Ol' Santa, Himself To Arrive Thursday At Field House Here

Goettge Memorial field house will be transformed into miniature North Pole at 2 p.m. Thursday when Santa Claus arrives for his annual visit to Camp Lejeune.
Laden down with hundreds of gaily-wrapped gifts for the small-fry—compliments of Camp Special Services—the old gent with the long, white whiskers will also hold court for kids from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Before his arrival, children and parents will be entertained with traditional Christmas music and carols by the 2nd Division band and led in prayer by Camp chaplains.
Camp Lejeune parents are reminded that all children must be accompanied by an adult.

Next Globe Issue Says Goodby 1954

Next week's GLOBE will be a holiday issue and the last issue of 1954. The GLOBE will not be published on Dec. 30.
Copy for release and notices of holiday events, which should cover the following two-week period, must be in the GLOBE office by Monday evening, Dec.
20, to be considered for inclusion in the Christmas—New Year's edition.
Copy received afterwards will be considered for the Jan. 6 issue.
The GLOBE office is NOT closing down for the holidays and full coverage will continue to be made of events in the Tri-Commands.

If You Want The Folks To Get The Goods — Mail Now!

Postmasters here and in Jacksonville issued a "word to the wise" yesterday when they urged prompt mailing of Christmas gifts and cards to avoid a last-minute rush.
The two weeks before Christmas bring tremendous mail loads into post offices, they said, adding that yesterday a record was set in Jacksonville when 35,000 pieces of mail were cancelled at the post office there.
The Jacksonville post office handles all outgoing mail for the city, Tarawa Terrace and Camp Lejeune.
As a word of advice the postmasters asked that air parcel post be used for packages going to other states. Air mail postage is the best idea for any remaining cards with distant addresses, it was stated.
To aid last-minute mailers, the local post offices will remain open from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., including Saturday.
You may help on the receiving end as well, the postmasters added. Porch lights left on after dark are especially helpful to the mailman, as is a full name on the mail box and an unfaded street number or one not covered with vines or some object.
Don't forget—try and mail your Christmas gifts this weekend along with the cards for distant points. Holiday greetings for local addresses should be sent at least a week before Christmas.

S-D Day Traffic Safety Push To Carry Through Holidays

With Safe Driving day little more than half over at GLOBE presstime, the Tri-Commands—Marine Corps Base, the 2nd Division and Force Troops—continued their already-begun traffic safety campaign designed to reduce traffic accidents involving local personnel during the holiday season.

As S-D day got underway at midnight Tuesday, and with thousands of Marine and Navy personnel from the three commands soon to pour onto the highways anxious to "get home as soon as possible," local safety officials put into action a safety maneuver aimed at cutting accidents through increased military police patrols—in a maneuver that will see every available MP on duty throughout the holiday season.

A special session of the Camp
Motor Vehicle Disciplinary Control board was held yesterday
"as a means of helping free the 24-hour S-D day period from accidents and violations and as a means of making each violator more conscious of his responsibilities as a driver." Photos were taken of S-D day violators.

Going all-out for traffic safety, each of the Tri-Commands is conducting its own extensive "no accident" program, with particular emphasis on the holiday seasons.

Special effort has been made by 2nd Division unit commanders to insure that each man in each outfit has received educational talks on safe driving, civilian legal liability in accidents and the consequence of violations of traffic regulations.
Personalized letters also have been prepared to be mailed to the individual marine's parents, relatives or friends with whom he will spend the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The purpose of these letters is to bring to the attention of parents and friends the importance of encouraging their marines to allow themselves sufficient time for a safe trip back.

As a constant reminder to drive safely safe-driving slogans have been prepared to be attached to the marine's leave papers, used on correspondence and preceding telephone conversations.
Off-base Military Police patrols will continue under the North Carolina Highway Patrol authorization to ticket violators in automobiles bearing Camp Le-jeune tags within 50 miles.
With the accident rate among servicemen nearly 30 times higher than that of the rest of the nation's population, military leaders are especially anxious to see the stepped-up drive lead to a reduction of violations and fatalities.
The current year at Camp Le-jeune so far has seen a decrease in both deaths and overall violations—fatalities, alone, are 23, as against a 1953 total of 28.

GED Testing Resumes Here Next Monday

Beginning Dec. 20, General Educational Development Testing will be resumed, both to test educational development and as a means of determining those marines to be awarded high school diplomas or equivalent certificates.
In addition, a one-year college level test will be offered to those who have already completed high school.
These high school and one-year college certificates are valuable to marines and naval personnel for service records, service schools, and the Naval Cadet program.
Tests will be administered Monday and Friday at 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the Educational Section of Special Services in the Camp theater. The high school test consists of five parts and the one-year college of four, but no two parts may be taken in one day.
Any marine or sailor with an ID card can take the high school test. Any marine or sailor with an ID card and a high school diploma can take the one-year college exam. In both cases, an application form must be completed before reporting to the testing center.
For further information contact the Camp Education office at the Camp theater, phone 7-5121.

College Study Form At Education Office

Pre-registration forms are now available at all Unit Education offices for the college-level evening classes to resume here on or about Feb. 1.
These pre-registration forms will be used to determine which courses will be offered, as a minimum of 15 must enroll for each course.
Further information is available through your unit Education officer or the Camp Education office, phone 7-5121.

40 Graduate Today From Red Cross Water Safety Class

Forty marines will graduate today from the American Red Cross Water Safety Instructors' course. Maj. Gen. Alfred H. Noble, commanding general, MCB, is expected to present the diplomas at the Area 2 pool. A demonstration of swimming and water safety will be featured at the graduation.
The two-week course, which involved about 30 hours of instruction, was available to all who passed the Red Cross Senior Life-saving course.
Students who took the course were given instruction to qualify them to teach Red Cross courses in beginning, intermediate, and advanced swimming, basic and advanced survival, junior and senior lifesaving, and the water safety instructors' course from which they will graduate.
Bill McDonald of the state Red Cross staff, was head instructor for the course.

WHEN DID YOU STOP BELIEVING IN SANTA CLAUS AND WHY?

HN WILLIAM HAJOSTEK, "B" CO., 1ST BN., SIXTH MARINES—I was about 8 years old. The bishop took us aside at Mass and explained the birth of Christ. That showed me the real meaning of Christmas, not the commercial side of it. From that time on I knew there wasn't any Santa Claus.

SSGT. JOHN BARATH, HQ. CO., MP BN., MCB—I never did. I still believe in Santa Claus. I've never gone through Christmas and who besides Santa Claus would send a present to a big, ugly Marine sergeant? Seriously, I'm blessed with a wonderful family and Santa Claus comes to visit us every year.

SSGT. CARL OLSON, "B" CO., HQ. BN., MCB—I guess I was about 5 years old. I saw a man changing into a Santa Claus suit and that did the trick. I thought Santa Claus always wore that suit and stayed at the North Pole, but when this happened I knew the truth.

PFC WILLIAM FULKS, GUARD CO., MP BN., MCB—I was about 5 years old and my mother told me the truth. She decided to tell me because I had found all the toys in the closet. That was the first time I'd even suspected that it wasn't Santa Claus who brought toys to children on Christmas eve.

PFC FRANK RUNBLEY, H&S CO., 3RD BN., SIXTH MARINES—I was 9 years old. I found my mother and father wrapping presents Christmas eve. I'll never forget that. It was quite a shock to me. I guess it is to all kids when they find out. I just couldn't get over it that Christmas.

8th Engineer Bn. Is Changing Face On Mother Earth To Build Road On Swamp

BY CPL. DON W. SHARPE

With Company "C", 8th Engineer Bn., Force Troops, earth moving is a business—sometimes a life-saving business.

The company, the only "engineering outfit" at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, presently is engaged in two major projects. One involves moving thousands of tons of earth to build a road through a swamp, the other to fill a gigantic ditch that caused at least two deaths to Cherry Point flyers last year.

Project "B" involves the building of a mile and a half access road across swamp and soft ground to the site of a proposed aircraft directional homing station. Since no foundation is available for such a road, the Engineers have hauled earth from a site nearly five miles away.

Five five-ton trucks average 10 trips a day from the loading site, where a shovel loads earth from a pile dredged up by a heavy bulldozer, to the road where each truck dumps five cubic yards of earth and stones to help make the necessary three-foot high foundation of the 15-foot wide road. Three 18-ton tractor diesel bulldozers and two road graders level the earth behind a tracked dragline that digs a drainage ditch after the area has been hand-cleared of brush and trees by the Engineers.

Engineering commitments to the air station are based on a six-month training period, with another company scheduled to replace "C" Co. next March.

Besides the present projects, the company is fulfilling its role as "heavy equipment engineers" by building vehicular bridges, culverts, an earth-fill dam and access roads.

Under the command of Capt. F. B. Coppins, the company's four officers and 95 enlisted men are kept busy in advancing the work schedule, which calls for the completion of Project "B" by mid-spring and Project "C" by Feb. 1, 1955.

Project "C" is a two-fold operation. Earth from a 2,200-foot extension of a drainage ditch on runway 23 is being used to fill the present gully that obstructs the runway into which two flyers crashed last year.

Three 16-cubic yard scrapers towed by 24-ton bulldozers are doing the bulk of the ditch's excavation. When finished it will be 90 to 110-feet deep with sloping sides.

In addition, stumps have been removed from a 10-acre site in line with the runway to provide a safer emergency landing area.

Long-Lost Buddies Found By Using Division Locator

BY CPL. JOHN F. GREEN

Do you have a long-lost brother, cousin, uncle or anyone serving with the 2nd Division you'd like to track down? Just dial 7-5279 and tell your troubles to the Division Locator, "Tracer of Lost Souls."

A centrally situated Locators Office is set up in Division Headquarters, Bldg. 2. To trace anyone, phone the Locator, give the man's name and in a matter of seconds you have the individual's regiment, battalion and company.

A file of every marine in the 2nd Division is kept which includes active and dead files. The active file contains data on personnel still connected with the Division and the dead file includes personnel since departed. These files contain over 40,000 data cards and must be constantly checked for accuracy.

This office has recently adopted a new "code filing system" which was created by the Machine Records Installation section here. Code numbers are employed in lieu of organizational addresses, which assist personnel of the Locator's office to expedite the search for the missing person.

TSgt. LeRoy W. Pasi, Section Chief, stated the 2nd Division is the only organization to his knowledge using the new code system. "With a monthly average of 1,700 men joining and 1,300 men leaving the Division, the code really speeds up our work," pointed out the sergeant.

Some 150 local and 25 long distance calls are received by the office each day. "If we can locate the man in a few seconds and inform the caller, we have done our job," explained the Chief Locator.

Up For Transfer? Notify Shipping

Here's a word for men with transfer papers who have been requesting immediate service from the household shipping section of Camp Shipping and Receiving:

Don't hold your orders. Shipping needs a minimum 72-hour notice.

The shipping people are set up for service. With a week's notice there should be little danger of poor crating or inaccuracies.

Actor Sheds Grease Paint To Enlist In Marine Corps

MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, KANEOHE BAY, HAWAII—The "Black Sheep" squadron of Marine Air Station 1, Kaneohe, Hawaii, boasts a movie star in its ranks, who puts aside his Hollywood career to enlist in the Marine Corps.

Cpl. Anthony Auer, son of the well-known film comedian, Mischa Auer, who has been a familiar figure on the nation's film screens for more than two decades, is now serving as a radar specialist. He was living in Europe when the American embassy informed him he would have to register for Selective Service. Instead, he crossed the ocean and enlisted in the Leatherneck service in December, 1952, in New York City.

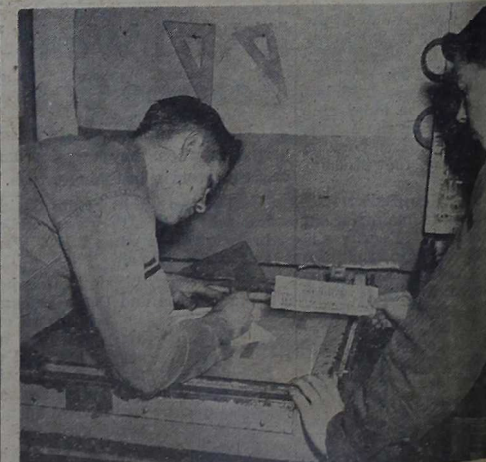

The Auers—father and son—deserted Hollywood for Europe in 1949. The younger member of the family continued his schooling in England and holds a Certificate of English Language Literature from Oxford University. After graduation, he joined the British Royal Air Force in Italy and set about making a career of it. He has been an actor, but had to leave the profession because of his military service. He has been in four Italian films including "The Sky" which has shown at air shows throughout the world.

Prior to enlisting, he made several radio shows and television appearances on "The Line" and "I've Got a Secret." Prior to arriving in Hawaii, he was stationed at El Toro Air Force Base, California, but had little spare time to further his career in show business.

"I'd rather get a good background either in New York or Europe before coming to Hollywood, and I'm not going to let my background, even if you have been actors for hundreds of years, get in the way of a studio going to work in pictures."

The elder Auer now lives at 21 Avenue Charles, Paris, France, but in Spain for a number of years where he is laying the groundwork for his "Don Quixote" in television based upon the life of the famed windmill fighter. The films are to be French, Spanish and English, when completed, al reports.

SAFETY SLOGANS—Cpls. Howard P. Bankston, left, and Vincent L. Taur, right, are shown at work on safety slogans. These slogans will be clipped to each set of leave orders obtained by men going home for the holidays. An all-out effort is being made to keep down the service fatality rate during the holidays (Official USMC Photo).

'HOP' SYSTEM

Peterfield Point Helps Santa With North Pole Transit

With so many marines going home for the Christmas holidays, the Air Facility at Peterfield Point lends a hand to the North Pole transit system.

Home in a hurry is the keynote with Peterfield giving an assist. Three days a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 8:50 a.m., a regularly-scheduled mail plane leaves for Norfolk and Washington. Room is available on a priority basis. CMC orders take precedence, then Official Business orders, emergency leave, leave and then liberty. It is first come first served for men in the same categories.

Besides the scheduled flights, there is a chance of catching a hop on visiting aircraft on training and navigational flights.

Safety is a must on all flights. Prior to take-off, plane captains give the passengers lectures on survival equipment, the use of parachutes and safety belts.

The pilot checks the plane maintenance list and receives complete weather briefing before each flight. Then the plane is ready for take-off and the out-bound marine is on his way.

Service passengers must be in the leave or liberty uniform. Women Marines, however, wear utilities while in flight.

GOOD EATS—Cpl. Richard Beadles of Service Co., 8th Tank Bn., is probably thinking of good food to come while purchasing a gift-wrapped copy of the 700-recipe cook book, "Camp Lejeune Platter Parade," from Officers' Wives club representative Mrs. R. R. Wilson in the Camp theater. The book sells for $1.75 a copy, or $2 for Christmas gift wrapping and mailing. (Official USMC Photo).

Post Cards Simplify Personnel Requests

Post card correspondence is the latest answer to reducing heavy administrative burdens.

Outlined in Marine Corps Memorandum 97-54, the new policy applies to requests for personnel information for use by commanding officers that may be mailed direct to the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

The use of Post Card forms NAVMC-10275-PD and NAVMC-537-PD for official correspondence of a routine nature between all echelons applies to cases that require neither action, comment, nor review by seniors in the chain of command, and contain no classified matter or deal with matters affecting efficiency of the command.

1st Bn., 8th Marine Man Gets Award In Rifle Competition

Third quarter winners of the third annual Leatherneck magazine rifle competition were announced last week.

A 2nd Division marine, Sgt. Steward E. Charles, of "B" Co., 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, was high man with a score of 238. He received a bronze medal, a check for $50 and a gift certificate.

Cpl. Ronald L. Chuda, H&S Co., 2nd Service Bn., captured runner-up honors with 231 and was awarded a bronze medal, a $15 check and a gift certificate.

Third place went to Pfc John R. Barbara Jr., Motor Transport Co., 2nd Service Bn., who received a gift certificate.

Held over from the second quarter was Tsgt. Henry W. Oates of H&S Co., 1st Bn., Tenth Marines, who fired 233. Sgt. Oates was presented with a gift certificate.

Temporary Wiring Taboo After Jan. 1

According to Camp General Order 549, the installation of field wire, rubber-covered cable or temporary wire systems on or in permanent utility installations after Jan. 1 is strictly forbidden without approval from the commanding general, Marine Corps Base.

Any temporary wire installations remaining after the January deadline will be removed without notification by Camp Maintenance and Camp Communications.

Mistrial Declaration OK'd In New Ruling

The law officer at a court martial now has the right to declare a mistrial, according to a recent ruling of the Court of Military Appeals, according to Navy Times.

The court also held that the convening authority has the same power, but must be careful how he uses it.

It was stated that the law officer, being able to hear and see all that happens during trial, is in a better position to stop a trial, in case of some unexpected event, than is the convening authority.

BANK HOLIDAY

The First-Citizens Bank and Trust Co., Bldg. 1, will be closed all day Dec. 25, 26 and 27.

Col. Collins Made Assistant C-S, G-2 For 2nd Division

Col. Ralph A. Collins Jr. began his tour as assistant chief of staff, G-2, of the 2nd Division last week when he relieved Col. J. L. Mueller who was assigned to the Second Marines as executive officer.

Prior to his entry into the Marine Corps in July, 1938, the new intelligence chief graduated from the University of Maryland. He was assigned to the USS Philadelphia shortly after, serving aboard that ship from 1939 to 1940.

During World War II, Colonel Collins was stationed at Midway Island during the Japanese shelling on Dec. 7, 1941. He later participated in the Solomon Islands campaign with the 10th Defense Bn.

Following this, he reported to the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., where he was in turn, student, instructor and G-3.

He was assigned to CPNAV (Strategic Plans Section) in 1948 and was advisor to the United States-Mexico Defense Commission.

The colonel's last tour was as an assistant planner at Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic. While there, he observed the first explosion of an atomic weapon participated in by Marine troop units, elements of the 2nd Division.

Upon his arrival here at Camp Lejeune in July of this year, Colonel Collins was chief of staff, NORAMEX, and of the Eastern Landing Group, both commanded by Brig. Gen. R. B. Luckey, Force Troops.

LOOK, MA!

Lejeune Fliers Do Aerial Toe-Dance As Plane Makes One-Wheel Landing

A veteran local civilian employee who "helped build" Camp Lejeune, and a Marine Corps Base officer played leading roles Sunday in a real-life drama that saw the two make a one-wheel landing in a light airplane at Jacksonville airport.

James E. Thomas, a leadingman pipefitter with Camp Maintenance who helped install some of the same pipe he now maintains while an employee here in 1940-41, and 2nd Lt. Keith S. Ingram of Maintenance Co., Service Bn., MCB, were going through routine practice in emergency landings when spectators saw the left landing gear strut of the two-place Aeronca Chief dangling loose.

Al Munch, son of Airport Owner Sam Munch—chief of the Camp Plumbing shop—quickly took off in another plane to warn the damaged aircraft.

"We knew something must be wrong when we saw the other plane cut under us and then saw the people on the runway," Thomas said. "I told Ingram to look out his door to check the landing gear, and I looked out my side. He said his gear was hanging down."

Taking the controls, Thomas, who has logged more than 600 hours in his eight years of flying and who holds a commercial instructor's license, made two passes at the field—not landing the first time because of spectators too near the runway—and landed the plane holding the wing high on the damaged side.

As the plane touched-down the damaged strut slipped back into its channel and the plane settled to a normal landing.

A student pilot with just five hours dual instruction, Ingram bought the plane only this month. Far from discouraged by the mishap, he said he expects to fly it to Houston, Texas, during his Christmas leave.

A Navy veteran and former Marine reservist, Thomas served with the Navy from 1944 to 1946 and on active duty with the Corps from 1950 to 1951. He has worked with Camp Maintenance since his discharge from the Marines.

REMAIN, AUDACIOUS TAR—HN Robert L. Gibbons and Lt. L. Taurish sing the "Refrain Audacious Tar" duet from Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore," in the Naval hospital's production of the musical in the hospital auditorium last night. Gibbons, the lowly seaman, Ralph Rackstraw, pleads his love for the daughter of the "Admiral of the Queen's Navy," who spurns his affection because of the difference in their ranks. He marries her later after it is discovered that Ralph and the Admiral were switched at birth, making Ralph of noble birth. (Official USMC Photo).

MARINES FIRST AGAIN—North Carolina Secretary of State Thad Eure, left, congratulates Maj. W. O. Cain Jr., state recruiting officer, on receiving the first telegram over newly-installed Western Union facilities at Raleigh. The telegram, from the general manager of the company's southeastern district at Atlanta, expressed Western Union's thanks to the Marines for helping dedicate the new Raleigh office and congratulated Major Cain for his outstanding achievements in recruiting in the Carolinas. He said that it was fitting that the Marines, who are "traditionally first," should receive the first message over the new facilities. In addition to providing a color guard for the opening ceremonies, Marine recruiters furnished a guard of honor for the secretary of state. Capt. G. M. McCain, center, assistant recruiting officer, helped direct Marine participation at the opening (Official USMC Photo).

Navy Offers Two Or Three-Year Hitches To EM's Who Reship After First Tour

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—Navy enlisted men completing their first enlistments may re-enlist for periods of two or three years, as well as for the usual four or six-year terms, according to a new Navy policy.

Those reenlisting for the first time are eligible for a reenlistment bonus and a lump-sum payment for unused leave. They are also entitled to mustering out pay and a six cents per mile travel allowance from place of discharge to place of first enlistment or to home of record at time of initial entry into the Navy.

Sailors may also extend their enlistments for periods of one or more years, not to exceed a total of four years of extension on a single enlistment. Until now, one year extensions were authorized only for several specified reasons.

Regular Navy personnel who extend for two, three or four years are entitled to mileage payments and reenlistment bonus, but not to mustering out pay or payment for unused leave.

If an enlistment is extended more than once, the extensions are considered together to determine eligibility for reenlistment bonus.

Naval Reservists on active duty also can reenlist in the regular Navy under the new program. They will receive full benefits provided such enlistments are within three months of the expiration of their Reserve enlistments.

If they reenlist in the Naval Reserve, they are not eligible to receive a reenlistment bonus, but are entitled to a mileage allowance and payment for unused leave.

Reservists reenlisting in the Reserve while serving on active duty must continue on active duty for at least one year from the time of reenlistment. Reservists extending their enlistments will receive only mileage payments.

Applications Asked To Ordnance School

Regular male Marine officers, first lieutenants and below, may now apply for the Explosive Ordnance Disposal course and the Special Weapons Disposal course at the Naval Powder Factory, Indian Head, Md.

The courses are of 12 weeks and four weeks duration, respectively. Applications may be forwarded through regular channels to Headquarters, Marine Corps.

Corps Concerned Over 'Way-Down' Reenlistment Rate

With first enlistments and broken-time reenlistments consistently up to par, the Marine Corps has expressed concern over a lack of reenlistments among active duty personnel.

Headquarters has hopes that 40 per cent of the 45,000 marines whose enlistments end this fiscal year will sign over, although that figure has not been reached as yet. In September, the most recent month for which there are complete statistics, only 30 per cent shipped over.

By contrast, the Corps enlisted 89,766 during fiscal year 1954—107.5 per cent of its quota.

A tentative quota for this FY is 35,000. During the first four months each monthly quota was exceeded, and reports indicate that November's quota will easily be met.

Green Light Given Research Contracts On Portable 'Copter

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The Navy has awarded research and development contracts for a rotor-cycle, a one-man portable helicopter, to two helicopter manufacturers.

The Marine Corps will use the small helicopters for observation, liaison and small unit tactical maneuvers. Both designs selected by the Navy are for craft that can be collapsed into a small package for easy transportation and be assembled quickly.

The Gyrodyne Co. of America, St. James, N. Y., and Hiller Helicopters, Palo Alto, Calif., were selected from among 18 manufacturers who submitted 30 designs in a competition for a lightweight rotor-cycle to be used by the Marines. The two contracts amount to $200,000 and call for completion within one year.

Cupid Reigns As Four Women Marines Exchange Marriage Vows Last Friday

BY CPL. KATHLEEN SIMMONS

Thursday is usually the day for "field night" in the WM Co. Last week, however, that little cherub with the bow and arrow who goes by the name of Dan Cupid pulled a "field day" on Friday with four members of WM Co. getting married.

Pfc Edna J. Campbell of WM Co. and Cpl. Joseph L. Czlatinski, 2nd Combat Service Group, spoke the marriage vows in a single-ring ceremony performed at 9 a. m. in the Catholic chapel at Camp Geiger by Chaplain Romuald J. Walsh on Friday.

The bride chose a white net lace over taffeta and carried a cascade of white carnations on a prayer book.

Maid of honor was Pfc Janet Cummings of WM Co. She wore a street-length gown of dusty green and carried a bouquet of red carnations. Best man was Cpl. Eugene Durrwachter, 2nd Combat Service Group.

Mrs. Czlatinski will make her residence in Pittsburgh after her husband's transfer overseas.

Cpl. Lucille I. Nadeau, WM Co., and Cpl. Donald A. Peck of Camp Motor Transport were married in a double-ring ceremony at 9 p. m. Friday.

The bride chose a sky blue princess style ballerina-length gown.

The couple will reside in Florida after their discharges.

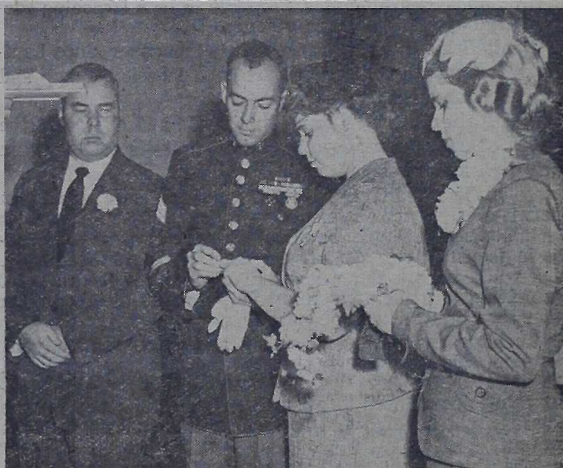

Sgt. Natalie Panceroff, WM Co., and Cpl. Richard Betzel, Hq. Bn., MCB, spoke the nuptial vows in a twilight double-ring ceremony performed by H. E. Blanton in Conway, S. C., on Friday.

Sgt. Panceroff wore a charcoal gray two-piece suit with matching accessories.

A reception in their honor was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Koner, 108 Westminister st., Jacksonville.

In a double-ring ceremony performed by a Justice of the Peace in Jacksonville, N. C., Pvt. Ann G. Laverdure, WM Co., was wed to Pvt. James Thomas, who is awaiting transfer overseas.

Ann will continue to live on base after her husband's transfer.

WM Maneuvers

BY CPL. KATHLEEN SIMMONS

For the first time in several weeks, transfers and discharges aren't the predominant news in our company. We have Mary Diaz being discharged today, and Beverly Smith will become a civilian tomorrow. Nancy Olds was transferred to Washington, D. C., and left last Friday.

Since this is the holiday season, let's everyone put away their troubles and frowns and get that joyful feeling.

The hail and sleet of last week certainly brought a flurry of excitement in WM Co. Betty Lumsden of Hawaii was seen gathering a bucketfull of the stuff to make "snowballs."

For many of the maids from the Islands, it was the first time they had ever seen hail and sleet and many of them mistook it for snow.

Say, hey! How about this Tree Decorating party planned for tonight? It should prove quite interesting, especially since the Staff will be doing the serving.

The party will start right after working hours when the girls will gather boughs and pine cones from behind the barracks to decorate the lounges and common areas.

So, let's everyone join in the fun and make this a party long to be remembered. Chow will be provided by the Mess Hall and will be arranged in a buffet style.

Next Friday night a Christmas party will be held in the lounge of Barracks 63. Santa Claus, in the person of one —, will present gifts to all those present. "Y'all" come to the party to find out who is playing the old gentleman.

Mrs. Egan's kindergarten class; Miss Ross' first grade; Mrs. Ross' first grade; Mrs. Weber's first grade; Miss Bell's sixth grade; Mrs. Hannegan's third grade; Mrs. Thompson's third grade and Mrs. Centlivre's first grade.

Mrs. Kermit C. Zieg, membership chairman, said, "It was only through the combined efforts of the parents, teachers, school administration and the wonderfully cooperative publicity agencies that this membership was reached. It is the desire of the executive board, in behalf of the P.T.A. to thank everyone for their excellent work!"

Operation DeathFlex

Operation DeathFlex, a 20-day maneuver designed to reduce the population of Camp Lejeune through carelessness, gets underway today when the first marine-manned automobile hits the highway on a hell-bent journey for home.

The unorthodox and untimely operation, occasioned by the two holiday leave periods, promises to be a smashing success on the basis of past performance.

DeathFlex will be the largest-scale maneuver since LantFlex of last month, with personnel from Division, Camp and Force Troops participating.

The main objective—to maim, disable and skyrocket the number of deaths far above last year's toll—is easily within reach if all hands cooperate.

To make DeathFlex the most gruesome spectacle in an otherwise festive season drivers need only violate a few rules of common sense. To place your life and the lives of your buddies in jeopardy you can drive recklessly, speed needlessly, drink while behind the wheel and disobey all the rules of safe driving to make your automobile a mode of destruction rather than a means of transportation.

Tackling the problem sensibly and in a positive vein, this giant-scale operation is one that marines must approach with defeat as the objective, for defeat means victory. DeathFlex cannot be allowed to get a toehold on the beach for the casualties will be high and as serious as actual combat can produce.

The ultimate outcome—the defeat of DeathFlex—rests in your hands behind the wheel of your car. Drive safely and get home safely.

The Old Corps

Ten years ago today:

Camp Lejeune went over the top in the Pearl Harbor Day War Bond drive with a total of $180,900, topping the quota by $5,900.

The Marine Corps' Women Reserve band of Lejeune—only one of its kind in existence—returned from a successful 3,500-mile, 34-day exhibition tour.

Camp Lejeune's Little Theater Group prepared to stage "My Sister Eileen."

Camp Lejeune opened its basketball season with an 81-25 win over the Smithfield, N. C., Rotary club and a 71-29 win over Cherry Point.

Movies playing at Camp theaters:

"To Have And Have Not" starring Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall; "Hollywood Canteen" with a bevy of famous stars; "Bell Of The Yukon" featuring Randolph Scott and Gypsy Rose Lee, and "Blonde Fever" with Philip Doren and Mary Astor.

Throw Away Money?

Would you throw away money? We don't mean spending money foolishly on stuff you don't need. We all do that. But would you—right this minute—empty out your pockets and throw away your hard-earned cash on the ground and walk away?

You're laughing? Well, you know the old saying: "Time is money." Do you spend your spare time like it was money? Or do you toss it away.

The way you use your time has a direct bearing on your career and ultimate success. You should invest your time the same way you would invest money.

You can't go wrong if you study. The United States Armed Forces Institute and Marine Corps Institute both offer splendid spare-time opportunities. You can take courses that will help you in civilian life—as well as courses that will help you make your own breaks as a career serviceman.

Look at it this way, too: can you afford to turn down a top-notch education that's offered to you at practically no cost at all? In most cases, all it costs you is your spare time.

If you want to be a success in life, you haven't a minute to waste. (AFPS)

Chaplain's Corner

ON BEING GOOD

The old admonition, "Be a good boy", upon our leaving home or starting out on a new course of action, still rings in our ears. It has come to us from parents, wives, sweethearts, friends and those who have the responsibility of our well being at heart, if not in their hands.

Though we are often admonished to be good it is not always just what is in the mind of the admonisher or the admonished. Let us think for a moment, then, on the idea of "Being Good."

First of all let us look at some of the things it is not. It certainly is not a "Do Nothing" admonition. If that were so our friends would be further if they saved their breath. We not only refuse to heed such advice but we are likely to plunge headlong in the other direction.

Then, too, it is not the following of a watered down course of action. Whatever we are engaged in, we like to do it with all of our will and all of our might. We are not halfway people.

What, then, may it mean to be good? Among other things, it must mean the doing of something worthwhile, and for which we need never be ashamed. It must mean that we do it with all of our might. And finally it must mean that we derive joy and happiness from the course of our actions.

The question we need to always ask ourselves is not simply "Are we being good?", but "Are we being good for something." —Chaplain Cecil V. Marley, Tenth Marines.

WASHINGTON REPORT

The services' all-out effort to pay raise for military personnel during the next session of Congress was given a red light by President Eisenhower. The president's veto in favor of a 6.5 percent raise for servicemen's pay was a blow to the military's hopes for a pay increase. At a press conference, the president spoke of the military's pay raise when Congress meets in January. He said he thought the military's pay should be improved to improve the morale of the service life. Only a few days before the annual meeting of the Defense Department, the president's veto was a weight behind a military pay raise. Mr. Wilson's pay raise would average about a six per cent increase for the individual. While favoring a military pay raise, President Eisenhower thought servicemen's pay should be improved to improve the morale of the service life. He stated he did not want to join the armed forces for the sake of money. Instead, he wanted the nation to make the military a more respected profession and to make the military a more attractive career. The President said he was not making life in the military more attractive by giving a pay raise. He came out very strongly in support of proper military service families, better pay, less frequent changes in command, and an increase in retirement benefits. He said that the qualities existing in the military, particularly those between regular personnel and the reserve, were not corrected, he added. With all these things in mind, the pay raise would be only a small step, although he thought there should be a slight increase. Mr. Wilson's support of a six per cent pay raise for military personnel was a small step, although he thought there should be a slight increase. Mr. Wilson's support of a six per cent pay raise for military personnel was a small step, although he thought there should be a slight increase.

Vieques Embarkation...

TSgt. Lou Nadolny, Informational Service and TRAEX Hq. Photo. Alexander Minaeff.

THE EQUIPMENT of an amphibious loading group, each with its own size and shape and purpose and manner of movement, brings varied problems to the embarkation section. Crawler cranes (top, right), M-48 tanks (top, left) and wheeled vehicles, center, must be scheduled for loading aboard the proper landing vessels (above). Scale models are positioned on scale drawings of cargo spaces to insure that each piece of equipment can maneuver into position. . . . RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LOADING OF TRAEX 2-55 are (center, left) Maj. John Step-anovich and his section chief, MSgt. William C. Hastan. . . . A PHOTO MOSAIC of Vieques (far left) helps as Brig. Gen. Arthur F. Binney, maneuver CG, Capt. Henry S. Persons and the general staff consider landing areas and resupply points. . . . TRAEX HEADQUARTERS (left) hums with activity as the "One Section" sees that the occupational fields of an amphibious operation are filled by qualified personnel, that these persons are issued proper orders, that their records are maintained even while in transit beyond the continental limits. . . . A TERRAIN MODEL of Vieques (below, left) helps MSgt. Harry C. Manion, Maj. Roy O. Larsen and Capt. Harold T. White of G-2 determine whether the land favors attack or defense. . .

... Sets The Stage For TRAEX 2-55

TRAEX is not a new term to the marines of Camp Lejeune. They and their families know it means "Training Exercise." They have LANTFLEX, TAGLEX and CPX, but only TRAEX means the Caribbean area, Puerto Rico in particular. But why all the exercises? The answer is simple enough: the Marine Corps keeps in training as does any professional team. Headquarters, TRAEX 2-55, is typical of these organizations. Paper work started several months ago at Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic. Personnel, equipment and supplies were estimated and various units received orders to supply these needs. With the arrival of staff personnel, TRAEX headquarters started the planning stage. The embark section, informed of the amount of equipment, supplies and personnel, must funnel all of this to fit into the shipping space allotted for the operation. Everything must arrive at the docks on time if confusion is to be avoided. The supply section insures that all necessary equipment is available just as the personnel section insures that men are available to fit the required jobs. Intelligence, from available information, advises the commander of the type of land area, its suitability for operations and the possible enemy situation. Communications receives and transmits dispatches that alter or change various phases of the exercise. The Vieques camp commander sets areas for billeting all participating units and investigates such details as the water situation, as well as preparing directives for the operation of the camp. Special Services arranges beforehand for recreation equipment, magazines, books and tours to points of interest, all for the relaxation of the men during off hours. These and many other plans are made long before the exercise actually takes place. It can be compared to a complex jig-saw puzzle, containing thousands of pieces, with several hundred people working together to fit the details into a complete picture.

Cagers Outclass Cherry Point To Win 84-78 In Run-Away

Camp Lejeune toppled the Cherry Point Flyers 84-78 on the home floor Tuesday night to record their third straight basketball victory.

Lejeune threatened to run away with the game in the third quarter when they opened up a 62-43 lead. The Flyers

Bissell's Foul Shots Give Local Marines Win Over Belmont

Guard Glen Bissell sank five crucial foul shots in the final 30 seconds of play as the Camp Lejeune Marines tripped Belmont Abbey 86-82 at the Goettge Memorial field house last Tuesday night.

Dick Hart, an unheralded forward with no college experience, started his second game for the locals and flipped in 18 points in the first half and 22 overall to play a vital role in the Leatherneck triumph.

The locals gave one of their finest team performances of the season as they spurred to a 46-42 halftime lead. Lejeune controlled the boards in the first two quarters, consistently out-rebounding the taller Abbey five.

Hart's unerring jump shots and a driving fast break gave the locals a four-point lead going into the third quarter.

The Abbey five quickly forged ahead 63-58 on the brilliant shooting of Jack Underwood who canned 27 points during the game to take top scoring honors.

Lejeune tied up the game on a basket by Harter and a three-point play by Nick Maguire.

Playing his usual fine floor game, Maguire collaborated with Bissell in the final four minutes to give the locals a three-point lead they never relinquished.

made a tremendous comeback to close the gap to 69-66 with 5:35 remaining in the ball game, but Lejeune's starting five came off the bench to score eight quick points and insure the victory.

The locals' Dick Harter, the only player to hit double figures in every game this season, tossed in seven field goals and six free throws to pace the offense with 20 points.

Nick Maguire, whose outstanding defensive play in the first half was mainly responsible for the Flyers' field goal famine, chipped in 19 points for second high honors. Glen Bissell contributed 13.

The locals completely outclassed Cherry Point in the opening two quarters, piling up a 44-34 halftime lead. The Flyers failed to solve Lejeune's defense and were forced to shoot from the outside.

In the third stanza with Lejeune's second string on the floor, the visitors got red hot and came within three points of a tie.

Maguire and company then returned to action and spurred to a 77-66 lead.

Cherry Point's scoring was equally distributed with Bob Jester scoring 14 points, Dave Sinnott 13 and Joe Delise and Chuck Ford tallying 12 points each.

With a solid starting five of Bissell, Harter, Tom Campbell, Red Hart and Maguire, the locals are playing their best ball of the season. The three-man fast break is clicking consistently and enough height is at last in the lineup to snare a fair share of the rebounds.

'Times' Picks Jerry Wenzel For 2nd Team

Jerry Wenzel, co-captain and center of Camp Lejeune's 1954 football team, last week was named by the Navy Times to a second team berth in this year's All-Sea Service picks.

A former Little All-American at St. Joseph's college and a star performer at Quantico in '53, Wenzel was beaten out for a first eleven spot by Ronald Zatkoff of Norfolk. Zatkoff received 90 votes to Wenzel's 80.

Quantico placed two men on the first team, Guard Steven Eisenhauer and Halfback Don Bingham, while Cherry Point had one in the person of Tackle Charlie Weber and Parris Island boasts Tackle Ed Tokus. The Virginia Marines also had Quarterback Steve Piskach named to the third team.

Bob Williams, former Notre Dame All-American who master-minded Bainbridge this year, was voted as first team quarterback and won acclaim as the "Most Valuable Player" of the year in sea service football.

Lejeune End Bob Benson received 20 votes in the balloting, while Guard Gene Watto received 15. Halfback Bob Meyers obtained 45 votes from sports writers and coaches for his performances this year, and Wenzel received 20 votes for the "Most Valuable Player" award.

Combining the picks of all three teams Marine Corps teams placed 12 men while the Navy choices totaled 21.

Golf Turkey Shoot Set For Weekend On Paradise Course

The Paradise Point Golf club will play host to the second "turkey shoot" of the season Saturday and Sunday.

Two individual tournaments will be held to give those who fail to win a turkey the first day an opportunity to try again the following afternoon.

The events will be the same as those included in the Thanksgiving "turkey shoot," a nine-hole putting contest, pitching to the pin on the practice green, shooting for the center of a six-foot circle from a distance of 100 yards and a blind bogey scramble.

Entry fee for the blind bogey will be 50 cents, while the remaining tournaments are priced at 25 cents. As in the past, the number of entrants will determine the number of turkeys given out.

Ten Paperweight Pugilists Come To Prelims And Semi-Finals For Bout

Two technical knockouts, effective for tears, and bloody noses featured the semi-finals of the first Paperweight tournament, last Saturday morning, in the Camp boxing ring.

fore a gathering of 50 spectators at times skeptical, but enthusiastic brothers among the Marines.

In keeping with a tradition of the semi-final scheduled bouts had to fight twice in the morning so the finals would be off tonight prior to the Lejeune-Quantico match. The bouts will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Goettge Memorial field house, with the finals slated for 8 p.m.

Battling their way through preliminaries two weeks ago, the semi-finals last week boys earned tonight's spots in the finals.

In the 50-60 pound weight Division, Richie Macionis of Quantico defeated Bruce Portillo of Parris Island in a bloody nose, returned an hour later to gain a technical knockout in the finals when he defeated Ron Harris.

Mike Ballenger, who defeated Jim Martin, will meet Mike Harris in the finals.

Byron Harris, who defeated Jim Martin, scored the first technical knockout earlier in the tournament when the referee called for Billy Sullivan in the third round.

In the open Atomweight division, Roy Sudeck of Quantico defeated a first-round opponent to come on strong in the second round and defeated George Chandler of Parris Island who decided to retire after the first round.

George Phillips gained a berth in the Fleaweight division by decisioning Robert Fritz will meet Phillip in the finals. To reach the final, Fritz defeated Lee Crook, the son, before losing to Mike Mount.

The Mosquitoweight division, Tim Randall battle his way to the finals when he defeated TKO'd Paul Hatjun, won on a forfeit from the losers, and Bill Treadwell of Quantico in the final. Gosset forfeited.

The 80-100-pound division saw John Finnegan of Quantico as the classiest boy in the division through the use of timing and combination punches. Ed Golaboski and then Jerry Aggan won the 100-pound division in the final.

Finnegan in the final, Steve Hatjun, defeated Finnegan, Fagan had a victory by Cizick.

Sports in short

Jack Haver

Glenn Bissell, high-scoring guard for Camp Lejeune, made ball history last Friday night at Goettge Memorial field house by a slim margin of attaining national prominence.

Going into the Little Creek game Glenn had made 26 consecutive foul shots over a span of five games. In the Little Creek tilt he made his first two, bringing his consecutive total to 28, but missed his next attempt, a shot that hit the back of the hoop and bounded out.

Had Bissell not missed that shot he would have run his total to 34 straight and unofficially smashed the NCAA record for the most consecutive foul shots made over a number of games.

The record, set in 1948, is held by Howard Shannon of Kansas State, with 33 consecutive tosses in 10 games.

However, Bissell's feat would not be accepted by the NCAA, for even though service ball is played under NCAA rules, Glenn has completed his basketball eligibility under NCAA restrictions, with four years at Siena college.

Glenn, however, did set a field house mark, if that is any consolation for a performance so close and yet so far.

Covering the Paperweight tourney last Saturday morning I became engaged in a conversation with a young miss of about three or four, who informed me, "I hope my brother gets beat up in his match." When I asked why, she retorted, "Because he broke my favorite doll last night."

That's a woman's idea of revenge, for you.

Cherry Point Golfers Tab Lejeune 93-62 In Commanding Generals' Fairway Duel

Thirty-five Cherry Point golfers, paced by a two-under-par 71 by Cpl. Vernon Hyslop, defeated Camp Lejeune 93-62 at the air base Sunday to square the season series at two matches apiece and gain revenge for last week's 91-44 defeat at Camp Lejeune.

Maj. Gen. Verne J. McCaul and Brig. Gen. Thomas Ennis, commanding general and assistant commanding general of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, picked up eight and a half of a possible nine points from Maj. Gen. Alfred H. Noble and Brig. Gen. Russell N. Jordahl, commanding general and chief of staff, of the Marine Corps Base, to aid the local cause.

General McCaul's 84 made him medalist for the four general officers. General Jordahl turned in an 88, General Ennis a 90 and General Noble a 93.

Sunday's victory for Cherry Point, played over the 6,279-yard, par 73 Cherry Point course, put the year's score at two matches each—the same record as in 1953. Both teams are undefeated at home.

One stroke behind Cpl. Hyslop for Cherry Point medalist honors was Dave Todd, pro at the golf course at Cherry Point. Tied for Lejeune medalists were Lt. George Christ, Sgt. Sam Spencer and Pfc Carter Smith, all of whom carded 75's.

Twice-Told Tale: Quantico Cagers Rip Lejeune To Pieces

The Quantico Marines overwhelmed Camp Lejeune for the second consecutive time 93-73 at the Goettge Memorial field house a week ago yesterday.

The Quantico five controlled the game offensively and defensively as the locals failed to cope with their fast break and had their own outside weave stymied after the second quarter.

Quantico's big three of Ted Henderson, Richie Guerin and Ron Perry led the offense for the second straight night with 19, 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Jim Tuma, Quantico mentor, flooded the court with substitutes in the final quarter as 20 players saw action. Every man on the Lejeune roster also went off the bench.

Glenn Bissell scored but four points in the game, his lowest of the year, but sank two free throws in two attempts to run his unbroken skein to 26 straight over the course of five games.

Player-coach Nick Maguire was high point man for Lejeune with 19 markers on five field goals and nine foul shots.

Quantico grabbed an 11-point lead in the first quarter 27-16 and upped the margin to 46-26 at the half-way mark.

Employing a smooth, methodical fast breaking attack, the Virginia Leathernecks surged ahead 60-45 midway through the third quarter and coasted the rest of the way.

The locals' season record now stands at two wins and three losses while Quantico boasts a 9-1 slate.

In the opener of the two-game series a week ago Tuesday, Quantico breezed to a 90-73 win over Lejeune.

Applications now are being accepted in the athletic office from candidates for the 1955 track and baseball teams.

Wire Service Picks Ex-Lejeune Tackle As All-American

Rex Boggan, former tackle for Camp Lejeune's 1953 football team, was named last Thursday to the first string Associated Press 1954 All-American team for his play on the University of Mississippi team.

Before coming to Lejeune last year to win All-Marine and All-Sea Service honors on a team that compiled an eight won-two lost, one tie record Boggan played for Parriss Island in 1951 and 1952. While playing for the Depot in 1952 he was nominated to that year's All-Marine offensive team.

Prior to entering the service from the reserves Boggan played four years in the tackle slot at Memphis (Tenn.) Tech High school, then entered "Ole Miss" in 1948 and won varsity letters in '49 and '50.

As his final appearance on the college gridiron the 6'3" 250 pound tackle will play New Year's day in the Sugar Bowl when Mississippi meets Navy.

3-Year Jinx Dares Lejeune Boxers To Beat Quantico

With half their schedule behind them, and a record of five consecutive wins, Camp Lejeune's boxers will be out to break a hoodoo tonight when they battle Quantico at 7:30 p.m. at Goettge Memorial field house.

Also scheduled on tonight's card are the five final bouts of the first annual Paperweight tourney involving boys from 50-100 pounds.

Lejeune has beaten Quantico once this year, 6-2, in a bruising battle at the Marine Corps Schools, but in order to win tonight—and notch their sixth consecutive win and the unofficial East Coast Marine title—they must overcome a three-year jinx that never has allowed the Camp boxers to beat Quantico twice consecutively during those seasons.

Last year, after absorbing a 6-2 lashing, Quantico retaliated with a 5-2 victory to halt Lejeune's hopes for an undefeated season.

Coach "Skip" Freeman is expected to go along with the same lineup that won for the locals at Quantico with Bantamweight Basil Blackson, Lightweight Jackie Lennon, Light Welterweight Nick LaRosa, Welterweight Randy Horne, Middleweights Themis Kountis and Richie Hill and Light Heavyweight Duke Belton again handling the chores.

Blackson, Lennon and Hill all won via the TKO route against Quantico while LaRosa, decided by Terrance Downs, and Belton, decided by Elwood Meyers, accounted for the two losses.

Quantico will again be frustrated in an attempt to insert into their lineup their prize boy, Len Kanthal, International Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, against Lejeune because Lew Morgan, Lejeune's heavyweight, fell on the barrack's stairs during the recent ice storm and broke his hand. Morgan, who has fought only once this year for Lejeune, losing a decision at Fort Meade, did not appear against Kanthal at Quantico because of an injured hand incurred while training for Lejeune's return match with Meade.

Tonight's match will mark the third home appearance for the Camp team. In previous home encounters they have beaten Meade 4-2 and whalloped Fort Eustis 11-0. On the road they have gained victories over Meade, Eustis and Quantico.

Bulldogs Hold Lead In Tarawa Terrace Boys' Basketball

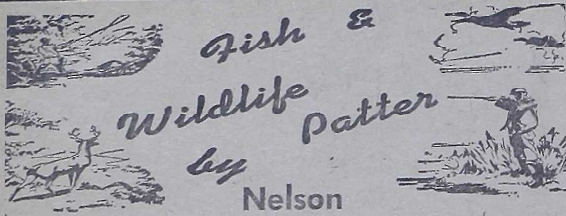

The fighting Bulldogs, behind the shooting of John Bloom and David Gordon continued their domination of the Tarawa Terrace Boys' league basketball competition, last week as they picked up two wins while the other three teams in the league lost at least once.

The Eightballs, two games behind the league leaders, in second place despite the shooting of Glen Chandler, the league's leading scorer, split a pair of games.

The Yardbirds also split a pair to remain in third place, while the Gizmos dropped a pair to be pushed deeper into the cellar of the league.

In last Monday night's action, during the half of the Lejeune-Belmont game, David Gordon scored all the points as the Bulldogs whitewashed the Yardbirds 4-0.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Hunters, I truly bow my head as I write this. Many farmers have complained about our hunters. It seems that we are not asking permission to hunt on their land. Certainly they are not asking too much by requesting that you obtain permission before hunting. Many times it will be to your advantage. The farmers around here know where the game is—and if you ask permission to hunt, 99 per cent of them will not only grant permission, but will let you know where the most game can be obtained—enuff said?

DUCK HUNTING

This latest cold snap has brought down many ducks. MSgt. A. J. Moody bagged his limit near the New River Drive-in theater. SSgt. Sam Spade brought one down at the same location. (All were mallards.)

QUAIL HUNTING

According to all reports, the quail around this section are plentiful. A number of our hunters have seen an abundance of quail. However, most are in the same boat I am—just can't hit them. It's generally agreed that a good dog is the most valuable asset in any bird hunting.

NEW REPORTER

This reporter has taken the job as the new reporter for "Fish and Wildlife Patter." However, Lt. Crook still is an active member of this column, as I hope many of you sport-minded people also will be. Please call this reporter at 9-8258 and pass any info on hunting and fishing. That's right, it's the same number Lt. Crook had.

DEER HUNT

I don't believe any comment is necessary on the last deer hunt. Captain Scott's hunt was called off, and Captain Smith's hunt just didn't see any buck. However, Captain Smith estimates there are at least 100 does in Area 7. There are more hunts scheduled for this year. All interested hunters are requested to notify the huntmaster as to their intentions. Major Lindquist had 20 members on his hunt this week instead of the normal 30. This is not fair to the other hunters who would like to go on the hunts. Men, let your huntmaster know if you are not going, so someone else can take your place.

Meyers, Hands Win Offensive Crowns As Post-Season Tally Reveals Yardage

Halfback Bob Meyers and End Joe Hands shared the offensive honors for Camp Lejeune's 1954 football team.

Meyers led in five departments while Hands was the lead-pass receiver on the team.

A former Stanford university player, Meyers played on Quantico's All-Marine club in 1953, but came to Lejeune this year to lead this Marine team in number of carries, offensive yardage, best rushing average, best punting average and points scored.

In 75 times carrying the ball, Meyers picked up 361 yards for an average of 4.81 yards per try. He also completed two out of three passes for 82 yards, and in 25 times punting, kicked 912 yards for a punting average of 34.7 yards per try. Meyers also led the team in scoring with 39 points to pick up over half Lejeune's total with five touchdowns, six extra points and a field goal.

End Hands was the leading pass receiver with seven grabs for 156 yards.

Rushing statistics saw the opposition pick up 1,229 yards to Lejeune's 969, and a passing yardage of 740 to Lejeune's 659, as the opponents completed 52 out of 127 tosses, while the locals hit for only 24 in 80 attempts. In the first down department the 11 teams on Lejeune's schedule combined to move the ball the required 10 yards 99 times while Lejeune only accomplished this job 72 times.

Quarterback Fred Hughes, a late addition to the squad, was the passing man on the team with 19 tosses and eight completions for 156 yards.

Fullback-Co-Captain John Cadenasso followed Meyers in the rushing department with 1,266 yards in 34 carries for an average of 3.99 yards per try, while End Bob Benson was second to Hands with six grabs for 97 yards.

Maguire Scores 34 As Lejeune Whips Phiblant 83-74

Nick Maguire went on a 34-point scoring spree last Friday night to lead Camp Lejeune to an 83-74 victory over the Phiblant Gators at Goettge Memorial field house.

The Leathernecks' player-coach played a brilliant floor game, with his deft lead passes accounting for eight baskets. He engineered several fast breaks with fine rebounding play as the locals went on to pick up their third win of the season.

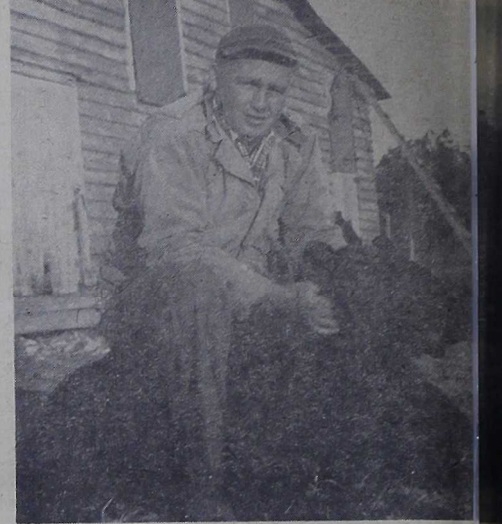

Glen Bissell, who canned 19 points for second high honors, had his string of 28 consecutive free throws without a miss broken when, with 4:02 remaining in the game, his charity toss hit the back of the rim and bounced away.

With a new lineup of Jim Thomas in the pivot and Dick Hart at one of the forward slots, Lejeune raced to an early seven-point lead in the first quarter.

With Bissell hitting from the outside and Maguire's jump shot clicking smoothly from around the key, the Leathernecks walked off the floor with a 41-33 half-time lead.

Trailing by 12 points, 55-43, the Gators came on strong midway through the third quarter to narrow the margin to five points. Lejeune's starting five came back off the bench and slowly pulled away.

John Brown paced the losers with 21 points while Jerry Moye, ex-Fordham star, added 15.

Marine Battles 300-Lb Bear In Hand-To-Hand Combat

A local Marine recently engaged in a rifle-toss with a full grown bear.

TSgt. Lawrence J. Hubbard, Supply Co., Service Battalion, was with a hunting party in Hoffman forest, near Richlands last Saturday when the battle took place.

As the 300-pound bear charged from a nearby thicket, the rifle failed to fire when it was barely six feet away. Hubbard himself, Sgt. Hubbard, used his rifle to club the bear over the head with the barrel.

The party's dog, a Weimaraner, was also present. The dog was shot in the leg when it was hit by a bullet from the bear's head.

Little League Activities Get Big Boost From Local MSgt.

BY TSgt. BILL NELSON

Midget League sports for kids eight to 13 years of age is sweeping the country, and contributing greatly to the growth of little league athletics locally is MSgt. John E. Bresette, of Force Troops.

In addition to being vice-president of the Tarawa Terrace Community association, the sergeant is chairman of the Youth Recreation Council.

Promoter, organizer and main sparkplug behind the Tarawa Terrace Little League Football team, which he organized and managed through a highly-successful season, Bresette is currently scheduling games for Little League basketball, played during the halves of Camp Lejeune varsity games.

With the coming of spring, the Tarawa Terrace Little League Baseball league will blossom into being baseball and basketball for Roscommon (Mich.) High school, in his home town.

Militarily, he is operations communications chief of Hq. Co., 8th Engineer Bn.

A member of the Marine Corps since January, 1942, Bresette has seen much foreign duty.

During World War II he served with the 1st Division on Guadalcanal, New Guinea and Cape Gloucester, spending more than two years overseas.

Bresette again saw action with the 1st Division in Korea from February, 1952, to February, 1953, coming here from Korea.

The sergeant comes from a military family. One brother, Sgt. William B., is a cook at the 1st Infantry Trng. Regt., Camp Geiger; another brother, Cpl. Sherman L., is stationed with the 3rd Motor Transport Bn., 3rd Division, Japan, and still another, Sfc Allen, is with the Army's 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

under the leadership of Sgt. Bresette. This latter was organized by the sergeant and Chaplain A. Kirkland last year.

The sergeant, who obviously likes kids, has three daughters of his own, aged 7, 5 and 3. An avid church-goer, Bresette gives still more of his time as superintendent of the Tarawa Terrace Community Sunday school.

More a doer than a joiner, the marine has managed to combine a life-long love of sports with his love of children in his spare time. Bresette played football,

AmTracs Raise $500 Fund For Kids' Christmas

Thanks to the generosity of the officers and men of the 2nd Amphibious Tractor Bn., Force Troops, some 60 orphans are going to have a wonderful Christmas.

A Baptist home in Kinston, the Kennedy Orphanage takes care of children of all faiths, youngsters who were abandoned or who come from broken homes.

In answer to an appeal by Chaplain J. A. McDonald, the AmTrac men emptied their pockets and, despite the pressure of pre-Christmas expenses, raised $500 for a Christmas party for the kids, who are from six to 10 years of age.

At the party Saturday, each child will be "adopted" and taken to the festivities by his "parent."

An hour of cartoon movies will be shown and a Santa Claus will pass out gifts of candy and fruit. In addition, each orphan will receive an individual present, wrapped especially for and addressed to him or her.

Long after the party is over, the children will remember it, for in addition to the individual gifts, every home cottage of three orphans each, will receive a new bicycle from the real-life Santa Claus of the 2nd Amphibious Tractor Bn.

2nd Division Gives Old Line New Twist In Information Program For Reenlistment

An informational as well as reenlistment program has been formulated within the 2nd Division.

The main objective of this program, according to Capt.

Ray W. Settle, Division Recruiting Officer, is to enlighten each member on the benefits of a career in the Marine Corps. "There would be more men shipping over if they were properly informed of the benefits and opportunities of the current reenlistment program," Capt. Settle said.

Each unit within the Division has designated an officer to act as the unit recruiting officer. These recruiting officers will meet with Captain Settle on the first Tuesday of each month in Bldg. 320.

The Division Recruiting officer maintains that a healthy personnel situation requires the reenlistment of at least 40 per cent of all personnel whose enlistments are expiring. He added that this would assure the Marine Corps of a hard core of career men capable of maintaining its current effectiveness and meeting the personnel expansion requirements of mobilization.

All corporals and below will be interviewed by the unit recruiting officers. Sergeants and above who meet the requirements for reenlistment who signify their intentions of not reenlisting will be interviewed by the Division Recruiting officer.

This program, Captain Settle said, is designed to bring forth the "specific incentives" along with the "numerous compensations" afforded men who choose to make a career of the Marine Corps.

Shore Party, Hq. Bn. Win In Basketball

Other Group II play saw Headquarters Bn., with Hatchey's 12 points leading the way, stop Motor Transport 58-49. Motor Transport's Novaks contributed 16 points to the losing cause.

Eighth Marines Tops In Second Division Education Program

The Eighth Marines has catapulted to the top of the Division's Education Program with 502 enrollments in various correspondence courses.

Second Lt. Edwin D. Ricker, Regimental Education officer, said the regiment has a concentrated drive in operation throughout the battalions to reach every man interested in furthering his education.

"Our aim is to afford each man an opportunity to obtain a high school equivalency certificate," said the lieutenant. "We are constantly searching the various units within the regiment for personnel who have not graduated from high school," he added. As soon as a likely prospect is uncovered the unit educational officer or NCO interviews the man, suggesting a schedule of correspondence courses.

Since the first of the year 502 men of this education-wise regiment have enrolled in correspondence courses from the Marine Corps Institute, Marine Corps Schools and United States Armed Forces Institute.

Lieutenant Ricker ended by saying, "The unit educational officers are doing a grand job and every man enrolled in the various courses will benefit greatly."

Venezuela Through Its History, by William D. Marsland and Amy L. Marsland. Crowell.

In this first history of Venezuela in English, the reader will find a colorful and enlightening study of a nation in the making. Her history is a pageant in which have passed some of the world's most fascinating figures: Christopher Columbus, Sir Walter Raleigh, Simon Bolivar and Antonio Guzman Blanco, history's most spectacular swindler—to name a few. Today Venezuela is in the full tide of economic development. What happens is a matter of intense concern to every American. While oil from Maracaibo and iron ore from the Gran Sabana feed United States refineries and steel mills, Venezuela is vital to hemispheric defense.

Strategy, by Basil Henry Liddell Hart. 420 pp., Praeger.

An English authority discusses his theory that the indirect military and political approach, combined, is more effective than the direct approach. He also analyzes both world wars, and the careers of some great military men of history. In his preface the author says: "My original study of the strategy of indirect approach, was published in 1929—under the title of The Decisive Wars of History. The present book embodies the results of 25 years' further research and reflection, together with an analysis of the lessons of World War II—in strategy and grand strategy."
