

First 1960 AO Class Begins For Division

The first Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Aerial Observer Class of 1960 got under way last week at the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C.

The 11 candidates were given a hearty "welcome aboard" by the school's commander, Maj. Joseph A. Schimmenti, who then introduced the principal speaker, Col. Charles W. Kelly, assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, 2nd Marine Division.

Maj. Dock H. Pegues, Operations Officer of Marine Observation Squadron One (VMO-1), also addressed the students and pledged the continual aid and support of VMO-1 in fulfilling the AO school's mission.

The aerial observer course is under the overall guidance of Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Norfolk, Va., and the 2nd Marine Division. VMO-1 provides the pilots and the observation-type aircraft, HOK helicopters and OE "grasshoppers," used by the school to train the AO students.

The intensive nine-week course is designed to produce officer students capable of performing the important and exacting assignments demanded of aerial observers.

The school accepts officers, from warrant officer through captain, who are basically ground officers and who have passed a flight physical. To complete the course the candidates must log a minimum of 100 hours flying time.

Upon graduating, the students are designated as Aerial Observers and are given the secondary Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) of 0805.

The student AO's tackle a schedule that includes 12 hours of night flying, 16 hours of spotting field firing and four hours of spotting night field missions.

They undergo training in observation type aircraft, pilot direction, air safety, briefing, reporting intelligence information, airborne map reading and correction. In addition, they are instructed in distance estimation, night vision, principles of aerial navigation, procedures and techniques of conducting artillery, naval gunfire and close air support.

During the naval gunfire phase of training, the students transfer their activity to Landing Force Training Unit, Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Va., where they observe, correct and report on naval gunfire missions.

Later, they return to Camp Lejeune to conduct and observe artillery fire missions with the Tenth Marines. Additionally, they fly target spotting and reconnaissance missions in conjunction with jet aircraft flying simulated close-support of the "ground-pounding" Marines.

Dentistry Program

Dental diseases are accumulating at a faster rate than the available manpower, or the manpower available in the foreseeable future can treat.

The only practical and realistic way to reduce the incidence of dental diseases is to prevent them from developing.

The dental profession thru study and research has developed measures that will prevent, control or substantially reduce the incidence of dental disease.

It is a truism that a large proportion of dental ills can be blamed on neglect. However, for the most part this neglect is not intentional, but is primarily due to a lack of education and participation in the acceptable scientific preventive and control measures that have been made available.

MARINE HELICOPTERS in artist's concept sweep in on a beachhead, transporting the five 3,500-pound aluminum helihut shelters which form "Airtrac," an electronic defense system providing protective coverage for ground troops. This versatile system—developed by Hughes Aircraft Company, Fullerton, Calif.—electronically coordinates split-second firing of Hawk or Terrier guided missile batteries against enemy attack. "Airtrac" can go anywhere the Marines go, and is operational within minutes of its set-down by helicopters.

Used Car Buyers Cheated By Not Reading Contracts

Case No. 2: This victim, a man in his 70's, still weak from a recent hospital trip, decided to trade in his 1954 Oldsmobile for a 1955 Oldsmobile.

A car was parked in front of the one he was bargaining for and no one could find a key to move it. He was told that if he didn't like the car, he could always return it after a trial.

While someone went off to look for the key of the blocking car, he was taken into the office. The boss wrote out a sales contract, and he gave them $100 down payment. He was told it would cost him only a few hundred dollars to move up a year in class.

The key was still missing when they drove him home to get the deed to his house, which he owned free and clear. He was told that would be security for the loan.

After they drove him back to the lot, they got his signature on a contract which he did not fully understand. The key was then found to the blocking car and he started out in his new used car.

He hadn't driven more than a few blocks when he returned to the lot. The car was no good. He asked for his old car back.

He was told the lot was closing for the night and if he returned in the morning, everything would be straightened out. When he returned in the morning, he was told the boss wasn't there. After waiting around all morning, a salesman told him the boss would meet him in the afternoon at a downtown office. A salesman drove him to the office. The "boss" wasn't there but a lawyer was.

The lawyer pointed out that he had signed a contract for a cash deal. He would have to pay $1,884 within six days. He was told that the thing to do was to sign a deed of trust on his home, payable to the used car dealer.

Stunned by the debt he had suddenly acquired, he signed. For the next few days, he went to the used car lot every day, begging for his old car back. They told him it had been junked. He insisted it ran better than the car he had been sold. He was told, "The car is yours. We have no more to do with it." He finally gave up and left the car on the lot.

"Please help me in my distress," he wrote the license enforcement branch. "I have never been cheated before."

Benefit Group Seeking New Memberships

Members of the Armed Forces Enlisted Personnel Benefit Association may now continue their membership and group insurance coverage into retirement and until age 65, it was announced last week by officials of the enlisted group.

The Enlisted Association is a non-profit organization established in 1956 by senior enlisted personnel. It advances and safeguards the economic interests of United States Armed Forces Enlisted Personnel stationed throughout the world.

Under the new provisions, when a member retires from active duty (provided no disability rating is indicated in the retirement orders) he may enter an "Associate Member" status. In this he retains the same basic insurance contribution he paid while on active duty, $9 per month.

Applications are now being accepted from all enlisted personnel on active duty stationed anywhere in the world. Interested personnel may obtain descriptive booklets and applications by writing to the Association at the Warner Building, Washington 4, D. C.

Members who join the Association on or after March 1, 1960, must be a member for at least two years before becoming eligible to continue membership into retirement.

Marines First With 'Copter Borne Air Defense System

The Marine Corps will be the first branch of the Army Services to have a helicopter-carried electronic air defense system. The Corps is purchasing the first two complete "Airtrac" helihut-installed units developed by Hughes Aircraft Company's ground systems group to give tactical support to Marine ground troops. The system electronically coordinates split-second firing of Terrier and Hawk guided missile batteries, promising nearly instant destruction of hostile supersonic aircraft.

Transported in helihuts, the system is comprised of 3,500-pound aluminum and plastic "boxes" containing the electronic air defense equipment. Each hut is approximately the size of the rear section of a 2½-ton truck, and can be carried underneath a helicopter. The system can be operational, and go into action within minutes, anywhere the helihuts can be landed.

Included in the system are an "operations central" helihut (the heart of the highly mobile system) and four or more coder-decoder helihuts.

With Airtrac an air defense commander, monitoring the air battle from operations central, can observe targets as radar tracks and assigns them to missile batteries, even though the anti-aircraft batteries may be dispersed over a wide area.

Four or more Terrier or Hawk missile batteries are coordinated through the operations central against enemy aircraft attempting to penetrate the Marine defense zone.

The entire operation—moving at split-second speed—is capable of handling a large number of individual targets simultaneously. Battery commands and target position data are transmitted by means of automatic digital data links.

The coder-decoder units are strategically located at the missile batteries. They convert the digital messages from the operations central into information usable by missiles and transmit the status of the battery to the air defense commander so he sees at a glance the effective capabilities of his missile defense.

Supporting radars and antennae for the operations central also are transported by helicopters.

Pistol Match Scheduled By Base Hq. Bn.

An intra-unit pistol match will be conducted by Headquarters Bn., Marine Corps Base, at the Base pistol range April 23. Teams will be divided into three classes, expert sharpshooter and marksman.

Persons who have fired familiarization but are not classified marksmen, legholders and distinguished shooters are ineligible to compete. Team captains and coaches may be firing or non-firing members.

The course of fire will be the standard Marine Corps Recruit Training Course plus five sighter shots allowed each shooter prior to shooting for score.

Further information may be obtained from Battalion Bulletin 359 or from unit first sergeants.

Corps Installs World-Wide Record Processing System

A button was pushed in Washington last Thursday activating a new electronic personnel data processing system which links Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton (Calif.) with Marine Corps Headquarters. Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, pushed the button after the coast-to-coast computer network was turned over officially to him by Mr. Stanley C. Allyn, National Cash Register board chairman, in ceremonies at the Navy Annex

Thursday morning.

In less than 24 hours, the new data processing equipment can determine electronically the manpower levels of hundreds of Marine Corps commands throughout the world, specifying the exact number and type military skills of Marines needed to bring each unit up to combat strength.

The system will maintain "electronic service records" on about 475,000 Marines, regular and Reserve, recording 151 separate items of information about each man on less than two inches of magnetic tape. A total of 23,000,000 facts will be stored on only 20 reels of tape. A similar mass of data recorded on the punched cards now in use would require a stack of cards higher than the Empire State Building.

The new data processing system consists of three high-speed "NCR 304" computers. One is located at Marine Headquarters in the Navy Annex. The other two have been installed at Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton, Calif. The three computers are linked by leased wire.

Any one of the three machines will be able to take over the entire Marine Corps record-keeping job in event the other two are unable to function due to enemy action or other factors.

Installation of the new data processing equipment will permit the Marine Corps to utilize its limited manpower resources more effectively, thereby increasing the Corps' combat readiness.

AUTOMATION—Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, pushes the button activating the new electronic personnel data processing system linking Headquarters Marine Corps with Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton. At right is Mr. Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of the board, National Cash Register Company, the firm that developed the computer system.

Stage Props Needed For Coming Show

Special Services is in need of replicas of four pieces of furniture for the presentation of "Mark Twain Tonight" that is being put on by Special Services May 16 at the Camp Theater. The Special Service Office will rent the furniture and return it the day after the show.

Persons having furniture of this type who are willing to loan or rent them are asked to contact either Maj. Frank Straner at 7-5831 or Act. MSgt. A. L. Redder at 7-5528 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. for further information.

In "Mark Twain Tonight" Hal Holbrook portrays Mark Twain in the role of platform entertainer. Made up to resemble the author, he will deliver a variety of actual Twain material in the humorist's droll style.

Holbrook will recreate the sort of solo entertainment for which Mark Twain was internationally famous. Mr. Holbrook will appear on stage made up to look like the white-haired, white-suited, cigar-smoking Missourian and will present an evening of entertainment selected from the author's works.

In the guise of Twain, Holbrook recreates episodes from such books as "Huckleberry Finn," "The Innocents Abroad," "Life on the Mississippi" and "Roughing It," weaving them together with the hilarious commentary which made Mark Twain one of the world's best loved court jesters.

"MARK TWAIN TONIGHT!"

FURNITURE NEEDED—Anyone having access to the above four pieces of furniture for the show "Mark Twain Tonight," to be presented May 16 at the Camp Theater, are asked to contact the Special Services Office. This style or similar style of 19th Century furniture will be picked up and returned by Special Services to those persons willing to loan or rent.

16 Media Shown At 'Spring Art Festival'

Art is one way in which each child can be an individual—creating, thinking, feeling, and growing. This type of art work was viewed last Monday through Thursday at the Camp High School representing the progressive stages of child art from grade one to grade 12 of the Camp Lejeune School System.

The "Spring Festival of Art" was presented last week by the Camp Lejeune Children's School which consists of four major school plants: Tarawa Terrace Elementary School, Stone Street Elementary School, Midway Park Elementary School, Camp Junior-Senior High School, and in addition to these, the temporary classroom facilities at Holcomb and Montford Point.

This 1960 Annual Art Exhibit was an example of educators' beginning to recognize that the "artistic process" is part of every child's growth in that they digest ideas and make them part of one's self, feelings, senses and reflections.

The students displayed their work completed since September. Art instructors in charge of the exhibit were Miss Anne Creech, Midway Park, Stone Street, Holcomb Schools; Mrs. Anna Walsh, Tarawa Terrace, Montford Point Schools; and Miss Pat Yarborough, Camp Junior-Senior High School.

Beaufort Publishes Schedule For 251st Anniversary Affair

Historic Beaufort, N. C., with 251 years as its backdrop, is making preparations for its greatest production. The townspeople of this rustic county seat are making preparations for a gigantic Birthday Party the week of July 3-10.

Also on this day, the school homecoming, a big plantation dance, and clambake at the Beaufort Airport, and the crowning of a King and Queen will head the list of events. Sunday, July 10, services will be held in all Beaufort churches to climax the week-long celebration. And throughout the day, open house will be observed in most Beaufort homes.

Each year, on March 1, the U. S. Marine Corps sends anniversary greetings to the British Regiment, the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, commemorating the friendship established when that regiment and the 1st Marine Regiment served together in China during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

Included at the display were media in painting (blotto designs, finger painting, sponge painting, water-color-dry, water-color-wet, tempera, newspaper painting, crayon resist, color designs, monoprints, string painting, potato prints, textile painting, and oil painting);

This Week At Camp Schools

Montford Point School: Mrs. Greene's sixth grade had the privilege of seeing films taken by Ssgt. Edward Lugo while on duty in Japan. Sergeant Lugo gave an excellent informative talk with his films which made it a very worthwhile activity in connection with the class study of Japan. Easter baskets and egg hunts were the order of the day last Thursday in the first and third grades as Easter parties took place.

Stone Street School: There was a large attendance at the last PTA meeting. The Fifth Graders presented a very entertaining play, "Aiken Stomach versus Killer Cancer." Mr. Roberts' fifth grade received the monetary award for parent attendance at the meeting. The school bus monitors for this month are: Bus No. 4, Tommy Wander and Beth Seibert; Bus No. 5, Glenn Geiger and Martha Sutts. John Wyatt and Ronnie Killian are the school patrols from Mr. Roberts' room; Eddi Walker and Lee Norfolk from Miss Byrd's room.

Mrs. Mullins and her fourth grade would like to thank Gail Lehman and Jimmy Day for sharing their microscopes with the class. Through their use they were able to do experiments examining sugar and salt. They were surprised at the shapes and colors that the salt and sugar revealed.

Camp School: The Camp Lejeune Junior-Senior High School Band will present its first musical program, under the direction of Band Instructor Don Griffin, in the Camp School Auditorium on April 22. Students in grades seven through 12 will make up the 35-piece band, which will give a concert of light music.

Teen Dance

The Junior Teen Club, Knox Trailer Park, will sponsor a "Skirt and Sweater Dance" tomorrow night on the patio of the Teen Canteen. Dancing will begin at 7 p.m. If the weather is not suitable for an outdoor affair, the group will meet in the Recreation Hall.

It is requested that the girls and boys be attired accordingly. Chaperones will be present.

Health And Safety Endangered By Careless Disposal Of Rubbish

There are many married Marines who perform their duties in an outstanding manner aboard the base every day. But, upon returning home to their quarters, they feel that it is only to relax, live and let live, and not pay too much heed to community surroundings.

As a result, the grounds around places of residence are strewn with paper, bottles, and carelessly disposed of garbage. Some parents have their children carry out the trash, many of whom are too small to open or close the door of the dumpsters, and often they let trash fall to the ground. Eventually the area is littered with tin cans, glass and food scraps, all unsightly and dangerous from a health and safety standpoint.

Occasionally maintenance personnel leave odd pieces of material about upon completion of renovating a building. When this happens a good Marine will see to it that this excess gear is placed in the dumpster for pick-up by the collection crews.

More important is the fact that a pile of rubbish around a trash receptacle allows small tots to climb into them, which could be dangerous. Injury could result or even suffocation. If this occurred on pick-up days, the child may easily be carried away with dire consequences.

The regular policing of the home area is the responsibility a community-minded individual takes upon himself. After all, this is the place where he and his family live, day in and day out, for a long period. The better it looks, the more enjoyable life can be.

So, in addition to being outstanding Marines, neat and squared away at all times, let's make our community a thing to be proud of as well. It takes a minimum of effort on each person's part to be careful of his surroundings. With a little thoughtfulness daily, it is a simple thing to maintain a home and its surroundings as a safe, healthy and attractive place to live.

Credit Contracts Use Camouflage

Don't look now, but that fine print on the time payment contract you plan on signing may be a better job of camouflage than Marine Corps combat units are capable of creating.

Testimony to back this up was given to Congress by officials of the Navy Federal Credit Union in what they termed shady practices of money lenders and installment sellers in today's "credit wonder land."

Hardship to both civilian and military personnel has resulted from usury, fraud, misrepresentation, misunderstanding, and poor judgment. Interest rates as high as 40 to 62 per cent have been charged to finance automobiles and other installment purchases.

"Come on" ads sound good to the starry-eyed who can see only the product they want. They include such gimmicks as "No Money Down," "Low Bank Rates," "No Carrying Charges," and "Name Your Own Terms." One department store advertised a "small service charge" for its time purchase plan. Investigation disclosed that this "small charge" actually amounted to 18 per cent for a 12-month plan.

The time payment plan has proven its usefulness from the Government level on down to the individual citizen and a large number of firms offer reputable plans. However, it pays to look before you leap. One way is to multiply the monthly payments by the number of months to be paid and compare this figure against the original price.

The Latest Word

THE MAULER, a new Army air defense missile system, which can be operated by one man, may be used by the Marine troops.

Navy Times said that while the Marine Corps is not supporting the Mauler development with funds, the new battlefield missile system appears to have possibilities for Marine use. The Mauler is a new highly mobile battlefield air defense missile system being developed for the Army by the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp.

This latest system will use solid-fuel radar-guided missiles to destroy short-range, enemy ballistic missiles and rockets, and high-performance tactical aircraft which attack forward battle area positions.

Mauler units will be light enough to be carried by aircraft or helicopters and to be dropped by parachute into battle areas.

The men of the Fifth Marine Regiment, 1st Division, hoofed it into the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton to the strains of "When the Saints Come Marching In," marking the end of their 150-mile "Desert-to-the-Sea" hike. The Fifth Marines included men of Headquarters Company, and the 1st and 2nd Battalions. They were supported on their march from 29 Palms, Calif., by "B" Co., 1st Medical Bn., and "B" Co. of the 1st Motor Transport Bn. The Leathernecks began their 150-mile march at the Marine Corps Base at 29 Palms after completing 12 days of desert field training.

Man Has Failed To Conquer Self

There is a certain romance of adventure involved in the prospect of man's effort to conquer space. The sound barrier has been broken. Great progress has been made in the breaking of the thermal barrier and man is now stretching out to break the earth barrier. He is in the process of reaching for the moon.

Scientific advance in nuclear physics, jet propulsion, satellites and the like, are a tribute to man's ingenuity. It would appear that he is limited only by his own ambition, initiative, energy and willingness to work.

Yet in his eagerness to conquer the world around him and even the heavens above, man has failed to completely conquer himself. And as a result, where there should be temperance, there is overindulgence; where there should be humility, there is pride; where there should be truth, there is falsehood; where there should be tolerance, there is intolerance; where there should be kindness, there is cruelty; and where there should be love, there is hatred.

Coca-Cola advertises its wares by the phrase, "The Pause That Refreshes." Before reaching for the moon, it would be well for man to take a "Spiritual Pause," that the depth of his soul might be refreshed, that heavenly breezes might sweep across the deserted recesses of his mind and conduct and sweep away the dust and cobwebs of spiritual neglect and inactivity. For the answer to the world's most desperate and pressing needs, lies not in the exploration and conquest of space, but in the exploration and conquest of the frontiers of the soul and the spirit.

The ancient observance of the Psalmist is just as applicable in our own day, as it was in his, "Be still and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth."

—N. PHILIP JOHNSON,
Division Chaplain.

If You Ask Me:

MSGT. JOSEPH G. IACOBONI, MCSC, Albany, Ga.—Offhand I can't think of anything to improve the competition - in - arms program in general. I do think, however, that a great deal of internal publicity should be given to it. In addition, I believe that it should be a year-around thing. Not just a one-shot deal publicity-wise. Organization commanders should be cognizant of the program and the many fine trophies their units (regardless of strength) can win. Placing one of the trophies in a place of honor at your post or station should be incentive enough.

ACT. MSGT. RAYMOND W. DINNAN, MCAS, Cherry Point—I've been shooting in competition for about five years now. Basically, I think the program is good. More publicity, however, would go a long way toward enhancing the program as a whole. More new shooters should be encouraged to participate in the program, thus giving us a back-log of competitive shooters. Unit commanders should place a great deal of emphasis on the competition-in-arms program and encourage high re-qualifiers to try out for organizational teams.

ACT. MSGT. ROBERT J. WEHNER, Marine Bks., 8th & "I," Washington, D. C.—

I think this is the most beneficial program in the Corps as far as making and expanding young shooters. I have fired in competition off and on since '43 and the program certainly has improved since that time. One thing that is nice to see is how well the ranges are organized to handle competitors. One of the largest specific improvements is the organization of the Marksmanship Training Unit. You receive more good dope in that 30 hours of training than in the following weeks of firing.

MSGT. JOHN A. FOWLER, MCS, Quantico, Va.—The only place to lay the blame for the competition-in-arms program not succeeding is with the individual shooter. Many qualified marksmen also hold down critical jobs in critical MOS's. They are familiar with the shooting programs and should notify their superiors in plenty of time to snap in a replacement. By doing this they would eliminate any command resistance to the program which some of them have run into in the past. Too, the dope on the program should be filtered down through the chain of command so that the novice shooter will be familiar with it and know what he must do to try out for a team.

Lejeune's Navy Relief Leads In Volunteer Military Support

The volunteer women of the Navy Relief Society of Camp Lejeune provide a supreme example of unstinting selfless service.

The Navy Relief Volunteer Program at Camp Lejeune, thanks to the interest and sense of social responsibility of our volunteer women, continues to be a growing success. We are most fortunate in having a highly intelligent, well motivated group with their natural endowments augmented by familiarity with military life and its problems, and a deep personal concern for the well-being of our personnel and families.

These volunteer wives carry by far the greater part of the Society's overall operations. It is our belief that there is no more dedicated, devoted or capable group in any comparable activity — civil or military. They interview, do clerical work, act as receptionists, make layettes and innumerable other necessary things. In fact, there is no limit, either to their capability or their ingenuity. They make a real contribution, both to the Marine Corps and to their fellow servicemen and women who find themselves in need of help.

Hundreds of Camp Lejeune women volunteer many hours each year to working with the Navy Relief Society.

About 150 Camp Lejeune women are members of the Layette Committee for the Volunteer Navy Relief Society. Cut garments — sacques, gowns and receiving blankets are issued to volunteer workers.

A complete layette consists of 8 purchased articles and 4 articles made by the workers. The purchased items include 3 dozen diapers, 2 lap pads, 1 card safety pins, 1 plastic sheet, 2 rubber dry folds, 3 shirts, 2 crib sheets and 1 wool blanket.

INTERVIEWERS—Mrs. J. R. Little, seated, and Mrs. W. M. Waskom interview a Marine lance corporal as part of their aid to him through Navy Relief. Volunteers working with the interviewers committee first undergo Navy Relief training courses to familiarize themselves with their field.

RECEPTIONISTS—Mrs. K. E. Martin, left, and Mrs. N. C. Harvey take down preliminary written data in the case history of a Marine sergeant. The Navy Relief reception desk is located in Bldg. 41, adjacent to the Camp Catholic Chapel on the Main Service Road.

HOME WORK—Volunteer workers on the Layette Committee sew, knit and crochet to provide many hand-made garments for infant layettes. Mrs. J. B. Bruce, Mrs. C. A. Chapman, Mrs. L. J. Weiderwax and Mrs. J. R. Nece work to complete gowns, sweaters and receiving blankets.

LAYETTE COMMITTEE—Members of the Layette Committee make up and distribute about 12 complete and 12 partial infant layettes each month. Shown at work in the cutting room preparing garments to be shown are, from left, Mrs. L. F. Chapman Jr., Mrs. M. G. Stutz, Mrs. L. E. Bach (displaying a completed layette), Mrs. W. M. Derby Jr. and Mrs. J. J. Martorano.

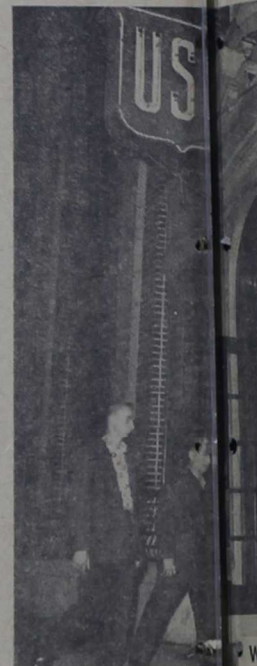

CLERICAL WORKERS—As with every organization, smooth running of Navy Relief concerns involves a large amount of "paper work." Keeping up the records are, from left, Mrs. J. B. Whitehead, Mrs. J. F. Paul and Mrs. E. W. Killian, chairman of the group.

The workers make 3 long gowns, 2 sacques, 3 receiving blankets and 1 hand-knit sweater.

All military personnel are eligible to apply for a complete layette or layette items. The application must be made at the Navy Relief office and the articles are given on a need basis the same as any other form of Society assistance.

The hours devoted to making these layettes count toward the pins awarded to the Volunteer Workers by Navy Relief Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Marines Defeat Wake Forest In Third Round - Robin Win

Hal Glasgow Head Mentor Of Local Nine

Due to a change in orders, Capt. Hal Glasgow has retaken the reins of the Camp Lejeune baseball team. This will be the third year that the captain has piloted the Lejeune nine. During last year's play, Glasgow's team compiled a remarkable record of 96 wins against only 20 losses, including the All-Marine Title, East Coast Area Championship, Atlantic Fleet Championship, and the North Carolina State Semi-Pro crown.

Capt. Dave Beard, former head mentor who coached the team to 15 wins and five losses, has been transferred to First Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base.

During the first game after Captain Glasgow's return last Wednesday, the locals downed the Devil-dogs of Parris Island, who were riding the crest of a 15-1 record for the current season. The locals scored five runs off of three visiting pitchers while giving up only two. Bill Haywood was the winning pitcher, his fourth win of the season. Howie Heiden smashed his third homer of the season while Charlie Armstrong drove in two RBI's to pace the Marines.

Lead East Coast Title Race, First Away Game Tomorrow

After boosting their season record to 18 wins and seven losses, the locals will take the road for the first away game of the season, against Ft. McPherson tomorrow. The out-of-town contest is the first of a two-game series after which the locals will return home to face Ft. Lee on April 26 and 27. After sweeping a three-game series from the Devildogs of Parris Island, 5-2, 6-5 and 6-3, last week at Agganis Field, the locals took a decisive three-game lead in the East Coast Area

Marine Corps Championship race.

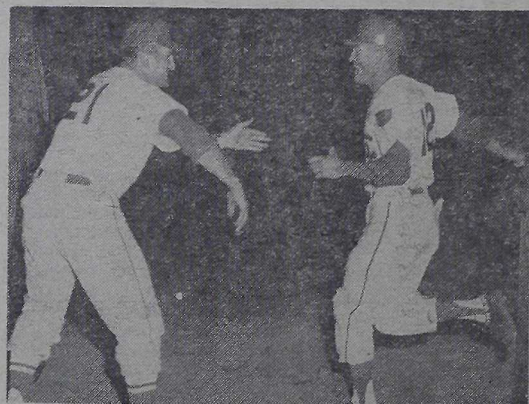

After easily winning the first game, the Marines came from behind during the next two contests, with catcher Hank Nichols and Sam Valentine, Lejeune left fielder, supplying the pay-off hits, both coming in the final inning. Valentine smashed a three-run homer to push the locals into a 6-3 victory in the final game while Nichols delivered a timely single to left center, driving in the winning run in the second game.

Two Games . . . Two Wins

picked up two wins in as many nights with some magnificent pitching to boost his season record to two wins against one loss, while Bill Haywood won his fourth victory, striking out 14 batters in the first game of the series.

Parris Island jumped off to a one-run lead during the first game, only to have the locals tie the game with back-to-back doubles by third baseman Bobby Cooke and shortstop Charlie Armstrong.

The locals stretched their lead to 5-1, aided by sacrifice flies by Valentine and Armstrong and a one-run homer by first sacker Howie Heiden, his third of the season.

AFTER—Shortstop Charlie Armstrong is congratulated by left fielder Sam Valentine after crossing the plate to tie the final game of the Parris Island Series at 3-all on his seventh inning three-run homer. All-Marine Title Matches Here Tonight; Inter-Service Championships To Follow

With the finals of the All-Marine Boxing Championships on tap for tonight at 7 p.m., fight fans of the Camp Lejeune area are looking forward to the Interservice Matches to be held here beginning at 7 p.m., April 27. Ten finalists of the All-Marine Bouts will vie in the Interservice event which will include 40 fighters, 10 each from the Army, Navy, Air Force and the Marine Corps. Twenty-two competitors were eliminated during the first night's action

Willie Davis, light welterweight hopeful from Camp Lejeune and considered by both officials and fans to be the best fighter of the evening, scored a double victory over both Ed Arsaga of Marine Corps Base, 29 Palms, Calif., and Fred Fogg, entry from Camp Lejeune.

Light middleweight Dick Gregory of Camp Pendleton, Calif., scored a split decision over teammate Lorenzo Oakley but was unable to remain in contention due to an eye injury sustained in the bout.

Under AAU rules the loser of the previous match, Oakley, had another chance to remain in the title race and made good use of the break as he scored a TKO over Tom Grant of 29 Palms, Calif., in 2:09 of the second round during the final match of the night.

San Diego's "L" "C" Shields, heavyweight contender, scored the only knockout of the evening after 2:58 of the second round over Lejeune entry Bob Meredith. After hitting the canvas in the first round, Shields returned in the second, slamming a crushing right to

Sports In Short

Act. SSgt. Bob Wills

DIAMOND DEALINGS—Coach Hal Glasgow, who took over the reins of the Camp Lejeune baseball team, has piloted the locals to seven straight wins up until April 18, and made the first team releases since taking over.

Behind the methodical strategy of coach Glasgow, excellent relief pitching and timely hitting, the Marines took a three-game lead over the Devildogs of Parris Island, for the East Coast Area All-Marine crown, defeating the Islanders 5-2, 6-5 and 6-3 last week at Agganis Field.

During the collegiate exhibition round robin held last week, the locals won three straight with wins over West Virginia Tech, Marshall College and the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest.

One BIG question remains for the local team: What about Hal Norton? Can he retain his old slugging form that gained him Corps recognition last year? Norton has been out of action since early in the season when he sustained a shoulder injury and is due back in the line-up this week. During last year's play Norton batted .356 while hitting 14 home runs and driving in 107 runs.

Dave Petros, who came to Lejeune only a few weeks ago, got off to a slow start, but during the past week batted at a .429 clip with nine hits in 22 trips to the plate through the collegiate round robin.

Centerfielder Cliff Simpson may not have moved into contention for the team home run record of fourteen, but he did break into the list of circuit hitter with his first of the season, an inside-the-park smash to deep center field.

TRADING BLOCK—When Frank (Trader) Lane sent 19-game winner Cal McLish and infielder Billy Martin to the Cincinnati Reds via inter-league trade for hustling second baseman Johnny Temple, there were many Ohioans who had their doubts, but his latest swap is the talk of the baseball world.

Rocky Colavito, the idol of the Cleveland female set, and hurler Herb Score have gone. Colavito, who hit 42 homers in the 1959 season to tie Harmon Killebrew for the American League home run crown, was traded to Detroit for hard-hitting Harvey Kuenn, who won the American League batting title after a .359 season, while Herb Score was sent to Chicago White Sox for starter Barry Latman. There was a time back in 1956, before Score received a serious eye injury off the bat of Yankee Gil McDougal, that the Sox offered one million for the big southpaw. As for Rocky, as one Indian fan put it (female fan, I'm sure), "He (Lane) should be tied to a coal car and run out of town."

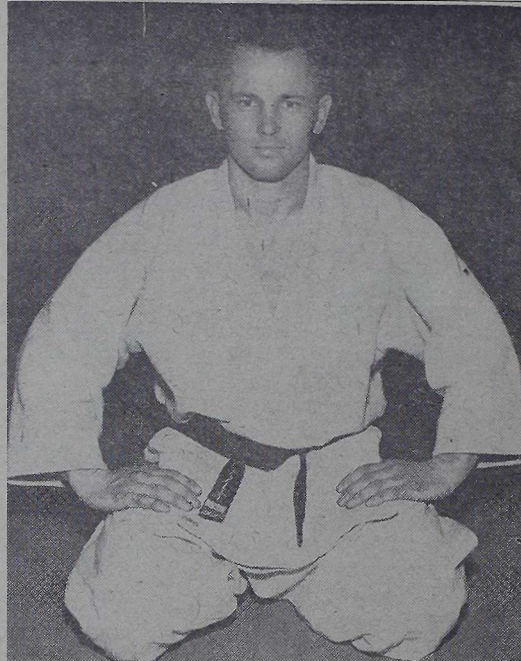

WILLIAMS vs MUSIAL—With two of the greatest baseball players ever to take the field coming under the heading of "washed-up" or "over the hill" by many diamond fans and sports writers, there could be a retraction of statements. Although the Cardinals are winless at the time of this article, Stan (The Man) Musial has not ceased to pound the ball. During last Sunday's loss, he went two for four at the plate and has hit one round-tripper, while in the American League opener, Boston lost to the Senators 10-1, the "Splendid Splinter," Ted Williams, drilled a solo homer, his 493rd in American League play, over the 31-foot wall in center field 420 feet from the plate. Now just which one is through?

FOR THE HOT RODS—Don Garlitz, World Drag Racing Champion for the quarter-mile track, will perform at the strip in Holly Ridge, N. C., this Sunday, April 24. Garlitz will bring his Garlitz-Malone Dragster in which he attained a top speed of 187.10 miles per hour at Fremont, Calif. Prior to this speed, top time had been 185.56.

Garlitz's dragster has made 15 runs of over 180 mph each. He feels that within the month, the quarter-mile record (1350 feet in drag circles) will be 190 mph or better, and, brother, that's traveling!

JUDO CHAMP—Winner and still champion of All-Marine judo players is Marine Act. Sgt. Ernie Cates, who won the All-Marine judo title for the second consecutive year during the Third Annual All-Marine Judo Championships at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., April 8-9. Col. August L. Vogt, Parris Island Chief of Staff, presents a replica of the Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Memorial Award to 1960's Mr. Judo.

LOCAL WINNER—Sgt. Joseph W. Blaile Sr., of 8th Comm Bn., Force Troops, slammed his way to the 160-pound title and into the finals of the Third Annual All-Marine Judo Championships at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., April 8-9. Blaile defeated Pfc Abe Macalutas, 140-pound champion in the semi-finals, but was stopped in the final event by Act. Sgt. Ernie Cates as he took the All-Marine title for the second consecutive year.

Valentine Hits Sixth Blast

in the sixth inning. Losing pitcher, Andy Summers, gave up 16 hits including a fifth inning home run by Armstrong, his fifth of the year.

McCullum held the Big Green scoreless giving up two hits while striking out four in relief after the visitors scored a run in the third inning and added two in the sixth off Mason with second basemen Fred Conley delivering the two run single.

Third basemen Bobby Cooke smashed two hits in four trips to the plate and drove in a run as the Marines edged the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest for their third and final win of the round robin.

Bright Wins Relief
Ron Biemel went five and one third innings before coach Hal Glasgow called on Alex Bright, who was credited with the win to relieve in the sixth.

Deacon first basemen Aubrey Curie picked up the first hit of the game for Wake Forest, a solo homer in the second, his second of the series.

Trailing 3-2 in the seventh the locals scored four runs on a walk, three singles and a sacrifice fly by rightfielder Dave Petros.

Lady Golfers Hold Tourney

The lady golfers of Camp Lejeune held a "Best Poker Hand Tournament" at the Camp Golf Course, April 12, with Genie June copping "A" Flight honors with a full house.

Alice McCullough also scored a full house to win the "B" Flight, with Vivian Collins scoring a straight for second place. Ann Sherbondy's four 5's were good for top honors in "C" Flight, while Ann Olsowski, picked up three 5's for the runner-up spot. First in the "D" Flight was Jess Robb with three 7's, followed by Maxine Switzer with three 6's.

Midge Orr scored low putts with 18, while low net was Joyce Bandyk with 66.

Qualifying rounds of 36 holes for the Club Championship Match has been extended to April 22. The match is scheduled to be held the following week, subject to the weather.

Bear Head took three points from Deep Branch in the New River Newcomers Woman's Bowling League, while front-running Frenchman's Creek took three from Overs Creek.

Individual highs went to: Bear Head—Margaret Suttis, 173-469; Deep Branch—Mary Beckley, 161-394; Frenchman's Creek—Betty Noer, 191-483; Overs Creek—Goldie King, 150-372.

—: Golf Slices:—

It has been noted recently that several basic rules of golf have been overlooked by players. A few DON'TS:

Don't fail to register before play begins.

Don't use foul or obscene language. This will not be tolerated and is considered just cause for suspension of further play at Paradise Point.

Don't fail to replace divots and smoothout sandtraps after the play has been made.

Don't delay on playing greens or be discourteous in your methods of play by using uncalled-for tactics on or around the green.

Don't delay playing through by reason of a lost ball. Be courteous and prompt. This is the first rule of golf.

Over Twenty Eliminated In Quarter Finals

Meredith's mid-section, slow him down, before delivering knockout punch.

Light welterweight Paul Fujita, San Diego, considered by many to be well in the running for 139-pound title, floored teammate Lynell Allen twice in the first round after a series of bruising lefts and rights before scoring TKO after 1:14 of the second round.

Florentino Wins
Lejeune's featherweight, Rocky Florentino, scored heavily to the head and body in the first and third rounds to score a unanimous decision over teammate Bill Hynson while Tommy Zangla, also of Lejeune stables, scored a split decision over Quantic's lightweight Hal Jackson.

Maurice Filrot, welterweight from San Diego, took advantage of his longer reach to score a unanimous decision over Lejeune's Chris Brown. Hurt in the second round, Brown was met by a barrage of crashing lefts and rights, but managed to hang on until the bell.

Henry Hooper, Camp Lejeune middleweight entrant started the first round on defense, stepped up the pace in the second and forced the fight to Claude Bice of Quantico, scoring heavily in the final round to score a unanimous decision over his opponent.

Fleet Marine Force Pacific's A. Stensrud carried the fight to Lejeune's light-middleweight Luciano Green in the final round but it just wasn't enough to counter Green's earlier two-round attack enabling him to win the match with a split decision.

Jim Williams, Lejeune's light heavyweight, scored a unanimous decision over Quantic's Henry Sanders after a jarring right to the head which kept Sanders in a rubbery state throughout the final round.

Sanders Jarred
Ben Gilmore of Camp Lejeune put on a third-round attack to pick up a unanimous decision over Stan Niegorski of FMFPac while Tom Winstead, also of FMFPac, lost on a unanimous decision to San Diego's George Matlock.

Gabriel Torronz of FMFPac scored a TKO over teammate Al Armentor in the welterweight class when Armentor failed to answer the next bell starting the third and final round.

Middleweight Bob Stewart of 29 Palms knocked FMFPac's Ray Phillips down twice in the first round, then fought off a vicious attack scoring a unanimous decision and moved into the semi-finals.

After scoring heavily in the first round, San Diego's Roosevelt Sanders staggered FMFPac's Joe Clark with a crushing left hook in the second and carried the fight all the way in the final round to score a unanimous decision.

Quantic's Tom Settles counted a last round effort by Kirby Lirette, light middleweight entry from Marine Barracks, Alameda, Calif., to score a unanimous decision while teammate Don Granchay scored a unanimous decision over welterweight Jim Collins of Camp Pendleton.

Unpopular Decision
Light-welterweight George Chapman of FMFPac scored an unpopular unanimous decision over San Diego's Bill DiPirro while stablemate Tom Long lost a unanimous decision to San Diego's bantamweight entry, Eddy Obrien. Finishing strong in the final minutes of the second and third rounds, Obrien displayed speed and agility while counter-punching with deadly accuracy.

Although receiving a cut under the left eye during the first round, Bill Shanahan, light-welterweight of Camp Pendleton, fought back in the second and third rounds to score a split decision over 29 Palms' Jimmy Crossland.

Hypnotism Featured In Safety Program

The third in a series of monthly safety lectures conducted by Service Battalion, 2nd Marine Division, was held here last Wednesday and Thursday with hypnotism feats performed by Mr. W. E. Carper, Base Traffic Safety specialist, highlighting the two-day session.

The ambitious safety program undertaken by the battalion calls for a unique program each month. The first in the present series began in February when thespians in the battalion presented "an out-of-this-world" skit on traffic fatalities. In March another skit portraying the funeral of an accident victim was staged.

With the Easter holidays approaching, Act. SSgt. B. H. Soncrant, charged with the responsibility of presenting the safety lectures, wanted to impress upon battalion personnel the importance of heeding all traffic safety regulations especially those that applied to turnpike driving.

Sergeant Soncrant always believed that a driver hypnotized himself during sustained driving periods. When he called the Base Traffic Safety Office, he was mildly surprised when Mr. Carper informed him that there was no such thing as "highway hypnosis." Mr. Carper told Sergeant Soncrant that he would give a demonstration of true hypnosis at the Wednesday and Thursday lectures and would explode the "highway hypnosis" myth and prove that plain fatigue and lack of preparation was the cause of so many turnpike accidents.

At both sessions this week, Mr.

Carper put three subjects into deep sleep and his wish was their command. Service Battalion personnel came away from this month's safety lecture fully cognizant of the dangers in not preparing properly for long treks on turnpikes and super highways.

Automation Cuts Costs, Saves Time

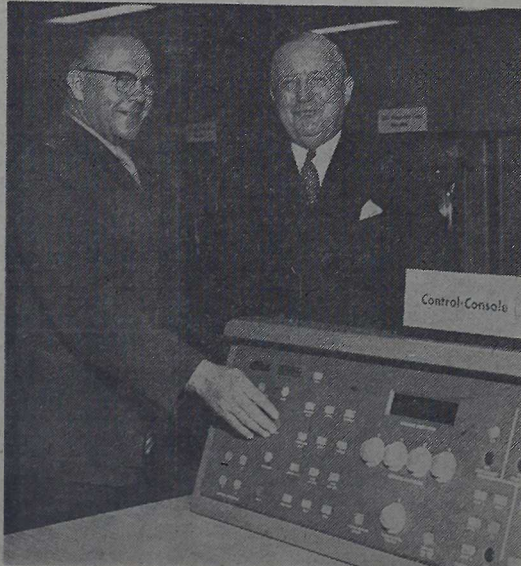

A button was pushed in Washington last Thursday activating a new electronic personnel data processing system which links Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton (Calif.) with Marine Corps Headquarters. Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, pushed the button after the coast-to-coast computer network was turned over officially to him by Mr. Stanley C. Allyn, National Cash Register board chairman, in ceremonies at the Navy Annex Thursday morning.

In less than 24 hours, the new data processing equipment can determine electronically the manpower levels of hundreds of Marine Corps commands throughout the world, specifying the exact number and type military skills of Marines needed to bring each unit up to combat strength.

The system will maintain "electronic service records" on about 475,000 Marines, regular and Reserve, recording 151 separate items of information about each man on less than two inches of magnetic tape. A total of 23,000,000 facts will be stored on only 20 reels of tape. A similar mass of data recorded on the punched cards now in use would require a stack of cards higher than the Empire State Building.

The new data processing system consists of three high-speed "NCR 304" computers. One is located at Marine Headquarters in the Navy Annex. The other two have been installed at Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton, Calif. The three computers are linked by leased wire.

Any one of the three machines will be able to take over the entire Marine Corps record-keeping job in event the other two are unable to function due to enemy action or other factors.

AUTOMATION—Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, pushes the button activating the new electronic personnel data processing system linking Headquarters Marine Corps with Camp Lejeune and Camp Pendleton. At right is Mr. Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of the board, National Cash Register Company, the firm that developed the computer system.

HYPNOTIST AT WORK—Mr. W. E. Carper, right, Base Traffic Safety specialist, works his hypnotic magic on Pfc James A. Leone, center, as two other subjects, Pvt. Harold A. Thompson, left, and Pfc Martin G. Gerrish watch intently. Mr. Carper was proving to the Service Battalion, 2nd Marine Division, personnel that accidents on the highways are due to fatigue and improper planning rather than to so-called "highway hypnosis."

Armed Forces Enlisted Assn. Extends Insurance

Members of the Armed Forces Enlisted Personnel Benefit Association may now continue their membership and group insurance coverage into retirement and until age 65, it was announced last week by officials of the enlisted group.

The Enlisted Association is a non-profit organization established in 1956 by senior enlisted personnel. It advances and safeguards the economic interests of United States Armed Forces Enlisted Personnel stationed throughout the world.

Under the new provisions, when a member retires from active duty (provided no disability rating is indicated in the retirement orders)

he may enter an "Associate Member" status. In this he retains the same basic insurance contribution he paid while on active duty, $9 per month.

Applications are now being accepted from all enlisted personnel on active duty stationed anywhere in the world. Interested personnel may obtain descriptive booklets and applications by writing to the Association at the Warner Building, Washington 4, D.C.

Members who join the Association on or after March 1, 1960, must be a member for at least two years before becoming eligible to continue membership into retirement.

Marine Corps Institute Revises Policy Regarding Disenrollment From Courses

Applications from Marines for enrollment in MCI courses have increased greatly during recent months. To provide improved service to students who actively participate by regular submission of lessons, the Marine Corps Institute will modify the present policy on the length of inactivity time permitted students prior to disenrollment.

Effective June 1, 1960, and each month thereafter, MCI students who have failed to submit a lesson during the previous two months will be advised that they must notify MCI within 30 days of their intention to continue the course. During this period an inactive student may (1) request disenrollment, returning his texts with the request; (2) request additional time for cause; (3) submit a lesson immediately, which will restore him to active status. Students who fail to take any of these actions within the 30-day period authorized, will be disenrolled for inactivity.

Until June 1, 1960, the present student policy of three months inactivity prior to notification by MCI, and the additional two months to respond before being disenrolled for inactivity, will remain in effect.

Mrs. Faw, Murray Get 600-Hour Pins

Mrs. D. L. Faw and Mrs. G. S. Murray were awarded 600-Hour Navy Relief Pins Tuesday morning. The presentations were made by Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, Base commanding general.

Navy Relief awards for volunteer workers are given according to the number of hours donated to Relief Society activities.

Women volunteering their aid to this society find several occupations to choose from. Included among them are positions as interviewers, receptionists and clerical workers. About 150 Camp Lejeune wives are members of the layette committee, which prepares attractive infant garments for needy families.

No one is denied the use of these services for lack of money, although there is a small fee charged. Fees range from 50 cents to three dollars. Applications for service can be made at the Jacksonville Health Center.

Mrs. Busche is assisted by Lt. Cmdr. June Pikutis, who spends her off-duty hours helping out. Cmdr. Pikutis is a nurse at the U. S. Naval Hospital.

One child, a dependent of a Marine, who through consultation with Mrs. Busche, was sent to the Naval Hospital for a possible physical defect, was found to have water in his ears. Had this situation continued it could have seriously impaired this child's hearing permanently.

Another child, who when first brought to Mrs. Busche, could only say "Mama and Daddy", now has a vocabulary of approximately 250 words gained over a period of seven months.

The society is supported entirely from service fees, sale of Easter Seals or direct donations which may be made to the Easter Seal Society, Box 839, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Reserve Director Arrives For 2-Day Training Conference

Brig. Gen. William T. Fairbourn, Director of the Marine Corps Reserve, arrived at Camp Lejeune yesterday to attend a Reserve Pre-Training Conference being held today and tomorrow. The purpose of the conference is to lay plans for the training of the many reserve units who will come to Camp Lejeune this summer. Representatives of 55 of these units will be present to meet with the general.

During his visit, General Fairbourn will visit six-month reservists training with Camp Lejeune commands.

The general was met at New Bern yesterday by Col. S. W. Smith, Officer in Charge, Reserve and Liaison Unit, and Lt. Col. A. B. Reynolds Jr., assistant G-3, Marine Corps Base. Yesterday afternoon he called upon Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, and Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Division. He also observed training of six-month reservists attached to the Tenth Marines.

This morning he attended the first session of the pre-training conference and visited Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops. He will observe training of six-month reservists at 8th Comm. Bn. and 1st ITR.

The general will attend the second session of the conference tomorrow morning and observe six-month reservists in training at the Engineers Schools tomorrow afternoon.

General Fairbourn will leave

Wilmington early Saturday morning to fly to Charlotte, N. C., to visit the Reserve unit there. After leaving Charlotte he will visit Reserve units in Atlanta and Rome, Ga., and Chattanooga, Nashville and Knoxville, Tenn. He plans to return to Marine Corps Reserve Headquarters in Washington, D. C., April 30.

Marine Corps To Deactivate Pacific Depot

The Department of the Pacific, 100 Harrison Street, San Francisco, is scheduled for deactivation about June 30, 1960. Headquarters Marine Corps announced last week.

An administrative headquarters, the Department of the Pacific is commanded by Maj. Gen. Francis M. McAllister. On his staff are 94 other Marines and four civilian employees.

Most of the administrative functions now assigned to the Department will be assumed by Headquarters Marine Corps in Washington, D. C. Some lesser functions will be transferred to the Marine Barracks at the U. S. Naval Station, Treasure Island, San Francisco, and to headquarters of the 12th Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District, also in San Francisco.

The exact date of the deactivation has not yet been established, nor has a final decision been made as to what disposition will be made of the government-owned facilities now occupied by the Department at 100 Harrison Street.

The Marines Corps said it was closing the Department of the Pacific "in the best interest of economy and sound management." In years past, the Department has been a major headquarters with the principal mission of assigning Headquarters Marine Corps in the administration of areas geographically far removed from Washington.

Progressive change in the overall military command structure, together with modernization of administrative procedures, have gradually reduced the functions of the Department to the point where such a headquarters is no longer necessary, the Marine Corps said.

High individual rifle shooter was Act. Sgt. G. Jones, Hq. Bn. Second place was won by Act. MSgt. J. Grasser, MCSS, and in third place was Capt. R. Rourke, MCSS.

In the pistol competition, MCSS placed second, third was 2nd FSR, fourth MCES and fifth, 1st ITR. Hq. Bn. placed second in the rifle competition, 2nd FSR third, MCES fourth and 1st ITR fifth.

Trophies for individual high shooters and first, second and third place teams will be distributed after the completion of the second quarter matches which end June 22.

General Riseley Expresses Gratitude Of Pier Dedication

During formal dedication ceremonies of Riseley Pier last Friday at 10 a.m., the man for whom it was named was proud his name had been given to a facility that would make other people happy—especially Marines. Before dedicating General Riseley Pier, Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, said Riseley Pier was the only pier of this size on any Marine Corps Base.

General Riseley's daughter, Mary, unveiled a bronze plaque posted near the pier bearing the following inscription: "Riseley Pier, Named In Honor Of James P. Riseley, Lt. Gen., USMC, Retired, An Avid Sportsman, April 15, 1960."

After the unveiling, General Riseley and guests at the dedication ceremony went out onto the 850-foot pier where the general inspected the pier office, bait and snack bar.

Also present for the dedication were Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Div. Brig. Gen. Odell M. Conole, assistant Division commander; Gen. Leonard F. Chapman, Force Troops commanding general and Henry Van Oesen, area who designed the pier.

In addition to the exchange facilities, the pier features music to fish by, fish scaling cleaning racks, and a 250-car city parking lot. Admission to pier is 40 cents for a 24-hour ticket. The weekly rate is $1.50 and monthly tickets cost $4. Rental will be available for 25 cents includes rod, reel, line, hooks, sinkers. Ice and bait may also be purchased.

Pier construction costs have set at $120,000, and an additional $5,000 was spent on furnishing refrigeration and other utilities.

Ground-breaking ceremonies when General Riseley drove the first pile for the pier's construction were held May 21, 1959. General Riseley retired on June 1959, after serving as commanding general, Marine Corps Base.

General Riseley and his daughter returned to their home in well, N. M., this week after a weekend of relaxation and visits with old friends.

ing in size from 20 to 50 pounds. He will march distances ranging from eight to 12 miles over various types of terrain.

Each test subject will wade in salt or fresh water of varying depths until the test boots are completely saturated and continue to wear the boots until they feel dry. At the final foot examination during each testing period the subject will be interviewed to obtain a first hand subjective response concerning the type of boot worn.

Included in the 2nd Battalion's training schedule for the next six months is some of the toughest field training imaginable. Each participant's every move will be chronologically charted. When the test is completed at the Battalion and the next group of Marines begin their three-month test period of the two boots selected for the final examination, the Defense Department will have a thorough analysis of what a Marine desires in the way of combat boots.

ROK Marines Are Honored At Local Party

Six Marines were honored at a Marine Corps Birthday Party Friday at Marine Corps Engineer Schools. Out of season? Not quite—these Marines fight under the standard of the Republic of Korea, and their Marine Corps celebrated its 11th anniversary April 15.

The six ROK Marines, student at MCES, were Capt. Lee Jun Mo and Heo Min Hwan, Utilities Course; and MSgt. Lee Ban Mar, TSgt. Kim Dong Su, SSgt. Kim Young Tak and SSgt. Chang Han Sub, Equipment and Maintenance Course.

Col. W. C. Capehart, commanding officer, MCES, officiated at the luncheon ceremonies.

The Republic of Korea Marine Corps was established on April 15, 1949. During the Korean conflict the young Corps had its baptism of fire at such battle engagements as Inchon, Seoul, Won-San and Yeng-Chen. As attached members of the 1st U. S. Marine Division (Reinf.), units of the Korean Marine Corps were awarded the Presidential Citation of the United States of America. Winning the nicknames "Unyielding Marines in Battle" and "Invincible Marines," the ROK Marines are constantly alert as a Readiness Striking Force.

Division Troops Begin Test to Select New Combat Boot

Six hundred 2nd Division Marines began the initial phase of a nine-month testing period here Monday to select a new boot for use by all the services. The 3rd Battalion, Second Marines, has been selected as the Division unit to conduct the test. Four different types of boots will be tested by the 3rd Battalion and simultaneously, 10 Army troops at Ft. Bragg, N.C., will conduct the same test. The present project will last nine months with another three-month test to follow. The second testing period will utilize 300 Army and a like number of Marine personnel who did not participate in the previous test.

The four types of boots now being tested include the standard Marine Corps boot made on Marine Corps last (wooden form on which boots are made), the standard Army boot made on a modified unison last and the two boots tested last year made on the Fort Knox last.

The test was initiated with a thorough foot examination of the 10 Marines by Drs. James R. Dineen and H. K. Peacock Jr., of the Naval Hospital orthopedic service here at Lejeune. Dr. Dineen is chief of orthopedics.

After charting of each participant's feet, the Marines were given their own boots to wear for another two-week period when their feet will be recharted. Once the preliminary test is completed the detailed cycle commences.

After wearing the boot for a two-week period each Marine goes back to the orthopedic examination center where he undergoes another complete foot examination. He is then reissued his own boots for a week's wear and then is again examined.

During the first testing period, when all four types of boot will be tested, training schedules have been modified in order that a true evaluation can be made. Each Marine will wear combat loads varying in weight. (See NEW BOOT TESTS, Page 12)

Army Exercise Begins Today

Members of the 10th Logistic Command, U. S. Army, and supporting units today began a week-long exercise at Camp Lejeune.

The 1,600 men taking part in the operation are from Ft. Eustis, Va. They are part of Operation Tar Heel, an over-all Army exercise involving the 2nd Army, 3rd Army, 1st Corps, 10th Logistic Command and the 1st Armored Infantry Battalion.

Operation Tar Heel is taking place from the Appalachian mountains to Charleston, S. C.

Some men of the 10th Logistic Command made the trip from Ft. Eustis to Camp Lejeune by ship, landing at Onslow Beach. Others arrived in the 120 trucks being used in the exercise.

The unit will move 700 tons of supplies during the air, land and sea maneuver. The operation will end April 23.

Dental Department Begins Preventive Dentistry Program

The Base Dental Department has embarked on a formalized preventive dentistry program to educate personnel in proper dental care and to improve dental health. A series of posters and educational media will be distributed throughout the Base. Through the use of these posters and other visual training aids it is hoped to stimulate and motivate Base personnel in the importance of oral health.

Active participation is stressed, emphasizing their responsibility and essential for the attainment of good dental health, good general health and physical fitness.

Dental decay and periodontal diseases (diseases of the gums) are two diseases which universally affect mankind.

Dental needs among young adults are greater now than they were a quarter of a century ago. Only 25 to 30 per cent of the adult population see a dentist in a somewhat regular fashion, and it has been estimated that only 30 per cent of the required dental treatment is accomplished by the entire dental profession.

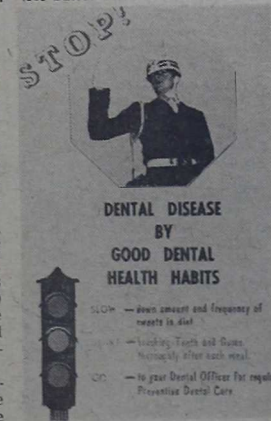

Many recruits entering the service report with an accumulation of 18 or more years of dental defects. A survey revealed that recruits averaged 7.2 carious (decayed) teeth, over 80 per cent had some degree of a periodontal disease and 10 per cent require artificial dentures.

Attempting to correct these defects plus the annual maintenance care for active duty personnel, the treatment required to correct dental defects occurring in one year presents a problem of staggering proportions for the Naval Dental Service.

The complete dental treatment needs for Navy and Marine Corps personnel far exceeds treatment capacities.

112 Are Chosen For Master Sergeant And First Sergeant

The names of 112 Camp Lejeune Marines selected for promotion to first sergeant and master sergeant were announced last week by Headquarters Marine Corps. They were part of 804 Marines selected throughout the Marine Corps. Thirty-three of the new E-8's were named for promotion to first sergeant and 79 to master sergeant. Their appointments will be effective April 11 for pay and seniority.

Certificates of appointment to their new ranks, subject to validation by commanding officers, will be issued by the Commandant of the Marine Corps to all 112 NCOs selected. Lineal precedence among those selected will be established by the Commandant at a later date.

The Marines named for promotion were selected by a board headed by Brig. Gen. Harold D. Hansen. The board met at Headquarters Feb. 1 to consider NCOs for promotion to sergeant major and master gunnery sergeant as well as first sergeant and master sergeant. The sergeant major and master gunnery sergeant selections were announced March 3.

In addition, the board named two first sergeants for re-designation to master sergeant (E-8).

Eligible for promotion to first sergeant and master sergeant were acting master sergeants (E-7) with at least eight years total enlisted service and a minimum of two years in grade as of Feb. 29, 1960. About 4,700 acting master sergeants were considered throughout the Marine Corps.

Selected for promotion to master sergeant from Marine Corps Base were: W. S. Becker, C. J. Ericson, G. W. Fiegle, W. I. Paul, N. A. Busch, J. F. McCoy, I. W. Smith, P. E. Burkhardt, I. D. Bechman, C. MCI Revises Policies For Ending Study

Applications from Marines for enrollment in MCI courses have increased greatly during recent months. To provide improved service to students who actively participate by regular submission of lessons, the Marine Corps Institute will modify the present policy on the length of inactivity time permitted students prior to disenrollment.

Effective June 1, 1960, and each month thereafter, MCI students who have failed to submit a lesson during the previous two months will be advised that they must notify MCI within 30 days of their intention to continue the course. During this period an inactive student may (1) request disenrollment, returning his texts with the request; (2) request additional time for cause; (3) submit a lesson immediately, which will restore him to active status. Students who fail to take any of these actions within the 30-day period authorized, will be disenrolled for inactivity.

Until June 1, 1960, the present student policy of three months inactivity prior to notification by MCI, and the additional two months to respond before being disenrolled for inactivity, will remain in effect.

Seabees End Six Weeks Of Combat Training Tomorrow

Mobile Construction Battalion One will leave Camp Lejeune tomorrow after completing six weeks of intensive training. The approximately 450 members of MCB-1 will return to their home base at Davisville, R. I.

During their stay here, MCB-1 underwent four major phases of training. The unit first went to the rifle range for rifle, pistol and BAR marksmanship training, followed by advanced combat training at Camp Geiger.

In the third phase, they were broken into smaller groups and sent to NCO Leadership School, Engineers Schools, Supply Schools and 8th Comm Bn. Some remained at Camp Geiger for more advanced combat training.

The finale was a five-day field exercise. The 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines worked with the Seabees in the week-long problem.

In September and October of this year, Mobile Construction Battalion, Seven will be here for six weeks of training. Two Seabee battalions come to Camp Lejeune each year for training, one in the spring and one in the fall.

Commander William C. G. Church, commander of Naval Construction Battalions, Atlantic Fleet, visited the Seabees in training last week.

The commodore visited with the commanding general, Marine Corps Base, and then observed the Seabees training with the 8th Comm. Bn., Supply Schools and Engineer Schools. He also witnessed a night firing demonstration at Camp Geiger.

Record - Breaking Red Cross Drive Ends

A record-breaking Red Cross drive, with final contributions amounting to $25,412.06, was concluded at Camp Lejeune this week. This figure represents the largest amount of money ever raised for the Red Cross here.

Marine Corps Base led all commands with 93.6 per cent participation and donations amounting to $9,596.94. The 2nd Division had 73 per cent participation with $11, 069.02 in contributions, and Force Troops donated $1,876.41 for 51 per cent.

Second Reconnaissance Battalion joined the 100 per cent contribution ranks along with NEML Marines, Engineer Schools, Rifle Range and Supply Schools. With 108 per cent, 1st Infantry Training Regiment led all individual units in the amount of participation.

Percentages are based on the number of persons contributing as related to the number on unit rolls. No monetary quota was set for the drive.

The final number of memberships was 18,895. Membership was given to those contributing $1 or more in the campaign. The 2nd Division had 9,211 members, MCB had 6,858, and Force Troops 905. Civilian membership totaled 1,283 and MCAF reported 638 members.

Lt. Col. J. A. Witherspoon, drive chairman, expressed appreciation to all who contributed.

Speech Correction Facilities Available

Does your child have a speech deficiency? If so, there's a service available to you at the Jacksonville Health Center. Mrs. Dale Busche, wife of Lt. Robert E. Busche, USN, of the Base Public Works Department, is a speech therapist. Mrs. Busche works at the Jacksonville Health Center, where her services in speech correction are available to young and old alike.

At present, Mrs. Busche sees about 90 children weekly from six

Brownies Plan For Dinner With Fathers

Brownies of Troop 292, Midway Park, are looking forward to a "Sweetheart Supper" to be held tonight at the Midway Park Community Center. Set to get under way at 6 p.m., the girls will host their fathers to a rather unusual, but economical, meal.

The Brownies will prepare box suppers from home—one for Brownie, one for Dad—and take them to the center. Refreshments will be furnished by the troops including "Brownie" cookies and ice cream. Boxes for the supper were decorated by the girls during last night's meeting. They were allowed to choose any type decoration they wished.

Brownie Troop 292 lists 23 girls on its present enrollment. All of the girls are urged to bring their fathers to the supper.

Mrs. Frank Bruner is leader of the troop. Co-leader is Mrs. James H. Henderson.

New Bus Schedule

Effective Friday, April 22, a new bus schedule will be in effect for Camp Lejeune buses. This is not a revision, but an entirely new schedule. It replaces the one printed in the Dec. 3, 1959, edition of the GLOBE, and appears on page three of this week's paper.

Special movie runs have been discontinued under the new schedule.

Personnel needing additional information are requested to call the Bus Schedule Manager during normal working hours at 7-3632.

schools in the Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune area. Classes in speech correction average six children to a class. Aside from a few pre-school age children they come from first grade to eighth grade.

Students from six schools are sent to the Health Center, and beginning in September, another will be added to the list. Mrs. Busche holds speech therapy classes daily, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The majority of her students in speech therapy are dependent children of Marines of Camp Lejeune. Besides children sent from school for treatment, Mrs. Busche has two pre-school-age children for speech correction, four children in a cerebral-palsy class and one boy, who is deaf. She also teaches two adult persons, one hard of hearing and one for speech deficiency. At present there are approximately 200 on a waiting list.

Mrs. Busche holds a Master of Science degree in Audiology and Speech Pathology and is employed by the Onslow County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. (See SPEECH CORRECTION, Page 12)

Warning Issued On Travel Allowances

Wives of Marines leaving Camp Lejeune on permanent change of station orders are asked to remind their husbands to be honest in reporting their means of transportation.

Headquarters Marine Corps released a bulletin recently stating that many Marines are incorrectly reporting their method of travel. The major violation is the Marine getting paid for traveling by privately owned conveyance when he has actually traveled by bus, train or plane.

The increase in Pay Adjustment Authorizations needed to adjust the erroneous reporting of means of travel has caused Headquarters Marine Corps to issue the bulletin.

Lejeune Boys League Opening Scheduled Saturday, April 23

Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, will be on hand to toss out the first ball of the 1960 Boys League baseball season Saturday, April 23.

Six games are on tap for opening day with all games being held on the Boys League Field at the entrance to Tarawa Terrace II. Refreshments will be available during the games with all proceeds going to the Boys League Fund. Sixteen teams have been formed into three leagues, four in the Pony League, and six teams in both the Major and the Minor Leagues. All Saturday games are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., while weekday contests are to begin at 5:15 p.m.

During Saturday's games, the Pony League will pit the Indians, coached by Gordy Moore, against the Orioles, headed by Jim Reed, and the Athletics, coached by Bob Oliver, against the Tigers, piloted by Clyde Trowbridge.

The Cubs, coached by Rene Torres, in the Major League will face the Braves, headed by Bill Hogan, and the Pirates, under P. Higquist, meet the Cardinals, headed by Jim Blevins.

In the Minor League the Yankees will oppose the Senators, while the Red Sox play the Reds.

"The purpose of this league," said Gunner Mihalak, president of the league board of governors, "is to foster good sportsmanship among these boys and to prepare them for better service to their fellowman through the ideals of teamwork and cooperation learned here."

Officers of the Board of Governors for the Boys League are president, WO S. J. Mihalak; vice-president, MSgt. R. L. Gilley, and secretary-treasurer, Act. MSgt. H. Wooldridge. Members are Col. W. J. McKenna, Col. M. D. Williams, Col. A. E. Martin, Lt. Col. M. H. Silverthorn Jr., HMC J. B. Whitehead, Act. MSgt. B. D. Cardinal and HMI S. Lindsey.

Cub Scout Pack 190 Plans Balloon Party

A balloon party will be held in conjunction with the monthly pack meeting of Cub Scout Pack 190 at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center April 28.

According to Cubmaster "Holly" Boltsbridge, a variety of prizes will be awarded to the Cub Scouts catching the balloons. Kinston USO

RELAXING and chatting in the Kinston USO lounge before the dance are a group of Marines from Camp Lejeune and three USO Junior Hostesses. Marines can while away many a pleasant hour here just sitting, talking or reading. Approximately 20 Junior Hostesses are in attendance at the Saturday evening dances from 7 until 11 p.m.

USO Provides Services And Facilities For Military Personnel And Families

The United Service Organization is a federation of voluntary agencies through which the American people assist in serving the religious, spiritual, social, welfare, recreational and educational needs of the men and women in the armed forces. The member agencies of the USO are The Young Men's Christian Association, The National Catholic Community Service, The National Jewish Welfare Board, The Young Women's Christian Association, The Salvation Army and The National Travelers Aid Association.

USO was established in February 1941, prior to the entrance of the United States into World War II, because leaders of a group of national voluntary agencies, experienced in serving young men and women in their home communities as well as in the armed forces, recognized that they could best serve young people in uniform through one united and coordinated effort.

The USO's in the Camp Lejeune area provide dozens of services for military personnel and their families. Just a few of these services are telephone centers for out-of-town calls, community and travel information, counselling on personal and family problems, parties, housing bureaus, dances, discussion groups, craft classes, USO shows, picnics, writing desks and stationery, singing, dormitories, sight-seeing, recorded music, games, snack bars, libraries, religious literature and religious holiday observances.

The USO is financed by voluntary contributions of the American people through local United Fund Campaigns or Community Chest drives, or by contributions to local USO independent campaigns.

The Jacksonville USO is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. except Sunday, when it closes at 10 p.m. One of the newest additions to this USO is the installation of a miniature golf course.

In addition, the Jacksonville USO offers many other activities and facilities. It also sponsors the Midway Park and Geiger Trailer Park Enlisted Wives Clubs.

In Kinston, the USO is open Fridays from 7 to 10 p.m., Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Sundays from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. One of the most popular features is the "Snack Before Going Back" served each Sunday evening.

The Kinston USO holds a dance every Saturday evening from 8 to 11 a.m. About 20 USO Junior Hostesses are present and music is provided by a hi-fi phonograph.

Square dancing every Friday evening at 8 p.m. leads the weekend activities at the Wilmington USO. A dance with USO Junior Hostesses is held every Saturday beginning at 8 p.m.

VESPERS are held each Sunday evening at the Kinston USO. This is the time when the Junior Hostesses and visiting servicemen gather around the piano to sing old time hymns. There is also a period for meditation and recalling the pleasurable moments spent here over the weekend.

MINIATURE GOLF is a big attraction at the Jacksonville USO. It is a complete nine-hole miniature golf course and is free for servicemen. In the background, two young men are avidly engaged in a hotly contested game of shuffleboard. The records lining the walls are available to anyone who wishes to hear them on the large hi-fi set.

HOT DOG time at the Wilmington USO. A USO Junior Hostesses prepares the tasty snack for a couple of hungry Marines. These snacks are served throughout the weekend at the USO and are just one of the many services offered to servicemen during their visit. The kitchen is also equipped to dish up other culinary treats.

B NEWS

Cherry Point Marine Tops Pistol Match

The Flying Club has scheduled its next meeting for April 21 at 7 p.m. on the second floor of Building 900 in the Industrial Area, just off Sneads Road in back of Bldgs. 903 and 904.

Further information about the Flying Club and its activities may be obtained by calling 7-3829. Interested parties are encouraged to attend the scheduled meeting.

Aggregate Match

Act. MSgt. Alphonzo Jurado took place honors during the three-day aggregate match sponsored by the Camp Lejeune Rifle and Pistol Club held at the Lejeune Rifle Range, April 16 and 17.

A team entered from Marine Corps Base took top team honors shooting against seven teams and approximately 50 NRA members.

Jurado, entry from the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, blasted a 2,573x2,700 while copping the individual honors.

Persons interested in NRA competition or the Base Rifle and Pistol Club are requested to contact Capt. Robert Russell, phone 5-7220.

Judo Club

After a brief vacation due to the Marine Judo Championships held last week, the Camp Lejeune Judo Club will hold its next meeting at 1:30 p.m., April 24, at the M. J. Field House.

Scheduled for discussion are club by-laws, ideas for a club insignia and plans for junior club members promotion matches.

Membership continues to grow and all interested parties, including Black Belt holders, are encouraged to call Capt. T. Burke at 5-265.

Sky Divers

The Camp Lejeune Sky Divers will appear on Bob Ballard's "Sportsman Almanac" on Channel 7, WITN, Washington, N. C., tomorrow evening. The club was filmed in action during their weekly jump at the Air Facility on April 9. The highlight of the day was three men jumping from 7,000 feet, with a 32-second delay, trailing red smoke flares to enable the cameramen to follow their paths.

The club has scheduled jumps every Saturday at the Air Facility, weather permitting. Spectators and persons interested in joining the club are invited to attend.

Staff NCO Wives Bowling League

With only four weeks play remaining in the Staff Wives Bowling League, the Rockettes held a slim one-point lead after rolling over the Suzy Q's, 3-1, during Monday night's action. Staying in contention, only one point out of first place, are the Pinspillers, who dropped Hit and Miss, 3-1. During other games played, the Markettes split with the Beatniks, 2-2.

Individual highs went to Pinspillers—Chick Nicolette, 155-432; Hit and Miss—Betty Desjardins, 181, 443; Rockettes—Terry Anzilotti, 184-461; Suzy Q's—Peggy Vegass, 213-492 (high game and series for the evening); Markettes—Charlotte Forbes, 156 and Mary Smith, 405; Beatniks—Gloria Beth, 167-390.

Live Bait Tanks Available This Week At Riseley Pier

About 400 Marines and their dependents enjoyed the facilities of Riseley Pier during the three days of fine weather last weekend. Several fair catches of Virginia mullet, small spots, and small croakers were seen. Sunday a few blues made their first appearance, and several were landed.

Live bait tanks are being constructed, and should be installed sometime this week for those fishermen that like to try for the bigger stuff. If all the fishermen will cooperate by putting their small fish in these tanks instead of throwing them overboard or on the pier to die, a fair supply of live bait should be available most of the time.

A chum grinder is also going in to use this week to dispose of the trash fish with the hopes that it will attract more of the desirable species.

Base Grappler Selected For Olympic Trial

First Lt. Joseph M. Gratto, grappler from Delta Co., 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, 2nd Marine Division, and Act. Sgt. Howard R. George of Headquarters Marine Corps were considered by spectators and sports writers attending the All-Marine Wrestling Championships at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., last week to be the "most impressive" of the eight Marines winning first places in their respective weight classes.

Gratto, former NCAA wrestling champion at Lehigh University, along with the other winners, is eligible for the Olympic wrestling tryouts to be held at Ames, Iowa.

Vying in the 136.5 pound class, Gratto won all three of his bouts on falls with the final fall for the title coming in 10:37 over B. Davis of Camp Pendleton.

George, wrestling in the 191-pound class, won his first bout in three minutes flat, his second in 55 seconds, and finished with a sensational 17-second victory over G. Williams of El Toro for the title.

Ray Swartz, wrestling coach at the Naval Academy, has been named to coach the Marine team which will compete in the coming Olympic trials.

Mixed Bowling League

There will be a meeting held in the Paradise Room of the Commissioned Officers Club to draw up plans for a summer mixed bowling league, April 25, at 7 p.m.

Twenty-three players have already signed up for the league and it is hoped that there will be enough interested people for a team. Batchelor officers and ladies as well as couples are encouraged to attend.

First-Year Rifle Competitors Find Match Course Is Tough

The second week of practice firing in the Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol Matches is drawing to a close, and novice shooters, firing in competition for the first time, are beginning to realize just how tough match shooting can be. Practically every Marine is familiar with the course he fires when requalifying with the rifle each year. On record day he steps to 200, 300 and 500-yard lines and fires a total of 50 rounds for a possible score of 250 points.

Shooting slow fire at the 200-yard line he attempts to pump 10 rounds into a 10-inch bullseye from the standing or off-hand position. Remaining on the 200 he fires 10 rounds rapid fire, standing to sitting, at a target whose bullseye is a 26x19 silhouette. He must get his 10 rounds off in one minute.

On the 300-yard line he returns to slow fire shooting 10 rounds sitting and kneeling at the same target he used for the off-hand position at the 200. This is followed by another string of rapid fire, standing to prone, at the silhouette target.

Finally the requalifier moves back to the 500-yard line and cranks off his last 10 rounds at a target bearing a bullseye some 20 inches in diameter.

Match Shooters

Match competitors fire 60 rounds of ammunition for total possible score of 300.

Beginning, like the requalifier, at the 200-line the match shooter fires 20 rounds from the difficult off-hand position.

The match competitor then fires the same rapid strings at the 200 and 300-yard lines with one exception... he uses the small, slow-fire target instead of the larger silhouette.

Then, skipping the 500-yard line the match shooter moves back to the 600 where he fires 20 rounds of slow fire at the same target the requalifier uses up on the 500. At this range the bullet makes a huge arc as it speeds toward the target, its peak being something like 40 feet above where it will strike. Wind, always a factor to consider at any range, can move the bullet entirely off the target at 600 yards.

The match course is fired twice-over for record so a shooter must hold-in for a 528 to be in the expert range and a 552 to be outstanding.

Date Set For '60 Volleyball Title Tourney

The 1960 Fleet Marine Force Atlantic Volleyball tournament gets underway at Beaufort, S. C., on April 25 with a 10-man All-Star squad representing the 2nd Marine Division. Marine Aircraft Group-32 will host the eight-team double elimination tournament.

The Division contingent, under the direction of 1st Lt. Mitchell Waters, is comprised of All-Star members selected from the Division intramural volleyball leagues along with other outstanding 2nd Division netmen. Several agile "big men" in the person of Dalyf Hampton, Bernie Welsh and Dick Trench provide the Division forces with a potent offensive attack; while such standouts as Mitch Waters, Clint Parsons, Troy Hamm and Eugene Darling supply the playmaking punch. Hampton's offensive prowess was a deciding factor in the 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines' drive to the 2nd Division intramural crown.

The tournament will be conducted according to rules set up by the official U. S. Volleyball Association with the number of men on each participating team limited to 12. Appropriate awards will be presented to the winner and runner-up squads at the conclusion of the week-long tournament.

Work Begun On Western Div. Shooting

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 14 —Work has already begun at the 1960 Western Division Rifle and Pistol Matches, with some 450 Marine shooters from western posts and stations attending classes and lectures on competition rifle and pistol shooting. Match site is the Marine Corps Recruit Depot's Camp Matthews range.

Appearing again, in hopes of retaining old trophies and perhaps gaining a few more, are several members of last year's record-smashing Marine Corps team. Act. Gysgt. Mike Petroforote, who fired a 582 to capture the Division individual rifle crown over Capt. W. V. McMillan last year, will return to try matching his perfect score fired in the 1958 National Matches.

Always to be reckoned with are the younger shooters such as Act. Sgt. L. L. Hausman, well-known for his pistol prowess in Marksmanship Training Unit circles.

Out to add to the already numerous awards he has gathered in other competition during the year is 1st Lt. Frank F. Briggs, lifelist in several small and some major matches held during the past months at Camp Matthews, the San Diego Police Range and other West Coast civilian and military ranges.

First Lt. J. L. Roach, third place winner in last year's Lauchheimer Trophy Match during Marine Corps competition, is back to try his shooting eye for the top position in that honor this year. His rifle-pistol aggregate score for the Lauchheimer shoot was 1147, barely edging out fourth place. Act. Gysgt. M. W. Findsen, who fired the same final score but lost to Roach with his lower rifle score.

CWO H. E. Larkin, well-known shooting ace and captain of last year's San Diego "Bear" Trophy Team Match winners, has returned to the firing line under the El Toro colors.

Pribb Paces Thinclads To Track Victory

Headquarters Company took first place honors during a track meet held at Liversedge Field by Headquarters Bn., Marine Corps Base, in an effort to get ready for the Quad-Command meet scheduled to take place in May.

The winning contingent scored 47 points to lead the field with Support Company "B" placing second with 45. Support Company "A" placed third and last with 42 points.

Don Pribb was the big man for the winner with three first place finishes and a pair of runner-up spots, including first in the two-mile run in 12:12 which is considered by battalion hopefuls to be a win during the Quad event.

Other than the two-mile run, the winning company captured first place spots in the high jump, 880 run, discus throw, 440 run and the 440 relay.

Division Gives 'Salty Sam' Chance To Prove Himself

If "Salty Sam," sage of the sea lawyers, is in the vicinity of Camp Lejeune this week, he'll have a chance to prove himself. The Military Law and Court Reporter courses to be conducted by the 2nd Marine Division's Legal Section convened Monday. Old Sam, who has a reputation for being the Perry Mason of the scuttlebutt, will be able to see how much of a legal whiz he really is. Salty Sam represents all the sea lawyers throughout the Marine Corps; sea lawyers are those who claim to know "everything" about military law. There's one in every barracks, always ready and over-willing to bring from his vast storehouse of legal wisdom, information and advice for those needing legal assistance. Usually it is false or misleading.

By attending the 2nd Division's legal course he'll see how much he doesn't know. According to Maj. Charles LaRouche, chief instructor, the school is the only one of its kind offered to Marine Corps personnel, other than the Naval School of Justice at Newport, R. I. When the school was originated last October it was devoted entirely to training enlisted men for duty as clerks for legal proceedings. The school has grown to the point that it now reaches into advanced military law and enrolls officers. Should Salty Sam show up at Bldg. 524 on April 18 he'll find the Basic Military Law school in session. It's doubtful, but maybe he can add to the instruction given by lawyers and clerk NCO's from the Division.

The Basic Military Law course will give students a foundation in all phases of military law with the exception of evidence. It will give units of the 2nd Division an opportunity to enroll personnel for training as legal clerks, counselors and legal officers. Subject matter ranges from appointment and composition, and jurisdiction of courts-martial to rehearings and proceedings in revision.

Salty Sam probably doesn't realize it but one of the most important persons in court proceedings is the court reporter. The Court Reporter course will be from May 9 through 20.

The importance of a court reporter can easily be seen in cases which require a detailed study of testimony and proceedings. The Court Reporter course gives students a thorough background in recording and transcribing court proceedings and preparations of records for presentation.

Sam, the barracks barrister, is known mostly for his knowledge of the Uniform Code of Military Justice so it isn't likely that he'll pass the 200-words-per-minute transcription exam given at the end of the reporter course.

The supreme test for Sam's legal wizardry will come on May 9 when the Advanced Military Law course convenes in Bldg. 222. The advanced class is designed for development of administrative organization legal officers and counsel, and president of special courts-martial.

If our sea lawyer friend can sneak into the advanced class with the officers and Criminal Investigation Division personnel, he'll find his knowledge of the UCMJ helpful when the class begins an intensive study of the code.

All three courses of the legal school will be conducted in the mornings, leaving students with their afternoons open to work at their regular jobs. As the school is an accredited Marine Corps school, entries will be made in the service record books of graduates.

Salty Sam claims to know all the "legal loopholes" but in the Corps' top legal school he'll probably finish 151st in the 150-man class.

New ComRats Uniform Code Is Announced

Enlisted personnel are entitled to have their rations commuted daily at a station where a general mess is maintained subject to approval of commanding officers. Base Order 10110.5A establishes a uniform policy throughout Camp Lejeune for approval of commuted rations.

Once commuted rations have been granted, they will remain in effect during the remainder of the tour of duty in Camp Lejeune unless suspended or revoked for cause. When an individual is transferred or ordered to temporary additional duty within Camp Lejeune, the unit commander of the unit to which the individual is assigned will recognize the previous authorization. This policy in no way restricts the unit commander's authority to revoke or suspend previous authorizations for cause.

The original authorization will be signed by the unit commander and entered in the individual's service record book. In no case will rations be commuted to an individual living in barracks.

POST OFFICE

The Camp Lejeune Base Post Office is now open for business at its new location in Bldg. 1005. This building formerly housed the Base Disbursing Office and is located across from the Camp Cafeteria.

MCSS Safety Checks Will Begin May 3

Montford Point military and civilian personnel can have their private automobiles safety inspected free of charge on May 3, 4 and 5.

The cars will be inspected between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Exchange Service Station behind the gymnasium, according to Capt. J. A. McDonald, Supply Schools adjutant.

Vehicle inspectors will be Motor Transport School instructors who volunteered to hold the safety checks. The safety inspections are not mandatory, and no report will be made to the Provost Marshal. It will be up to individuals to have deficiencies corrected.

Captain McDonald said safety checks of this type would be money out of a Marine's pocket if he had to pay for the job. It is being done free as part of a continuing safety program at Montford Point.

Marine Corps recruit training methods have proven so successful that they are little changed since World War I.
