Signs Commendation

By CPL. MURDOC

Last Thursday, during ceremonies held at building 114, Commissioned Warrant Officer Oris D. Walbrown was presented with a letter of commendation from Brigadier General W. E. Riley, Senior U. S. Military Observer in Palestine. The presentation was made by Major J. H. Ellis, Commanding Officer of the Second Maintenance Battalion.

LETTER QUOTED

The letter, originating from the United Nations Mediator's headquarters in Haifa, was addressed to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, and is quoted here in part: "I desire to call your attention to the outstanding performance of duty while a member of the United Nations Palestine Mission from 25 October, 1948 to 28 February, 1949.

2. Throughout his tour of duty in Palestine, CWOWalbrown filled a position of great responsibility and importance. He served as Motor Maintenance Officer at the United Nations Headquarters, Haifa, duties he performed in a highly commendable manner.

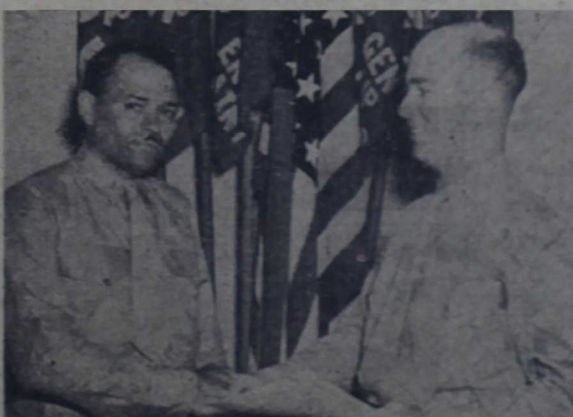

3. CWOWalbrown performed all of his assigned duties with intelligence, initiative, thoroughness, and far-sightedness. Often working under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions, he consistently displayed a high degree of leadership and loyalty. Further, he displayed the ability to command and work in harmony with a mixed group of officers and enlisted men that in-

Maj. Gen. Hart Congratulates Graduates

Commencement Talk Delivered By Maj. Gen. Dudley S. Brown

Commencement exercises were held in Building 51 last Friday morning at 1100 for the 5th class of the Supply Officers Administrative Course. Guest speaker for the 18 members of the graduating class was Brigadier General Dudley S. Brown, Assistant Commandant of Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

Major R. J. Bolish, introductory speaker, gave a brief explanation of the background and mission of the school. He concluded his address by stating that the 6 month course comprises an excellent basic study in supplies and disbursement for Marine officers. Major Bolish is a member of the school staff.

Colonel George H. Cloud, Commanding Officer of Supply School Battalion, followed Major Bolish to the speaker's rostrum. The Colonel emphasized the point that officers must thoroughly know both supply and disbursement procedures, must be experts on transportation, salvage, and ordnance, and must possess a complete knowledge of many other functions in order to help the "front lines" complete their mission. Colonel Cloud concluded by saying, "The road a Supply Officer takes is not paved. It is rough, with a lot of pitfalls. The officer must be always on the alert and must constantly study to escape these pitfalls."

Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of Camp Lejeune and the Second Marine Division, next addressed a few brief remarks to the graduating class, wishing its members the best of luck in their new assignments. Following General Hart's words of encouragement, Brigadier General Dudley S. Brown delivered the principal speech of the day.

General Brown, who in 1947 was Assistant Division Commander of the Second Marine Division, stated that it was always a pleasure to return to Camp Lejeune and an especial pleasure to address this particular class of graduates. The General stressed the importance of teamwork to the men and the prominence it played in accomplishing final victory in World War II. He also congratulated the officers on their selection to become Supply Officers and on their achievement in completing the course. In conclusion, he wished them every success in their future assignments.

The commencement exercises were terminated with the presentation of diplomas to the class members. See GRADUATION On Page 8

Opportunity Drive Still On At Camp

The national quota to be made during the Treasury Department's OPPORTUNITY Savings Bonds Drive, which will run from May 16 through June 30, is $1,040,000,000 in Series E Bonds.

This quota cannot be achieved in Washington. It must be made right here in this community—in this county and base. Like sales all quotas are local. They are made on Main Street—and they are the result of everybody working together.

Three million volunteers were standing by, ready and eager to go to work as soon as the Drive officially opens, to promote the sale of Savings Bonds to their fellow-Americans. These volunteers are no strangers to you. They're your friends and neighbors—members of your own family. Farmer, factory worker, school-teacher, doctor, banker, housewife, radio executive and newspaper carrier boy—they have all joined together in this all-important task because they realize just how vital the continuance of the Savings Bonds program is to a sound national economy.

Your help in this significant community project—the attainment of our local Savings Bonds quota — is sorely needed. Remember — Savings Bonds owned locally mean reserves of deferred purchasing power. And that means business for your town, county and state.

The Payroll Savings Plan for the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds has rightly been called "the way millions save billions." At the close of 1948 regular participants in the Payroll Savings Plan owned approximately $12.5 billions in U. S. Savings Bonds—a truly remarkable achievement.

These billions mean something else, too. New homes that might otherwise never have been built, educations for thousands of young people who might otherwise never have gone through school, the chance to set up in business, to buy a ranch or a farm, to get a head start in life.

Finally, this $12.5 billions in Savings Bonds means that millions of working men and women will be able to face the coming years with confidence, because some part of that vast sum belongs to them—and by their own efforts.

HELP FOR THE STRONG

Help for the strong? Of course not—they are the ones who need no help. Are we not constantly besieged by the radio, press and pulpit with appeals to assist the weak? Never are we asked to assist the strong. If such help were offered by the weak, the strong would laughingly reject it. Yet, the strong's unawareness of need increases their peril, and eventually leads to their destruction.

Present day psychologists are pretty well in agreement on one point—man's basic motivation is the desire or lust for power. On the surface it may appear that man is motivated by love of money (acquisitiveness), or by a desire for recognition (prestige). Back of these lies the desire for power which money or prestige may impart. Individually and collectively the 20th century is marked by the worship of power. Our greatest claim to success is the tremendous power we have placed at the disposal of individuals and nations—and both seem equally irresponsible in their use of it! Let General Omar N. Bradley, Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army, state it unforgettably:

"Our knowledge of science has clearly outstripped our capacity to control it. We have too many men of science; too few men of God. We have grasped the tery of the atom and reject Sermon on the Mount, stumbling blindly through spiritual darkness while with the secrets of life and The world has achieved brill without wisdom, power w conscience. Ours is a wor nuclear giants and ethical in We know more about war we know about peace, more killing than we know about ing. This is our twentieth tury's claim to distinction a progress."

Power or strength is the where more and more me their knees in worship. Tho worship at the shrine of lev are convinced that the stron inherit the earth; that might right; that humility is a con of weakness; and that deper upon God is a display of quacy. The strong believe thi though a cursory examinat history reveals the truth a historian's contention that whom the gods would destr first make mad for power' men can remain uncorrupt power. Col. Lee H. Brown Honored
In Parade Ground Ceremony

Colonel Lee H. Brown, Commanding Officer of Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Barracks, since September 17, 1947, was honored Tuesday, June 28, with a ceremonial parade to officially end his long and colorful Marine Corps career. The Second Marine Division Band and "H&S" Co., "A" Co., "B" Co., and "C" Co., of the Fourth Marines, rendered the honors.

Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of Camp Lejeune and the Second Marine Division, Colonel Brown and members of the Division and Marine Barracks Staff were in the reviewing stand. The ceremony was attended by many officers and their wives and other friends of the Colonel.

Among the many congratulatory messages received by Colonel Brown on his retirement was the following from the Secretary of the Navy: "The Department of the Navy takes this occasion to express its appreciation of your long and faithful service."

MESSAGE FROM GEN. CATES

General C. B. Cates, Commandant of the Marine Corps, sent this communication:

"I wish to take this occasion to add my appreciation for your long and faithful service. On behalf of the Marine Corps, I extend to you our sincerest wishes for future happiness and success."

COMMANDING GENERAL'S MESSAGE

Major General Hart's final message to Colonel Brown was: "It is with mixed emotions that I deliver to you your final orders. The Marine Corps, I am sure, will miss the faithful services of a splendid officer, one who devoted over thirty-two years of untiring services to his Corps and to his country. We who remain in the service will remember your long and distinguished career and unselfish devotion to duty. On behalf of the members of this command, I wish you every success and happiness in your retirement."

Colonel Brown, during his thirty-two years of active duty, saw varied service in many parts of the world, and helped to add to the traditions of the Corps through two World Wars. Entering the Marine Corps as a second lieutenant on July 28, 1917, at Quantico, Va., he served at the Navy Yard, Washington, D. C., until the summer of 1918 when he sailed for France as a member of the 13th Regiment.

Returning from France in the summer of 1919, the Colonel's next assignment was in the Judge Advocate General's Office, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. In 1921, the Colonel was ordered to Nicaragua, from where he went to Haiti in 1922 for a two-year tour of duty. Following this, he returned to the States and for the next four years was an instructor in the Marine

Protestant Chapel

Will Form
Bible Class
On July 3rd

The Parish program of the Protestant Chapel, which was established on May first, is introducing many opportunities for fellowship and service of interest to Church men and women. Visual education through the use of 16 MM religious films and 35 MM film strips, have been made a part of the Sunday evening services and the Church School at Paradise Point. Church School teachers, under the leadership of Mrs. K. C. Zeig, Capt. E. J. Dyer and Chaplain J. Glenn Power, have met frequently to plan the new program.

The ushers group, under Majors Bross and Medford, is getting new members weekly, and Dr. Womble's acolyte and servers guild is training boys to serve at the altar on Sunday mornings. The Women's Group Chairman Mrs. Smart, is off to a good start and offers an interesting opportunity for service wives to extend the Chapel's work.

On Sunday, July 3rd, an Adult Bible Class will be formed, meeting at 0930 in the area 4 gym (Bldg. 401) which is diagonally across from the Protestant Chapel. Chaplain R. A. Berry will be the leader. Also, on Sunday evening July 3rd Chaplain J. B. McPherson will begin our regular Sunday evening worship to be held each Sunday at 1900. Each of these new features of the Parish Program is certain to be interesting and valuable to those who attend.

The Parish Program is seeking maximum active participation of Protestant officers, enlisted men and families in the life of the Chapel. There is a chance for everyone to do a job as a teacher, usher, choir or committee member. If you miss that Church at home, come and see what he have for you here at Camp Lejeune.

Red Fireplugs
Out In Clean

Olean, N. Y. (AFPS)—This city did not consult the canine population in deciding to substitute orange paint for the traditional red on the city's 560 fire hydrants.

Reason for the change, explained Myron Klink, Water Dept. Secretary, was because studies have proven that orange is more readily seen in the evening and after dark.

A GOOD PROVIDER

A good provider is the man who produces the bacon and brings home Savings Bonds.

Colonel Luckey was recently in command of the Tenth Marines, Second Marine Division. The erstwhile Director, Colonel Cresswell, leaves for the Naval War College, Newport, R. I. where he will receive further instruction in military and naval strategy.

MCI's new Director brings to his latest assignment a wealth of experience in military education. Accomplished in a supervisory capacity, having served previously as a Director of the Field Artillery School, Marine Corps Schools, the Colonel also knows the student's point of view because he has been a student and instructor in service schools. Fortunately, his eminent qualifications include a familiarity with correspondence instruction for he served with MCI as a junior officer.

At the outbreak of World War II, Colonel Luckey became Commanding Officer of the First Special Weapons Battalion, First Marine Division with additional duties as Division Anti-Tank Officer. Having served in the Guadalcanal campaign, he also participated in the invasion of Cape Gloucester and later became Commanding Officer of the Fifteenth Marines, Sixth Marine Division for the final campaign of the war at Okinawa.

Like many other high ranking Marine officers, Colonel Luckey has availed himself of the opportunity to enroll in the Marine Corps Institute's self-improvement courses.

Ceremonial Bell

(SEA)—An ancient Chinese ceremonial bell, estimated to be between 600 and 1,500 years old and weighing about two and one-half tons, has been transported more than 7,000 miles from the First Marine Air Wing's former postwar base at Tientsin in North China, to a place of honor at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif., present home of the wing.

The bell was presented to the Marines following its discovery by Nationalist troops while digging last-ditch defense around Tientsin in 1946.

Frank Frezza, who has a batting average from a month ago to a robust and Lev Spencer, Lejeune's turned outfielder, led the team. Each had three hits, singles and a double apiece.

The score was knotted 2-2 and 7-all before a four-run burst in the eighth brought Lejeune's victory home. Washburn started things off with a home run to center field. Nofsinger went out to deep center and Lejeune grounded out to Carroll. Radovich singled. With two on and two on, the Boot men decided to issue an intentional walk to Osielec. Lejeune clean-up. But the strategy backfired. He put it mildly, for Lev Sr. came up and smashed a clearing home single into left field. Lejeune home two runs. Frank Radovich bashed a base-clearing double to center. The Boot men and that was the ball game. Lejeune had another to add to his string.

Change HQ Rules On Subsistence

New regulations governing payment of subsistence and quarters allowance to Marine enlisted men will become effective on August 1.

Under the new plan, married NCO's in the Washington area will be permitted to continue living off base but will lose the $105 monthly subsistence and quarters allowance which they are currently receiving.

In lieu of this allowance they will be permitted to draw commuted rations (about $31.00 per month) and an additional quarters allowance of $7.50 per month. Or, in the case of those men who have children, family allowance.

Flying Boxcars Acquired By Navy

(SEA)—Eight Fairchild transport cargo planes, termed "Flying Box-cars" by the Air Force, are being acquired for the Marine Corps and modified by the Navy to permit a greater load capacity.

The Navy has designated the plane as the R4Q-1, a development of the C-82 "Packet." With Navy changes it will feature greater pilot visibility, larger power plants and increased cargo capacity.

Two of the planes will undergo evaluation tests at the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md., after which all eight will be sent to Air Fleet Marine Force headquarters of the Atlantic Fleet, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

Cance Tipping

Canoe Tipping The Fourth of July will find the Boathouse Regatta's getting into full swing again. Sailboat, canoe, and rowboat races will be the feature of the day's activities. Also on the card to provide entertainment for spectators will be the canoe tipping event. As evidenced in the photo, you can tell the object of the contest is no game for a landlubber. Races began at 0930 Monday morning.

Camp Lejeune Nine Drops Twin Bill To Little Creek

By PFC. DAVE SHARPE

After winning five out of their last six games, the Lejeune Marines journeyed up the coast to Little Creek, where the league-leading Amphibs dealt them two defeats. The first of these, a 10-9 triumph for Little Creek, was a heart-breaking, and slightly dubious decision.

Lejeune ran to an early 4-1 lead, then later went ahead, 6-1, but the Little Creek nine scored four runs in the last of the eighth to make it 6-5, when their catcher, Williams hit a home run with two mates aboard. Lejeune came back with three runs in the top of the ninth when Gene Cheval singled with two men on, and Osiel knocked him in with a base hit to right field.

In the fatal ninth inning, the first man singled. McCollum got the next two men on fly balls, however, and was still working easily behind a 9-5 lead. Rawls, Amphib clean-up man, singled, putting two men on, and the next man shoved a high fly ball into left field. Spencer caught the fly, but dropped the ball in making the throw to the infield, and the umpires ruled it an error. The Amphibs, with new life suddenly shot into them, went wild, and didn't stop until they had done the impossible. The final score: Little Creek 10, Lejeune 9.

The Marines also dropped the second contest, 9-5, when All-Navy Oscar Sessions beat them. The Leatherneck line-up connected for eight hits, two each going to Nofsinger and Cheval.

'Firemen' Journal Features Lejeune

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.—An article, "Marine Fire Fighters Always Ready At Camp Lejeune" by Warrant Officer William E. Kohl, USMC, Editor-in-Chief of the Camp Lejeune Globe, is currently appearing in the June issue of Firemen magazine, it was announced by the New York Marine Office of Public Information.

The story, placed by the New York Office of the Director, Division of Public Information, describes the many and various functions of the Fire Department. It also explains the set-up of seven fire stations throughout the base, methods used in keeping fire losses to a minimum, equipment, and the numerous hazards encountered in the line of duty.

The full-page story is illustrated by three photographs taken by Staff Sergeant Walter F. Powers of Camp Lejeune, showing the fire towers, personnel at fire drill, and the No. 4 fire station at Paradise Point.

Warmin' The Bench

By Armed Forces Press Service

Sports promoters, club owners, and managers are faced with two fast growing problems which threaten the attendance at sporting events in the future. It's not the problems, but the need for workable answers that have the impresarios talking to themselves, to each other, and anyone whom they think might have a possible solution.

The first bugaboo that the managers are encountering is the rapidly decreasing dollar. The good old American buck — highly regarded throughout the world — is decreasing in quantity among Mr. Average Citizen. The "turnstile honeymoon" is over.

This lack of "do-re-mi" comes upon the scene with an accompaniment. The new menace to the club owners' pocketbooks being television.

Currently, telecasting is causing headaches in major sporting fields like baseball, boxing and pro football. When TV first began to appear two years ago, baseball moguls greeted it with open arms as a bonanza to attendance.

Video is creating a new type of fan all right. But it's the stay-at-home fan. And he's being recruited from the regular ball park customers.

Although major league attendance was running 178,767 ahead of 1948 through Memorial Day this year, the plus figured in the total gate was not general. Seven clubs showed marked decreases, while five clubs showed only negligible gains and the other four enjoyed noticeable increases.

In the American League, attendance was up 76,000 through May 30 as compared to last year. But of this total increase the Yankees were 114,208 ahead of their previous season's figure and the surprising White Sox topped last year's pace by 80,804. It is obvious, therefore, that the other junior league member clubs are way off stride.

A similar situation exists in the National League, which boasted an increase as of Memorial Day of 102,762 over last year. The biggest gains, however, were recorded by two clubs—the St. Louis Cardinals with an increase of 82,572 and the Pittsburgh Pirates with a gain of 68,454. The Cards, in pre-season agreements, had curtailed the number of games to be telecast, and the Pirates are the only club in either league to forbid televising of any of their games.

It is not alone the major league parks that have felt the pinch at the gate, but more so the minor league clubs, which are in most cases owned by the big organizations. In cases like the Wilmington farm club of the Phillies, which plays only 25 miles from Philadelphia, fans have found it more enjoyable to view the A's or the Phillies' games on video rather than actually watch the minor league clubs compete.

Up to now television has been a local issue with the ball clubs, each team having the privilege of selling or rejecting rights for telecasting. However, it looks as if the experiences of some clubs — and particularly the protest from the minors — will lead the majors to take action next winter severely restricting the number of games to be telecast.

If the majors make a decision to abandon television, they will follow in the footsteps of professional football which already has felt the sting of television and this year will probably completely eliminate its video audience.

Horse racing is probably the only sport where a drop in attendance can't be blamed on the television screen. Although most turf fans see a lot more of the race on their television sets than they can at the track, this new media furnishes no real competition to the tracks—at least not until they develop a way to televise two buck bets on the long shot in the third.

Golf Team Travels South To Meet Parris Is. Fivesome

Special golfing events that will take place over the Fourth of July weekend include: Saturday, July 2, at 1100, the Camp Lejeune Golf team will meet Langley Field on the championship course.

On July Fourth, the team will leave for Parris Island to meet the "Boots" in the 6th Naval District Eliminations Tournament, which will last until the 7th of July.

Lieutenant W. S. Anthony, Coach and captain of the Lejeune Golf team, Lt. (jg) Walter Neish, WO V. T. Garrison, SSGT. John D. Spencer, and Cpl. Royal Spencer will represent Camp Lejeune at the meet.

Prospects for a victory are bright as the Lejeune team defeated the Parris Islanders before and captured the Middle Eastern Service Conference last weekend on the Paradise Point links.

Colonel In Army Speaks At Quantico

QUANTICO, Va. (Delayed) Lieutenant Colonel Derrill M. Daniel, Infantry, U. S. Army, one of the most decorated men in the Army, spoke here this morning to an assemblage of Marine Officer students of the Amphibious Warfare School, Junior Course, the only such school in the Armed Forces.

Introduced by Major General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps Schools, Daniel's principal topic was "Combat In Cities." His talk concerned the capture of Aachen in which he led the Second Battalion, Twenty-Sixth Infantry during the assault.

Naval Academy Exams Scheduled

(SEA)—Examination will be given throughout the Navy on 20 July to qualified enlisted men who have been nominated by their commanding officers to compete for admittance to the Naval Academy and College Preparatory School, Bainbridge, Md.

Enlisted men selected for the preparatory school are potential Navy and Marine Corps officers. Attendance at the school prepares students for the Naval Academy entrance examination. Sessions are conducted from October through May for Naval Academy preparatory studies, and from June to September for administrative processing and instruction of men qualified on the NROTC aptitude test.

Details of nominations by COS are contained in BuPers-MarCorps Joint Letter 49-333 (NDB, 30 Apr 1949).

Legion Of Merit For Governor

Gov. Sidney S. McMath of Ark. has received the Legion of Merit for outstanding services as a Marine officer in World War II, presented recently by General C. B. Cates, Commandant of the Marine Corps, at USMC Headquarters.

Governor McMath, a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve, was cited for meritorious conduct as Operations Officer, Third Marines, Third Marine Division, prior to and during operations against enemy Japanese forces on Bougainville, Solomon Islands, 15 Sept.

in the process. Power has within it the seeds of its own destruction for it always creates an insatiable appetite for more.

For a long time the Biblical contention that "the meek shall inherit the earth," never seemed to make sense. Recent events make the meaning more understandable. The meek shall inherit the earth—not because they strive to or necessarily want to—simply because the strong may destroy themselves through their lust for power. The strong can be saved only by the weak. How shall the strong survive unless we, who are "weak," bear their infirmities?

To Study Defense In Case Of Attack

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—A "dry run" in procedures to be followed should this country be threatened with an air attack will be held next September under sponsorship of the Air Defense Command, with the Co-operation of the Office of Civil Defense Planning.

Thousands of citizens will participate in the exercise, to be called "Operation Lookout," and to be staged in the northeastern area roughly bounded by Portland, Me., and Wilmington, Del.

Both radar and ground observers will be utilized to detect a theoretical enemy approaching by plane. The exercise will require enough civilian volunteers to man 1,300 ground observation posts. Observer personnel and observation post sites will be selected by hundreds of supervisors, also serving on a voluntary basis.

DETERMINE EFFICIENCY

Extending over a sixty-day period, the exercises will determine the efficiency of a combination of ground observers and radar stations in aircraft detection and warning.

The movements of "enemy attackers" will be traced and information collected to assure ample warning to the civilian population of the approach of hostile aircraft. There will be no public alarms or actual warning to civilian communities.

Chief observers will be selected from the personnel assigned to observation posts, and these will receive instructions for training their personnel from the Air Defense Command Headquarters at Mitchell Air Force Base, N. Y.

Detroit (AFPS)—When underdog Jake LaMotta won the middleweight crown from Marcel Cerdan, it was just true to form for championship fights in the middleweight class. A long string of favorites have dropped the decision to their lesser-considered opponents. When Cerdan took the title from Tony Zale, he was a 9 to 5 outsider. And all three of the Zale-Rocky Graziano bouts went to the underdog. Tony copped the first at 3 1-2 to 1. Rocky retaliated at 7 to 5, and Zale scored again at 2 to 1.

Sergeant to recruit: "Now tell me, what is your idea of strategy?"

Recruit: "It's when you're out of ammunition, but keep right on firing."

Leslie Charteris' famous fictional anti-crime crusader, "The Saint," will be the hero of a new summer-time series of Sunday adventure programs which will debut on the Mutual network schedule on July 10 in the 7:30 to 7:55 p. m., EDT, time period.

Vincent Price, the outstanding stage and screen character actor, will be starred in the role of this modern-day Robin Hood.

Mr. Charteris' character "The Saint," a debonair gentleman-adventurer also known as Simon Templar, was first born in a novel titled "Enter The Saint," published by the author in 1931. Since then there have been innumerable "Saint" stories published in book-length form, in nationally circulating magazines, and re-printed in pocket-book editions. It is today one of the more popular of the fictional adventure series, and is now being syndicated in newspapers as a cartoon strip.

The Vincent Price characterizations of "The Saint" will originate from Mutual's Hollywood studios, where they will be produced by Tom MacAvity. Harry Zimmerman and his orchestra will provide specially scored background music. The programs will be heard in the time period occupied by the "Mayor Of The Town" series, starring Lionel Barrymore, which vacations following its June 26 broadcast.

Graduate Officers Addressed By Commandant

QUANTICO, Va., June 21—General Clifton B. Cates, Commandant of the United States Marines, visited the Marine Corps Schools here this morning to deliver an address before the graduating students of the Basic School for officers. The ceremonies was the culmination of nine months intensive training for the fledgling officers.

Accompanied by Major General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps Schools, General Cates inspected an honor guard of the 22nd Marines. Shortly after the inspection he addressed the assemblage of graduating students, their parents and guests.

Laying particular emphasis on the importance of their duties as officers, General Cates stressed the significance of their duties as officers in the Marine Corps.

Concluding his address, General Cates wished the new officers well in their future assignments at various posts and stations throughout the Marine Corps and presented them with the diplomas.

Future MC Officers Train This Summer

QUANTICO, Va., June 23—180 Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps students from fifty-two colleges throughout the country commenced an eight week training period at the Marine Corps Schools last Wednesday.

The first period of instruction for these students will be two weeks at the rifle range, firing both the semi-automatic and automatic rifles and the carbine. Subsequent weeks will be devoted to studies in basic military subjects, practical demonstrations and maneuvers in the 60,000 acre Quantico combat area.

Presently holding the rank of Midshipmen in the Navy these men have been selected for service in the Marine Corps and will be commissioned second lieutenants upon graduation from college.

NORFOLK, Va., Colonel George R. Rowan, Deputy Chief of Staff for Headquarters, FMFLant retired yesterday after more than 34 years of service in the Marine Corps.

Enlisting in the Marine Corps in 1915, Colonel Rowan took his "Boot" training at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth, Va. The Marine Barracks, still in use in the yard, had just been built then. According to the Colonel "We wondered what it would be like to live there. . . . 'Boots' slept in tents on what is now the parade ground."

CENTRAL AMERICAN WARS

His subsequent years in the Corps were studied with action from the largest operations of the two great wars down to the "Banana Wars" of the Caribbean and Central America.

A graduate of Mississippi A&M, the Colonel served a tour of sea duty aboard the old USS Arkansas after completing his recruit training. With the outbreak of World War I, he was sent to France where he served with the 4th Marine Brigade and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1918.

INSURRECTION FOR 2 YEARS

Returning from France in 1919 he went to San Domingo for two years during the insurrection.

In 1927 he was with the Marines in the Nicaragua campaign, then, after a tour of duty in the states he served again in Nicaragua with the Guardia Nacional in 1931.

CHINA DUTY

Between wars he switched to the other side of the world for duty with the 4th Marines in China from 1933 to 1935 and to the Philippines as Commanding Officer of the Marine Barracks at Olongapo on Subic Bay.

In 1939 he joined the 1st Marine Brigade which later became the 1st Marine Division. Serving with the 1st Division through the Guadalcanal campaign, the Colonel returned to the states in 1942 to serve as Chief of Staff at Camp Lejeune.

He returned to the Pacific in 1944 with the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, and participated in the assault and occupation of Tinian, the capture of Iwo Jima and the occupation of Okinawa.

34 YEARS OF DUTY

With more than three decades of Marine Corps service behind him Colonel Rowan expects to cruise around for about a year before settling down in either Florida or California.

He is married to Mrs. Cayetana Rowan and they have two children—a daughter, Mrs. Eloise Fenton and a son, George R. Jr.

Landing Operation To Feature Meet

Some of the Marines who attend the Marine Corps League Annual Convention in Boston this fall will arrive via landing craft.

Planned as the greatest convention in the history of the League, the meeting will include an exhibition of a Marine Amphibious Landing, complete with full naval and air support. Arrangements for the landing are being completed by John E. Vandewoude, President of the League.

Nursery Opens

Paradise Pt. Nursery Will Open

The Paradise Point Nursery, located in Building 2625, immediately adjacent to the Sunday School, will be open Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings from 1900 to 2400.

Mrs. Chaney, an experienced and qualified attendant will be in charge. In addition, the nursery may be opened for any occasion, provided four children are guaranteed, by calling Mrs. Chaney at 2642 to make the necessary arrangements.

It's Against The Law

Capt. Hyman Finds Humor In Statutes Still On Books

This is the second in a series of excerpts taken from the book "It's Against the Law" written by Capt. Dick Hyman, USMCR. The excerpts are humorous laws that prevail in the state of North Carolina. A North Carolina justice decreed: "A woman of sound mind can deliberately and without justification murder her husband in cold blood in Tennessee before a dozen witnesses, sign a confession of her guilt, and yet she cannot be legally convicted or even tried for that murder." By way of explanation, a woman over in North Carolina fires a bullet from a rifle over the state line into Tennessee and kills her husband. The woman never comes over into Tennessee. For the actual case on this point you can look up the case of North Carolina vs. Hall (115 N. C. 811).

It is against the law in Leaksville to wear formal clothing during the day.

Twin beds must be two or more feet apart in all hotels.

Elephants may not be used to plow cotton fields in North Carolina. In Statesville, it is against the law to shoot a bow and arrow on the city streets; to conduct rabbit races in the streets, or, to feed a horse on any of the streets of the city.

In Durham, all cars must be moved off the streets in the downtown area when the snow becomes two inches deep.

Female passengers over the age of six cannot sit alone with the driver on the front seat of a taxi in Winston Salem, unless the rear seat is occupied.

It is against the law to keep a locomotive in Pinehurst over night; and, if you have a rooster in your back yard, you are violating the law.

A Dunn ordinance prohibits snoring that disturbs one's neighbors.

Charlotte law says that it is illegal to wash horses on the streets of the city.

Asheville law says it is illegal to drop banana skins on the sidewalks.

In Raleigh, no person is allowed to play at any game on Sunday within the limits of the city, and, proprietors of poolrooms, bowling alleys, or any other place of amusement shall not allow any game to be played on Sunday.

A Rocky Mount ordinance forbids police officers to dip snuff while on duty.
