Week Lower Rates For Travel

Leading Airlines Plan Grant 10% Discount Military Tickets

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—The nation's leading air lines have announced a plan to grant 10 per cent discounts to persons traveling on tickets purchased by military agencies.
The new tariff, effective this month, if approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, is the result of a "gent request" from military agencies and follows months of negotiations.
The proposed discount may boost the military's share of total military air travel from its present two to four per cent to between 10 and 12 per cent.

Time To Decide

One - Year Men Must Make Choice

Obligated To Reenlist In USMC For 2 Years Or USMCR For 6 Years

Many of those young men who voluntarily enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps for a period of one year under the peace time Selective Service Act are rapidly drawing to the close of their enlistment. The Camp Separation Section expects to process approximately 150 USMC-V personnel monthly for the ensuing several months.
Now these men are faced with a choice in continuing to fulfill the obligations into which they entered under the Selective Act. Their contracted agreement is not ended with the expiration of their year of active duty training. Upon discharge, they are obliged to choose between reenlisting in the Regular Marine Corps for a minimum of two years or enlisting in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, Class III (b), for six years of obligated service.
Extensions of enlistment for USMC-V personnel are not authorized, but they may reenlist in the Regular Marine Corps upon discharge.
If a man chooses to enlist in the Inactive Reserve for a period of six years, he may be ordered to an See REENLISTMENTS On Page 3

Lieutenant Perina is a graduate of the class of '43 at Princeton University, where he was a star performer on the gridiron. He has played professional football for the past four years and is currently under contract to a Chicago club. The lieutenant is one of few professionals now playing who wear the Purple Heart for wounds received in action.

Take Time To Be Safe

Every time you get behind the wheel, remember the duty you owe yourself, your family, and every other user of the highway to drive safely.

CONTROLLED SPEED and HASTE are two entirely different matters. The first implies full consideration of traffic, road surface, weather, visibility, condition of car, and the driver's own mental and physical equipment. Haste, however, ignores all these things and insists only on "saving seconds."

Seconds saved by sacrificing human lives—by robbing thousands of families each year of a beloved mother, son, or daughter—are seconds purchased at too dear a price. No engagement is so important, no journey so urgent, that you cannot take those extra seconds you need to bring you safely to your destination.

Properly used, the automobile is one of humanity's greatest blessings. Improperly used, it becomes one of the greatest weapons of destruction.

By respecting the rights of every other user of the highways, by practicing restraint and moderation, by keeping both mentally and physically in fit condition to meet a sudden emergency, we can continue to enjoy this great convenience and at the same time continue to live and let live.

A driver's license is a privilege granted to the individual by the state. Treat it as such. It is not an inalienable right guaranteed to all by the Constitution. Abuse it, and it will surely be revoked.

When driving, obey the ABC's of the highway:

Always Be Careful!

Chaplain's Corner

The question that plagued the writer of the seventy-third Psalm has been a question that has tormented the mind of man down through the ages. Why is it that often the wicked prosper in this life and the righteous have such a hard time? As the Psalmist surveyed life he made these observations.

"I was envious at the foolish when I saw the prosperity of the wicked... Their eyes stand out with fatness. They have more than a heart could wish. Behold these are the ungodly who prosper in the world."

And the question is a perplexing one. For in our everyday observation of life we so often find these facts to be true. And looking solely at the immediate present, there is no answer.

Isn't 'till we turn to the Scriptures that we see the true answer. For the Psalmist said again: "Until I entered into the sanctuary of God—then understood I their end. Surely those didst set in slippery places—Thou castest them down into destruction."

We call a man foolish, when the midst of youth and plenty neglects to set aside a portion a guarantee against old age hunger. And yet, the Scriptures say that the man who builds only this temporal life and fails to up a guarantee for eternal life the greater fool.

For while other opportunities help may arise here on earth, there are no "second chances" beyond the grave. When the Psalmist realized that his prosperity was no temporary earthly prosperity, an eternal heavenly prosperity, finished with this thought, "Nevertheless I am continually with Thee. Thou hast held me by my right hand. Thou shalt guide me with Thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory."

Remember, God calls no man to a life of ease and privileges, into a life of obedience and consecration, whose rewards are measured by worldly prosperity by eternal blessing.

Skin Donations By Marines Aid Badly Burned Youngster

Courageous 4-Year-Old On Way To Recovery

EA)—A game little four-year-old, his fire-seared body sensitive to the gentlest touch, is on the way to recovery. One of these days, in the fall, if his improvement continues its slow but steady progress, the courageous Michael Rector will return to his Washington, D. C., home.

When this happy occasion takes place, a modern miracle of medicine and faith will have been realized. The tears and compassion of unnumbered, the untiring professional efforts of doctors and nurses, blood and skin of eight donors, and skin donations from Navy, Army and Marine Corps enlisted men are bringing the lad through.

LINE VOLUNTEERS
The country knows of little Mike's life. What started 12 Nov. as a local Washington affair, has become the nation's hope for a return to a happy, normal life. That's because when Mike was first burned, no hope had been held for his life. Nearly 70 percent of his body had been "burned"—more than enough to be fatal.

The indomitable struggle of the young boy brought spontaneous volunteers for the necessary skin grafting.

There was, for example, Robert John Denyer, AD3, USNR, who is a skin-keeper at NAS, Anacostia, D. C. Denyer, himself the 23-year-old father of a two-year-old boy, has his skin graft offer since "I'm big and healthy and I ought to be able to help him out." Because Michael is such a good "fighter," 26-year-old Sergeant John Tapp, USMC, also of NAS, Anacostia, allowed 110 square inches of his own body to be transferred to Mike.

NEEDS HELP

Another Marine, Pfc. John L. Fisher, USMC, of Lancaster, Pa., another skin donor. The 22-year-old rangy 6-footer stationed at Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington, offered as his simple explanation, "the kid needs help." Another serviceman donor was Army Sergeant William Roby, 23-year-old resident of Uniontown, Pa., assigned to Pentagon duty. A heavy veteran who now is a bus mechanic in the nation's capital, contributed skin but wished to remain unidentified as did a salesman, of course, there is Mike's father, Everett Rector, who was the first to give some of his skin to the boy. He left his job to remain at the side of his son in his hospital room along with the mother, whom Mike ran last November when his clothes were ablaze.

Champ Shows Wizardry In Exhibitions

Proves He Is Master Of Double-Corner Board, With Or Without Eyes

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.—In two appearances here last Thursday, Tom Wiswell, internationally known checker expert, proved to the satisfaction of all that he might just as well be referred to as "Whiz" Wiswell, at least as far as checker board maneuvers are concerned.

The master's play at the Naval Hospital in the afternoon and at the Area Two Service Club in the evening was a fine example of his ingenious checker composings.

Appearing at the hospital under the auspices of the Red Cross, he simultaneously played 21 men, winning 42 out of 44 games played.

At the service club, he again exemplified his talents by adding a blindfold exhibition to his multi-player routine. Playing two games without the benefit of his eyes, he won them both.

The expert was accompanied at each performance by MSgt. Murdoc Barton of Headquarters and Service Battalion, Second Marine Division, himself a formidable checker opponent.

Mr. Wiswell, one of the world's 10 leading players, had just returned from refereeing the world championship checker meets at Oklahoma City, Okla. and Joliet, Ill., when he very graciously consented to appear at Camp Lejeune.

Tom's love of the game has taken him all over the world to appear in performances before outstanding personages. In Calcutta, India, he once played before the late General Stilwell, who complimented him on his excellent artistic play.

As an instructor, Mr. Wiswell has taught the art of checker playing to many noted personages, among them being Jack Dempsey, Joel McCrea, and Gene Lockhart.

To prove his devotion to the game, Wiswell recounts a humorous—yet serious—incident which happened during the late war. A merchant marine ship on which he was a passenger was torpedoed while he was below, playing checkers with members of the crew. He took time to gather up his board and checkers before making his way on deck and taking to a life-boat. When he abandoned ship, checkers and board went with him.

Reenlistments

Organized Reserve unit or to an Officers' Training Program at any time during this period. Should the individual refuse to perform such duty, he may be ordered to an additional 12 months of active service without his consent.

The problem with which each man in this category is faced is a serious one and should not be taken lightly. There are many pros and cons to consider. There is the question of occupation and livelihood in civilian life. How are you prepared to cope with it? Are you able to command a position with sufficient earnings to enable you to pay room rent, buy your food, purchase necessary articles of clothing, provide your recreation, allow for emergencies of doctor or dentist, and still have a few dollars to deposit in the bank each pay day? Do you have a job to go to—or are you going to have to spend expensive weeks looking for one? What will your chances be for promotion in a new field? Or would you be better off in the Corps for another two years? Two years in which all these things will be provided for you, and at the end of which you will be more mature and in a better position to fend for yourself in the world of industry.

On the other hand, there is the matter of finishing your education. If you are going back to school or college, if the way is open for you, if your enrollment has been arranged, if the tuition is available, if you desire in your heart to obtain this further education, then you should by all means do it.

But if there is any doubt in your mind—if you are not entirely certain of what you want to do—then you should start now to give these details the important consideration which they merit. Don't wait until your enlistment expires. Do it now!

BENEFITS OF REENLISTMENT
All USMC-V personnel are entitled to the same privileges and benefits of reenlistment as those granted to members of the Regular Marine Corps.

They may reenlist for either three or four years, or if reenlistment is effected within 90 days after discharge from USMC-V status, may reenlist for two years.

They are entitled to reenlistment allowance, which will be paid immediately upon reenlistment or on the first pay day thereafter, which ever the individual desires. USMC-V men will receive $50. as reenlistment allowance.

Upon reenlistment, they may request and obtain assignment to any one of 29 posts, stations, or organizations, providing reenlistment leave is taken.

Reenlistment leave travel allowance is authorized. This means that five cents per mile travel allowance will be paid from the old duty station to the leave address and from the leave address back to the old duty station, or to a new duty station if one is requested (minus five cents per mile transportation allowance paid on discharge from the duty station to the home address or the point of original enlistment).

INFORMATION AVAILABLE
For any other details that might be desired regarding reenlistment, USMC-V personnel, or any other personnel, should contact the Non-commissioned Officer in Charge, Camp Recruiting Office, Building No. 8.

What A Whopper!

A deep sea fisherman and a fresh water angler were trying to outdo each other with their tales. "Why," boasted the salt water addict, "you should have seen the tarpon I caught last week. He measured at least . . .!" "Shucks," interrupted his fresh water opponent, "I've been fishing long before you ever got the idea in your head. Why, I've caught sharks in the Connecticut River big as a dirigible." "What are you saying, mister?" snapped his adversary. "There are no sharks in the Connecticut River." "Of course not," snapped Mr. Freshwater. "Not now. I caught every last one of them two years ago."

Team Down Game 'Flyer' By 38 Points

Fallon And Schwinn Lead Lejeune's Attack

Proving that the Lejeune Mermen are of a highly amphibious nature, the swimming and diving team scored a 58 to 20 point victory over the Cherry Point Flyers in a meet held at Cherry Point last day. In doing so, they took a first, six second and eight third places.

Copping 58 out of a possible 60 points, Lejeune's mermen failed to win only two first, three second and one third place betwixt the teams. They scored complete victories in the 300 meter individual medley, 200 free style and the diving events.

Ed Schwinn, former New York City and New York State champion in 1945, took the diving honors for Lejeune with a high aggregate of 53 points. His closest rival with 43 points was R. Reichenbach, another Lejeune diver. Schwinn placed third in the Atlantic Fleet Championship while on duty in the Mediterranean area last year, he ended competition at Istanbul, Turkey, walking away with a victory over some of Istanbul's best divers.

Pacing Lejeune's aquatic squad in the swimming events were Joe Fallon, winner of the 1500 and 800 meter free style events and Bill Chain, who won the 400 and 200 meter free style swims. Lejeune, Fallon was 1948 First Naval District champion and placed All-Navy, 1948 in the 100 meter swim.

Outstanding for Cherry Point was Dell Norman, who in garnering the Flyers' only two wins, captured place in both the 100 meter free style and 200 meter breast stroke events.

Sharing secondary honors Lejeune were Luke Dommer, M. E. Wilcox. Dommer took a place in the 300 meter individual medley and second in the meter free style races, while Wilcox won the 100 meter backstroke and placed second in the meter individual medley.

Swim coach 1st Lt. Donn Dray disclosed that Lejeune's ace backstroker John Garrett, 1948 First Naval District champion and placed All-Navy last year, did swim his specialty at the Cherry Point meet, but concentrated on tance swimming. Garrett's breast stroke times, however are faster than those of Cherry Point's Norman.

Customers Clipped

New York (AFPS)—There's no red-striped pole at the Public Li- brary here. But Barber Frank Co- lasanti was doing a thriving busi- ness within its hallowed walls— until the police found out.

The blue-coats say he was reading up on out-of-town busi- nessmen, then phoning them long-dis- tance on a first-name basis claim- ing he'd bartered them once and would they send him enough money to get back home again.

The judge trimmed the charge to "vagrancy" but sent him to jail anyhow. Even barbers, he said, must show certain restraint in their clipping.

Lejeune Marine baseball team will be holding practice sessions k for their appearance in the 6th Naval District Tourna- is scheduled to be played at Cherry Point July 26, 27, ie games for the past weekend with the Jacksonville, ave been cancelled due to pending tournament play. The the Quantico and Norfolk squads have been postponed for ason.

the most outstanding assets of the Quantico club was the ich supported them. Practically every man on the Camp ad was amazed. A good play, no matter how tight or tense ay have been, was always applauded, and an error, again no- h team committed it, was always laughed off and quickly oo bad that baseball enthusiasts aren't like that everywhere played.

encer, the 19-year-old outfielder turned hurler, threw his ant game in as many trips to the hill against the Quantico ek. Spencer's earned run average, after twenty-one innings of the strongest teams on the schedule, is an unbelievable s, one of the nicest people you could ever hope to meet, has 19, walked nine, and given up 11 hits in that span. A Brook- ho was a spectator at the night game at Quantico, was ex- rested in the Connecticut Yankee, and handed Lev a down- fer right after the contest. Spencer is also second in team l the leader in RBI's and stolen bases.

Frezza's extra-base barrage in the first game was the best it the plate for a Lejeune performer since the beginning of on. Big Frank walloped a 375-foot homer in his first time up. d, walked, and tripled in that order to give him a perfect total of nine bases for the day. That afternoon's work also ie lead in the team batting race with a mark of .317.

p five hitters, incidentally, are: (1) Frank Frezza, .317; (2) r, .299; (3) Gene Cheval, .295; (4) Ralph Nofsinger, .293; and hop, .254.

leen, Quantico first-sacker, supplied the Shakespearian erting a bit of comedy into the midst of the heavy drama lled off an "unknown" putout in the 12th. Farrell threw Pete ound ball into the dirt, and Killean made a beautiful ball slapping into his mitt on the first bounce. He jumped tely, however, and began searching frantically for what was e a muffed throw. Adam Gruca, trotting off the infield he saw was the third putout of the inning, relieved him by n his glove . . . and the ball that was in it.

Lt. Kern Sets 16th Marines Back 1 - 0

First Game In Softball Playoffs Won By Strong H&S Squad

First Lieutenant Richard H. Kern pitched a no hit, no run game in the initial tilt between the H&S Bn., Div. champs and the 16th Marines. The H&S squad conquered all comers in the National League while the 16th Marines downed all opponents to take first place honors in the American League.

The no hit, no run game was the first game in the 2 out-of-3 series the two clubs are playing for the Camp Championship.

Lt. Kern walked two men in the first inning and then retired 19 men in order. Thirteen of the 16th Marine softballers went down swing- ing.

The lone score made by the H&S team was made by the winning pitcher Kern. He went home on a short fly ball in foul territory after the third baseman slipped and fell on the slippery field and failed to throw the ball home. Lt. Kern smashed a terrific drive to the pitcher and made first base on the too-hot-to-handle ball. After he was advanced to third base, he scored the sole run of the ball game on the fly ball.

The hurler for the 16th Marines, Mueller, a fast southpaw, stopped the H&S team momentarily and held them to three hits during the Ball game.

Captain Westbrook, manager of the 16th Marines club hopes for victory for the team in the remain- ing games. One game was played last night but we do not know the results as we go to press. The last game, if the 16th Marines won the game last night will be played on field 70 tomorrow afternoon.

The H&S team, led by Major Hud- gins and TSgt. Myslek, hope to claim the Championship again this year. The 1948 champs are unde- feated in league play this year and have won a total of 43 out of 45 games in two years.

Under The Lights Again

Weekend Tilts On Tap For Lejeune Nine

The Camp Lejeune nine will travel to Wilmington tomorrow night to meet the highly rated Semi-Pro All-Stars of that city. This contest will be the third game the Lejeune club has played under the lights. The first game with the Wal- lace, N. C., semi-pro aggregation was a decisive victory for the Le- jeuners as they downed the fast Wallace nine 4-1. In the second tilt under the lights, the locals dropped a 12 inning heartbreaker to the Quantico squad 2-1.

Saturday afternoon at 1730, the locals will meet another fast ball club on the home diamond behind the Protestant Chapel. Their worthy opponents will be the Winter Park Rangers, who are in second place in the Wilmington semi-pro league.

The game at Wilmington will be played at the Legion Stadium with the "Play Ball" signal going at 2045 Daylight Saving Time.

Friday's game will have the spotlight on pitcher Noble, while Huddle will take over the hurling chores for Saturday's contest.

Air-Conditioned 'Sack'

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AFPS) — An air-conditioned bed for your comfort . . . ?

A bed on display here features a foam rubber mattress with-holes at intervals and an air-conditioning unit underneath.

Low slung and set on coasters, the new bed can be just as com- fortable in summer and in winter. The conditioner can produce either warm or cool air.

Yawn Reasoning

New York (AFPS)—Why do we yawn?

General Electric scientists say that yawning is a "reflex action made up of many components."

According to one theory, say the scientists, slight deficiencies of oxygen in the blood stream and in the brain is responsible for starting the yawn.

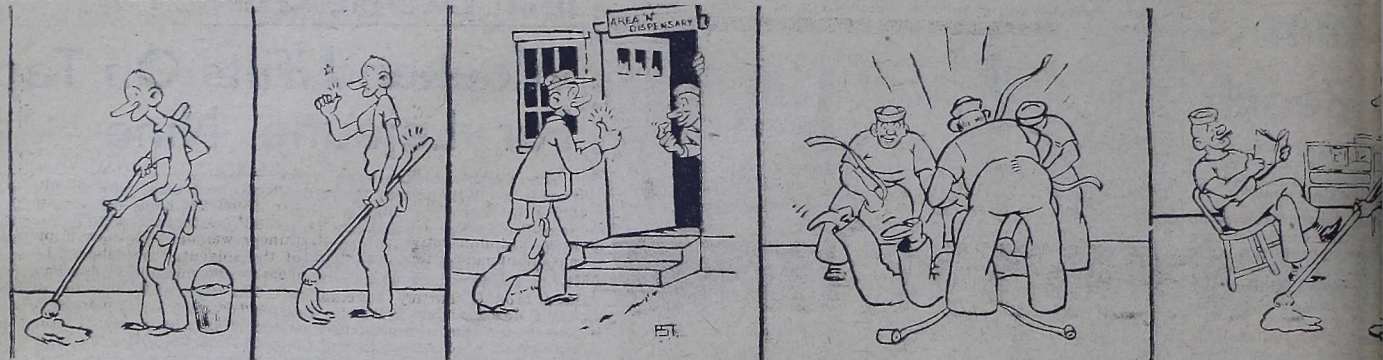

While yawning may be associ- ated with sleepiness, it does not necessarily indicate a need for sleep, they added.

Testing Grounds

Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' star outfielder, gave the heel that kept him out of action for 65 games a real test recently when he slid into home plate during a game with the Washington Senators. The Yanks' Billy Johnson was ready with Umpire Hubbard to call the play, but Joe hooked the plate long before the peg from center reached catcher Al Evans.

Then there was the ex-Army man who applied for a job as "Human Cannonball" at the circus.

"Yes," said the Big Top boss, "I think we can use a man of your caliber."

Tony dropped a piece of heavy metal on his foot. His foreman had to fill out a long blank under a workmen's compensation plan. He filled everything out down to the last question, which simply read, "Remarks." He was stumped and went in and asked the boss, "What do they want in here — Tony's remarks, or mine?"

Flying over the Bay of Naples, an air pilot turned to his passenger and asked: "Have you ever heard that phrase, 'See Naples and die'?"

"Yes," replied the passenger.

"Well," said the pilot, "take a good look—the propeller's come off."

Jack Bailey is one of those rare fellows who believes in treating mothers-in-law right. And when he started his fifth year as emcee of Mutual's fun-packed "Queen For A Day" week-day feature last Friday (2 to 2:30 p. m., EDT) Jack was wishing that he could provide a ten-day all-expenses-paid Hollywood vacation trip for every mother-in-law in the country.

"But that's impossible," says Jack. "So I'll limit myself to one—the one who is chosen the 'Mother-In-Law Queen' on our broadcast Friday, July 29."

That's Jack's hope—that every mother-in-law in the country will be entered in this latest campaign on the "Queen For A Day" show. And, he points out, it's very simple to do.

"All you have to do to put your mother-in-law in the running for this fine vacation trip is to send me a post-card bearing her name and address," he says. "We'll take care of the rest on 'Queen For A Day.'"

LABEL CONTAINERS CLEARLY

Unlabeled or inadequately labeled containers are serious hazards, as was demonstrated recently when a field engineer mistook a jug of solvent for a water jug and drank from it. There was no indication of the nature of the contents on the jug, which had been used to refill containers of solvent and then left on the shelf where the water jug was usually placed. The accident caused 6 weeks' disability.

Another source of accident is the substitution of one solvent for another without a change of labels on the container. The exchange of a flammable for a nonflammable solvent in this manner may result in fire. Such an accident occurred when a highly flammable paint thinner was put on a rack in place of the solvent ordinarily used for cleaning purposes. The janitor did not know of the substitution and cleaned the floor around an electric motor with paint thinner.

Drums of chemicals obtained from the manufacturer are generally labeled with information which indicates whether the contents are flammable, toxic, or both, and gives the most important precautions to be observed. After the chemical is received in the plant, it is often poured from the original container into bottles, cans, jugs, etc., for distribution as needed. These smaller containers should have labels which duplicate the information on the original label. Otherwise, the safety information on the drum in the storage room will be of no use to the men handling the containers out in the shop.

Chemicals purchased from sources other than the manufacturer do not always carry precautionary information. In such instances, proper warning labels which may be obtained from the manufacturer should be put on the container before the solvent is put to use. (Safety Review).

Remsen J. Cole, Public Information Officer for the Reserve training program.

Boston, home city of the Reserve 2d Infantry Battalion, will be saluted on the first program. This unit arrived here July 16 for two weeks intensive summer training.

An audience show with everyone invited, emanating from the main camp theater, will include short interviews of officers and men of the Boston and Hingham, Massachusetts, Reserve units.

Augmented by musicians from Reserve units, the Second Marine Division band will furnish music, including dance arrangements.

The Reserve Public Information Section, which is arranging for the broadcasts, hopes also to add a number of variety acts and vocal arrangements to the program. It is planned that the "Citizen Marines Are on the Air" will be a national network show as soon as final arrangements can be made.

The program on August 4 will feature Marine Reservists of the 8th and 18th Infantry Battalions and will be dedicated to Toledo, Ohio, and Omaha, Nebraska, home cities of the headquarters of these two units. The following week, Philadelphia and Reading, Pennsylvania, will be saluted. The 6th Infantry Battalion from these cities will be here for training at that time.

Later programs will be dedicated to the men of the 7th Infantry Battalion from Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, and the 5th Infantry Battalion from Washington, D. C., Lynchburg and Charlottesville, Va.

These are all units which have trained or will train at Camp Lejeune during the summer Reserve training period.

Reserve Ramblings

Pvt. Fred S. Moreno, USMCR, 401 1-2 E. State St., Savannah, Ga., made a perfect score with the Browning Automatic Rifle at Camp Lejeune Rifle Range.

Firing in competition with other Reservists of "D" Company, 10th Infantry Battalion, Savannah, Ga., as well as Nashville, Tenn., and Cumberland and Baltimore, Md., Reservists, Private Moreno put every shot in the black.

Moreno, a member of the 3d Platoon of the Savannah Reserve Unit, has seven months' service. He attended Cathedral Parochial School and is currently enrolled in Benedictine Military School.

Capt. Roy N. Courington, Executive Officer of the Savannah Reserve Unit, came within three points of breaking the Reserve range record at Camp Lejeune with the .30 caliber carbine. Garnering 233 points, the captain needed an additional two to tie the range record of 260.

The softball team of the 11th Engineer Battalion, USMCR, opened their Reserve recreation program here by defeating a team composed of coaches from the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range. Several times during the nine inning contest, the lead changed hands, but the consistent hitting of the Baltimoreans eventually proved just a little too much for their opponents. The final score was 13 to 12.

Headquarters, Marine Corps, has ordered the below-named officers on liaison trips to Camp Lejeune for the purpose of obtaining information which will be of assistance in formulating plans for training the Organized Reserve units in 1950. LtCol. W. R. Lytz, period 13-15 July; Maj. W. R. Burgoyne Jr., period 21-26 July; LtCol. C. M. Nes, period 3-9 August; and Maj. M. P. Ryan, period 15-19 August.
