The 2nd Division's mammoth new musical revue, "Saddle Up!", will preview Wednesday to an invitation audience. Thereafter, the Marine Corps' "largest-ever" musical show will run indefinitely at the Camp Theater at 8:30 every night. Arrangements will be made to transport men from areas outside Hadnot Point to the Camp Theater. Details will appear in the GLOBE and on the screens of local base theaters next week.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GROW UP?
(Asked of Children at Pine Grove Trailer Park)

GENE KEMP, 5—I'm gonna help my mommie; and when I get as big as daddy I'm gonna help him, and work on his car too. Saturday, though, I'm gonna get married to Colleen and get a car of my own. I think I'm gonna make it a hot-rod.

COLLEEN SANKER, 4—A nurse.

Because I want to fix people; and I'm going to marry Gene Saturday and buy a car and trailer too. Then I think we'll buy a girl baby too, and I'm going to take her to the beach and make her swim. Gene is going 'way soon, so I have to marry him fast.

BILLY BEEN, 6 1/2—I'm gonna be a doctor because there are lots of boys and girls being killed, and I'm going to fix them up. I'm going to be a doctor, but I like to draw pictures like in the funny books too. But I'm not going to be a Marine. Once I was gonna be a funny book drawer, but no more. I want to be a doctor.

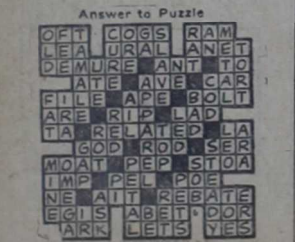

CHARLOTTE BOYER, 8—I guess a teacher. I like to take care of kids and tell them what is right and wrong. Maybe I'll be a nurse, though. I guess I just like to take care of animals and kids. I got two nice dogs, both cocker spaniels, a grown-up one and a little baby one. The grown-up one got a leg missing, but he's nice anyway. I really like to take care of them, and play with them.

Ex - Bluejacket Silver Star Winner Joins Corps To See 'Real Action'

A 27-year-old Navy Silver Star Medal winner, who braved Japanese bombs and suicide planes to save a ship during World War II, enlisted in the Marine Corps recently—to see "some real action."
Now serving with the 4.2 Mortar Co. of the 6th Marines, Pfc Eugene D. Broadhead of Pikeville, Ky., says that he decided while he was in the Navy that the Marine Corps was the place to be, and he hasn't changed his mind since.

PFC E. D. BROADHEAD

Enlisting in the Navy in 1944 after attending St. Michael's High School in Biloxi, Miss., Broadhead soon was serving aboard a landing support ship in the Pacific. "It was off Okinawa when things started happening," he explains.

Board Stricken Ship
When a large landing craft nearly was hit and set ablaze, he and an officer boarded the stricken ship and fought the fire for more than eight hours. "They gave me the Silver Star for that," he says quietly.

Things didn't quiet down, however. It wasn't long before his own ship was hit twice, once by a 500-pound bomb and once by a suicide plane. Abandoning ship with the crew, he was in the water for two hours before being picked up by a rescue craft. The next day, with nine other men, he returned to the battered ship to save her.

It was the Leathernecks of the 1st Division who sold Broadhead on the Marine Corps. "I saw plenty of them in action," he says, "and I decided out there in the Pacific that some day I would be a Marine myself."

Seven years after he was discharged from the Navy in 1946,

Officers May Ask EAD Beyond Period Of Normal Release

Officers may now request, in writing, to remain on extended active duty beyond their normal release dates for any period of time not extending beyond June 30, 1955.
The officer must specify his release date, although the arbitrary cutoff date of June 30 will be extended if the current emergency lasts beyond that date and future appropriations permit.
Reserve Marine Naval Aviators who have served a tour of duty in Korea may, in place of requesting unqualified extended active duty, submit requests for EAD limited to duty in the Naval Air Training Command and the Marine Training Groups. Requests will be filled if billeting vacancies in that command allow.

106 Annapolis Graduates Sons Of Servicemen

Of the 926-man current graduating class from the U. S. Naval Academy, 106 are sons of Armed Forces personnel. The Navy is represented by 74 of the 106, Army 17, Marine Corps seven, Air Force five, and Coast Guard three. Nineteen are sons of flag or general officers.

Broadhead's decision became a reality. After completing his recruit training at Parris Island, he was assigned here to the 2nd Division.

"I'm a 20-year-man," says the sailor turned Marine, "all the way."

'Saddle Up!' Revue Draws On Talents Of Dublin Dauber

A son of the "Ould Sod" has the responsibility of creating the scenery art for "Saddle Up!", the 2nd Division's new musical revue. Dublin, Ireland is the birthplace of the talented Leatherneck, Sgt. John C. Flynn, 25, who came to this country three years ago and is now a member of Regimental H&S Co., 8th Marines.

When "Saddle Up!" went into production early in April, Sergeant Flynn was selected on the strength of his scenic creative ability and experience as the ideal man to head the revue's art staff.

Flynn is drawing on his wealth of schooling and experience for his present efforts. He attended the National College of Art in Dublin and later worked with the huge J. Arthur Rank organization in Europe where he was employed as a scenic artist for such productions as "Caesar and Cleopatra," "Red Shoes," and "Hamlet."

After coming to the United States in May 1950, Flynn was a display and textile artist in New York before entering the Marine Corps in August 1951. Now his talented hands are paying dividends for the 2nd Division in the form of his work for "Saddle Up!"

When asked about his work for the revue, Sergeant Flynn said it would have been impossible to do the job without the help of his two artist assistants, Sgt. Robert W. Berrie, H&S Co., 1st Bn., 8th Marines, who is from Detroit, Mich., and Pfc Leif Juhlin, A/T Co., 3rd Bn., 2nd Marines, who came to the U. S. from Stockholm, Sweden.

The small mounting mast, to the left, lowers huge steel boom of the crane gently to the ground, making work out of a job which used to take hours to accomplish (Official USMC Photo).

Marine Lieutenant's 'Giz' Drops Boom On Crane Lads

A 24-year-old Tarheel Leatherneck who tried his hand at inventing has come up with a new device which is saving the Marines of his outfit a lot of time and even more back-breaking work.

Still receiving the thanks of many grateful Marines who are making good use of his new "giz," as he calls it, is 1st Lt. Richard L. Mize, of Statesville, N. C., a member of the 2nd Shore Party Bn.

The lieutenant's invention is a device designed to take the exasperation, effort and time out of a job that has long been the bane of the battalion's Marines.

A Rough One
Up until the time that Mize put his mind in an inventing mood, the job of detaching the long steel boom from the cab of a crane was always looked upon with a good deal of dislike and apprehension.

The process involved lowering the upper end of the heavy boom to the ground, detaching it from the crane at the cab end, and then lowering it laboriously to the ground with the use of some jacks and a lot of manpower would take eight to ten more than two hours to job," says Mize.

The task was even more when it came to reassembling boom to the crane, while ship during an amphibious operation. After lowering the boom crane into a waiting barge the cargo ship which had it to its destination, the board boom would lower crane's boom and attempt to attach it to the body of the cab both vessels rocked in the sea.

"Besides being a king-slugging act on water," Mize, "it also was hard duty for both the crane men trying to do the job."

Idea Man

It didn't take him long to up-the idea for his "giz" with a drawing, he put the welding shop to work. time the sparks stopped fly invention, officially called a mounting mast," was completed.

The mast, which is a miniature boom, was attached to the cab of the crane near spot where the large boom itself is attached. Now, when top of the long boom is lowered to the ground, the end is lowered gently to the ground using the mast.

With Mize's "giz," it now but two men to complete operation in 12-minutes. The device now is attached to cranes in each of the battalion's companies, and it has been committed to Headquarters Corps.

Eighth Marines Taught Night Training

Last week the silence of warm Carolina nights was shattered by rumbling tanks and arms fire as the 4th Bn., 8th Marines, ran through a ten-day gram of night fighting training. For ten days the normaling hours between 7 p. m. a. m. meant night maneuvers, reconnaissance patrols and tank-infantry tactics for fighting Leathernecks of the 4th Bn.

The newest battalion in the Division carried out its program under the direction of its commanding officer, Lt. Col. E. Williams.

Cadets, Middies See Beach Assaults By Division Marines

Leathernecks of the 2nd Division are giving an amphibious lesson this week to more than 1300 West Point and Canadian cadets and Annapolis midshipmen on the beaches of Little Creek, Va.

The operation, known as CAMID 53, began last week. Demonstrating the art of amphibious beach assault are the men of the 3rd Bn., 2nd Marines.

A total of 24 Canadian cadets, 190 midshipmen, and 520 West Point cadets are teaming with the Leathernecks under the overall command of Rear Admiral Rufus E. Rose, commander, Amphibious Training Command.

The operation provides the only opportunity in their four-year academic training for the cadets and midshipmen to study, train, and work together as a team.

Besides the division troops, Marine fighters and attack bombers will fly in close support of the landing force.

In 1951 the Army alone reported over 29,000 soldiers disabled in accidents.

Marines Save Two Civilians From Ocean

A combined Marine operation last week saved the lives of two Goldsboro civilians when they were fished out of the Atlantic Ocean near Onslow Beach after their small fishing craft had overturned.

The two fishermen, John H. Aycock and John E. Penuel, both of Goldsboro, had been floating in the ocean for over three hours before they were spotted and picked up by men of the 2nd Amphibious Reconnaissance Co. and the 2nd Amphibian Truck Co., both of Force Troops, who were on maneuvers nearby.

The men were spotted quite accidentally. While the troops were resting during their noon lunch hour, Pfc William T. Newburn of Reconnaissance Co. noticed a dot about a mile off the southern tip of Onslow Beach. When the dot moved Newburn reported it to his commanding officer, who investigated.

One Safe

Lieutenants Whittum, Johnston, Montalbano, and Rilo, all of Recon Co., and Corporals Sweeney and Green of the Amphibian Truck Co. set out in a Marine DUKW. Within a few minutes Aycock was pulled, almost exhausted, from the water. He told his rescuers about Penuel and the search was started.

The men ashore sighted Penuel two miles out in the ocean. They signalled the amphibian truck, which was able to locate the man with the help of bearings from the men ashore. Penuel had been drifting out to sea from the mouth of New River, where the boat had overturned, with nothing to support him but a cushion and an empty fuel can.

The Marines then located the boat and its fishing gear and took them into shore. First aid was administered to the men. Then, with their boat, they were taken to Sneads Ferry.

The men said that they had been fishing in the New River inlet and had gone into the ocean only to turn around. A wave hit them and drowned their outboard motor. A few minutes later another wave overturned their 12-foot skiff and for over three hours they had been drifting helplessly in the water.

When You Run Off The Edge Of The Pavement

If, during the course of traveling along an open highway, your right wheels leave the pavement, DO NOT try to get back on the pavement at high speed.

Instead, drive straight ahead with the wheels off the pavement and slow the car down gradually.

Drive at low speed with the right wheels about two feet out on the shoulder and, when the road is clear behind you, cut the wheels sharply to the left. The car will return to the pavement without damage to tires or car.

34 Officers Finish Studies In Supply

Thirty-four officers received graduation certificates from the Supply School at Montford Point last week upon completion of the 14-week course there.

Graduation exercises included a speech by Lt. Col. Stanley D. Lowe, Force Troops Supply Officer, in which he revealed the need for supply officers, their general functions, and the Marine Corps regulations connected with supply.

Second Lt. Richard D. Atherley was high man in his class.

Ideas On Economy Solicited By HQMC

Commanding officers are being encouraged to solicit and submit ideas and suggestions to Headquarters Marine Corps on increasing efficiency and economy in Marine administrative procedures.

Headquarters has pointed out that a deluge of impractical recommendations is not wanted and that CO's should evaluate carefully all suggestions before submitting them. When the suggestions are sent to Headquarters, the originator should be named so that he may be given due credit.

Chaplain's Corner

BECOMING SPIRITUALLY EFFECTIVE

In the story of the Prodigal Son, we read the boy returned to his father only after he had "come to himself"—been wholly honest about himself. And, in the story of Peter and John healing the lame man at the gate of the Temple, you will recall that Peter said to the man in need, "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I to thee."

These stories taken together for me sum up a vast amount of truth as to the "how" of becoming spiritually effective.

All of us need to be wholly honest about ourselves. All of us need to come to ourselves. Not the selves we would have others think we are; not the selves our friends believe us to be; not even the selves we think we are—but the selves God knows us to be.

The "Worst Foot"
Too many of us wear masks, spiritual masks. We feel we must always put our best foot forward, that it can do no possible good to acknowledge the presence of a "worst foot." This does not mean we are hypocrites. Rather, we just put back a part of ourselves that we are not proud of.

We are living our lives not ever coming to ourselves. This coming to ourselves is one of the most important truths of life that the Master came to reveal and is one that, perhaps, is the least practiced.

Here are a few suggestions for aiding us in becoming spiritually effective:

1. Being honest with ourselves.
2. We become spiritually effective not by the extent of our experience but by the quality of our use of it. Give what we have to give.
3. Be aware of the forgiving power of God through His grace and confess with an assurance that a true and sincere confession of an evil is forgiven and forgotten.—Chaplain Frederick J. Duplissey, 2nd Marines.

8th Marines Cop Limelight In NCO School

Placing five among the top ten graduates, the 8th Marines stole the limelight at the NCO Leadership School last week for the third consecutive time this year.

The Regiment has had more men among the top ten honor graduates in classes four, five, and six than any other unit of the division or Force Troops.

Col. DeWolf Schatzel, commanding officer of the 8th Marines, dropped his gauntlet in a direct challenge to all other units as he told graduates of class six, "The 8th Marines intend to stay up there in the top ten."

In the order of their standing, the top ten were: Cpl. Richard B. Stanley, 8th Marines; SSGT. George E. Popaday, 6th Marines; SSGT. Allen G. Brumfiel, 6th Marines; Sgt. Robert L. Cox, 8th Marines; SSGT. Richard R. Phelps, 8th Marines.

Sgt. Herman D. Gugler, 8th Marines; Sgt. Kenneth E. Vachon, 10th Marines; Sgt. John P. Caynak, 8th Marines; Cpl. Albert J. Knoeller, 8th Marines; and Sgt. Franklin A. Kmielek, 8th Tank Bn.

Manpower Slice Deplete Ranks 'Non-Combatant'

In view of the proposed and personnel cuts the Navy and Marine Corps have started comprehensive studies on how can reduce their complement without losing combat effectiveness.

The end result will be reductions in "non-combatant" at most Navy and Marine activities.

Maj. Gen. DeWitt Peck (ret.), project director of the Department of Defense, which reviews the TO's Armed Services, eventually submit to Congress his report.

Independent Action

However, the Navy and Marine Corps are conducting programs independently of the Department's requirements. The Corps' being handled by the planning officials at the quarters Marine Corps.

During fiscal 1954 the Marine Corps will have a personnel strength of about 230,000, of which three air wings. Personnel reductions will amount to 15,000.

Navy or Marine Corps couldn't say when they would complete their personnel studies. However, it is expected that their reports will be finished by the end of the quarter of the new fiscal year.

John P. Sousa's Kin Return His Baton, Manuscripts To MC

The gold-topped baton that was presented to the late John Philip Sousa when he bade farewell to the Marine Band more than 60 years ago has been returned to that world-famed musical organization by his daughters, Jane Priscilla Sousa and Mrs. Helen Sousa Abert.

The renowned bandsman's daughters personally delivered the memorial baton to Lt. Col. William F. Santelmann, present leader of the Marine Band, together with three of the "March King's" manuscripts—a partial copy of "Semper Fidelis," an arrangement of "The Star Spangled Banner," and the score of the "Royal Welsh Fusiliers."

All four Sousa momentos were turned over to the band for safe-keeping. But Colonel Santelmann is giving serious consideration to the thought that the baton might well be passed on from leader to leader as a symbol of his office.

WM Maneuvers

BY CPL. ELOISE TURNER

Monday afternoon the undefeated Woman Marine softball team came out second-best for the first time this season when it hosted the Naval Medical Field Research Lab team in a scrimmage game. The men had to go into extra innings to defeat their female opponents, 10-6.

The visitors jumped off to a one-run lead in the second after a scoreless first inning. Al Helfman opened the frame with a single to right, took second on a wild pitch, and scored when Jack Brown laced a double to left.

The Research Lab pulled five lengths ahead of the Women Marines by jamming across two in the third and two in the fourth. When the distaff Marines went to bat in the bottom of the fifth they failed to score.

Tie Count

In the sixth the WM's tallied five runs to knot the score. Amid wild cheering from the fans, nine batters went to the plate for the Women Marine.

With one out, Ruth Decker reached first on an error by third baseman Al Helfman. Carol Lau walked and Barb Summerlee was hit by a pitched ball.

With the bases loaded, Colleen Sage's grounder slipped through the third baseman and Decker scored. Phyllis Alexander singled to right, scoring Lau and Summerlee. On an overthrow by the right fielder, Sage came in to score and Alexander slid into second.

Buffin Watson, midget right fielder, scored Alexander with the fifth run by singling to right.

Loman Garner, who took over the mound chores in the fifth inning, settled down after this uprising, however, and held the Women Marines scoreless until the final inning, when they scored their sixth run on Lau's round-tripper.

The ninth inning saw the Navy men rally for five runs and the ball game. Pitcher Garner aided his cause by clouting a three-run homer during the spurge.

Recruits' Training Hiked To 10 Weeks

Retention of recruits longer than 11 weeks is to be discouraged and should be done only when necessary, states the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Boot Nine Blanked In Lejeune Rally Cops Sec

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C.—The Camp Lejeune Marines came from behind twice, the second time with seventh-inning rally, to down Parris Island, the Marine cellar dwellers, 8-5, marking Lejeune's fiftieth the season, here Tuesday night.

Bob Grim Retains Lejeune's Niche In Pennant Race

Bob Grim's powerful right arm, and surprisingly potent bat, kept Camp Lejeune in the thick of the east coast Marine conference pennant fight, as Camp Lejeune and Quantico split a two game series, Lejeune winning Wednesday last week 3-2, and Quantico coming back to win Thursday, 5-2.

In Thursday's game, Red Sox bonus rookie Dick Thomas turned in a brilliant three-hitter as his mates pounded three Lejeune hurlers, starter Ben Johnson, who took the loss, Jim Waugh, and Chuck Chronopoulos.

For the second time in a row, Johnson, Lejeune's number two man, was chased. He got by the first in easy fashion but watched the end of the second inning from the dugout.

Bases Full

Singles by Hal Naragon and Sal Olive, plus Jack Parker's dribbler in front of the plate loaded the sacks with one out. Jack Ralston flied to right, Naragon scoring the game's first run, Olive taking third and Parker second.

Stamford Sailboat Racing Victor Again

Capt. E. P. Stamford, VMO-1, again sailed to first place in Sunday's sailing races at Wallace Creek Boat House. Captain Stamford also won the week before last.

Pvt. F. E. Price, 2nd Ordnance Bn., came in second and Pfc F. J. Peters, 42 Mortar Co., 6th Marines, was third.

Drawing for boats this Sunday will be at 12:30. The race will begin at 2 p. m.

Parris Island started by getting its first run in the eighth inning, adding three more before the inning was over. Lefty Waugh was the victim of a relief effort by Chronopoulos after giving runs in two-thirds of the eighth.

Chronopoulos pitched relief ball the rest of the eighth, hitting the Islanders to four hits, and fanning Lejeune pecked away at Island's advantage in the fourth, and fifth.

PARRIS ISLAND, Grim blanked Parris Island two hits Monday night. Lejeune collected all the fourth inning to down the Islanders here, 5-0, in a reference game.

10th Regt. Shooters Cop Elliott Trophy In Quantico Firing

Compiling a total of 2216 out of a possible 2400 points, the 10th Marines rifle team recently out-triggered all competition to snare the highly coveted Elliott Trophy for high-scoring Marine rifle team competition at the annual Marine Corps Rifle Competition at Quantico, Va.

The Cannoneer sharpshooters, headed by Capt. Frederick N. Humphrey, outpointed a field of 36 entries from Marine bases all over the country. Nearest contender to the victorious 10th Marines was Marine Barracks, Camp Lejeune, with a final tally of 2212.

Of the winning team only two members, Capt. Frederick N. Humphrey and Sgt. William P. Tilton, were veterans of former rifle match competition. Neither Pfc John L. Pollock nor Pfc Marvin E. Parks, (See 10TH MARINES, Page 7) loss to Fort Lee, a split with Fort Dix, a split with Quantico's astounding total of victories loses its luster. In service isn't judged by a won-and-lost record. The only retain any meaning are those in the Marine conference against the top Army teams, such as Lee, Jackson, and Dix. Why this past home stand, in which Lejeune's caliber of play has been so good, has obliterated a fine feeling that Lejeune has the best service baseball team in the country. Lejeune may be the best team in service ball potential, but not on the field. Nor is the reason hard to find. The lack of depth and its twin consequences are holding Lejeune back.

The pitching department is Lejeune well stocked. The Major solid stoppers in Bob Grim and Ben Johnson, although accountably, has been chased in his last two outings. There's also Chuck Chronopoulos, a pair of very able pitchers. There's also Jim Waugh, and a couple of other pitchers who rarely get the "Big Four" seldom weakens.

The End Of The Line
The depth ends. There are three catchers and none are in one utility infielder, "Moose" Russo, whose batting average .200. Lejeune has two good outfielders, Paul Donovan and Rodriguez, plus alternate Bill Hawkins and Jim Ryan in the total outfield.

Pete Larghey scans the bench for a pinch-hitter, he one. Against Lee, Larghey had to pinch hit with Andy hose batting average sticks around the .180 mark. It's able that the best pinch-hitter for Lejeune is Chronopoulos. And should one of the infielders get hurt or become Lejeune has really had it.

other consequence of the lack of depth does not have to be wiped out. When there's nobody on the bench to push confidence and staleness result. And that's the condition here. From the hustling, quick-thinking team that began Lejeune has started to become an over-confident, self-satisfied with the coming of staleness, a batting slump has ensued Lejeune is averaging about four hits a game. It's a temporary thing. If it is, Lejeune can still take every p available. If it isn't, and Lejeune continues at the present championships are out of reach and the reasons why are the seventh, and let "Chuck" Chronopoulos wipe up.

Two Tallies

Waugh started the sixth by walking, went to third on "Chico" Rodriguez's single, and scored on Krings' line single to left. Krings scored Lejeune's other run by walking, taking second on an error, going to third on an infield out, and scoring on "Babe" Daskalakis' shot to right.

Grim was the difference in the first game, accounting for two of Lejeune's runs with a homer in the fourth. He blasted his first of the year over the left field fence, with Ed Kababek aboard via a double. Lejeune had scored a run earlier on two walks and an infield out.

Quantico scored once in the seventh and once in the ninth. Jim Pope, pitching for Quantico, allowed four hits to Grim's five.

Memphis, Tenn. (AFPS)—The USO has banned sweater wearing by its hostesses because they are "more attracting than attractive."

Camp Splits With Visiting Myer Crew

A steady downpour in the top of the ninth inning of Saturday's game, with two out and the tying run on third, squelched Camp Lejeune's hopes of a second straight victory over Fort Myer and gave the Colonials a 4-3 victory and a split of the series. The Marines, behind the three-hit pitching of lefty Bob Reich, had blanked Myer, 2-0, Friday.

The rain actually started as Lejeune went to bat in the ninth. Andy Payonk doubled in a drizzle, Chuck Chronopoulos sacrificed in a light rain, "Chico" Rodriguez struck out in a heavy rain, and when Dave Krings stepped to the plate it was in the midst of a downpour.

As the rain increased in intensity so did the mass slowdown efforts of the Myer players, and the move paid dividends. After Krings fouled off one pitch, the ump's stopped the game, and 20 minutes later called the game.

Breaks Tie

The winning margin was provided by Ray Cattaneo's homer with Jack Jepson aboard in the fifth, which broke a two-two deadlock. Don Brown homered for Lejeune in the seventh, his fifth of the season.

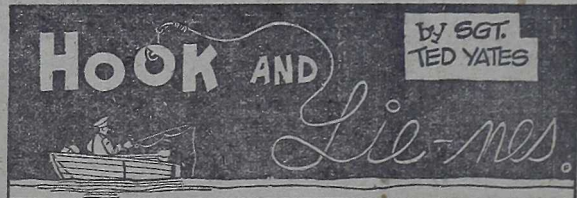

Lejeune took a lead in the first, scoring on walks to Krings and Brown, a fielder's choice, an error, a walk to "Babe" Daskalakis, and Jim Ryan's single, good for two runs.

Myer tied the game with single runs in the third and fourth, before moving ahead on Cattaneo's homer.

Reich pitched brilliantly Friday for his seventh victory, running in to trouble only in the eighth when he loaded the bases. But he took matters in his own hands and struck out two batters to end the inning.

Lejeune found the pitching of Mike Kvasnak to its liking in Friday's game and belted the righthander for 13 hits. But only in the seventh, after threatening for the first six innings were the Marines able to score.

Paul Donovan tripled and scored on Jim Ryan's hit for what proved to be the winning run. Ed Kababek's single sent Ryan to third, and Andy Payonk's hit scored Ryan with the second run.

Fishing in North Carolina has reached an odd impasse. Last week Captain Herbert Fulcher, skipper of the charter boat "Blue Water" of Morehead City, came home with 94 husky kingfish. The Spanish mackerel are still berserk at Wrightsville Beach. Captain Bob Howard boated 61 in an afternoon. In short, an excellent run of all types of game and food fish currently is being registered along the North Carolina coast.

Yet there is an apparent shortage of "food fish" in this state. In many instances this scarcity off "eatin' fish" has produced real problems in the retail fish business. Many markets that specialize in fish have had to close.

So the cry has gone up, in a mournful manner, "why no fish?" Wade Lucas of the State Department of Conservation and Development expounds the theory that countless millions of twitching brown shrimp are the crux of the problem.

Shrimp Mean Money

Evidently, shrimp in the net is equivalent to dough in the pocket. But fish in the net don't net the same financial haul, and require more toil, trouble, and headaches. The old seimen have jettisoned their big webs and taken to the shrimp business. Shrimp with their heads off have brought up to 85 cents a pound, and average about 45 per pound. Also, two shrimpers can make as much, if not much more, in a day than six commercial fishermen struggling with gigantic haul nets.

This dearth of common food fish has prompted the 1953 North Carolina General Assembly to finance extensive studies of the situation by the University of North Carolina in hopes of finding some means of making commercial fishing an attractive occupation again. Who knows, maybe chlorophyll is the answer here, too.

A notice comes from the Camp Game Warden's office requesting that personnel not molest or handle fawn deer.

Says the Game Warden's office: fawns are apt to wander, and wander into the curious hands of Marines. And this is tough on the fawn. Does will not re-adapt a fawn if it has been fondled by human beings. Also, if anyone sees or apprehends dogs running deer he is requested to call the Camp Game Warden's office, phone 5139 or 3408.

Hot Combat Service Knocks Weapons From League Lead

The seemingly impossible, and certainly the improbably, occurred last week in the Force Troops Baseball League when the perennial leader, Automatic Weapons, suffered two consecutive defeats and tumbled out of first place.

Combat Service Group, which now occupies the top berth, finally halted the Weapons' win streak at five games by beating its arch-rival, 4-1. Then 8th Motor, behind its iron-man flinger, Clyde Monroe, upset A/W again the following day, 5-4.

Automatic Weapons' losses left the league in a topsy-turvy scramble. Three teams—Service Group, Automatic Weapons, and Amtrac—now have two defeats, while two others, 2nd 90 AAA and 8th Motor, have three. CSG has compiled seven wins, while the others each have six.

Hurlers Mauled

During the week Automatic Weapons started all three of its ace pitchers, right-handers Frank Hamlin and Bill Brooks and southpaw "Reggie" Lee. Only Hamlin, who was on the hill in his team's 11-3 walloping of 2nd 90 AAA, survived with a win. Brooks was victimized by Combat and Lee felt to Motor.

Bespectacled right-handed pitcher "Whitey" Von Lintag received credit for the Combat win though he received very able assistance from Bob Russell.

The 8th Motor victory over Automatic Weapons was particularly dramatic. Motor's pitcher, Clyde Monroe, accomplished an amazing feat by hurling and winning the first perfect game of the season against 8th Signal Bn.

Sets Down 21

In the Signal game, the former Colgate University moundsman retired 21 consecutive batters in hanging up a 13-0 win.

The Motormen won their third game of the week and again established themselves as a flag threat by edging Armored Amphibian Bn., 8-7. Monroe again received the win. He gave up but one hit in five innings of relief.

In the completion of a 5-5 tie game that was begun earlier in the year but had to be called at the end of eight innings, Pittman hit a home run to give his Amtrac teammates a 6-5 decision over 155 Gun Bn. The Gunmen came back later in the week to blank 8th Engineer Bn., 3-0, with right-hander Dick LeAndre spinning the shutout.

In other games, 8th Tank Bn. defeated 8th Signal, 11-7, and 2nd 90 AAA downed Aggressor Co., 9-0.

FT Softball Loop Topped By Tankers

Eighth Tank Bn. made it nine in a row last week as it defeated Hq. Co., 9-0 to maintain its top spot in the Force Troops Softball League.

The Automatic Weapons team, only a game behind Tanks in the standings, also stayed on the victory trail by downing 2nd 90 AAA, 7-0.

Combat Service Group downed the fifth-place 155 Gun team, 8-3.
