fact. The last two games are discussed, not through gripes and the bad breaks they had but from a constructive view and how they might improve from what past experience has shown.

The true measure of an athlete, and a Marine as history has proved, is to be able to come off the deck still swinging and still with that spirit that takes hold and molds the winning combination. In history this is measured by victories.

With the Camp Lejeune football team this will be measured in the way these men conduct their actions the rest of the way, win or lose. I personally wouldn't bet against the Marines.

Basketball Practice Draws 93 Hopefuls

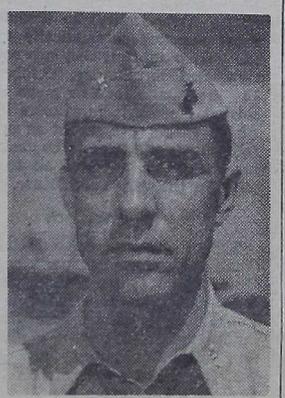

With two returning lettermen from last year's squad, and two additions from Quantico's All-Marine team of '57, Camp Lejeune's basketballers have returned to action.

A call extended two weeks ago for candidates brought out one of the largest turnouts in recent years with 93 hustling hopefuls donning sneakers and taking to the hardwood.

Two tall youngsters to keep an eye on are R. C. Carabough, a 6'5" pivot man, and Angelo Cuttia, 6'4" forward.

Returning for their second year of service basketball at Lejeune is center Terry Telligman and guard Bob Martin. Telligman held down the starting chores at the pivot spot last year and was the play maker that consistently moved the locals into the winning column.

Telligman is a 6'5" product of Rice Institute, where he attended on an athletic scholarship and earned three varsity letters. Martin, who was one of Lejeune's dependable guards from the 1957 club, will be on hand to contribute his fine shooting and glue-tight defensive play. Martin attended Ohio Wesleyan where he earned three letters.

During the Camp Perry matches, team members walked off with honors in 18 individual rifle matches, six small bore matches and four pistol matches.

In team shooting, the Division's six-man "Gold" team placed third in the Rumbold Trophy match.

GOOD GROUND GAIN—Player-of-the-week Ken Bryant skirts his own left end for considerable yardage against a scrappy Group II team last Friday at Liversedge Field. The Cannoneers won, 14-6, and again moved into a two-way tie with the Second Marines for second place in the Divvy intramural league.

8th Marines Held To Tie By Group I

By CPL. CHARLES C. IVES
2nd Division Information Office

A stubborn Group I squad held the first-place Eighth Marines in check with a 6-6 tie in a Division intramural game marred by penalties last week. The Eighth Marines, undefeated until the contest, were handed the blemish by the league's cellar team.

Friday afternoon the Tenth Marines again moved into a second place tie with the Second Marines by defeating Group II 14-6.

Harv Kerkoff opened the scoring when he snatched Len Pezzi's aerial and dodged through the opponents' secondary on a 30-yard sprint. On the extra point attempt, Coach Byrd's newest "weapon," converter Gerry Smith, split the posts.

Tackle Harry Setzmer recovered a Group II fumble 15 yards out to open the final period. Of three succeeding plays to the goal line, player-of-the-week Ken Bryant carried twice for 12 yards and the score. Smith converted, giving the Cannoneers 14 points.

Following an exchange of downs and punts, the ball became too evasive for quarterback Charlie Springer. Fumbling and recovering once on his 25, Springer decided to boot it out of the Tenth's home ground. His punt was blocked by end Dick Gregory and recovered on the eight by teammate Norm Roth. Two plays were all Carcy Henley needed to sweep his right end and dive across the goal. Jim Robinson missed the conversion for Group II.

With four minutes remaining in the game, Group II's Henley intercepted a Tenth Marines pass at mid-field and dashed to the 35. Quarterback Walt McKuck's pass to end Frank Dash picked up a first down on the 18. Less than a minute remained, and McKuck tossed a desperation aerial—this time intercepted by rival Ken Bryant. Play closed for the winners or their own nine, and the score was 14-6 for the artillerymen.

The second weekly intramural clash, played Friday under the arcs, featured Coach Dick Hohlman's Group I team duelling the league-leading Eighth Marines to a 6-6 tie.

After an exchange of downs in the first quarter, the Eighth lined up in punt formation on fourth and 17 on its own 24. Group I's swift end, Mark Hart, moved in, blocked the kick, and recovered on the 16 to set up the first tally.

Walt Waisilewski carried twice for five yards and a first down to the five. Quarterback Vaughn called a sneak and plunged over. Coach Petrarea's right end, Rudy Karsard, blocked the conversion and held the rival gridders in check with six.

After scoreless second and third quarters, the final period opened with an 82-yard Eighth Marines touchdown drive. After picking up five first downs in nine carries, Joe Bundy went across from three yards out. Hart again came into the defensive spotlight as he block Joe Basciuto's all-important PAT.

Water Safety Class Offered At Area 2 Swimming Pool

Camp Lejeune Marines now have the opportunity to receive instructions in Life Saving and Water Safety. Courses will begin October 28 and continue until November 18. Instructions will be held at the Area 2 swimming pool behind the Camp theater with classes commencing at 8 a.m. Monday through Friday.

After passing the Senior Life Saving course, one is eligible to go on to the Water Safety program. When this course is completed, the student will receive a Water Safety course card from the Red Cross.

The 15 lessons covered in the Senior Life Saving course are: personal safety and self-defense, elementary forms of rescue, fundamental swimming skills for life saving, recovery of a submerged victim, boat and canoe safety, approaches, carries (2 lessons), defense and releases (2 lessons), resuscitation, special problems in swimming rescue, special forms of rescue, and concluded by a review and informal test.

The nine classes that make up the Water Safety course are: personal safety in swimming, bathing places, personal safety and self rescue in the use of small craft, drowning and elementary forms of rescue, swimming rescue, recovering a submerged victim, resuscitation, special forms of rescue, and ice accident prevention and rescue.

New methods will be employed such as the mouth-to-mouth technique of artificial respiration. This method was applied 150 years ago and is used on children today so as not to injure their ribs.

Ed Rogan, Jokers Combine To Establish Four Records

Between the Jokers and Ed Rogan, four season records were broken this past week as the Staff NCO Bowling League entered its third week of play.

Rogan, rolling for the Jokers, led his team to a 4-0 shutout over the 8th Engineers. His 229 game and 599 series both were new marks for the league. The winners as a team established two records with a team high of 2669 and a single high game of 932. By virtue of their win, the Jokers moved into first place.

STAFF NCO WIVES LEAGUE

The Curves took over the top spot in the Staff NCO Wives League by virtue of their 4-0 shutout victory over the Rolling Pins. Pacing the winners was Nell Alford with a 176-423 game and series, respectively. Betty Christy led the losers with a 134 game and 362 series.

In other action, the Pinbusters defeated the Topplers 3-1. Joyce Copes' 129 game and 362 series were high for the Topplers while Helen Wayne led her team with a 164-438.

Kin Meet On Field In Opponents Role

By PFC R. T. HARRIS
Force Troops Information Office

The crowd attending the Force Troops' intramural football game between the combined teams of Hq. Co-8th Motors and 8th Engineers last week was slightly confused by the public address system that announced, "Kolesar tackled by Kolesar." "Kolesar intercepts pass intended for Kolesar."

Actually it would be confusing if one did not know that John C. Kolesar played halfback for Hq. Co. while Paul W. Kolesar, brother of John, holds down the fullback position for the Engineers.

However, they both enlisted in the Marine Corps in July 1956, and have been together in Force Troops since the completion of recruit training. Assignment of John to 8th Motor Transport Bn. and of Paul to 8th Engineer Bn. has destined that they play opposite one another for the first time since sand-lot days in Union Town.

This experience is a little confusing to the brothers who at first hesitated in giving each other the full treatment usually accorded an opponent on the gridiron.

Playing together for so long naturally produces a certain amount of competition between the two. However, when individually asked who is the better, each will reply that the other is by far the better ball player.

The brothers hope to attend either the University of Indiana or Wake Forest college upon discharge.

The finals of the club championship will be played this Sunday. The two finalists will tee-off at 9 a.m. for the first round of their 36-hole match. After a short stop for lunch they will tee-off at 1 p.m. for the final 18.

As of this writing, it is not known who will be playing. Mel Fleischer is one of the finalists and the other player will either be Bill Becker or Bill Stevens. We would like to see a lot of golfers follow the match on Sunday as this is the main event of the golfing season out at Paradise Point. You will be watching the two best match play artists at Camp Lejeune.

It has been noted that some of the contestants in the flight brackets have not made an attempt to play their scheduled matches by the stipulated dates. The tournament chairman and the chairman of the golf committee have decided to default those matches automatically to the next position if they are not completed by Sunday, October 13. The reason for this move is so that there will be winners in flights within two weeks as arrangements will have to be made for the presentation of all trophies in the very near future.

Jimmy Hadd Scores Two To Lead Marine Chevrolet

In the regularly scheduled doubleheader Sunday, Marine Chevrolet downed Silvertone 13-7 and White's Sealtest held highly touted Gulf Oil to a scoreless tie in the Camp Lejeune Boys' League.

Marine Chevrolet picked up only one first down rushing, but netted 102 yards on the ground. They passed six times, with one completion for six yards.

Silvertone had four first downs and gained 101 yards rushing. The losers attempted eight passes, completing two for 28 yards.

The winners picked up their first score when Dierick blocked a punt the hard way (taking the ball in the face) and Hadd pushed over from the four-yard line. In the second half, Hadd intercepted a pass and ran it 18 yards to set up the second score. A few plays after Hadd scored again and added the extra point.

With one minute of playing time left in the final quarter, Duke Nichols of Silvertone took a punt on the 45-yard line and ran the tally. He then carried conversion as the game

In the initial quarter and game, Gulf Oilers ran for a TD, but it was nullified by a penalty.

FISHING DERBY—So far, the "Old Angler" hasn't received an official word on the winners of the fishing derby that ends I hope to give you the complete details next week.

FISHING REPORT—The heavy rain Saturday really put on fresh water fishing. I toured the area behind Midway Field the creeks were overflowing. It will take several days before level is back to normal again.

For ocean fishing, the season's best gray trout and blue going on in sound and river.

Equally good fishing continues to be reported from piers, according to Bob Simpson, fishing editor for Moreland Spots, blues and puppy drum are at the top, with plenty of trout, flounder and pompano.

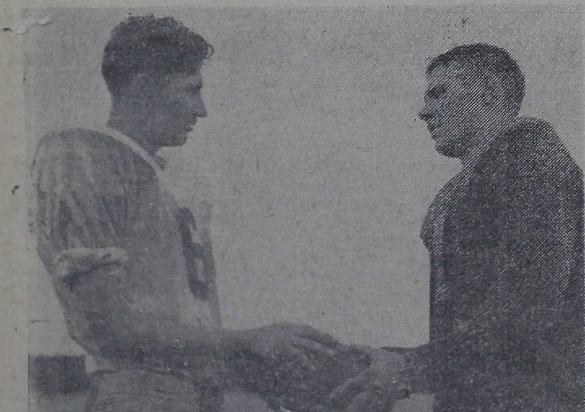

A nor'easter freshened early in the weekend to make offshore fishing uncomfortable. But Sunday's clear skies, gentle westerly winds and rapid clearing water gave promise of good through the week.

DRUM BEATERS

Columbus' Day Tomorrow Marks America's Birthday

Columbus, an Italian in the service of Spain, discovered America in 1492. A dreamer, explorer and hero of the day died in May, 1506. The 500th anniversary of the discovery of America was commemorated by a national celebration. This marked the beginning of recognition of the importance of the day in the list of national holidays.

The holiday is celebrated in the Western Hemisphere, in 35 states of the United States, in parts of Canada, the Central and South American Republics. Some cities in Italy also honor the day with church services and festivals.

Monuments and statues are erected in tribute to him, and in the American Union building in Washington, D. C., the Columbian Library comprises 100,000 volumes of source material and official documents of the 21 American republics.

Cities, towns, rivers, universities and schools honor his name and our nation's capital, linked with the name of Washington, bears his name: District of Columbia.

Tomorrow is Columbus day, in honor of Christopher Columbus. The hero of persistence who watched a crew of cut throats sign his ships' roster; a convoy of three ships, none of which would today be considered seaworthy. Yet they landed upon these shores.

Columbus found wealth for his queen, fame for Spain and a home for those seeking liberty and freedom.

PROGRAM NOTES

By TSGT. JACK MCCARTHY

Music can bring back fond memories of an enchanted moment or pleasant recollections of days gone by. Gay times, sad times, good and bad times can be associated some way with certain songs. We at WCLR feel that a daily program featuring songs of the past in which everyone has an equal share of memories is the answer to a pleasant hour of music.

TSGT. J. MCCARTHY

When a group of Marines gather around a radio for a "session" they naturally are interested in the latest music, the top ten in the nation, but without a doubt someone in the group will come up with the question, yes, that's a good tune, but do you remember Hoagy Carmichael's "Stardust," or how about Benny Goodman's "Sing, Sing, Sing"? No matter what the music it seems they always drift back to a favorite selection of their own.

Mom and Dad had some favorites in their day which are still popular in our present day and age, such as the Wayne King waltzes, the music of George Gershwin and many other all-time favorites.

Naturally, all this adds up to a program that has caught on here at Camp Lejeune so rapidly that it is now running second only to our request show. Join us each day at 2 o'clock as WCLR presents "Memory Lane." Perhaps you will hear a tune that will bring pleasant recollections and memories to you.

Safety Contest Open To All Military Personnel

According to an announcement by Col. W. C. Capehart, Base Provost Marshal, Base Special Services is sponsoring a Camp Lejeune-wide Cartoon Contest, the theme of which is "Highway Traffic Safety."

This contest is in conjunction with the intensive traffic campaign currently going on which will extend over the Thanksgiving and Christmas-New Year's holiday periods.

A nationally known comic strip artist has been asked to judge the cartoons submitted and to select first, second and third prize plus five honorable mentions. Prizes will be certificates which will be honored at the Marine Corps Exchange. First prize will be $25. The other prizes will total $175.

Winning cartoons are expected to receive wide publicity and publication and will be displayed at the Marine Corps Exchange, headquarters buildings, service clubs and other prominent places on the Base.

Entries must have highway, automobile or driver safety as the theme. Captions, monologues or dialogues, and slogans are desired but not necessary.

All entries must be on 10"x14" heavy white paper or art board using black India ink only and must be submitted to the Base Special Services Officer, Bldg. 751, not later than November 15.

The contest is restricted to Armed Forces personnel stationed at Camp Lejeune and the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River.

Winning entries will be retained for publication and for use in the highway safety campaign. Originals may be returned to the contestants after judging or after publication.

For further details, contact the Base Special Services Officer.

Only seven days remain in which to submit photographs for local judging in the Marine Corps and Interservice Photography contest.

O'Connor, Division reproduction officer and 1st Lt. R. L. Maher, Force Troops Informational Services Officer.

Selected photographs will be mailed to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for competition in the 1957 Marine Corps Photographic contest to be judged October 31. From there, winners will be sent awards which will be received by commanding officers and presented to the individuals.

Those photos selected will again be mailed, for competition in the 1957 Interservice Photography Contest at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C. Judging will be held on November 9.

BOOKED FOR STAFF CLUB—Sammy Graham and his orchestra, along with a number of featured entertainers, will play the Staff club at Hadnot Point this weekend. On the left is the young band leader while on the right are Nadayne and Nardini, billed as "The Most Amazing Act In Show Business."

Sammy Graham's Orchestra To Appear At Hadnot Club

The versatile and entertaining orchestra of Sammy Graham will appear at the Hadnot Point Staff NCO club this weekend, with dancing starting tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Though composed of only seven pieces, three saxophones, one trumpet, bass violin, piano and drums, the orchestra plays excellent dance arrangements.

The personable Graham, in addition to playing both the saxophone and clarinet, is an outstanding vocalist and arranger.

This present orchestra was formed three years ago but in that relatively short time has managed to become well known throughout the southern and midwestern part of the country.

Graham realizes that an orchestra can no longer sit back on a bandstand and play. Now there is a demand for top entertainment talent to go along with pleasing dance music.

With this in mind, Graham has assembled some outstanding acts. Nardini and Nadyne are featured as "the most amazing act in show business" because they produce a succession of drinks and cocktails from a pitcher of clear water.

Acts similar to that and his smooth flowing dance music have helped Graham go over at such well known places as the Hotel Heidelberg, Jackson, Miss.; Show Boat, Orange, Tex.; Orleaner Festival, Sea Island, Ga.; Cotillion Club, Tallahassee, Fla.; University of the South, Seawane, Tenn., and others.
