Tinker Air Show held July 1-2

Tinker AFB held its first air show in 4 years July 1-2, 2023. The Tinker Air Show is open to the public and admission is free. The U.S. Navy Blue Angels headlined the show this year. The Tinker Air Show is back after four years giving Oklahomans another reason to celebrate ahead of the Fourth of July holiday. The show was so popular after only a few hours after opening the gates the Air Force Base announced they were at capacity. Although gates closed earlier than expected, that did not stop people from enjoying the fun. (U.S. Air Force courtesy photo)

The theme for this year's show is "STEM Takes Flight," highlighting the science, technology, engineering and mathematics that make human flight possible. (U.S. Air Force photo by William R. Lewis)

Site Activation Task Force visit July 14-15

The Site Activation Task Force visits the group July 14-15 at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma, to assist with the recent changes to the unit's manning levels. Due to the divestiture of AWACS aircraft, personnel manning must be adjusted.

Subject matter experts are on hand to answer questions about how these upcoming changes will affect our Reservists.

Representatives from 10th Air Force, AFRC, 507th Force Support Squadron and recruiting are available to discuss future plans and options for furthering careers for our Reservists.

Thomas Elmore, 10th AF/A5, Maj. James Walters, 10th AF executive officer, Al Tolbert, AFRC/A1 civilian personnel/SATF program manager and Brian Cardinali, AFRC/A8W, take a tour of the 513 ACG campus July 14, 2023, led by Maj. Dicky Guerrero.

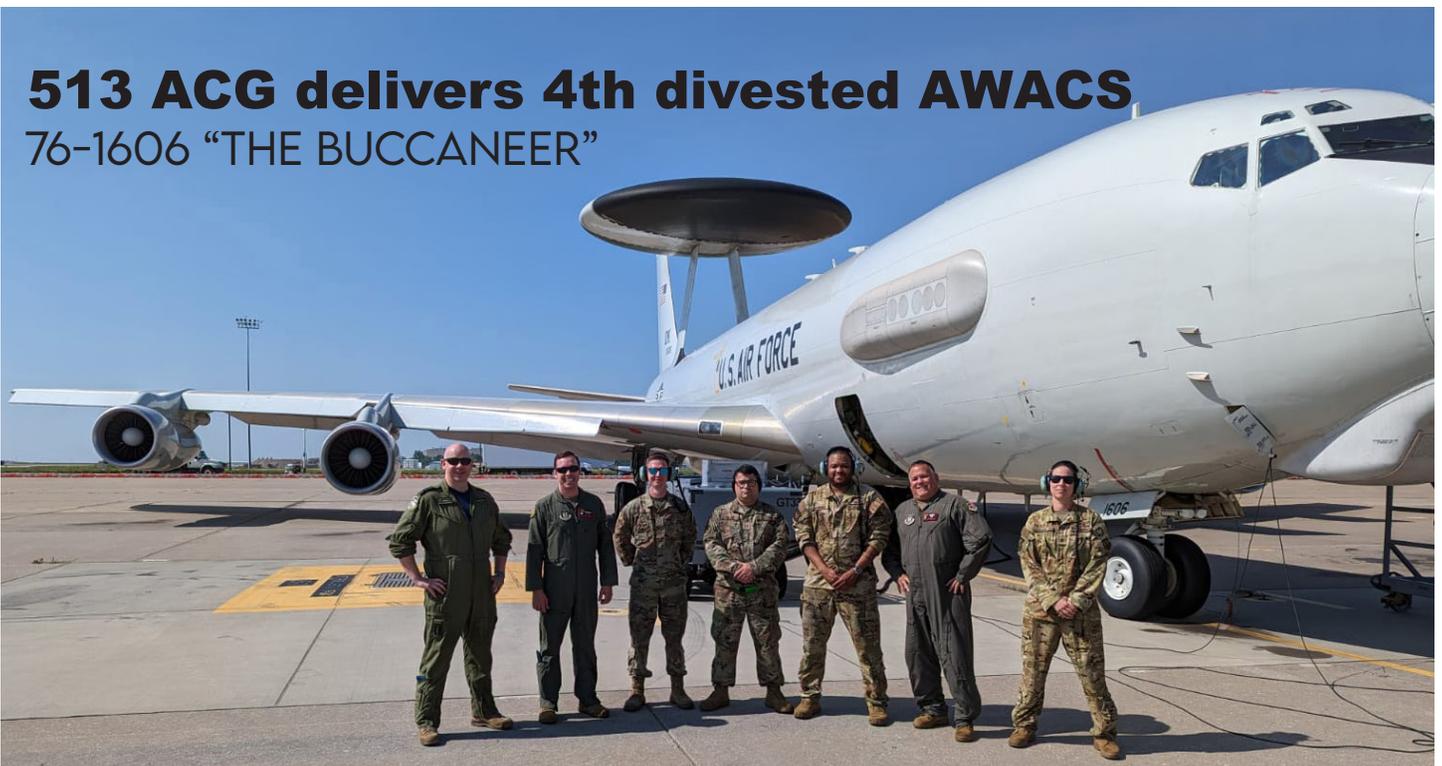

Maintainers celebrate Father's Day with Veterans in Norman

A group of 513th Maintenance Squadron Airmen spent time with Veterans at the Norman Veterans Center for a Father's Day cookout June 16, 2023. Everyone enjoyed great food, lots of stories and laughs, but most importantly families were able to make wonderful memories of celebrating with their veteran!

Check out the Norman Veteran's Center Facebook page to get involved in volunteer opportunities: <https://www.facebook.com/profile.php?id=100068441133207>

513 ACG delivers 4th divested AWACS 76-1606 “THE BUCCANEER”

Farewell 1606! Officially retired June 8, 2023, the team snaps a photo with the aircraft at the Boneyard in Arizona. 970th Airborne Air Control Squadron commander, Lt. Col. Ryan Green, piloted the aircraft 76-1606 and delivered her to her new home.

An E-3 Sentry aircraft, #76-1606, “The Buccaneer”, departs Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma, June 8, 2023, headed for the 309th Aerospace Maintenance and Regeneration Group at Davis-Monthan AFB, Arizona. This is the fourth AWACS planned to be divested this year. (U.S. Air Force courtesy photo)

Fifth divested AWACS departs for Boneyard

71-1408 “ARGENTINE PESO”

Farewell, number 5!

The fifth AWACS selected for divestment, tail number 71-1408, departs Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma, June 16, 2023.

Sixth divested AWACS heads to AMARG

75-0559 “RAINMAKER”

The sixth AWACS selected for divestment, tail number 75-0559, departs July 6, 2023, from Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma, bound for the AMARG at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Arizona. The aircraft was nicknamed “Rainmaker” and marks the halfway point for the planned E-3 Sentry divestments in FY23.

Two members of the 513th Air Control Group flew the jet to the Boneyard, Lt. Col. Stephen Williams, pilot with the 970th Airborne Air Control Squadron and Tech. Sgt. Karlton Wamble, 970th AACS Airborne Radio Operator at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma. (U.S. Air Force courtesy photos by Luke Weigel)

Seventh aircraft divested and sent to AMARG

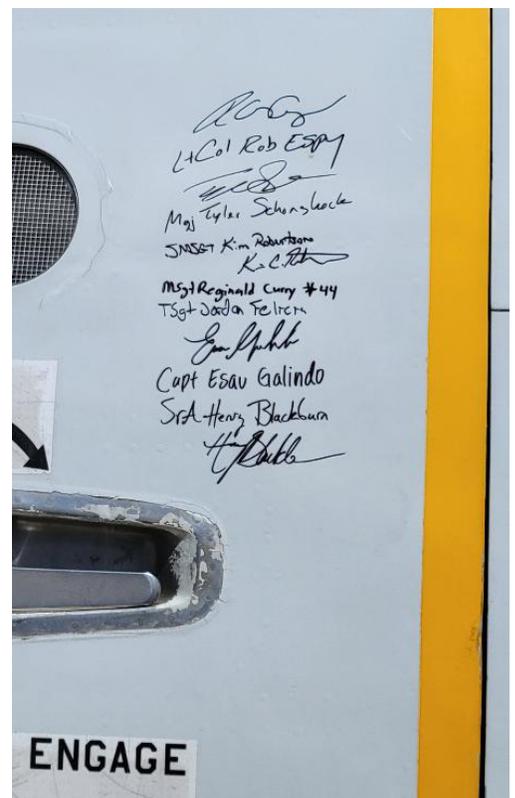

78-0576 “FATBOY”

Aircraft 78-0576 “Fat Boy” departs Tinker July 13, 2023, and heads to the boneyard for divestment from the fleet. This marks the seventh aircraft of 13 that will be divested from the fleet in FY23. Twelve E-3 Sentry aircraft will rest at the AMARG at Davis Monthan AFB, AZ, and one will remain on base as a static display. (U.S. Air Force courtesy photo by Rob Stephens)

Three members of the 513th Air Control Group flew the bird to her final destination: Lt. Col. Robert Espy, 970th Airborne Air Control Squadron pilot, Flight Engineer, Senior Master Sgt. Kim Robertson 513th Air Control Group and Airborne Radio Operator, Master Sgt. Reginald Curry, 513th Air Control Group.

CCAF is open for business

Air University and the Community College of the Air Force have regained the ability to review degree progress and graduate students, launching the new AU Student Information System, June 20, 2023.

The system will enable CCAF to dramatically improve operations and response times for graduating students; however, the SIS is not yet completely automated and currently requires a manual process to ensure 100% accuracy.

“In July, we expect automated processes to assess and graduate students and plans are in place to quickly eliminate the backlog of student records and requests for documentation,” Lt. Gen. Andrea Tullos, AU commander and president said.

“The pending enhancements will enable CCAF to dramatically improve academic operations and reduce response times to graduate students and provide transcripts.”

Additionally, installation education offices have regained the ability to review student records to provide advice and will receive continuous training and additional support to gain competence and confidence in the new system.

As the AU SIS comes online, students should start to see their updated degree program report and be able to apply for graduation. Updated transcripts will become available as information begins to flow from the Military Personnel Data System.

“It may take a few weeks for MilPDS information to update,” Col. Anthony Babcock, Barnes Center for Enlisted Education commander, said. “A lot of students have been waiting to graduate, and a lot of records need updating.”

The migration of CCAF data to the AU SIS began on Sept. 28, 2022. More than 260,000 active student records transferred to the new system.

Students can access the new system at <https://aueems.cce.af.mil/sap/bc/ui2/flp/#Shell-home>

Resilience Training Assistants course to be held Sept. 11-13

Here is an opportunity to make an impact!

The 507th Air Refueling Wing First Sgt and Airman and Family Readiness are requesting two representatives from each squadron for a three-day course to be held Sept 11-13 off base at the Tinker Industrial Park to become Resilience Training Assistants

RTAs tailor Resilience, violence prevention and the total fitness of airmen.

This three-day class provides a certification that will help build foundational life skills for every airman to allow them to thrive personally and professionally.

With your supervisors’ approval, reach out to Sharon Lochman or Senior Master Sgt. Jeremy Scoles to sign up for the course.

Here are the units who have reps signed up to date:

- (1) 513 MXS
- (1) 507 MSG
- (2) 507 FSS
- (2) 507 LRS
- (2) 507 AMXS

Contact SMSgt Scoles with questions.
First Sergeant/Resilience Integrator
Comm: 405-582-4327
DSN: 852-4327

In the U.S. Air Force, the four pillars of resilience are mental, physical, social, and spiritual wellbeing. These four pillars are the foundation of the Air Force Resilience Training Program used by Resilience Training Assistants and Master Resilience Trainers to help Airmen overcome challenges in their everyday lives.
