DID YOU AGREE WITH THIS YEAR'S HOLLYWOOD "OSCAR" SELECTIONS?

PFC ELIZABETH SCHONS, WM CO., MCB — Yes, I agreed with the choices all the way. I think that "From Here to Eternity" was one of the best movies I have seen in some time. William Holden deserved the "Oscar" for his part in "Stalag 17." I didn't see Roman Holiday but I like Audrey Hepburn as an actress.

PFC ROBERT J. DEJOHN, "I" CO., 3RD BN., SECOND MARINES — I agree with most of the choices. The one I disagree with is Audrey Hepburn. She just wasn't the star for the picture. In my opinion, Doris Day deserves the award for her portrayal of "Calamity Jane." "From Here to Eternity" certainly was the best picture of the year.

CPL. SOLOMON KENNEDY, H&S BN., MCB — I think that "From Here to Eternity" was pretty good but I don't believe that it was good enough to rate the "Oscar" award. I liked William Holden in "Stalag 17" and I agree all the way with this choice. Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed did a good job in their picture and I really enjoyed their acting.

PFC LORRAINE ODHAM, WM CO., MCB — I thought Frank Sinatra really deserved his award for his acting in "From Here to Eternity." I personally don't care for Donna Reed but she did play a good part in the picture. I liked Audrey Hepburn very much in "Roman Holiday" and I agree with this choice.

PFC AGNES NOE, WM CO., MCB — I think that "From Here to Eternity" was a darn good movie. It deserves all the praise you can muster and more. I think Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed deserved their awards. I didn't see "Roman Holiday" or "Stalag 17" so I can't say anything about Audrey Hepburn or William Holden.

PFC JEAN DIEBOLD, WM CO., MCB — I think "From Here to Eternity" was an outstanding motion picture. The entire cast was excellent. I liked William Holden in "Stalag 17" and I thought the picture was very good too. Doris Day would be my choice for best actress because of her part in "Calamity Jane."

Maybe This Fast-Talking Leatherneck Ought To Be Put On Recruiting Duty!

BY PFC ROBERT R. COLLARD

"Alritahowmuchamabidferit whatayagiveferit bidem byem tryem anlesgo."

Although this might sound like an african headhunter going into the wilder part of his war dance, it's not. It's just "Colonel" Jack Foley.

"Colonel," or rather, Pfc Foley was an auctioneer.

Even though he is temporarily away from the auction block, Foley still finds himself slipping into the jumbled jargon once in a while.

The 19-year-old "Suthin Gentleman," late of Elba, Ala., has auctioned off everything from hogs to ladies' undies.

Pfc Foley's job is a little different now. He works as a clerk in the supply section of Hq. Bn., 2nd Division.

He started his tongue-twisting career in his home town where he sold box suppers, cakes and pies at affairs sponsored by school and church organizations.

Livestock market, recognized his son's unusual talent and talked him into entering the Fort Smith Auctioneers school at Fort Smith, Ark. Jack was all for it.

While in school he participated in sales throughout the South. He gained experience and mastered the more difficult phrases in this complicated form of selling.

Afterwards Foley went home to show folks what he had learned about the art of auctioneering. He had all the "trimmin's," including a card from Fort Smith, proclaiming that he would hence forth be known as "Colonel" Foley, auctioneer.

His first job after graduation was with the Ozark Livestock market of Ozark, Ala. In his first sale there, he proved that he had learned his trade well. The cash register sang as he sold to the tune of $10,000.

Later in his home town, which had seen some of the best auctioneers in the South, Foley was put to the real test. But, here too, he showed that he could sell with the best of them. He equaled the amount sold at his initial job at the Ozark yards and did even better in auctions to follow.

Until he enlisted in June, 1953, Foley sold all kinds of sales. His largest sale came during this period, when he returned to the Ozark yards to sell at a pure-bred hog show. In this show, Foley sold over $17,000 worth of livestock.

Foley plans to go back to auctioneering in 1956, after leaving the Corps.

Nags Develop Negative Attitude Toward Corps When Photogs Share Water Trough

By SSGT. CHARLES R. KESTER

"The duty horse chaser will report to his station." Sound funny? It wasn't at the time!

TSGt. Joe Mulvihill, of the 2nd Division Photo section, was faced with a unique problem during Traex 2-54 maneuvers at Vieques. He was in charge of the Division Photo Lab there. Because of the plumbing shortage, he was forced to wash and dry his negatives at a horse trough. At the same time, half a dozen local horses were drinking from the trough.

For a long time the arrangement worked very well. The horses, with typical Spanish hospitality, seemed pleased that he was using their facilities.

This idyll ended when the horses discovered photography. They weren't too highly impressed with the section's technical Education Officer Answers Old Question: Can You Get Sheepskin While In Service?

BY MSGT. DONALD F. BALL

Can a marine while in service obtain a college degree through Marine Corps Institute correspondence courses or the United States Armed Forces Institute?

The answer to this specific question, often a subject of barracks banter, has been clouded in the nebulous phrases of "Education," "College-level courses," etc.

A visit to the Camp Education office in the Camp theater produced somewhat more specific phrases of "possible but not probable" and "very hard to do." But, boiled down to a concise, one-syllable word the answer is "no."

The Camp Education officer, 2nd Lt. J. B. Misenhimer, outlined the difficulties and the opportunities in the path of the sheepskin-seeking marine. He pointed out that most accredited colleges require that the last year be spent in residence. That's one bar to a marine seeking a degree via the correspondence route. And, at that, the only colleges likely to permit such an advanced standing would be the 46 universities who have education contracts with USAFI.

He further observed that the extreme technical and difficult nature of most advanced college courses would require an instructor. The lieutenant also thought that it takes an exceptional and persevering marine student to successfully complete college courses through correspondence. But there is a bright side. MCI and USAFI courses are helpful to the potential student seeking advancement. Lt. Misenhimer assured marines seeking sun that they plan to attend and for courses completed through correspondence, that taken is equivalent to the course being offered by the individual's particular course of study.

Applications for MCI courses are processed in the Camp Education office. Extension courses there rollment fee ranging from $45 dollars depending on the and the college conducting.

A "short-cut" method of high school completion in a year of college, as least the Marine Corps is open to successfully pass them and college level general educational development tests.

In a recent month, the education office personnel offered over 1,000 GED tests to nearly 250 marines.

As in the case of correspondence courses, some colleges will advance standing for completion of GED tests will not. It will be necessary for the marine to contact the college to attend to determine how much advanced standing will be granted, if any.

Asked what would be the situation for college courses, the service, Lt. Misenhimer suggested a USAFI university offering its own degrees and its own faculty which is stated from base to the college-level classes for GED tests, service schools, correspondence courses, and taken into definite consideration granting credits toward a

Lt. Comdr. Schneck Designated Acting Lejeune Chaplain

Assistant Camp Chaplain R. J. Schneck has been named acting Camp chaplain replacing Comdr. Carl M. Sitler, who retired last week.

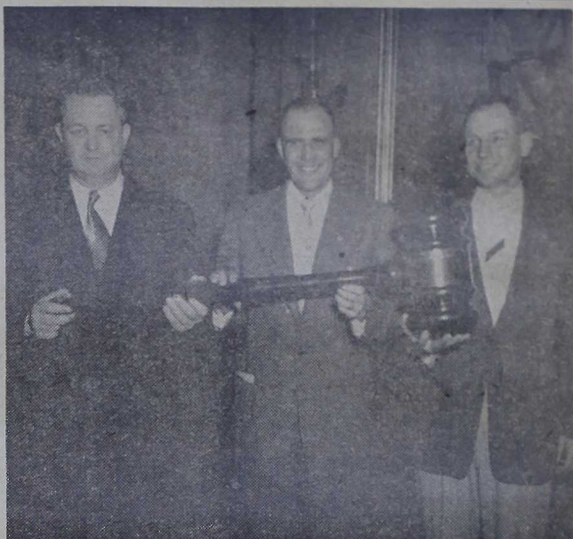

Chaplain Schneck will serve until the expected mid-summer arrival of Comdr. Roderic L. Smith, newly designated Camp chaplain, now aboard the "Midway."

Formerly chaplain with the Sixth Marines, Lt. Comdr. Schneck arrived here in 1952. He was named assistant Camp chaplain last January.

In Naval service since 1943, Chaplain Schneck attended the Navy's Chaplain school and was assigned to the Royal Naval college, Dartmouth-Devon, England. He later served at the Naval Air Station, Atlantic City, N. J.

Chaplain Schneck served 29 months aboard the USS Gen. G. M. Randall in the Pacific before being transferred to the Naval hospital, Philadelphia. He served with the Seventh Marines and the 1st Med. Bn. in Korea.

A native of Pottstown, Pa., Chaplain Schneck took an AB degree from Wagner college, Staten Island, N. Y., in 1940 and is a graduate of Philadelphia's Mount Airy seminary with a bachelor of divinity and a master of sacred theology.

Captain Nelson, Lejeune Orator, Cops First Prize In Toastmasters' Contest

at the District 37 speech contest Saturday night at Raleigh.

The captain earned the right to represent his club and Area 1, comprised of chapters from Cherry Point, Wilmington, Kinston, Goldsboro and Camp Lejeune, by capturing top honors in an area contest held at Marston Pavilion here March 1.

Speaking on "The Challenge," Capt. Nelson won over Toastmasters from 29 chapters from the Carolinas at the Raleigh contest.

By winning at Raleigh, Nelson became eligible for a regional speech contest in Atlanta this summer, held in preparation for an international contest at Washington later this year.

The Toastmasters International, founded 30 years ago at Santa Ana, Calif., by Dr. Ralph Smedley, is represented by the Paradise Point and Staff NCO clubs here. The clubs train members in public speaking, speech evaluation, parliamentary procedure and conference technique.

The Paradise Point chapter was organized in 1950 by Maj. Gens. John T. Selden, now at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and George F. Good Jr., 2nd Division commander. This is the first year in which the Paradise Point chapter has competed in area or district speech contests.

- Short Rounds -

A troupe of Hollywood actors invaded San Diego's recruit depot last week to shoot scenes for "Battle Cry." Reports say the picture will be completed soon and you may be able to see it by the end of summer.

Van Heflin, who will portray the book's Major Huxley, was at Vieques recently where action scenes for the film, featuring many Lejeune men, were taken. Others in the cast are Aldo Ray as Andy, Tab Hunter as Danny, Nancy Olson and Dorothy Malone. Ex-Marine Lieutenant James Whitmore, famous for his role as the tough sergeant in the movie about the Army, "Battle Ground," will portray Sergeant Mac in this one...

In a move "to improve the quality of the Marine Corps enlisted man," the Commandant has ordered that fewer privates first class and corporals and men with less than two years' service be allowed to serve as drill instructors at Parris Island and San Diego. In the future NCO's between the rank of corporal and technical sergeant will get the job.

Speaking of boot camps, personnel cutbacks have caused San Diego's 5th Recruit Bn. to shut down. . . Navy Times for April 3 has a big piece on Marine Barracks, in Washington. . . 1st Lt. Louis G. Proctor, now at Pearl Harbor, got the Silver Star last week for gallantry in Korea. . . Cherry Point no longer has a Corsair fighter plane. The jet age is here.

Three Marine sergeants got the date of the year in Rome, Italy, recently. There on Med cruise liberty they met Ava Gardner. She took Victor R. Fiabane, John T. Morrissey and Billy Lees to a party celebrating the completion of her latest picture and then was hostess to them at dinner and a night club. Ava (Mrs. Frank Sinatra) wore a low cut red and white cocktail dress. Ex-Marine Captain Lee Cameron, now in the movie business, made the introductions. Said Sgt. Fiabane, "Nobody back at the fleet will believe us."

A group of Quantico thespians are putting on "You Can't Take It With You" there this week. Lejeune must have a lot of talent too. There's a project for somebody. . . Only 79 bases got permits to continue selling packaged liquor according to the Armed Forces Press Service. . . The USS Missouri, "Mighty Mo," may be put in mothballs soon.

Congressional committees are working on a bill that would redesignate Armistice day as Veterans day so that the veterans of World War II and the Korean war would come in for their share of honor.

Cancer Fund Drive Here This Month

Collection boxes for the annual fund drive of the American Cancer Society will be placed this month in the exchange activities, the officers' messes, the service clubs, the hostess houses and the Camp cafeteria.

SILVER STAR—Sgt. George R. Broadhead, left, receives the Silver Star from Lt. Col. H. W. Sharpnberg, commanding officer of the 2nd Engineer Bn., in ceremonies held recently on the battalion parade grounds. Sergeant Broadhead received the award for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action" against the enemy in Korea in July, 1953, in the Boulder City area. He served as a company wireman with "H" Co., 3rd Bn., First Marines (Official USMC Photo).

The Old Corps

Ten years ago this week: The GLOBE published a 20-page edition, making it the largest service newspaper in the U. S.

Women's apparel was sold for the first time at Lejeune when a new Post exchange opened (now the Main exchange) with a supply of dainty items.

Maj. Gen. Henry L. Larsen, Camp commanding general, was detached for duty elsewhere after serving here for ten months.

Jewish personnel here were making plans for the first observance of the Festival of Passover in the camp's history.

The GLOBE ran an announcement that Maj. Gen. Holland M. Smith had just been made the third three-star general in the Corps' history.

A WR first lieutenant here freed a marine to fight. It was her husband of seven weeks, 2nd Lt. Robert J. Sherrer. She stepped into his post as Camp Registered Publications officer while he reported for combat training.

AN OVERLOOKED BLESSING

Work is a blessing. Some thoughtless people have come to be a curse. Nevertheless, all progress is but the result of physical effort.

To have a job is a privilege. Men who have been forced idle will agree. In the days of the great depression millions of Americans were without employment. Often the thought pressed that to have no work and to have no demand on skills was nearly as frustrating as to have no funds to provide for your family.

There is an inner satisfaction, a sense of pride, and a deep when we perform our present duties to the best of our ability.

The man who works well now will always have a sense of himself. Methods may be learned. Certain traits, such as self-reliance and dependability, are developed only by diligent application.

An ancient man told the indolent young men of this day could learn a lesson by observing the activity of an insect. He said, "Consider its ways, and be wise. It has no guide, no ruler, and yet it provideth its meat in the summer, and gathereth in the harvest."—Chaplain S. M. Kirkland.

Tea And Crumpets Bring Back Memories To Members Of Lejeune Down-Under Club

BY CPL. BECKY CARPER

At a meeting of the Camp Lejeune Down-Under club the atmosphere is usually one of complete informality, clipped accents and clinking tea cups.

What is the Down-Under club?

It's an unusual group that has no officers and no agenda of business. It simply provides an opportunity for New Zealand and Australian wives here to get together and chat about home.

Its originator, Mrs. Joanne Ourand, wife of Lt. Col. William R. Ourand Jr., assistant G-1, 2nd Division, placed an appeal in the GLOBE recently urging former residents of the Down-Under countries to get together with her.

Mrs. Ourand, who met her husband when he was a first lieutenant stationed in New Zealand in 1943, experienced moments of nostalgia for her native land after coming to the United States. Even after she became a citizen of this country in 1948 and after returning to New Zealand with her daughter for a visit, she still missed her home.

After hearing of other bases forming Down-Under clubs Mrs. Ourand decided to try and start one at Lejeune. She says she was surprised at the response to her article in the GLOBE.

The club now has 14 members, and, surprisingly enough, the Australians are outnumbered by the New Zealanders.

Tea and crumpets are served at the meetings held monthly in the homes of members. Souvenirs of New Zealand and Australia are shown and include such things as handmade jewelry, inlaid wood carvings, jewel boxes and paintings of Down-Under scenes.

Mrs. Margaret Crocker of Australia and Mrs. Peggy Hendricks, a former New Zealander, are two of the original members of the club. Others include Mrs. Rita Skow, Mrs. Betty Stites and Mrs. Margaret Blackwell of Australia; and Mrs. Margaret Hise, Mrs. Heather Proppnick and Mrs. Sue Sullivan of New Zealand.

WM Maneuvers

BY CPL. BECKY CARPER

Smell the bacon frying in the early morning? See the sunlight shaft through the cool pines? That's the plan for the 8:30 a. m. breakfast which will follow the Women Marine church services each month. The bacon and eggs have been moved outdoors to the WM park for an "as-you-like-em" feast. Mmmmmmm-good.

An even dozen girls from Squad Bay G are planning spring weddings.

Pfc Charlotte Madar, who sports the nickname of "Sharky" will be married April 24 to a civilian and former marine, Floyd Scholtz, of Stratford, Conn.

A couple who met in the Camp infirmary and found romance are HN Millie Foltz and HN John Francis. Their wedding date has not been set.

Soon to hear wedding bells are Pfc Shelia Poirer and Ex-Marine Robert Adzima of Bridgeport, Conn.

Pfc Betty Roeder recently received a diamond from Tsgt. Julian Dodd of the Hostess house.

A May day wedding is planned by Pfc Evelyn Smith and Ex-Marine Robert Barnes of Cincinnati, O.

Air-minded Pfc Joan Bazin is going to be assigned to the air detachment at Jacksonville, Fla., for an eight week course in aviation. Frank Ridoni, of the Camp Lejeune football team and Cpl. Jackie Ward will be married in May.

Billowing sails, the put-put of a motor churning the waves, or the graceful glide of a canoe through quiet waters—any of these are yours for the asking at the Wallace creek boathouse.

There, simply by showing your ID card, you can spend a relaxing day in the sun. Everything is free. The only requirement is that you be a qualified swimmer.

Quantico Men Due Saturday For Track Tilt

Camp Lejeune's trackmen meet Quantico at 2 p.m. Saturday at Liversedge field only two days after running their first meet of the season against Virginia Military Institute.

In two meets this season, Quantico has defeated the University of Virginia 83-47 and lost to the University of Maryland 80-60.

Quantico's Don Bingham did the 100-yard dash in 10:5 in the Virginia meet. Joe Schatzle, former Manhattan college star, took second in the 220 with 22:9.

Other Quantico times in the early meets were: quarter mile, Bob Chambers, 53.1; 880-yard run, Carl Joyce, 2:01; mile, Art Garcia, former University of Southern California cross-country runner, 4:40 and two-mile, C. Foley, 11:00.

The mile relay team took first with 3:29:1. Marv Peterson, who took first in All-Marine javelin here last year with 206 feet, will return with the Quantico team.

Garvin and a crew of four.

What do they have to offer?

Well, you can check out one of the 13 lightning class sailboats docked here, or you can select an outboard motor boat from the 24 on hand and get your gas for free. If canoeing is your speed, the boathouse offers 13 new aluminum ones. And for old-fashioned types and fishermen, there are plenty of rowboats.

Cpl. Mark Bryant gives instructions in sailing by appointment on Thursday, Fridays and Saturdays. Women marines can get instructions on Wednesday afternoon.

Big things are being planned by the boathouse. A regatta is set for May. Anyone interested in participating should contact Cpl. Bryant.

A canoe race and jousting are also slated for May.

Pfc Tom Hadley is in charge of the boats and outboard motors and he's the man who will inform you that 45 minutes is as long as you are permitted to buzz around in one afternoon.

In charge of the canoes is Pfc "Shorty" Harper. He'll let you have one as long as you have a crew of two, no more, no less.

Other limits:

A motorboat may carry only three persons and a sailboat may have a crew of not less than two nor more than six.

Camp Nine Suffers 2-1 Loss At Hands Of Conn. U. Squad

For the second time in a row Camp Lejeune's baseballers took it on the chin from the University of Connecticut Wednesday morning last week.

In a seven-inning contest the Marines were shut out for the first time this year by a 2-0 count. Last Monday the Leathernecks dropped a heart-breaking 10-inning decision 8-6 to the same college aggregation.

From the start the game was a pitchers' duel between Lejeune righthander Stan Horvatin and Tom "Lefty" O'Connell.

The Huskies drew blood in the first inning. Jom Fox, their second baseman, opened the game with a single and after John Sylvester walked, George Dropp, brother of Detroit's first baseman, Walt, singled the first tally home.

In the next three innings Horvatin toughened and allowed only one hit while striking out five, but in the fifth he developed a streak of wildness. After walking three consecutive batters, an infield out sent Fox across.

Pitcher O'Connell was untouchable to the Marines until the fourth when Lejeune Shortstop Ken Rainier singled to right to break the ice.

In the sixth the Leathernecks put on their only threat of the game. With one out, Rainier and Farrell Mitchell singled back to back, but the next two men rolled out to the first baseman and O'Connell got through the inning unscathed.

It was a tough game for Horvatin to lose. Except for his wildness in the fifth, he limited the Huskies to three hits and three walks while striking out eight during his seven-inning stint.

Fleet Marine Force Boxing Team Wins First Three Bouts

The Fleet Marines, representing the 2nd Division, Force Troops, Camp Lejeune and the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, opened their defense of the Atlantic Fleet boxing championship Monday night with three wins in as many bouts before 2,500 fans at the Norfolk (Va.) Naval Base auditorium.

Randy Horne, FMF, scored a TKO over Maurice Badgett of MineLant, in 56 seconds of the first round of a welter bout.

Richie Hill, Lejeune's Eastern Golden Glove and MAISAC 156-pound champion, scored a TKO over Harold Rowan of ServLant, in 1:31 of the second round. Hill floored Rowan for a nine count with a short right in the first round.

In the second round Hill staggered Rowan with two overhand rights before landing the crusher, a short right uppercut. The referee stopped the fight there.

The heavyweight clash between defending champ Bud House of Lejeune and Don Hobson, AirLant, was close and hard-fought. The opening round was even with Hobson landing punches at long range and House scoring inside. Hobson went ahead in the second scoring with long right-hand leads. House rallied in the final round by forcing the fighting and scoring heavily with both hands to win the decision.

Local Golfers Win Women's Tourney

Mrs. E. W. Murphy and Mrs. G. A. Sharitt of Camp Lejeune tied with a low gross of 87 in the triangular golf meet last week between women golfers of Lejeune, Cherry Point and Morehead City.

Spring is bustin' out all over! All animals and plants have started their new fiscal year. Is it any wonder that a young man's fancy turns? . . . Mother Nature has given the tattle-tale gray garments of our forest the treatment. Those little buddings of a week or two ago are now decorating the country-side as lush green leaves or beautiful flowers. Winter's reign over the autumn brown is finished. When the dogwood blooms in the "Old North State" spring is here to stay.

Piscatorial News

Weakfish or trout as they are better known are wreaking havoc on the housewife. Many of Pappy's household chores have to be for- saken until he returns from fishing. However, when he returns with a string of trout "Mommy" usually forgives the "overgrown kid" Espe- cially if you can get the fish home in time for Sunday dinner. A friend managed to drown a 20-inch beauty behind Marston Pavilion last week- end using the usual sea-hawk plug. In time for dinner too . . .

"Excuse the interruption—Did you say he drowned a fish?" Yes, that is correct. The process of tiring a fish actually drowns him. Fish take in oxygen from the water by opening and closing their mouths. Water taken in through the mouth is expelled through their gills where the oxygen they must have is taken into the blood stream. A hooked fish finds it difficult to move its mouth and as it tires it be- comes more difficult. The oxygen supply decreases and you've managed to drown another victim.

Chiggers

There is other activity in the woods now too. Boondockers on recent exercises will no doubt agree with this. Especially those who didn't take along an insect repellent. The best treatment for the bite of chiggers, or "red bugs," as they are sometimes called, is to avoid being bitten. Once they burrow under your skin and become lodged there, they are difficult to get rid of. Sulphur powder rubbed on the legs and dusted in shoes and socks will discourage them as will any good insect repellent. A good crop of chigger bites can be treated with a piece of cotton saturated with household ammonia. This will effectively kill the chiggers but itching will continue for some time. Prevention measures are preferred to the cure.

Here's a tip to dads who are about to get Junior started fishing. Be patient and he'll persevere. Don't handicap him with a cheap outfit. He'll be proud to take care of a good rod, reel and line and won't be easily discouraged.

3 Teams Tie For 1st In Force Troops Volleyball League

Three undefeated squads battled for first place as the Force Troop's Intramural Volleyball league com- pleted its fourth week.

The officers of Hq. Co. brought their total to six straight wins as they topped 2nd 4.5" Rocket Btry. and the Hq. Co. Enlisted sextets. Trailing by only one win, Reconnaissance Co. over-ran 2nd Combat Service Group and Rocket Btry. while 2nd AmTrac Bn. defeated 2nd Armored Amphibian in the week's play.

The 8th Signal Bn. split two games this week as they bowed to sixth-place Combat Service on Wed- nesday and the following Monday topped 2nd Amphibian Truck Co.

In their only game of the week the 8th Engineer Bn. beat the 2nd Armored Amphibian Bn.

2nd ANGLICO topped 8th Motor Transport Bn. and later forfeited to 2nd Topographic Co. to complete the week's schedule.

good safety habits and the at- tempt to create the proper atti- tude in drivers.

SSgt. D. M. Bulgarella, NCO in charge of traffic investigation, said his department, which is handling the engineering function, expects to submit its first report "in about a month."

Responsible for the traffic con- trol of the more than 26,000 gov- ernment and privately-owned ve- hicles on the base is Camp Traf- fic Officer 2nd Lt. Edward J. Chapman. His traffic control op- erates through three sections: investigation, patrol and head- quarters.

The first involves the investi- gation of all on or off-base ac- cidents involving Camp personnel and their dependents. Investigators interview persons involved, check past records and visit the scene of the accident in the attempt to fix responsibility.

Assigned to enforce "all Camp Patrol section, which has more than 50 MP's manning 21 vehicles in three eight-hour shifts. Coor- dinated by a radio net, each two- man patrol covers an average of more than 125 miles a shift.

Traffic headquarters is the co- ordinating agency that keeps re- cords of citations issued by military police and handles the Traffic court.

Both Lt. Chapman and Sgt. Bul- garella stress human error as the dominant factor in auto smash-ups.

"There is no such thing as an accident," Lt. Chapman said. "Eighty-eight per cent of all so- called accidents are due to human fault."

What takes the most lives? Speed and drink.

The chief "accident" categories: speeding, following too closely, im- proper backing and turning, driv- ing under the influence and failure to yield right of way.

Since the first of the year MP's have brought in more than 1,500 later-convicted violators of "the unholy six." Speeding, at 355 the largest single offense here, is up 100 from the previous three-month period. The next highest figure: disregarding stop signs: 113.

St. Peter is a saintly man. Who lets them in whe'er he can. But woe betide those earthly fools Who do not heed safe driving rules.

Count Basie Band Booked For Lejeune; Show, Pavilion Dance Slated April 21

Top Novelty Tunes Helped Tony Pastor Up Ladder Of Fame

Tony Pastor, who brings his dance band here April 15, began his career at the tender age of 16.

Since then he has appeared in the musical spotlight playing for such bandmasters as Irving Aaronson, Joe Venuti, Vincent Lopez and Artie Shaw. He has become a saxophone star and a singer with a style all his own, and is noted for his handling of novelty tunes.

Tony is a native of Middletown, Conn. His father was a cabinet maker who was determined his son would follow in his footsteps. But after Tony got a saxophone at 16, cabinet-making was forgotten.

The chunky lad went right up the ladder of success. His big break came when Artie Shaw was taken ill one night and Tony stepped in to conduct. Shortly after that he formed his own band.

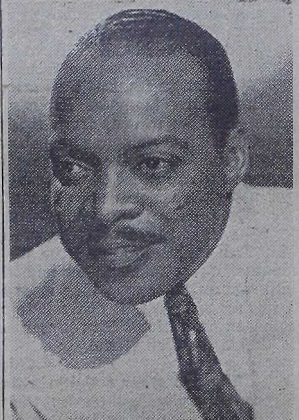

Among the top records that Tony made for Bluebird, RCA Victor, Cosmo and Columbia recordings were "One Meat Ball," "Your Red Wagon," "Margie," "Red Silk Stockings," "Paradiddle Joe," "Robin Hood" and "The Maharajah of Magadore." If you recall, most of them were novelties, and all were top sellers.

The Pastor orchestra alternates its brands of musical arrangements to give a variety of entertainment. Danceable music is mixed with the novelty type pieces, for which Maestro Pastor is noted.

His band will play for a show at the Camp theater from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. and for a dance at Marston Pavilion from 9 p. m. until midnight.

No, you haven't got an old issue of the GLOBE. That headline's right. Count Basie is coming here. Again.

The bandleader was so popular on his first stop here January 27 that Camp Special Services announced this week he has been booked for a return engagement April 21.

COUNT BASIE

The group will play for the usual show in the Camp Theater at 7:30 p. m. and a dance at Marston Pavilion from 9 p. m. until midnight.

The Count announced he plans to serve up his usual mixture of jazz, boogie-woogie and blues.

USO In Wilmington Plans Songs, Dance

A program by the New Hanover High school mixed chorus, a formal dance and a table tennis tournament will feature this weekend at the Wilmington USO.

The chorus will sing at 5:30 p. m. Sunday, April 11. A buffet supper will follow. The formal dance will be at 8 p. m. Saturday, April 10. Uniform or civilian clothes with coat and tie must be worn.

Annuity Plan Carries April 30 Deadline For Many Marine Corp Career Personnel

(This is the second in a series of articles explaining the benefits of the Serviceman's Annuity plan.)

One of the more important questions received concerning the Serviceman's Annuity plan is the matter of time limits. There is a definite limit on your eligibility. If you are now on active duty or in a reserve component, you must apply before the end of your 18th year in service.

If you are now on active duty or in a reserve component and have already completed your 18th year of service you must apply by April 30, 1954. You also must apply by this date if you are on any retired list and are receiving or are entitled to receive any retired pay.

These deadlines apply no matter where you are stationed and allow for a few exceptions. For example, POW's or persons interned in neutral countries who miss their deadlines have until six months after they return to the U. S. to make application.

Other pertinent points: 1)—What are the various arrangements I can make under the plan?

There are three different arrangements—options—from which you may choose and one additional arrangement known as "option four" which you may want to add to any of the other three. It can save you a lot of money.

Option One: Payment after death goes to surviving wife or husband.

Option Two: Payment to be divided equally among eligible children.

Option Three: Payment goes to wife or husband until he or she remarries or dies. Payments then will be divided among your eligible children.

Option Four: This is the additional arrangement you may make along with any of the first three. In case the persons you choose to receive the payments die, marry or in any way become ineligible, you no longer have to pay money into the plan.

2)—How often and for how long will my dependents get payments?

All payments will be made monthly starting with the month after you die. If your husband or wife is getting the payments, he or she will continue to get them until he or she remarries or dies.

If your children are getting the payments they will get monthly checks until married or over 18.

Under Option Two, for example, if the oldest of your three children was 15 when you died, each would get one-third of the amount to which you are entitled. When the oldest becomes 18 or is married, the other two each will then receive one-half of the monthly payment. When only one is still eligible, he will get the full monthly payment.

Payments stop when the children you named are married or over 18, unless they cannot support themselves because of some physical or mental defect contracted before their 18th birthday (AFPS).

This Week's Movie Review

WITHOUT RESERVATION (2 Bells)
This is an oldie. It is comedy starring Claudette Colbert. You should find it worth seeing, considering the past performances of Miss Colbert. News, one short "Arabian In The Rockies."

DRAGONFLY SQUADRON (2 Bells)
This is a war drama starring John Hodiak and Barbara Britton. Hodiak, an Air Force major, is sent to South Korea to speed up Dragonfly Squadron's flight training program. The players give convincing performances, but the action scenes, some of which are taken from actual combat, outshine the story. One short: "Child."

CORONER CREEK (2 Bells)
This is a hard bitten little horse opera about revenge and counter revenge. It stars Randolph Scott at his best. In the course of events old Randy is held down and his gun hand is methodically used until all bones are broken. But don't get shook. A little later Scott catches up with the guy that did it and gives him the same treatment. In spite of this, this release is better than average. It's in color.

AFRICA SCREAMS (1 Bell)
Africa screams while the audience snores. The usual Bud Abbott and Lou Costello slapstick comedy. One short: "Eight Day 13th."

BATTLE OF ROGUE RIVER (2 Bells)
The picture is a typical western with a full quota of action and romance starring George Montgomery, Betty Hutton and Maureen O'Hara. Montgomery is in charge of a fort in Oregon. He tries to keep at peace with the Indians, but villainous whites conspire against him. One short: "No Place Like Home."

CASANOVA'S BIG NIGHT (4 Bells)
Eighteenth Century Italy splits its antique sides when Bob Hope, who plays a meek tailor's apprentice, meets the period's greatest lover, Joan Fontaine. Basil Rathbone, Audrey Dalton and Vincent Price supply an excellent supporting cast for Hope's hilarious romances. The picture is in Technicolor. Two shorts: "Do Some One A Favor" and "House Tricks."

EXECUTIVE SUITE (4 Bells)
Starring what a fabulous cast consisting of William Holden, June Allyson, Barbara Stanwyck, Frederic March, Walter Pidgeon, Shelly Winters, Paul Douglas, Louis Calhern, Dean Jagger and Nina Foch, the picture is well organized. The president of a big corporation dies suddenly. His board of directors battle to gain the position. Two shorts: "Western Germany" and "High School Jinks."

RHAPSODY (3 Bells)

From across Northwestern plains comes who? It's not the Lone Ranger! Yes, Randolph Scott rides again. In this picture he spends most of his time fighting off Indians and outlaws.

SECOND CHANCE (4 Bells)
The scene is set in a small South American country. Romance blossoms between Robert Mitchum, a prizefighter, and Linda Darnell, a gangster's runaway girl friend. Jack Palance, the most celebrated villain since Richard Widmark, pushed a sweet old lady down a flight of stairs. The picture is not original or very complex, but it manages to hold interest through continuous action and mounting suspense. The movie is in Technicolor.

DEVIL'S CANYON (2 Bells)
A western with a new twist. Both the sheriff, Dale Robertson, and the outlaw, Stephen McNally, are sent to prison. The feminine interest is supplied by Virginia Mayo who is sentenced to prison. The matter is centered around a vengeful outlaw, hero, with 500 men and a headquarters in the Rockies. The picture is in Technicolor.
