Welcome to the Stuttgart Military Community!

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

The U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart welcomes incoming community members to the top garrison in Europe, as awarded by Installation Management Command for 2020.

Stuttgart is a great place to work and live with a dynamic "purple" military community spread across five installations. Military life coupled with all the activities the greater Stuttgart area has to offer, makes this a professionally and personally rewarding assignment.

USAG Stuttgart is home to multiple tactical, operational and strategic-level Department of Defense organizations including the headquarters of U.S. Africa Command and U.S. European Command. More than 30,000 U.S. military personnel, civilians and family members make up the garrison community, working at Panzer Kaserne, Patch Barracks, Kelley Barracks, Robinson Barracks and Stuttgart Army Airfield.

The city of Stuttgart is the capital of Baden-Württemberg, one of Germany's 16 states. Its metropolitan area population of 5.3 million makes it the fourth largest in the country. Nestled along the Neckar River, Stuttgart is a thriving center of industry, commerce, and culture that is home to major multinational corporations (including two of the world's largest automakers) and a high concentration of museums, theaters, and festivals. The 'Cannstatter Volksfest' attracts nearly four million visitors annually and is Europe's second-largest beer festival after Munich's "Oktoberfest." Stuttgart is also a major transportation hub and sits within a two-hour drive from French, Swiss, and Austrian borders.

Panzer Kaserne, located in neighboring Böblingen, is home to the garrison headquarters and is where most in-and-out-processing tasks are performed. It's the location of Stuttgart Elementary and Stuttgart High School. The garrison's main Exchange, the Panzer Hotel and a small commissary are located here. Panzer Kaserne is also where incoming personnel pick up, inspect and register their personally owned vehicles.

A short distance away along county road K1055, also known as "Frog Road" because of signs warning drivers to be aware of migratory amphibians, is Patch Barracks in Stuttgart-Vaihingen. Patch is home to U.S. European Command. The installation features Patch Middle School, the new campus of Patch Elementary School, the garrison's main commissary, a gas station and shoppette, movie theater, food court, car wash, thrift store and other services.

Kelley Barracks in Stuttgart-Möhringen is home to U.S. Africa Command, the Stuttgart Legal Assistance Office, the award-winning Kelley Theatre, a commissary, gas station, the Kelley Club and a child development center.

Robinson Barracks, located in Stuttgart-Bad Cannstatt, is primarily a residential installation. It features Robinson Barracks Elementary School, a commissary, furniture store and broadcast studios for American Forces Network Stuttgart. Robinson and Patch Barracks comprise approximately 60 percent of the family housing and 50 percent of the unaccompanied housing.

Finally, Stuttgart Army Airfield in Filderstadt is the home of the aviation arms of each respective combatant command, as well as the primary platform for military cargo. It is etched in history as one of the main locations for aircraft used during the 1948-1949 Berlin Airlift.

This special edition of the Citizen is your guide to a smooth transition. It includes tools, tips and resources offered by the garrison and its partner units to service members, civilians, contractors and their families. With this guide and the assistance of a sponsor, the transition overseas into this community will be met with a lot of excitement and a little inevitable stress. This issue features information on housing, schools, medical and dental care, and other aspects of life in the Stuttgart military community. An introduction to life on our installations and the surrounding local communities will provide you with a glimpse of everything available in your new home.

StuttgartCitizen.com, and especially the USAG Stuttgart Mobile App, can also assist you with a smooth transition into this community. They house tools, tips and resources offered by the garrison and its partner units to service members, civilians, contractors and their families.

Here at U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart, our motto is, "I'm glad I live here!" We hope throughout your tour here, you'll see why!

How to in-process into Stuttgart

USAG Stuttgart Central Processing Facility

Travel to Stuttgart

Sponsors of incoming personnel should be aware that all personnel assigned to Panzer Kaserne, Kelley Barracks, Patch Barracks, Robinson Barracks, Stuttgart Army Airfield, or the International Training Center-Pfullendorf should fly directly into the Ramstein Gateway Reception Center via Air Mobility Command's military chartered airlift, the Patriot Express, or the Stuttgart International Airport. Flights depart from BWI Airport, AMC Terminal, and arrive at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, or Stuttgart Airport. Their officially assigned unit/agency sponsor should pick up personnel arriving at Stuttgart Airport. Military personnel and accompanying family members arriving at Ramstein Air Base will proceed via bus directly to Stuttgart after arriving the same day. Once the Stuttgart Central Processing Facility (CPF) has been notified by Ramstein Gateway Reception Center of the incoming personnel, the CPF will call the Service Member's receiving unit upon their arrival.

Upon Arrival

All DoD Civilians, Non-Appropriated Fund employees and Service Members in the rank of Private (E-1) through Colonel (O-6), including those in the Reserve/National Guard components on Active Duty Operational Support (ADOS) orders over 180 days in length assigned, attached, or otherwise performing duty in Stuttgart, will contact the CPF to start virtual in-processing. Civilian employees initially report to the Civilian Personnel Advisory Center (CPAC). Unit-assigned sponsors can now direct incoming military and DoD civilian personnel to contact the CPF before departure from their home station to begin their virtual in-processing prior to arrival in Stuttgart. It is extremely important that newcomers maintain constant communication with their assigned sponsor throughout the PCS process. Note: Army personnel (E-1 through O-6) on Active Duty for Operational Support (ADOS), ADOS-Reserve Component, or mobilization orders for 90 or more days are required to completely in-process at the start of the order through the nearest military installation transition point. Upon arrival, or perhaps even before, incoming personnel will then need to make appointments with selected agencies using the USAG Stuttgart mobile app or by booking online at www.stuttgartcitizen.com/appointments/.

Depending on your needs, these appointments may include:

- Housing
- Vehicle Inspection
- Vehicle Registration
- Driver's License
- Passports/SOFA cards
- ID Cards
- Postal
- EFMP

Virtual In-Processing

The USAG Stuttgart Central Processing Facility

(CPF) will be your one-stop virtual in-processing center. Newcomers will be scheduled for a hybrid In-Processing experience, featuring both in-person and virtual delivery methods. The virtual portion has the advantage of starting in-processing before arrival, enabling newcomers to interact with garrison agencies virtually to begin their mandatory in-processing tasks and offering them more control over the pace of their individualized in-processing. Customers will complete most of the virtual in-processing with a simple internet connection and web links which direct them to the briefs and mandatory training.

All incoming personnel (or their sponsor) must complete the Joint In-Processing Needs Assessment using the "In and Out Processing" link available on the U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart website. Once for our joint community. Their content directly impacts quality of life.

Virtual In-Processing Briefings

Begin your virtual in-processing by watching the "Mandatory Briefs" (YouTube videos), which can also be found on the USAG Stuttgart mobile app. Next, complete the "Mandatory Trainings" by clicking or pasting the web links on your mobile device or computer. Additionally, complete the "Scheduled Mandatory Briefings" by logging onto Microsoft Teams during the designated times as indicated on your checklist. These briefings will include the garrison command briefing, Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO), Equal Opportunity Advisor (EOA).

The Central Processing Desk proudly welcomes service members and civilians from all branches of the military. Photo by Balmina Sehra the CPF receives the Newcomers Needs Assessment through email, a customer will receive an email containing:

- CPF overview of the schedule
- Personalized In-processing checklist with links to begin training
- Step-by-Step In-Processing & Virtual Tools Guide

Newcomers will complete most of their in-processing requirements online and finish in-processing by setting self-made appointments with the agencies, which will then tailor their in-processing services to the individual customer needs.

In-person Briefings

Selected briefings in person are conducted on a bi-weekly basis at the CPF. Day 1 in-processing is based upon the newcomer's arrival. The in-processing schedule will vary based upon which day the newcomer start but all personnel will receive the following core services in-person: CPF, Chaplain, Housing, Transportation, Medical, TRICARE, Army Finance, as well as an assortment of other briefings

Driver Training and Testing

All personnel assigned to Germany must have a USAREUR driver's license before renting, driving, or registering a vehicle on post. Personnel must complete the online driver's training and testing through Joint Knowledge Online (JKO). The Driver Training and Testing Station is located on Panzer Kaserne, on the third floor of Bldg. 2913. More information is available in the Driver Testing section of this magazine.

Central Processing Facility

The Central Processing Facility is your one-stop in and out processing center. It is located on Panzer Kaserne, on the first floor of Bldg. 2913. Normal business hours are 8 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Closed on US federal holidays and the last Thursday afternoon of the month from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Please contact the CPF at DSN 314-596-2599 or civ. +49 (0)9641 70-596-2599 or email us at usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.mbx.cpf@army.mil.

6 TIPS FOR HOUSEHUNTING

USAG Stuttgart Housing Office

1 PRIOR TO SELECTING A LOCATION

- Verify internet strength and capability options through local internet providers
- Determine availability of adequate, nearby parking
- To reduce noise, consider whether there are the following within close proximity:
 - Major industrial area
 - Ongoing or pending construction
 - Proximity to train station, railroad, or airport

2 SAFETY AND SECURITY QUESTIONS TO ASK

- Ask local security agencies, such as Military Police, Antiterrorism Officers, or G2/S2 about security concerns within selected areas
- Conduct a terrain walk of the area, looking for signs of attempted break-ins or other safety concerns
- Does the neighborhood generally seem to be safe and well kept, or does it look run down and unsafe (check residence during daylight hours and hours of darkness)?

3 DWELLING LAYOUT CONSIDERATIONS

- Overall look and appearance; verify adequate general maintenance, such as broken windows or damaged doors
- If there is a yard, is it in good condition? Who is responsible for upkeep?

4 TEST LIGHTING INSIDE AND OUT

- Check exterior community area lighting, if applicable
- Check residence interior lighting
- Check entrance ways, hallways, walkways, parking areas, and all common area lighting

5 ITEMS OF CONSIDERATION

- Ensure the dwelling has multiple points of entry (most properties have one way in/one way out)/ exit doors to provide emergency escape alternatives
- Ensure all exterior doors have dead-bolt type or secure locks
- Ensure all doors and frames are heavy and solidly constructed
- Ask if lock cylinders can be changed and if the landlord will retain a copy
- Ensure windows can be secured from the interior
- Ensure the dwelling has fire or smoke detectors / alarms installed, and purchase fire extinguishers if not already present in the dwelling
- Fences may deter theft and add privacy
- Consult with personnel within your local housing office, security officials, and your local antiterrorism officer prior to, during and when making a final selection
- Is the property on the garrison non-referral list? If so, selection is not recommended

On-post lodging, like the room pictured above at the Panzer Hotel, may serve as a temporary home for families with civilian sponsors or for whom permanent on-post housing is not immediately available. A certificate of nonavailability will be offered for off-post lodging if applicable.

6 WHAT NOT TO DO

- Don't choose a dwelling near an industrial zone, power plant, or other hazards i.e., flood zones increase the likelihood of damage.

Your home away from home

USAG Stuttgart Housing Office

Recognizing where you will be living during your tour at USAG Stuttgart is important, we want to share a little about what you can expect.

Approximately 30 percent of the USAG Stuttgart community live in the 1,300+ on-base Family Housing units, with the remaining 70 percent residing on the economy.

On-Post Family Housing throughout Stuttgart, with the exception of designated General/Flag Officer's Quarters, are stairwell apartments ranging from two to five bedrooms. They are located on Panzer Kaserne, Kelley, Robinson, and Patch Barracks. Most five bedroom units are located on Kelley Barracks.

In-home amenities for on-base Family Housing include a laundry room with U.S. appliances for each unit, individual storage space, and 110 and 220-volt outlets for both U.S. and German appliances.

can only be given to customers who have in-processed and are authorized to move off-post.

There are many home types in Germany. Apartments, penthouses, maisonette apartments (which are multi-floored apartments), townhouses, duplexes and free-standing houses are available in the community. Larger, free-standing homes, however, are not in abundance. Apartments, townhouses, and duplexes are easier to find and are generally less expensive.

The cost of rent should align with applicable allowances to avoid out-of-pocket expenses. Overseas housing allowances are listed on the DoD overseas allowance calculator webpage at www.defensetravel.dod.mil.

Housing referral services

The Housing Referral Services Office offers home-finding services to eligible Military Members and DoD

After this brief, Service Members of all ranks must schedule a personal in-processing appointment with a housing counselor.

After attending the CPF Housing In-brief, DoD Civilians will receive a customer routing form and other resources to commence house hunting. For Service Members this will take place after the personal in-processing appointment and if authorized to live off post. The Housing Referral Services Office will return the landlord details by email. For the initial request, the routing and detail request forms are emailed to the Housing Referral Services Office. All subsequent requests for unit details will require the return of each comment card for each new landlord request listing. Comment cards are included in the unit detail request form. These cards also serve as "aggressive house hunting" verification for TLA purposes. Failure to meet this requirement may result in termination of TLA.

Rental contract process

The USAG Stuttgart Housing Office Rental Contract is a legally binding agreement between the landlord and the tenant and is in both English and in German. Upon availability, prospective tenants should submit a completed copy of the contract signed by the landlord or property manager to housing and then schedule a contract review appointment via the USAG Stuttgart App. The appointment should be no later than 4 business days from the time the prospective landlord signed the contract. Customers must not sign until advised to do so by a housing counselor.

On-post Family Housing

Service Members on accompanied tours are required to live on post when inventory is available. Housing is assigned based on rank and family size. Waitlist procedures are explained in detail during the CPF Housing In-brief. Assignments will be made as quickly as possible — straight off the plane, in some cases — based on housing inventory and to lessen the time families will need to spend in transition. Ensure you communicate your and your family's arrival date, and any changes, to housing.

Unaccompanied Housing (UH) Personnel

In the OCONUS environment, Army-wide, UH Service Members in the ranks of E6 and below are required to reside in barracks. All UH E-6 and below must report directly to Barracks Managers upon arrival. Temporary Housing Allowance (TLA) is not authorized.

UH SMs that are Bona Fide Bachelors (not receiving housing entitlements elsewhere) in the ranks of E7 and above, and Officers, may choose to live in on post quarters or elect to rent privately off post. Geographic Bachelors (receiving other housing entitlements) and most Reservist and National Guard members must live in on post quarters when they are available. All UH E-7 and above, and Officers, must report or contact the UH Office before making off post living arrangements to determine eligibility. Failure to do so may result in paying rent out of pocket.

For office hours, locations, email address, phone numbers, and other helpful FAQs please visit the Housing section on the USAG Stuttgart app or website.

We join our USAG partners in welcoming you to the community. We are glad we live here and hope you will be too!

Large, American-style living rooms allow you and your family to design your perfect home.

Community services include fitness centers, a club for social events, elementary, middle and high schools, libraries, and child and youth services programs.

Upon receipt of permanent change of station orders, Military Members and Department of Defense (DoD) Civilians should provide orders and the application for assignment to housing (DD Form 1746) to the USAG Stuttgart Housing office via email of DoD SAFE. This will allow us to create your housing record and provide you valuable next steps. For those living off-base, the variety of homes are vast. Everything from modern homes and apartments with art nouveau architecture, to centuries-old half-timber converted barns. While rental prices throughout the area vary, as a general rule of thumb the areas closer to Stuttgart/Böblingen city center are higher in rent. Those properties located further out in the suburbs/countryside tend to be lower in rent and larger in size. You can find housing vetted rentals on HOMES.mil, the Military Home Finders' tool website. This site contains listings of rental homes in and around Stuttgart, most within the school bus zones, and all are free of realtor fees.

Detailed information, to include landlord contacts,

Civilians. Contractor personnel are not eligible for Housing Referral Services, however may attend the Central Processing Facility (CPF) Housing In-brief and request a copy of the USAG Stuttgart Housing lease for their use as well as the "non-referral list."

The Housing Referral Services Office manages the HOMES.mil listings website and provides up to three escorted home tours, home inspections, individual counseling to discuss rental properties found on HOMES.mil, and also assists with landlord/tenant dispute mediation.

All homes listed on HOMES.mil guarantee a furnished kitchen and light fixtures. Be aware that homes found on other rental websites may not include kitchen cabinets, appliances, or light fixtures and some require payment of a realtor fee. These are not reimbursable expenses.

On or off-post administrative steps

The CPF Housing In-brief is mandatory for all Military Members and DoD Civilians. It provides an overview of housing office services and incoming procedures. Please see your CPF in-processing checklist for schedule and location.

GOING GREEN THROUGH RECYCLING, ECOLABELS

USAG Stuttgart Environmental Division

GOING GREEN THROUGH RECYCLING, ECOLABELS

The best way to help the environment is to reduce trash. Single-use items are particularly wasteful and produce costs for disposal.

One way to reduce trash is to minimize use of plastic. You could use a cotton bag or basket for shopping, avoid buying overly wrapped products and choose unwrapped items. If you can't avoid plastic, try to reuse bags as often as possible before disposal. Recycling is the next best way to handle waste.

Figuring out how to sort trash and recycle environmentally friendly products in Germany can be quite complicated with different color bins and eco-labels.

Germany has a very thorough waste sorting system with up to five or six different categories of waste and practices that vary from county to county — and also from city to city — so things can quickly get confusing. To help residents sort out all of the mess, U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart offers an in-depth guide to recycling that outlines specific procedures for all of the four major counties in the Stuttgart area and also on-post. These guides, along with the general overview provided here, should arm most residents to recycle properly and help do their part to contribute to our host nation's impressive recycling efforts.

One of the most common frustrations for Americans is having a much smaller trash bin. However, this is often a frustration that does not have to be endured. Trash cans are supposed to be based on family size and are usually adequate as long as recyclables and other trash are being properly sorted.

Larger families who find themselves constantly over-filling their trash bins should consider talking to their landlords about getting larger cans, although this may affect the monthly trash fee and a landlord will likely pass that cost on to the renter depending on the specifics of the rental arrangement. Residents may inquire for more information about a larger trash can at the local city offices, but in most cases it will ultimately have to be the homeowner or landlord who orders the larger bin. For on-post residents, things are relatively simple.

Clearly-labeled containers are available in all housing areas, and the online guide details which items can and cannot go into each container.

Residents living off post should note that bringing trash on post to dump is prohibited.

Superfluous items such as paint, cleaners, and lubricants still good for use can be brought to the Re-Use Center on Panzer Kaserne.

For off-post residents, getting rid of extra trash is not costly. In fact, it's sometimes free, but does take some effort and coordination. Some areas have recycling centers and city dumps where residents can take their trash, and almost all areas have procedures for residents to request pick-up of bulk trash and other non-standard waste. These pickups can be free of charge but are usually only offered a limited number of times per year. Contact the agency in your area for more information.

Although specific procedures vary, most programs divide trash and recyclables into six categories: residual waste/rubbish, recyclables, paper, organic waste, glass and hazardous waste.

There are differences in how trash and recyclables are handled in the four major Stuttgart-area counties — the main difference being the various bins and how items are sorted. Glass is handled much the same at various recycling points, while hazardous materials and bulk trash have their own, specific requirements.

In Böblingen County, home to Panzer Kaserne, there are four bins, all black, but with color-coded lids. A black lid is for trash, an orange lid is recyclables, a green lid is for organic and a blue lid is for paper. The city of Stuttgart uses three bins and the yellow sack. A grey bin is for trash, a green bin is for paper, a brown bin is for organic waste and yellow bags are used for recyclables. Yellow bags can be picked up at city halls and a number of shops and grocery stores in each district. Ludwigsburg County uses five bins, a black bin with yellow lid for recyclables (packaging not made of paper and glass), a black bin with blue lid for glass, a green bin for paper, a brown bin for organic and a grey bin for trash. Sperrmüll, or bulky trash, is residual waste that is too big for the regular trash bin, but does not exceed a given size. For example, in Böblingen, it cannot exceed 2 meters by 1.2 meters by .8 meters, and must weigh less than 60 kilograms per piece. Mattresses, cupboards, bed frames, furniture, carpets, mirrors, suitcases, skis and surfboards are all examples of common bulk trash items.

For a more detailed description, see the online Handbook for Waste Disposal for either Off-Post or On-Post residents on the USAG Stuttgart mobile app or website.

Ecolabels

Ecolabels are official symbols placed on products designed to do less harm to the environment than similar products. The next time you're shopping for food, appliances, clothing, paint, etc., look for the one with ecolabel, Bioland, Blue Angel (Blauer Engel) or Energy Star logos.

The European Ecolabel helps to identify products and services that have a reduced environmental impact through their product life cycles. It is celebrating more than 25 years of helping Europe be greener and more humane — in addition to not being harmful for the Earth, clothing and textiles must be assembled in safe and fair conditions. The German "Blue Angel" (Blauer Engel) eco-label is awarded to products and services which, from a holistic point of view, are of benefit to the environment and meet high standards of serviceability, health and occupational protection.

Sending and receiving mail

U.S. postal services at USAG Stuttgart consist of Army Post Offices (APOs, where you send mail) and Community Mail Rooms (CMRs, where you pick up letters and packages). Each residential installation has an APO and a CMR.

To open a CMR mailbox, you need a copy of your orders and your DoD ID card. Boxes can be assigned either at the installation where you work or where you live. Be sure to in-process with your CMR team on arrival and out-process when leaving the community for your next assignment. Your sponsor should be able to start the assignment process for your box even before you arrive.

Since postal services are a logistical entitlement, you will be required to show a valid DoD ID card anytime you mail something from an APO or pick up a package from a CMR. Mailing anything other than paper requires a customs form which can be created online prior to visiting the APO. If you encounter any issues, the APOs are also equipped with computers and helpful mail clerks. Using click-and-ship services – where you can pre-address, pre-pay, and enter customs data for your package at home – is highly recommended and saves time at the post office, since these mailings take just seconds to accept at the APO. Each installation also has blue USPS mailboxes in which you can deposit regular stamped letter mail. Letters can be mailed to German addresses using these drop boxes and a U.S. postage stamp if your CMR box is listed as the return address on the envelope.

When addressing things to a CMR box (with 'APO, AE' as city and state), ensure "Germany" is not written as part of the address. This could cause the item to enter the German mail system and cause delivery delays. Certain items are also prohibited to send or receive, such as medicines and supplements, alcohol, or coffee and coffee products. A full list of restrictions is available online and in postal facilities.

Navigating your move with special needs Family Members

USAG Stuttgart ACS Family Support-EFMP

Moving is an integral part of military life. While the opportunity to experience different places can be one of the perks of this highly mobile lifestyle, it's also one of the greatest challenges.

Executing a permanent change of station move in a way that creates a smooth transition for the entire family is rarely as effortless as some PCS veterans make it seem. But when a family has a child or family member with special needs, it can be even more complicated.

Get updated

Ensure that family members with special needs are enrolled in the Exceptional Family Member Program and that all information is current. This allows assignment managers to consider medical and special education needs of family members during the assignment process, minimizing the chance that the family Member will be sent to a location without necessary services. EFMP status must be updated every three years, unless there is a change in diagnosis. Service Members with families PCSing to another overseas location must be medically screened.

Do your homework

Special education criteria and services, academic standards, access to programs, and promotion and graduation requirements vary from place to place. For military children, it is essential that parents understand these differences. Tapping into resources like the School Liaison Officer, EFMP Coordinator and EFMP System Navigator are a good way to start gathering information about educational services at your new duty station. Ensure your child's Individual Education Program (IEP) plan or 504 Plan is current prior to PCSing.

EFMP Exceptional Family Member Program

Contractors and Reservists

If you are a contractor or reservist relocating to USAG Stuttgart and are considering enrollment in a DoDEA school, your child is eligible for school only on a space available basis. Some factors that influence the process include enrollment data, enrollment projections, and IEP related services. To better understand DoDEA eligibility and enrollment procedures, visit <https://www.dodea.edu/registration-process.cfm> or contact the school liaison officer at usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.list.slo@army.mil.

Hand-carry

Plan to hand-carry important documents such as copies of educational records and assessments, IEP, 504, family service plans, medical records and medication refills your family member will need for a few months.

Make the connections

Once you know where you are moving, visit your local EFMP Family Support Office. The staff can help connect you with services at your gaining installation's EFMP Family Support Office. The Stuttgart EFMP Family Support Office works with all branches of service, DOD civilians, contractors and their families.

Eating & drinking

like a local

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

The traditional German manner of eating is to have a big, hearty warm meal at midday and have some bread, cheese and sausages or cold cuts in the evening. However, as times have changed, so have habits. Restaurants offer a wide variety of options ranging from a simple bread plate to a full, multi-course meal.

Hearty German cuisine usually focuses on a main dish of meat. In fact, each person in Germany ate an average of a kilogram of meat per week as of 2019, according to the "Fleischatlas," or "Meat Atlas" report. While the availability of vegetarian dishes and products is extensive (and growing), the "wurst" is still king, especially bratwurst. Add some curry powder and ketchup, and you've got the popular currywurst.

Bratwurst is certainly a common staple of German cuisine, but there's a lot more variety in German food than this simple image conveys. It is true that certain universal elements of German food unite this nation of 16 proud states, each boasting their own unique cuisine. From roasts to schnitzel, to breads, cheeses and wine, the idea that German food is basic or simple is simply not accurate.

To add to the solid heartiness of a good meat dish, potatoes are usually served in some form with every large meal. Germans serve potatoes in every manner imaginable, from mashed potatoes to potato salad, to potato pancakes and more.

Bread is often served with meals. A wide variety of bread products make up a large portion of the traditional German diet.

German regions pride themselves on certain foods or dishes. A signature Swabian dish is maultaschen, a layered pasta dish similar to ravioli. It is larger than ravioli and without tomato sauce, and packed with minced or smoked meat, spinach, onions, herbs and spices. Zwiebelrostbraten, a beef roast with sautéed onions, is another popular Swabian dish.

Schnitzel, served throughout Germany and beyond, is usually served with french fries or potato salad. Roasted meats and fish vary from region to region, making traveling throughout Germany a culinary delight. Käsespätzle, a Swabian noodle and cheese dish, is not to be confused with macaroni and cheese. Rotisserie chicken is very popular, as are Turkish-inspired dishes like kebabs.

Vegetarian and vegan diets are gaining popularity in Germany, and options will be easily found on most restaurant menus. Tofu, meat substitutes, and condiments/cheeses free of animal products are abundant in supermarkets, often in a dedicated section. This is also true for gluten-free products. Almond, soy, and other types of nondairy milks are widely available, though they will not be labeled as milk due to legal requirements; oat milk, for example, will be referred to as "hafer [oat] drink."

Cake is a tradition, whether apple cake, tree cake, bee sting or Christmas stollen. The variety is huge.

Germany also enjoys a wide range of foods from, or influenced by, other countries. Italian, Asian and eastern European restaurants are common, and other international fare such as Turkish and Indian foods can be found as well.

Menus should be either laid out on tables or presented to the guest before the order is placed, or be clearly legible. The prices indicated must include service charge, taxes and other surcharges. Separate surcharges, e.g. for music, or for the place setting, are not permitted.

Germany has long been associated worldwide with beer, and for good reason. Swabian breweries produce several great beers. In general, German beer is typically a little stronger than American beer, ranging from around five percent to as high as 16 percent alcohol by volume.

Germany is also a country that enjoys (and produces) wine. Not only international wines are served, but also wines from the south and middle of Germany. One specialty is the Riesling, which is produced from the white grape variety of the same name and enjoys a high reputation on the international market. Wine has been developed to a high art form in Germany, and different regions produce a variety of wines, many of which can be enjoyed right at the vineyard. From red Dornfelder to white Moselle, a German wine can be found to please most any palate. Stuttgart takes pride in its wines. Some of Stuttgart's vineyards are located near Robinson Barracks, and it is the only large city in the country to have its own municipal winery.

Schnapps is a drink with an alcohol content of more than 15 percent, produced usually from fruit, grain or roots. The most famous German export is "Jägermeister", a herbal liqueur with 35 percent alcohol content.

It is important to remember to enjoy alcohol responsibly in Germany. Drinking and driving laws are very strict here, and many of the alcoholic beverages offered can be much stronger than what many Americans are used to. There are very few laws limiting public consumption of alcohol, and since it is readily available, self-control and responsible consumption is the key.

Guten Appetit!

Learn to shop like a local

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Shopping in Germany can be a very positive experience and shoppers will find most of the same things that they're used to back in the States.

Upon arrival in Stuttgart, shopping is one of the first things many newcomers like to do. However, Stuttgart military community members should be aware of some important difference

➔ Malls

One thing most Americans should adjust to in Germany is the way in which Germans shop. Most shops are smaller and in general, most towns have a central, downtown shopping district where most of the specialty stores are located. Larger department stores are gaining popularity in Germany, and at least one or two can be found in most sizeable German cities.

Sprawling shopping malls with dozens of shops, a food court and a movie theater like the kind that dot towns across America are still somewhat rare in Germany, though they can be found in larger cities. There are several large shopping centers throughout the Stuttgart area. These include the "Milaneo" in downtown Stuttgart, the "Mercaden" in Boeblingen, "Breuningerland" and "Stern Center" in Sindelfingen, and "Leocenter" in Leonberg. Malls are generally open from 10 a.m. – 8 p.m. Monday through Saturdays, although they may have one day regularly open later and special occasions for longer shopping. Be aware, however, that there is no shopping on Sundays.

Most German cities have a Fussgänger (pedestrian) zone offering a shopping experience that more than makes up for the lack of malls. Think of them as large, open-air, cobble-stoned, mile-long shopping malls. Specialty stores, restaurants and other services line these pedestrian streets, offering just about anything the average shopaholic might desire. Stuttgart's main shopping street is Königstraße, which stretches for three-quarters of a mile.

➔ Groceries

Grocery shopping in Germany has more recently become a much more convenient experience. Franchise grocery stores that offer a full range of everyday grocery needs can be found in most towns and cities (small villages may not have these stores, but they're usually found in a neighboring village or town). Discounters like Aldi and Lidl tend to offer lower priced, mostly private label (store brand) goods while stores like Rewe, Edeka, and Kaufland offer a variety of brands for many different products and typically have a full service counter for fresh meats and cheeses.

Grocery stores in Germany are laid out similarly to U.S. stores, and though the product names and some of the packaging may be different, the basics are still the same. There is fresh produce, canned goods, frozen foods, frozen pizzas and breakfast cereals. German products are measured using the metric system.

German grocery stores do not provide free bags at checkout, and customers typically bring their own reusable ones. Each store will have inexpensive reusable bags available for purchase, along with recyclable paper bags costing around 10-15 cents each.

➔ Clothes

Just like the weights and measurements for groceries are metric, clothing sizes in Germany are different to those in the U.S. It helps to know some of the different clothing size systems. There are applications for smartphones that can help with size conversion as well as online resources, though the size conversions can vary significantly from brand to brand and even within the same brand. While some clothing now comes with tags that list both U.S. and European sizes, it's important to be aware of the differences. Most clothing stores offer changing rooms, so the best practice is to always to try clothing on before purchasing it.

➔ Cash and carry!

Cash is still much more widely used in Germany than in the U.S.; not every small store takes credit card, but, lately many more stores, especially the big malls do take credit/bank cards.

Best practice is to ask in advance, as many smaller stores and independent restaurants still don't.

Many stores and restaurants will accept a German variant of a debit card, called a Girocard or EC (EuroCheque/Electronic Cash) card, even when they do not take credit. They are also frequently accepted at ticket machines and parking meters. EC cards are connected to a customer's bank account and are secured with a chip and randomly-assigned PIN. They can be used across Europe and are available through German banks as well as Service Credit Union on post. The credit union's offering, called V-Pay, is available to members for a set-up fee of $25, with renewal every three years at $15.

➔ Returns

Return policies are another area in which shopping has changed in recent years in Germany, but they are still a little different than in the U.S. Most large department stores will have return policies, but these policies may be more restrictive than those that Americans are familiar with. Make sure to keep the receipt and the tag on the item. Items usually need to be returned within 14 days to get your money back, but store policies will vary.

TIPS TO HELP NEWCOMERS EASE INTO LIFE IN STUTTGART

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Life in Germany can be very different than in the U.S., and it's often the little things that make the big difference. These tips may help to ease some of those little daily challenges.

Germany is part of the European Union, a collection of European nations that have extensive legal agreements with one another. Travel across borders in Europe is usually not restricted and is similar to travel between U.S. states. Despite this, you must have a passport in hand anytime you cross a border. Official/no-fee passports cannot be used in place of a tourist passport when traveling for leisure; if you have both, you must travel with both. Present the official passport when entering or leaving Germany and the tourist passport at leisure destinations. Service Members should also be aware of their organization's policies on cross-border travel. A leave or pass status is often required when crossing borders.

Due to increased force protection measures, regulations and policies concerning the wear of the uniform off post are more restrictive in Europe than the U.S. Become familiar with your organization's policies and follow them.

Electricity and communications

Germany uses a 220-volt electrical system which means many appliances from the U.S. require an electrical transformer that will convert 220-volts to 110-volts. Using transformers tends to use more energy than using 220-volt or dual voltage appliances, and some appliances won't work properly even with them. Some 220-volt appliances are available for long term loan from the Furnishings Management Office.

It is important to check wireless devices brought from the U.S. to ensure they are legal for use in Germany. Many brands of baby monitors, remote control toys, and some cordless telephones made for stateside use operate on frequency bands reserved only for emergency services and other providers in Germany. The German telecommunications regulator strictly enforces these rules, even within housing units on U.S. installations, and using unapproved devices can result in hefty fines for violators as well as problems for first responders. You can check your device for specific markings to determine whether it is usable: there should be an FCC label, a C.E. marking, or both. If a C.E. marking is present, the device can be used in Germany. However, if a device only has an FCC label, its use in Europe is prohibited.

Landlines and cell phones are both readily available throughout Germany and are offered by a variety of service providers, as is the internet. Contracts are (usually) initially two years and automatically renew unless canceled well in advance. Unless specifically included in the rate plan, all outgoing calls incur fees, even local calls. Most incoming calls do not incur a charge for the recipient. Cell phones in Germany are available with a variety of rate plans for outgoing calls, messages and data downloads. Flat rate plans may include local and national calls throughout the German landline network.

Internet is available from the telephone or cable companies located in the Panzer Kaserne Exchange. Availability of internet can vary widely depending on location. In larger cities, broadband access is very common and compares to broadband access found in the U.S. Internet access can be much slower in outlying villages. If living off base, it is often a good idea to look into the available internet options when choosing a location in which to live.

The American Forces Network (available through TKS located at the Exchange) offers English language cable television services on base and to some off-base locations. German cable and satellite providers may offer some limited programming in English, but many off-base residents depend on online sources for streaming video programming. Be aware that U.S.-based subscription streaming services may not work, or have different content selections, when connecting from Germany due to copyright restrictions. Do your research before signing up for an online video streaming or movie download service. Also, be sure not to participate in any illegal downloading or uploading of copyrighted material.

Look for a range of voltage on your devices (instead of just 110V) to ensure they will work properly and safely in Germany.

QUIET HOURS AND 'REST DAYS'

German states have laws concerning 'noise pollution,' and in Baden- Württemberg, 'quiet hours' generally apply from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.; some towns and cities may also have local ordinances. Since specifics may vary from town to town, a good general rule is to observe quiet hours nightly from around 9 p.m. until about 7 a.m. Monday through Saturday, and all day on Sunday and German holidays. During these times, keep loud noises to a minimum and do not engage in activities that inherently create loud noises, such as lawn mowing, using power tools or playing loud music.

Germany observes a quiet day on Sundays and public holidays. Most retailers, including grocery stores and many other shops, are closed on Sundays and holidays, with the exception of some at large train stations and airports. In larger cities and along the autobahn, fuel stations will often be open, though some may have limited hours. Most restaurants and culture/leisure activities such as museums and spas/swimming pools remain open. Heavy trucks are even banned from the autobahn on Sundays, with few exceptions.

BANKING AND MAIL

Banking services are offered to the Stuttgart military community by Community Bank and Service Credit Union. Payment of many German bills, and occasionally retail purchases, is often made through a direct bank transfer system (Überweisung). German transfers can be processed through SCU and Community Bank, both of which are connected to the German banking system.

Command-sponsored service members and civilian employees will get an Army Post Office mail box for personal use. Because it is part of the U.S. mail system, U.S. mailing rules (and prices) apply, and some things may not be mailed through the APO. Also, you may be exempted from customs fees when importing items from the U.S., even when shipped outside the military postal system. Those considering importing items for personal use not through the APO should check with the customs office. For more information about using the APO system, see page 9.

TIPPING

Tipping is handled differently in Germany than in the U.S. Restaurant servers are paid higher hourly wages than their American counterparts, so tips are smaller and less significant to overall earnings. Leaving some "trinkgeld," or 'drinking money' at restaurants, however, is increasingly expected. Tipping is based on the quality of the service, and excellent service can be tipped with about 5-10% (more than 10% would be considered excessive). For smaller checks, rounding up to the next even euro amount is appropriate, such as rounding up to €20 for a bill of €18. If paying in cash, it is common to tell the waiter/waitress "stimmt so" (this is fine) rather than receiving small change back and then returning it to them again. The "rounding up" method, and a tip of around €1-2, also goes for food delivery.

Also, tips are usually given directly to the receiving person as part of the payment transaction and not left on the table. If paying with a credit card, be sure to tell the server the full amount to be paid (including tip) when handing the card over, as credit card machines in Germany do not provide a receipt that allows for a write-in gratuity.

CYCLING

Germany is ranked the fifth most bike-friendly nation in Europe by the European Cycling Federation (27 total nations ranked). Getting around by bike is safe and easy throughout Germany and makes a great way to stay healthy as well. Cycling paths are abundant and well-marked. While Germany does not have a bicycle helmet law, most U.S. installations do have a mandatory helmet policy for cyclists. German law requires safety items such as lights, two brakes and reflectors.

RegioRadStuttgart is the official bike sharing program in the Stuttgart region, with 250 stations in more than 50 towns and cities. Both regular and pedelec (motor-assisted) bicycles are available, and rentals are charged by the time used.

COMMISSARIES

The Defense Commissary Agency offers a wide variety of American brand name foods, fresh produce, beauty and health products and other groceries can be found throughout the Stuttgart military community. The main commissary is on Patch Barracks, with smaller commissaries on Panzer Kaserne, Kelley and Robinson Barracks.

Exchange services offer on-post convenience

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

The Exchange offers a variety of shopping and services for the Stuttgart military community, with expanded options on shopmyexchange.com. In addition to shopping in the store, authorized customers can order items for delivery directly to their CMR box in Stuttgart or to the Panzer Main Store for either in-store pick-up or curbside delivery. Customers can remain connected to their local Exchange via social media and on shopmyexchange.com to keep up with the latest in operational hours and any changes in services provided.

Panzer Kaserne

The Main Exchange shopping mall, located on Panzer Kaserne, has 63,000 square feet of retail space bringing a variety of local and international products, foods and services to Stuttgart community customers. It offers a barber shop, full beauty salon, nail salon, optometry clinic, car rental services and much more, as well as a rotating schedule of European vendors.

The mall's food court serves hamburgers, sandwiches, fried chicken, pizza, coffee shops and a German bakery serving a daily variety of fresh and authentic German goodies. Outside of the PX and in front of the Exchange Express near the community mail room are rotating vendors offering a variety of foods.

In addition to foods, beverages and snacks, the Express offers a selection of cleaning supplies, souvenirs and health and beauty items. It's also home to a joint-service Military Clothing Sales store.

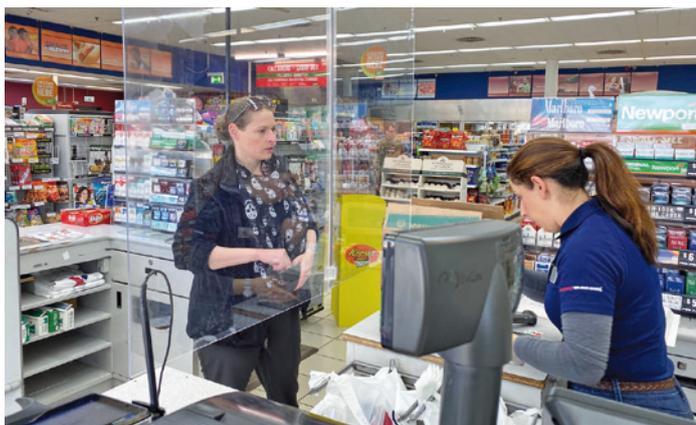

At the Panzer Car Care Center and Auto Parts Store, a professional staff of sales and service technicians will keep the family mobile by offering basic oil changes and services on brakes, exhaust, suspension and tires.

Patch Barracks

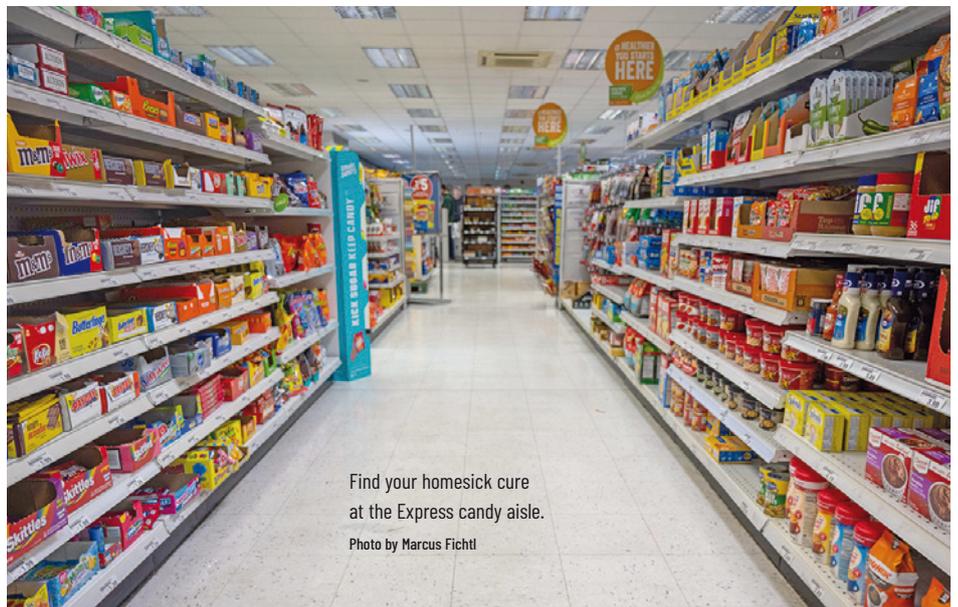

On Patch Barracks, the Exchange food court offers specialty potatoes, tacos, sub sandwiches and a bakery. Other concessions in the building include a barber, a hair and beauty salon, and a dry cleaner/ alteration shop. The large Express on post is co-located with a multi-lane gas station and features stationary, automotive goods, pizza and some groceries.

When available, the Patch Reel Time Theater features weekday, evening and weekend matinee showings of the latest in cinema entertainment, including 3D films.

Robinson Barracks

For home furnishings, an expanded furniture store at Robinson Barracks offers brand name, ready-to-assemble desks and chairs, dining room, living room and bedroom sets, rugs, lamps and more. The store also sells some seasonal items, as well as beverages.

Kelley Barracks

The Kelley Express offers convenient hours of operation and a broad selection of basics for Service Members and their families. It is co-located with a gas station. A Subway sandwich shop and is located adjacent to the theatre.

Relocation readiness simplified

Army Community Service (ACS) Relocation Readiness Program

Relocating to a new duty location, whether it be in the States or in a foreign country, can seem like a daunting task. However, Army Community Services (ACS) is here to make your transition from one location to the next as smooth as possible. Our Relocation Readiness Program (RRP) covers a variety of services to assist you during the relocation process and after your arrival. Visit www.militaryonesource.mil for additional information about military installations and to create a personalized checklist for the various tasks associated with your PCS process.

A successful sponsorship experience can make all the difference for a smooth transition. Sponsors are a critical link for sharing important information before, during and after a PCS move. Properly trained sponsors are the key to a successful transition. ACS presents comprehensive training to arm sponsors and spouse sponsors with the tools, information and support they need to be successful.

Another important service provided by the RRP is the Lending Closet which provides basic household goods for people who have already shipped their household goods to their next duty location or are waiting to receive their shipment in Stuttgart. These goods include basic kitchenware for cooking and eating as well as many 220 volt electric appliances to make life easier for those still waiting for their household goods to arrive. By providing a copy of your PCS orders, items may be borrowed for up to 60 days.

Sprechen Sie Deutsch? ACS also offers two free language classes. The German Immersion class is offered weekly. The class teaches the fundamentals of the German language as well as cultural and historical aspects of Germany.

English as a Second Language (ESL) is for those whose native language is not English. This interactive class offers an immersion into the American culture while also learning the basics of English language and grammar. This class provides an opportunity to connect with individuals from across the globe.

ACS offers basic German translation services for unofficial translations of utility bills, phone bills, internet service bills, auto insurance, price quotes, emails and for scheduling appointments on the German economy. To avoid issues associated with translations, we recommend attending the Host Nation Orientation which also addresses local service contracts and set up and cancellation guidelines of German contracts.

The Host Nation Orientation is designed to familiarize newcomers with the daily aspects of living in Germany, to include transportation, restaurant etiquette, conversions, "Top ten ways not to make your German neighbors mad," and more.

In addition to the HNO class, ACS provides a Host Nation Tour of downtown Stuttgart. This regularly-offered tour starts from a different installation each time and offers attendees the opportunity to learn about and use the German public transit system, visit Stuttgart landmarks (such as the New/Old Castles, Königstrasse, Market Hall, and City Hall), and purchase lunch in a German restaurant.

The training and tour are open to all members of the community on a space available basis. Registration is required, so contact ACS to receive the latest schedule and reserve your seat.

ACS is committed to making your relocation process as smooth as possible. To learn more about ACS services and programs please visit <https://stuttgart.armymwr.com> or stop by building 2915, 2nd Floor, on Panzer Kaserne.

If you'd like to schedule an appointment, call the ACS Information and Referral Desk at DSN 314-596-3362 or commercial +49 (0)9641-70-596-3362.

Getting your license in Stuttgart

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

The U.S. Army in Europe (USAREUR) driver's license allows Service Members, civilians and their family members to drive in Germany without going through the process of attaining a local driver's license. It is also used as the basis for an International Driving Permit, which allows you to hit the road throughout Europe.

Germany is well-known for its autobahn, a network of roadways later emulated by the U.S. interstate highway system. Incoming personnel may be anxious to get behind the wheel and start zipping around, but before they do, they must know the rules. Anyone arriving on permanent change of station orders falls under the Status of Forces Agreement and must have a USAREUR driver's license to drive in Germany, including rental vehicles.

Obtaining this license is part of the standard U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart in-processing.

To get a USAREUR driver's license, personnel must take an orientation class followed by a test about road-sign identification and a series of questions pertaining to German and European traffic laws. Depending on when you arrive, in-person classes may not be available; for the latest information, visit the webpage listed at the end of this section. The fee for the license is $30, and applicants must possess a valid stateside driver's license to take the test. Personnel are advised to have their stateside driver's license, ID/CAC card, and USAREUR license when driving in Germany.

Take the test online prior to PCS

Personnel and family members may complete the mandatory training and exam online, including prior to arrival, using the "Joint Knowledge Online" (JKO) platform. Sponsors can access the site with their CAC, but must create accounts for family members in order for them to be able to complete the process online. The online certification is valid for sixty days and must be valid upon arrival at the Drivers Training/Testing Office for issuance of a license (you must wait 48 hours, or two business days, after passing the exam for verification to be transmitted to DTTO).

International Driving Permit

The DTTS can provide you the required paperwork for obtaining an International Driving Permit (IDP) for driving outside of Germany, but only after you receive your permanent USAREUR license. Paperwork for an IDP cannot be issued on the basis of a temporary license.

Driving a motorcycle

Active duty military personnel have special requirements to receive a motorcycle endorsement on their USAREUR license. Please visit our webpage to learn more.

Duty shuttle bus services on post

Logistic Readiness Center and Transportation Office

The duty bus is a free shuttle service operating on regular schedules between USAG Stuttgart installations. It is a privilege provided to Stuttgart military community members and ID cardholders and is intended primarily to transport military and civilian personnel to and from duty stations. There are no stops off-post.

Family members and other ID cardholders are able to use the service on a space available basis.

The buses operate on two schedules: one for weekdays and one for weekends and U.S. federal holidays. To find the latest schedules, visit the USAG Stuttgart mobile app, StuttgartCitizen.com, or home.army.mil/stuttgart.

Shuttle bus service is provided for service members to get around post, to include stops near housing, most tenant units and common service areas.

Getting your POV registered and fueled in Europe

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Drivers with a USAREUR license can register an operational vehicle in the USAREUR Vehicle Registry. The first step is obtaining temporary license plates and registration. This requires a $45 fee for each year registered. Vehicles can be registered for 1-2 years at a time. New vehicles under 10,000 miles and not previously registered in any other system for more than 3 months qualify for up to a 3-year registration.

Customers must bring their U.S. forces identification card, USAREUR driver's license and proof of insurance (valid in Germany), as well as proof of ownership to register a vehicle. Contractors must also bring their Common Access Card (CAC), SOFA card, and passport.

Cars must be inspected for safety and mechanical condition. All vehicles must be re-inspected whenever registration is renewed. Brand new vehicles may be exempt from the initial inspection.

With a successful inspection, the temporary plates are then exchanged for permanent plates. The vehicle can be taken through inspection several times to pass if necessary. Note: There is no extension beyond the initial 30-day period.

Information about appointments and step-by-step checklists with required documents and processes are available on the Vehicle Registration page of the garrison website.

Fuel ration card

The fuel ration card is another benefit derived from the SOFA.

This card permits personnel to purchase fuel on post and at ESSO stations off post at prices comparable to stateside prices instead of the standard European price, which is typically much higher. The card can be obtained at the Express gas stations on Patch and Kelley Barracks, as well as the main Exchange on Panzer Kaserne. The card can be preloaded with money at almost any Exchange store, online, and by phone. The card is valid for fuel purchases at Exchange and ESSO gas in Germany (not in any other country) at Exchange prices for the designated vehicle/personnel.

Whether on post or off, the card is needed any time the vehicle is fueled in order to avoid paying European prices for fuel.

Temporary cards can be issued for rental vehicles; contact the Customs Office.

Drivers should maintain awareness of the remaining balance of their fuel rations. Multiple vehicles of the same owner (and multiple vehicles registered to the same sponsor, regardless of the primary user) share from a single monetary balance on the card and each vehicle draws from its own ration balance. The gas card and the associated ration are intended for those personnel listed on the registration only, and cannot be shared with others, even other U.S. personnel who are entitled SOFA benefits.

So, with a license in hand, a registered vehicle and a fuel ration card, newcomers are ready to drive.

Caring for your pet overseas

Moving to an overseas installation can be stressful for pets

Stuttgart Army Veterinarian Clinic

What will their life in Stuttgart be like? What is veterinary care like? Are there dog parks? Can pets go downtown, into public places, or travel with the family on vacation? For those with four-legged family members to consider, the following tips may make the transition easier for all involved, even the family pet.

Finding veterinary care providers

Upon arrival to Stuttgart, finding suitable veterinary care is simple. The Stuttgart Veterinary Treatment Facility offers space-available routine annual exams and services, non-emergency sick call exams, dental and surgical procedures, and over-the-counter pet health product sales. It is NOT an emergency clinic. Service members, DOD civilians, and family members are authorized to bring their pets to the clinic. For some families, it is more convenient to have their pet seen at a host nation veterinary clinic. Here in Stuttgart, pet owners can find several great clinics in the local area, including 24-hour emergency facilities, specialty hospitals where pets can receive advanced diagnostic and surgical care, and some excellent general practice veterinary clinics. Many German veterinarians speak English, so there is no need to worry about a language barrier disrupting a pet's medical care, and many also accept the VAT form.

In addition to veterinary clinics, Stuttgart also has a good selection of boarding facilities, pet stores, and dog groomers.

Know the rules

Living with pets in Germany can be a rewarding experience, as many local businesses allow well-behaved dogs inside their establishments.

However, there are some laws governing animal ownership that might be new to people coming from the U.S. Certain breeds (for example, American Staffordshire terriers and bull terriers) are completely banned from entering Germany, and those attempting to import them can be fined or imprisoned while the animal can be deported or seized. Other breeds are restricted, meaning that they are permitted to be in Germany, but special precautions could be required, such as the dog wearing a muzzle when in public, undergoing temperament evaluation, or the owner may be required to take out a special liability insurance policy on the pet. The list of breeds varies by city and state, so owners are encouraged to contact their local German town halls for additional information.

It is important for American personnel to understand that traditionally, pets in Germany have a high level of obedience training. Many regular pet owners, not just hobby pet-show competitors, take their dogs to a number of extensive training sessions. Obedience training is offered by several local dog clubs and many of the members speak English. Pets are often expected to be as self-disciplined and quiet as a very well-behaved child. An out of control pet is looked down upon in Germany. Additionally, leash laws and other pet-related ordinances in Germany can be more extensive and vary from town-to-town or county-to-county. Again, the local German town hall can be a good source of information on local ordinances and pet clubs that offer training.

Traveling with a pet

Pet owners looking to travel with their pet while in Europe may be surprised to find just how easy and fun it can be. Within the European Union, an EU pet passport has been established that contains the pet's vaccination records. As long as the vaccines are up-to-date and it contains all the necessary information, this passport allows the pet to move with the owner through most nations of the EU with ease.

EU pet passports are highly recommended as they greatly simplify the vacation travel process and help alleviate stress. A pet passport can only be obtained by an EU veterinarian at a host nation clinic. The official blue EU pet passport (with EU logo) should not be confused with the various other unofficial or country-specific pet passports that many clinics may also carry.

Health care in Stuttgart explained

Stuttgart Army Health Clinic

The health system for service members, retirees, civilians and their families in Germany consists of local military community health services on Patch Barracks and Kelley Barracks, local host nation medical facilities for inpatient and outpatient primary and specialty care, and the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center (LRMC).

Upon arrival in Stuttgart, Tricare beneficiaries must complete local enrollment during the healthcare in-processing brief at the Central Processing Facility. If not able to attend the brief, enrollment can also be completed at the Tricare Service Center located at the Patch Health Clinic. Civilians are also strongly encouraged to register at the clinic at the Medical Records section. Service members need to in-process through: (1) Medical Readiness to ensure all immunizations, periodic health examinations, etc., are up to date; and (2) Medical Records.

The Stuttgart military community is served by the Stuttgart Army Health Clinic on Patch Barracks, the Kelley Barracks clinic annex and the Stuttgart Dental Clinic on Panzer Kaserne.

The health clinic provides health care using the patient-centered medical home model which is a team-based health care delivery model, led by a physician, physician's assistant, or nurse practitioner, that provides comprehensive and continuous medical care to patients. The services offered at the health clinic include: primary care, pediatrics, behavioral health, optometry, physical therapy, wellness center, telehealth, and public health.

The Stuttgart Army Health Clinic does not provide emergency services; it relies on local German hospitals to provide emergency care. For this reason, in case of an emergency, do not go to the Stuttgart clinic. Dial 112 from a civilian phone to reach the German emergency services. From on-base DSN phones, dial 116 for the Military Police desk. The MPs can then contact additional emergency services as needed.

Care at the Patch and Kelley Clinic is provided based on enrollment status. Service Members and their command-sponsored families have priority access to the clinic. All Retirees not already enrolled with the clinic along with civilians, contractors and their families should check-in with the health clinic to determine if space is available for them to receive care.

The Kelley Clinic Annex offers adult primary care (primary care appointment only).

MHS Genesis Transition

Military Treatment Facilities (MTFs) in Europe are transitioning to a new electronic health record called MHS Genesis in 2023. This will impact appointment and pharmaceutical service availability during the transition and training period.

Incoming Service Members and their families are highly recommended to conduct expiring (<90 days) Medical Readiness requirements prior to arrival and obtain supplies of prescribed medications for up to 180 days. Ensure DEERS information is correct for all family members.

Dental Clinic

The dental clinic's primary mission is to provide dental treatment to service members on active duty orders for 30 days or more. Dependents who are on the service members' orders or who are command sponsored are seen on a space-available basis.

The dental clinic provides general dentistry and hygiene appointment as well as specialty care for pediatric dentistry, prosthodontics and periodontics. Services in endodontics are currently limited. Services in orthodontics are available on a case-by-case basis, as well as being limited to active duty personnel and children under 18. Some oral surgery support is available at the clinic, but complex surgery is referred to LRMC.

The Tricare Dental Plan was implemented to assist with dental care for family members and retirees. It is available worldwide, both inside and outside the continental United States. United Concordia is the carrier for this plan.

For more information, visit <https://www.uccitdp.com>.

Host nation medical care

For some services, primary care providers may refer patients to host nation facilities, and the Stuttgart Army Health Clinic maintains relationships with an extensive network of English-speaking providers for specialty care on the German economy.

Tricare Prime beneficiaries should contact their primary care team for routine off-post referrals then contact International S.O.S. (ISOS) to obtain authorization. Host nation treatment facilities may refuse to see Prime beneficiaries without ISOS authorization for routine care. They should also notify ISOS for all emergency care authorization and billing issues. ISOS can be reached by telephone at CIV 0800-5891599 (toll-free from Germany) or Europe-wide at 0044-20-8762-8384 (international rates apply).

Those who are referred off-base should be aware that host nation medical clinics and hospitals have similar standards of care as those in the U.S., however, we may have culture differences. For example, the general approach to how pain is addressed after a surgery can be quite different than the care you are accustomed to in the U.S.

Though many host nation doctors speak English, their staff may or may not. If you do not speak German, use a translation app or bilingual dictionary, or call Interpretation Services. The Language Line has more than 700 different languages available (DSN 590-8255 or +1 800 523 1786; the system will then ask for your Client ID: 574003).

During rounds, junior physicians often accompany attending physicians. This can make it difficult for patients to feel comfortable asking questions. Write down your questions. During rounds is the appropriate time to ask if the doctor has time to address your questions, especially if you are requesting hospital discharge or pain management. If the doctor cannot answer at that time, ask when the doctor can return. Host nation patient liaisons should be able to assist if you are having difficulties communicating. Some German physicians may not be in the habit of explaining details to patients. They will answer all questions when asked, but sometimes do not volunteer all results or information. Be sure to ask doctors about the treatment plan.

German privacy standards may differ from what many Americans are used to, so please keep in mind that we are in their country. Host nation physicians may not always use a chaperone when examining patients of the opposite sex. Ask for a chaperone if you feel uncomfortable.

Landstuhl Regional Medical Center

LRMC is about a two-and-a-half-hour drive from the Stuttgart area. It offers a wide variety of specialty clinics and is a Level II Trauma Center verified by the American College of Surgeons. Major surgeries, specialty services and most other services not available at the Stuttgart clinics are available at LRMC. Visiting the specialty clinics at LRMC starts with a referral from Stuttgart's primary care providers.

Telehealth and online services

The Telehealth Program directly connects geographically separated patients at U.S. Army Health Clinic Stuttgart with specialty care providers at LRMC via the use of video-teleconferencing. Patients can expect that advanced medical devices such as otoscopes, stethoscopes and general exam cameras to be used if applicable. This service can alleviate the need to travel to LRMC while still receiving the same specialty care. You may initiate a Telehealth referral by either obtaining a referral from a clinic provider or by self-referral.

The Stuttgart health clinic uses TRICARE Online (www.tricareonline.com) as a way for enrolled TRICARE beneficiaries to schedule or cancel appointments, request refills on medication, view lab results and to message their Primary Care Manager via Secure Messaging. Secure Messaging is a great way to contact their Primary Care Manager to ask non-urgent medical questions or receive information that does not require an in-person appointment. When the clinic transitions to MHS GENESIS, the new electronic health record, in September 2023, the TRICARE Online Portal will transition to the MHS GENESIS Patient Portal. The MHS GENESIS Patient Portal will provide the same functionality of TRICARE Online. The MHS GENESIS Patient portal can be accessed at: patientportal.mhsgenesis.health.mil. Beneficiaries can log in to the patient portal using their DS Logon, CAC, or DFAS MyPay account credentials.

All TRICARE beneficiaries are encouraged to download the ISOS MyCare App, which allows beneficiaries to find network providers, view their appointments and referrals to the network, and submit documents for medical translation. View more information on the MyCare App at www.tricare-overseas.com/beneficiaries/resources/beneficiary-app.

COCADA IS CELEBRATING ITS 10 YEAR ANNIVERSARY!

For the people who don't know me or my business yet, I'm from Brazil. I went to college to become an aesthetcian. I lived in the USA for 10 years where I worked as an assistant aesthetician alongside doctors and in spas. I came back to Germany in 2012 and opened my shop in 2013. From the beginning, I had a lot of American clients and I was so happy to continue to speak English with my clients. I want to express my gratitude to my American clients for supporting me during the pandemic. Whether that was buying gift cards or products. I believe I would not have survived if I did not have the support of the American community. Thank you for trusting my service and supporting my business!

This year we will offer new services at Cocada, where we will be happy to pamper you! Come visit us!

Stuttgart High School

Stuttgart High School (SHS), located on Panzer Kaserne, serves a student population of approximately 800 students with 70 teachers and administrators. The school offers more than 20 Advanced Placement (AP) courses and reports high average AP scores compared to US and other DoDEA schools. SHS is dedicated to preparing students to be college and career ready when they graduate. SHS offers a variety of the following DoDEA curriculum courses: English (including AP and honors courses); mathematics (algebra through AP calculus); science (physics, chemistry, anatomy, biology, etc.); German and Spanish languages; computer, engineering and robotics courses; fine arts (humanities, band, theater, art, chorus); history; business, career and technical electives; and other activities. SHS has an active Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps program, as well as extracurricular programs in football, golf, tennis, cross-country running, volleyball, wrestling, basketball, swimming, cheerleading, track, soccer, baseball, softball, rifle and military drill team.

Patch Elementary School

Patch Elementary School opened its doors in 1979 and continues its mission today, educating roughly 460 students from kindergarten to fifth grade, as well as qualifying pre-school students. The school is located in a '21st Century' facility on Patch Barracks. Its Parent-Teacher Association collaborates with the educational team to support a variety of events such as Engineering Week, Read Across America, Field Day, Jog-A-Thon and monthly assemblies and spirit days. After-school clubs include Robotics, Art, Chess, German, and Student Council. The School Advisory Committee emphasizes the partnership between school and home, setting yearly goals to 1) enhance communication and involvement of students and parents/guardians in the learning process and overall educational experience PES has to offer, and 2) foster a sense of community between parents, students, and staff by creating a feeling of purpose through stewardship with regard to the school, student body, and the environment. Students are nicknamed 'STAR Stallions' to reflect how they 1) Strive to do their best, 2) Take responsibility, 3) Always work together, and 4) Respect themselves and others.

Stuttgart Elementary School

Stuttgart Elementary School (SES) shares a school complex on Panzer Kaserne with Stuttgart High School. It has a student population of about 540, and a team of 80 teachers, administrators, and support staff. SES believes in students, parents and community leaders working together in partnership with teachers. The school supports programs that encourage parent involvement and building a strong parent-school partnership. Family nights, parent-teacher conferences, the school advisory committee, Parent-Teacher Association, classroom volunteers, and parent chaperones opportunities are just a few of the ways the Mighty Griffin community creates a true parent-school partnership.

Robinson Barracks Elementary School

Robinson Barracks Elementary School (RBES) opened in 1953 in a building that previously held a military hospital for U.S. forces. The school has undergone several changes to its academic structure over the years, alternating between an elementary school and an elementary/middle school. Renovations and modernizations occurred in the late 1980s and early '90s. The school offers the standard DoDEA curriculum and provides extracurricular activities. The school educates a student population of about 250 in kindergarten through fifth grade, with a staff of approximately 35 teachers and administrators. RBES values strong community-school relationships that are essential to high academic achievement. It believes that successful schools include parents and community members that are involved and supportive. The community recognizes the value of educational and extracurricular activities, and RBES expects its students to excel both inside and outside of the classroom.

Patch Middle School

Patch Middle School is the only middle school serving the Stuttgart military community, with approximately 650 students and 65 staff members. Patch MS offers a diverse set of classes. In addition to the core subjects of math, science, languages and social studies, it offers many classes in art, music and technology to students in grades 6-8. Students have the opportunity to take advanced classes in foreign languages and mathematics. Its challenging and engaging curriculum ensures its students are on the path to be college and career ready. Patch MS also offers a variety of extra-curricular activities that allow students to explore unique topics and develop special skills.

Get to know your School Liaison Officer

By Brian Pappas
 School Liaison Officer

Welcome to USAG Stuttgart!

My goal as a School Liaison Officer is to help ease school-related transitions for incoming families. I hope the information below helps to point you in the right direction, and look forward to answering any questions that arise.

DoDEA schools in the Stuttgart military community area include three elementary schools, one middle school and one high school. Elementary schools are separated into three distinct zones, and enrollment is determined by where you live and eligibility category. School zone maps are available from the SLO or USAG Stuttgart app.

Online pre-registration is highly recommended, and begins at: <https://www.dodea.edu/registration-process.cfm>

This site also explains DoDEA eligibility categories — Active Duty, Reservist, DOD Civilian, Contractor. These categories do have a significant impact on the enrollment process. If your child is eligible on a Space Available basis, some factors that influence the approval process include current enrollment data, enrollment projections, and IEP/504 plan related services.

Final enrollment occurs AFTER arrival and is coordinated directly with the school registrar.

Other schooling possibilities include home-schooling, German schools, or international schools. Please contact the School Liaison Office directly if you are interested in any of these options.

If you have other questions or concerns, or if there is anything that the School Liaison Office can do to help ease your transition to USAG Stuttgart, please do not hesitate to contact me at usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.list.slo@army.mil.

I look forward to hearing from you, and connecting you with our school and community.

Understanding SOFA, your legal status

Stuttgart Law Center

As a newly-arrived member to the community, it is important to understand your legal status in Germany and your protections. Service members, civilians and family members on military orders are governed by the NATO Status of Forces Agreement. Understanding how the SOFA affects you will make for a more enjoyable overseas tour, and perhaps prevent unpleasant, potentially costly mistakes.

NATO Status of Forces Agreement (SOFA)

The SOFA provides the basis for the legal status of military, U.S. civilian employees and dependents living in Germany on orders. Under an additional supplementary agreement, personnel in Germany also enjoy privileges not granted to others Service Members stationed elsewhere in Europe. These agreements affect status, entry and departure from the host nation, military training within host nation territory, jurisdiction, law enforcement, taxation, import and export laws, driving privileges, employment, mail, schooling, housing and much more.

German law applies to everyone

Although the SOFA determines your legal status, it is important to understand that German law applies to U.S. personnel both on and off base. U.S. installations are not U.S. soil. Additionally, while there are many similarities between German and U.S. law, there are also many stark differences. For example, spanking or paddling children as a means of punishment for disobedience is prohibited under German criminal law. German law considers it “physical punishment,” which makes it tantamount to child abuse. German civil law also differs quite a bit from what most may be familiar with in the U.S.

Contracts

Too often, Americans sign German documents without properly reviewing them. When considering, for example, a cellphone contract, don't sign it until someone who reads German reviews the documents, or if you don't understand your obligations. In Germany, many service contracts automatically renew for one-year increments after the initial two-year expiration. You must give proper written notice to terminate the contract; for example, if you fail to give proper written notice of termination leaving, you could be on the hook for an extra year of cellphone service after leaving Germany. It is possible to send the notice with an effective date that is well in the future. For instance, notice could be sent as early as a month after service begins, but have an effective date that is two years in the future. Finally, keep a copy of termination notices and the company's response. Army Community Service can help with proactively terminating such services. An alternative to signing a contract is to get a prepaid plan, cancellable monthly.

Host nation relations

A number of issues can be avoided with a little deference to our German hosts and awareness of host nation law. For instance, in German culture,

Community members with legal questions can make an appointment with the Stuttgart Law Center, located on Kelley Barracks. Photo by Balmina Sehra

German citizens are encouraged to report inappropriate behavior, like parking in a no-parking area. If someone tells you that you are parked in the wrong spot, it would behoove you to move; small confrontations combined with a language barrier quickly escalate, resulting in police involvement, hefty fines and court costs. In Germany, if you flip someone off or use aggressive language toward someone else, you can be sued and forced to pay what is known as “Schmerzensgeld,” or “pain money.” In Germany, folding, locking-blade knives and all knives with a blade longer than 12cm (4.7 inches) are generally banned. Furthermore, the following knives are considered weapons: spring knives; fall knives; fist knives; butterfly knives; one-hand knives with a blade longer than 12cm; and knives with a stationary blade longer than 12 cm. For more information, you can visit the German government's English translation of their weapons laws at their website, <https://www.bmj.de/EN/>. Scroll down and find the link to Translations of Statutes and Ordinances. The laws affecting knives are under WaffG, or Weapons Act. If you choose to carry a pocketknife, never carry it to a local fest, large public gatherings, places where alcohol is consumed and where there will be a police presence.

Traffic laws

Speed cameras are much more common in Stuttgart and throughout Germany than they are in the U.S. Unfortunately, the Law Center lacks legal authority to assist drivers who received a speeding ticket or other traffic citation. We can, however, help translate the letter and explain the situation. Prompt payment of the fines is highly recommended. The U.S. Army in Europe vehicle registry records German traffic violations and assigns traffic points. Drivers who get 12 or more traffic points in a one-year period face a mandatory license suspension under the Army in Europe Regulations. Those caught driving on a suspended license face a five-year revocation of driving privileges.

Downloading media online

German copyright laws are strictly enforced and our community has seen a surge in demand letters from law firms for illegal downloading of protected material. Such demand letters can involve heavy fees or fines imposed on those caught downloading or uploading media in violation of German copyright laws. If you receive one, contact the Law Center prior to responding. The best practice is not to engage in any illegal downloading or uploading of copyrighted materials.

Tax-free privileges

The SOFA affords some very nice tax breaks to personnel under orders to be in Germany. Sharing these tax breaks with non-SOFA protected persons are strictly prohibited. Violations can cost a person their SOFA privileges, or worse, result in federal criminal convictions. Specifically, misuse of the fuel ration system or VAT exemption can create trouble very quickly. Also, anything acquired under the provisions of the SOFA at the Exchange, commissary or tax-exempt purchases made with a VAT form, are for personal use and are not allowed to be used in private business ventures. Don't allow landlords to use VAT forms to repair or improve their property. Those interested in getting involved in a personal business while overseas under the SOFA are highly encouraged to consult Family and MWR's Home-Based Business (HBB) office.

Marriage

Marriage and divorce in Germany can be quite different than the U.S. Marriage or divorce documents are not easily transferred or mutually applied between German authorities and various states in the U.S. Any divorce, whether overseas or back in the U.S., can be very complicated and could cost hundreds of thousands of dollars for alimony, child support, division of marital assets, and legal fees. Former spouses could seek a court order for money, call your commander to enforce a separation agreement, or any obligation under military regulations to support families. Since the Law Center cannot represent personnel in divorces, you will have to seek services from a German attorney.

Renting off-post quarters

Personnel must check-in at the Housing Services Office upon arrival in Stuttgart and keep them informed of their housing search status at all times.

Those residing off-post must be thorough and business like when establishing a contract and moving in. Landlord-tenant laws are very different in Germany and are, in many ways, pro-landlord. Keep all meetings with the landlord, at least the initial ones, strictly businesslike. One key difference between U.S. landlord-tenant law and Germany landlord-tenant law is that you can form an oral contract to rent property in Germany. This means you must watch what you say to a prospective landlord or realtor when discussing for repairs that aren't notated on the initial inspection sheet. You can pay for the repairs out your own pocket or from your security deposit. It is critical to remember that renting property is a business transaction. Also, be careful when dealing with realtors. Realtors technically work for the potential renter seeking the property, but they are very familiar with the local landlords. Landlords often have more than one rental property and if their tenants are Americans, new tenants rotate through their properties every few years. This reality means realtors often side with the landlord during landlord-tenant disputes. Additionally, there may be hefty realtor fees associated with a property. In almost all cases, realtor fees are not reimbursable. Check with the Housing Office before contacting a realtor.

Your tour in Germany can be a very enjoyable experience; make the most of it by staying out of legal trouble. Know and respect the laws and our German hosts.

Tax relief found under SOFA

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Service members, civilian employees and family members who fall under the Status of Forces Agreement are eligible for the VAT and UTAP tax savings. The Value Added Tax (VAT) is imposed by Germany on a wide variety of goods and services. Most retail goods are taxed at 19 percent, while food, lodging, and certain other goods are taxed at 7 percent. The Utility Tax Avoidance Programs offers savings on utilities.

VAT (Value Added Tax) Current hours of operation:

Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (open during lunch) for walk-in service.

For purchases less than €2,500 net price (after tax), a VAT form NF-1 will be used. Not all vendors accept the VAT form, since this is a voluntary program. VAT forms may be purchased for $10 for the NF-1 VAT form, and each sponsor may only have 10 open forms out at any one time.

IMPORTANT: You must have a VAT form in hand before committing to the purchase of goods or services. VAT forms cannot be used for costs related to buying or selling real estate, purchase of automobiles that will NOT be registered in the USAEUR vehicle registration system, and for any items used in a commercial activity (such as a home business). They may also not be used for long-term utility, telephone and internet contracts.

For purchases of €2500 or greater, a NF-2 VAT form will be used. This form costs $100. Contact the VAT Office before making any commitment to purchase an item €2,500 or more in order to start the process. These purchases must be made out to CMWRF or Stuttgart Tax Relief Office and the person making the purchase.

UTAP (Utility Tax Avoidance Program)

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (open during lunch) for walk-in service.

Personnel may be exempted from utility taxes through the Utility Tax Avoidance Program. Enrollment in this program may be mandatory for some personnel receiving housing or Living Quarters Allowance. There is a fee of $99 for enrollment. Download the application form or contact the UTAP through our webpage: <https://stuttgart.armymwr.com/programs/utap>

Prohibited practices

- Using an un-priced purchase order (NF-1) for any amount of €2,500 or more.
- Using an un-priced (NF-1) or priced (NF-2) purchase order after the fact.
- Splitting invoice amounts between two or more un-priced (NF-1) purchase orders to avoid using a priced (NF-2) purchase order for an amount of €2,500 or more.
- Purchasing goods or services that benefit ineligible persons.
- Buying used automobiles, repair parts or services for resale.
- Buying items for resale or commercial purposes.
- Buying new or used automobiles from German vendors for registration in the German (or other non-U.S. Forces) vehicle registration system (Kfz-Zulassung).
- Using VAT forms for costs related to buying or selling real estate.
- Using VAT forms for construction, renovation or home improvements.
- Using VAT forms for utilities or telecom services based on long-term contracts.
- Making other purchases that are prohibited by AE 215-6/USAFE Instruction 34-102.
- Returning VAT forms that are not completed properly.
- Using an expired VAT form (VAT forms have a validity of 2 years) from date of issue.

Welcome to the community!

We would like to invite you to join us in one of our services. The U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart Religious Support Office (RSO) works to meet the needs of various faith groups by providing different religious services.

Protestant worship services include: Traditional, Sacramental, Contemporary, and Gospel — offered on Sundays. Catholic Mass is celebrated throughout the week across the Stuttgart military community.

Our Pagan/Wiccan group meets on Tuesdays at Patch Chapel annex. Buddhist services are provided online and Muslim prayer space may be accommodated by contacting the Religious Support Office. Other religious group accommodations by request.

Check the Stuttgart App under Services and then under Religious Support to confirm current times and locations.

In addition to a wide variety of religious worship services, the RSO also provides religious education activities to include Jewish & Catholic Religious Education for all ages; Protestant Small Groups; Youth of the Chapel; Children's Church; Vacation Bible School and more.

Chapels are located on Patch Barracks in Bldg. 2305; Robinson Barracks in Bldg. 115; and Panzer Kaserne in Bldg. 2940.

Getting around with public transportation in Germany

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Public transportation is the ideal way to travel in Germany and throughout Europe. With many forms of transit and a vast network of stops across the country, you don't have to travel far to find a connection.

The various levels of transit services combine to connect nearly every city, town and village in Germany. Stops and stations may be served by one or more agencies and types of transit. The Verkehrs- und Tarifverbund Stuttgart, or VVS, coordinates operations between all transit companies in the greater Stuttgart area so that one ticket may be used across all available modes of transport.

German rail and much of public transit effectively operates on the honor system. Travelers purchase tickets and step onto trains without being checked upon entry. Passengers with multiple-use paper tickets must stamp their ticket on the bus or U-Bahn, or at the station platform or entrance to the train station when taking S-Bahn or regional trains. Not having a valid ticket will result in fines. Conductors periodically check for tickets and the fines for riding without one can be hefty. It is important for travelers to make sure they have valid tickets for every trip, no matter how short. Most station ticket machines now have a touch screen interface and accept credit cards.

Local transit

Buying tickets can be done at stations, from a bus driver, or through a mobile device. Mobile apps specific to the Stuttgart region are SSB Move and VVS Mobil, while DB Navigator works nationwide; all are easy to use and fully functional in English. Setting up an account with one or more of these apps (storing your credit card information) allows you to purchase tickets on the go. After purchase, the app stores a bar code which can be shown to ticket checkers as proof of purchase. Once the ticket is downloaded, you will not need a data connection to retrieve it; just be sure to keep your phone charged while you're traveling.

Various types of tickets are available for local transit, from single ride tickets valid in one direction for three hours to "short trip" tickets and day tickets for individuals and groups of up to five people.

Transit maps are available at station platforms, online and within mobile apps. Local travel is broken down into circular zones radiating outward from downtown Stuttgart. The number of zones you travel through during your journey, including start and end stations, determines how many zones you need on your ticket. Inputting your start and end points into one of the mobile apps or ticket machines will allow you to see exactly how many zones you will need.

For example, travel to downtown Stuttgart departing from Böblingen (near Panzer Kaserne) requires three zones, while leaving from Vaihingen (near Patch), Möhringen (near Kelley) or near Robinson Barracks requires only one, as these locations are already in the same zone.

Travel from downtown Stuttgart to Stuttgart Airport requires a 2-zone ticket.

Types of trains

Deutsche Bahn (DB) is the primary rail operator in Germany. DB operates several levels of rail service ranging from local commuter trains to express trains that cross the country in a matter of hours. You can book long distance travel through a Bahn office using a VAT form, or online/via mobile app without a VAT form (the tax on train tickets is 7%).

S-Bahn trains connect Stuttgart with closer outlying areas, with more stops and greater frequency closer to the city center. An S-Bahn train is a no-frills commuter train without toilets or concessions. A Regiobahn (regional) train, also red, reaches further within a region and can be very cost-effective. This type of train has toilets and often two levels of seating.

The white IC (InterCity) and ICE (InterCity Express) trains are for long distances, to include neighboring countries. IC and ICE train seats may be reserved, and ICEs will have a dining car and Wi-Fi connectivity.

Agents at staffed ticket offices can help you find the best fares for travel or assist with purchasing transit subscriptions.

BahnCards

DB offers discount cards, called BahnCards, which offer percentage-based discounts on fares for long distance travel. They are normally valid for a year but are sometimes offered in a 'trial' version for a lower price and shorter validity period. BahnCards can be a great deal for travelers who travel with DB frequently, so if purchasing tickets for long distance travel at a staffed ticket office, consider asking about how getting one would affect the price. Note that they must be canceled in writing at least six weeks before the renewal date, or they will be automatically renewed with payment due (and without VAT savings). Cancellation is as easy as submitting a form letter to the DB website, and it can be done as early as desired. Providing this notice simply advises DB not to renew the card; it will still be valid through the expiry date.

With a BahnCard 25, travelers get 25 percent off all Flexpreis and Sparpreis fares. Flexpreis tickets are refundable and not bound to a specific train or itinerary, while Sparpreis tickets do have these restrictions and offer greater savings at the cost of flexibility. Booking earlier offers lower-priced Sparpreis tickets.

With a BahnCard 50, travelers receive 50 percent off all Flexpreis fares and 25 percent off Sparpreis fares. As the BC50 doesn't offer any additional savings on the saver fare tickets, this card is best for travelers who prefer flexible tickets or who travel more spontaneously.

New transit subscription options in 2023

The Deutschlandticket, introduced in May 2023, offers unlimited use of local transit options throughout Germany at a price of €49 per month, charged as a subscription which is cancellable on a monthly basis. This ticket, despite its widespread validity, costs even less than a one zone subscription for Stuttgart previously did.

Offered only in "paperless" form via smartphone or chip card, the ticket is valid for all types of local and regional public transit, including buses, S-Bahn, U-Bahn, and non-long distance trains (with prefixes RB, RE, IRE, and MEX) across the country. This also includes the 'Zacke' (rack railway) and Seilbahn (historic cable car) in Stuttgart, both of which are operated by the city's transit company (SSB), and ferries operated by the local transit company in cities such as Berlin and Hamburg.

They are not valid for travel on long distance trains (with prefixes ICE, IC, EC, or the Flixtrain) or long distance buses (such as Flixbus). The official DB Navigator app has an option to route your journey through regional transit to ensure that you only use included services.

While there is no age restriction on the Deutschlandticket, children under 6 travel for free in Deutsche Bahn (DB) trains and in Stuttgart regional transit, so they do not need their own tickets.

A new type of youth subscription, called the JugendticketBW, was introduced in March 2023, at a cost of €365 per person, per year. The ticket can be purchased for children and young people 21 and younger with only proof of age, but is valid only within the state of Baden-Württemberg. It is available initially as a one-year subscription but can be canceled on a monthly basis after that period.

Baden-Württemberg Regional Ticket and Quer-durchs-Land Ticket

Two special day tickets sold by DB offer the Deutschlandticket's flexibility without its commitment.

The Baden-Württemberg ticket applies to regional transit, not IC or ICE trains, and your usage must begin after 9 a.m. on weekdays; it is valid all day on weekends and German holidays. This ticket is perfect for day trips on regional trains and the S-Bahn/local transit for solo travel or with a group of friends within Baden-Württemberg (going outside the VVS service area). Make sure your train will arrive before the ticket expires.

The Quer-durchs-Land (across the country) ticket offers unlimited regional train travel for one day throughout Germany. Like the BW Ticket, it can be good for up to five people. This type of ticket does not include travel on true "long distance" trains like the ICE – traveling to Berlin on this ticket, for example, would take 10-11 hours and multiple changes.

Family and MWR keeps you ready and resilient

Directorate of Family and Morale, Welfare & Recreation
USAG Stuttgart

The U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart Directorate of Family & Morale, Welfare and Recreation (DFMWR) operates multiple facilities across four installations and a golf course to provide programs and services for all ages and interest groups. Their dynamic services enhance the lives of service members, their families, civilians, and retirees, in order to keep the military ready and resilient.

Community Recreation, Business Operations, and Entertainment

The Community Recreation Division keeps you physically and mentally fit by operating four Fitness Centers with 24-hour access, the Patch Library, Tours and Travel Office, Outdoor Recreation, the Warrior Zone, Better Opportunities for Single Service Members (BOSS), the Stuttgart Theatre Center, two Arts & Crafts Centers, the 24-lane Galaxy Bowling & Entertainment Center on Panzer Kaserne, and the Kelley (DIY) and Panzer (Speedy Lube) Auto Skills Centers, as well as two car washes.

The Business Operations Division (BOD) keeps you entertained and resilient with a beautiful 18-hole golf course, state-of-the-art storage facilities for all your household goods, Patch Community Casino & Kelley Club Slot Room, Java Cafés that “Proudly Serve Starbucks,” the Swabian Special Events Center and Kelley Club available for hosting conferences and private functions, also your primary location for concerts, comedians, dancing and other entertainment programs. Additionally, BOD manages Stuttgart Army Lodging at the Panzer and Kelley Hotels, welcoming many newcomers and providing first impressions of USAG Stuttgart.

MWR's Special Events Program coordinates a number of community-wide events to boost your morale, through events such as the Spring Bazaar; Independence Day Celebration; the Community Activities, Registration, Education (CARE) Fair; and many others.

Army Community Service (ACS)

ACS, located in Bldg. 2915 on Panzer Kaserne, provides assistance and education to support the total Military Family. Programs and services include: Employment Readiness; Financial Readiness & Army Emergency Relief; Family Advocacy Program; Survivor Outreach Services; New Parent Support Program; Exceptional Family Member Program; Army Volunteer Corps; Translation Services; Army Family Action Plan; Relocation Readiness & Lending Closet; Mobilization & Deployment; Emergency Family Assistance Center; and more.

Child & Youth Services (CYS)

Parents with children will likely engage with one or more of the services provided by CYS. Services include the Child Development Centers; Strong Beginnings; part-day preschool; school-age and middle school programs; Schools of Knowledge, Inspiration, Exploration (SKIES Unlimited); and youth sports. CYS provides accredited programs, education, and fun for the whole family.

CYS cares for children (6 weeks to 18 years) so that parents can focus on the mission while they are at work. Special after-hour care is frequently provided so that parents can take a break to enjoy other activities taking place on and off post.

Auf Wiedersehen Stuttgart!

We at USAG Stuttgart would like to wish you one final goodbye as you leave your American home in Germany. We hope that your time spent in Germany was fulfilling both professionally and personally. There's no place like Stuttgart, and you're a big reason for that.

So as you pack away your favorite Polish pottery, that beer stein you purchased and filled at the Oktoberfest, and the miniature red phone booth you got on an impromptu trip to London, please take a few minutes to read this special outprocessing guide. We want the voyage to your next destination to be as smooth as your stay was here.

This guide will give you a rundown how to clear your on or off-post home, prevent any customs violations, ship your car, and make sure that your furry family member can safely make the trip with you. We hope that we've answered every major question, but if for some reason we haven't please speak to our amazing folks at the Central Processing Facility – they will be more than glad to help.

And as a handy reading companion to our special outprocessing edition we suggest you take a glance through our PCS button on the USAG Stuttgart App for some extra PCS videos and handy phone numbers to our various garrison agencies and mission partners. We know the app has been your right arm during your time in Germany, and we hope that it can continue to fit that role until you're boarding your flight.

Again, thanks for being part of our team in Stuttgart! It's never truly goodbye in Germany, it's Auf Wiedersehen. So until we see you again a few years down the road, we want to let you know "We're glad you lived here!"

How to outprocess properly

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

The Central Processing Facility (CPF) assists you with your transition out of Stuttgart. All DoD Civilians, Non-Appropriated Fund employees and Service Members in the rank of Private (E-1) through Colonel (O-6), including those in the Reserve/National Guard components on Active Duty Operational Support (ADOS) orders over 179 days in length assigned, attached, or otherwise performing duty in Stuttgart; must clear the Stuttgart community prior to departing. The Transportation Office team will ONLY begin scheduling after they see the “Stamped” outprocessing questionnaire that the CPF team provided you. Army personnel (E-1 through O-6) on Active Duty for Operational Support (ADOS), ADOS-Reserve Component, or mobilization orders for 90 or more days are required to completely out-process at the end of the order through the nearest military installation transition point.

Outprocessing/Pre-Separation Briefings

Online and in-person outprocessing PCS briefings are offered to all uniformed and Civilian Personnel (PCSing, ETSing, retiring, or separating). We advise people who are 30-120 days from departure to begin completion of the mandatory outprocessing/pre-separation briefings. The briefings provide helpful information from relevant services: Transportation, Customs, TRICARE, Vehicle Registration, Housing, VAI/UTAP, the Exceptional Family Member Program, to name a few. Please refer to the CPF section on the official garrison webpage home.army.mil/stuttgart to access the mandatory online briefing. Contact our office to attend the in-person briefing that is conducted the first Wednesday of each month. When you have completed the briefing, you must submit the ‘Joint Outprocessing Questionnaire’ via email with PCS orders to the CPF mailbox usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.mbx.cpf-out-processing@army.mil.

NOTE: AE Reg 612-1, 13-2 requires completion of an online PCS briefing as an outprocessing requirement. The in-person PCS outprocessing briefing is optional. You can begin outprocessing without orders by submitting the ‘Joint Outprocessing Questionnaire’ but orders are required before issuing Installation Clearance Record (Military only). Civilian personnel need to have orders before any outprocessing action is taken.

If Retiring/ETSing or Separating

All Branches of Uniformed Service must contact the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) on Panzer Kaserne, Bldg. 2915, Room 419 at DSN (314) 596-2191/ civ 09641-70-596-2191. At a minimum of 30 days before separating, a mandatory Separation History and Physical Exam (SHPE) appointment will need to be made on a walk-in basis only at Medical Readiness. No orders or clearing record is required to make an appointment. You must completely outprocess the installation prior to starting your transition to leave. Please note that if you stay in Germany, you will no longer be entitled to any logistical support while on transitional leave.

For information on the Army Service Member’s Retirement Briefing, please contact the Stuttgart Transition Center on Panzer Kaserne, Bldg. 2915 at DSN (314) 596-2698/civ 09641-70-596-2698.

Outprocessing Questionnaire

You can access the outprocessing questionnaire through the CPF section on the official garrison webpage. Fill out the questionnaire completely, digitally sign it, and send it to usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.mbx.cpf-out-processing@army.mil. If transitioning out of uniformed military services, please provide the dates of your transitional leave in the remarks block on the outprocessing Questionnaire. Once the CPF receives the questionnaire, a copy is returned within 24 to 48 business hours stamped with the “CPF seal” so that you can begin your transportation out-processing. You do not need the Installation Clearance Record to begin making appointments with transportation, housing, or to schedule flights. Only orders are needed to begin outprocessing with those agencies.

Installation Clearance Record

Service Members: Once the CPF receives your questionnaire, the CPF will include you in a time-saving, electronic pre-clear process. Then, three weeks before you leave, agencies like Outdoor Recreation, the Library, Central Issue Facility (CIF) etc., can pre-clear you if there is no reason for you to physically go to those locations. If an agency pre-clears you, that agency will appear with a digital name printed on your Installation Clearance Record showing you have been cleared by that agency. Those agencies without a printed name must be physically cleared prior to your departure date. Please note that pre-clearance is not an option for Service Members who submit their questionnaire less than three weeks before their departure date, and your Installation Clearance Record will include all necessary organizations and agencies with which you are required to clear in-person. After your preclear week, the CPF will generate your individualized “Installation Clearance Record” tailored to your situation. Approximately two weeks prior to your departure, the CPF will email your Installation Clearance Record directly to the email address you provided on your questionnaire; please be sure to provide an email address to which you will have access through your departure date.

Central Processing Facility and Housing are located in building 2913, adjacent to the Exchange on Panzer Kaserne.

Whether you have gone through pre-clear or not, you must obtain a signature from each agency on your Installation Clearance Record. Marking these as “not applicable” or signing off yourself will result in a “Failure to Clear” and be reported to your unit. If you are requesting to receive your Installation Clearance Record more than 10 working days prior to departing, please provide the CPF a memo from your commander confirming your scheduled leave or temporary duty dates that fall within the last two weeks prior to your departure. Your Installation Clearance Record expires 30 days from issuance. Therefore, if you are delayed by more than two weeks after your original date of departure, please call/email the CPF to update your new departure date.

Civilians: Once the CPF receives your questionnaire and PCS orders, a stamped Questionnaire and Installation Clearance Record will be sent to you within two business days. Your supervisor has the authority to initial for the agencies you did not utilize. Once you have cleared every agency, you and your supervisor must sign and date the form confirming completion.

NOTE: Installation Clearance Record is issued within 60 days of departure.

Final out for ALL

The “Final Out” appointment to turn in your completed Installation Clearance Record to the CPF is set two working days prior to your departure. If you receive an amendment or cancellation of orders, please let the CPF know your new departure date. Once your paperwork is complete, please turn in your completed Installation Clearance Record to your unit S1/J1 or HR rep. CPF office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays, closed for lunch from noon to 1 p.m. Closed on US federal holidays and the last Thursday afternoon of the month, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

How to clear housing on or off post

USAG Stuttgart Housing Office

Are you leaving us? Here are some helpful tips for a smooth departure.

Off post procedures

- First, request the official termination packet from the housing office. We will provide you procedures for notification to your landlord and tips for clearing your home. You must notify your landlord via German registered mail (“Einwurf Einschreiben”) or hand delivery prior to the required notice date; 90 days in most cases or 30 days with Military clause (see stipulations in your contract).
- Have the landlord sign the termination notice and provide the original to you. Both the landlord and tenant should retain a copy for their records. Emailed or faxed termination notices are not legally binding according to German Rental Law.
- A pre-termination inspection with your landlord is recommended 30-45 days ahead of your departure to identify problem areas that can be corrected in order to help you avoid or minimize costs due to your landlord. If problems are suspected between you and your landlord, you can request the Housing Services Referral Contractor accompany you and/or serve as mediator.
- Once you have the termination notice signed by the landlord, submit a copy to the housing office and schedule a final termination inspection with the Housing Services Referral Contractor; ideally 30 days ahead of your desired date. Scheduling as early as possible will increase the likelihood that your desired date is available for you.
- Meter readings must be conducted during the final termination inspection; the day you turn in the keys to your landlord. Reminder, a meter reading is required if you are a UTAP customer.

On-post procedures

- Schedule a pre-termination inspection as early as possible. Orders are not required. This is recommended 45-60 days ahead of anticipated departure. During this inspection, you will be informed of estimated charges and provided recommendations for corrections ahead of your move out. The goal here is to help you keep charges for damages down.
- Coordinate the movement of household goods (HHG) with the transportation office.
- Final termination inspections should be scheduled for no more than 3 business days before departure (see TLA section). Personnel must have orders to schedule the inspection and HHG picked up ahead of the inspection.

Temporary Furniture and Appliances

Three full business days are required to schedule delivery and pick up of furnishings. If a desired delivery date is needed, as much advance notice as possible is helpful. Ensure your government appliances are cleaned and ready for pick-up to avoid potential charges. Customers must be on site during the pickup and should report any damages to the housing office immediately. Customers will be charged for re-delivery if not available for the scheduled delivery/pickup window, delivery was denied upon arrival of the warehouse team, or the wrong size or type of appliance was ordered by the customer. Verify items ordered and delivery date with the housing office during scheduling. User manuals for all appliances should be returned. Any loose parts, such as screw-in feet for dryers, should also be returned.

Temporary Lodging Allowance (TLA)

Military members residing off post are authorized up to 10 days of outgoing TLA. On post family housing residents are authorized up to 3 days of outgoing TLA. Hotel stays beyond permitted timelines will likely result in personal expenses and should be avoided. Report delays to housing immediately for alternative solutions. Lodging reimbursement is sought by requesting a “TLA Document” from housing for processing by your finance office. Barracks residents are not authorized TLA.

Final Recommendations

Be sure to terminate your phone, internet, and other services/utilities prior to your final termination inspection. Most German companies have at least 90 days’ notice required for terminations. Provide good contact information for your landlord as utility reconciliation may be outstanding at your departure. All personnel must clear with the housing office prior to departure from USAG Stuttgart. This follows all final inspections (on or off post). Appointments can be scheduled via the USAG Stuttgart App and are highly encouraged. Walk-ins are also possible, but please be prepared for extended waiting periods. Office hours, locations, email address, phone numbers, and other helpful FAQs can also be found on the app.

We wish you the best with your future endeavors!

Clear VAT/UTAP office before departure

USAG Stuttgart VAT/UTAP Office

If you used the Value Added Tax Relief and Utility Tax Avoidance programs during your tour, you probably saved yourself a lot of money. Now that you are PCSing, save yourself a headache and clear these offices the proper way.

VAT Office closeout

All customers signed up in the Value Added Tax Relief program are required to come in to the Tax Relief Office during their outprocessing.

To help in the closeout process, once the customer knows they are PCSing, they can stop by the Tax Relief Office and a printout of issued VAT forms can be provided.

The Tax Relief staff will review the customer's account and verify all purchased VAT forms have been returned and cleared from the VAT program.

It is the responsibility of the customer to ensure that all white copies, to include any unused and expired VAT forms, are returned to the Tax Relief Office before departing.

There must be 100 percent accountability of all VAT forms purchased by the customer. If a customer has any missing/lost white copies, a pink customer copy can also be used to clear the program.

UTAP Office closeout

- All customers signed up in the Utility Tax Avoidance Program are asked to contact the Tax Relief Office before their final walkthrough inspection so we can email them the required close-out form(s), direct the customer to return to the UTAP Office with the final meter reading(s), and/or direct the customer to the UTAP website to complete the fillable utility closeout form(s).

- The UTAP staff will assist the customer in identifying which utility company closeout form is required and answer any final questions.
- The UTAP customer will need the final meter reading(s) taken during the final inspection walkthrough to complete the utility company closeout form. The utility closeout form must then be provided to the UTAP Office to close the customer out of the UTAP program.
- Failure to provide the UTAP Office the required closeout documentation could result in continual monthly payments being withdrawn from the customer's account.
- The UTAP staff will review the closeout form for accuracy and verify the customer's civilian email address. The final reconciliation invoice from the utility company will be emailed to the customer.
- All UTAP customers are required to leave their bank account open for 90 days past their departure date so the utility company can debit/credit the final closing cost relating to the UTAP.

Tips to prepare for peak PCS season

USAG Stuttgart Transportation Office

Peak season for Permanent Change of Station (PCS) begins May 15 and runs through Aug 31, with the busiest weeks being May 15 through July 4.

The Stuttgart transportation staff is here to assist you with your move. There are important documents that are needed prior to your shipment being booked and the Stuttgart transportation office will assist each customer with the process.

When you receive your orders, the first thing you will need to do is contact the Central Processing Facility (CPF) at usarmy.stuttgart.id-europe.mbx.cpf-out-processing@army.mil for the CPF questionnaire.

Once CPF receives the completed questionnaire back from you, a copy is returned within 24 to 48 business hours stamped with the "CPF seal" so that you can begin your transportation outprocessing.

When you receive the CPF questionnaire, you should contact the Transportation Office immediately at usarmy.stuttgart.405-afsb-lrc.mbx.pppo@army.mil with a copy of your PCS orders and the stamped CPF questionnaire. We will respond to you within 48 hours with confirmation that we have received your documents, and you will be assigned a counselor.

Tips to make your move a little less stressful:

- First, be flexible. Your requested move dates may not be available. Be open to shifting your dates due to carrier availability and provide alternate move dates at time of counseling.
- Second, do your best to make yourself available for a pre-move survey after your shipment is booked with a moving company. The pre-move survey allows the moving company to plan your shipment and be prepared on the first pack day.
- Next, identify any unusual items you may have at time of counseling and to your moving company when they contact you. This helps the moving company to get the necessary approvals for any special packaging the item may need prior to the start of your move.

- Ensure you keep the Defense Personal Property System (DPS) and your carrier updated with new information, such as a delivery address, new phone numbers, etc.
- Lastly, do not book your PCS flight, terminate your rental lease or make any other appointments until you have confirmation that your household goods (HHG) shipment is booked.

Reporting Damage and Filing Claims:

<https://www.militaryonesource.mil/moving-pcs/plan-to-move/resources/#personal-property-and-claims>

You are required to use a personal email address as your primary email contact. If you use your government email address, you may not have access to it during your move and could miss valuable information. If you work in a secure area where personal devices are not authorized, you will need to provide your commercial work telephone number as the movers will need to contact you for a pre-move survey.

Once you have completed your move, and if you have loss/damages, you must report the loss/damages in DPS within 180 days of delivery. If you do not have an account, you will need to create one in order to submit a claim for loss/damages of your HHGs. Once the carrier is notified that you are filing a claim, you have 2 years from delivery to submit the claim.

Shipping Alcohol

If you are going to ship alcoholic beverages back to CONUS, there are a few mandatory steps in order to do so. During your initial communication with the Transportation Office, you will need to inform the customer service representative that you would like to ship alcohol. We will provide you with the necessary paperwork, and you are encouraged to plan early.

You must contact the alcohol control board of your destination state (contact information at <https://www.ttb.gov/wine/state-ABC.shtml>) to check if taxes/duties/permits apply; you may be required to pay broker fees. Please inform the state representative that you are shipping alcohol for personal use.

When you receive the email contact from the state, you will need to provide that information along with the completed alcohol documents to the Transportation Office.

The Stuttgart Transportation Office is located on the third floor of Panzer Building 2913. If face-to-face counseling is not available at the time of your move, your counselor will communicate with you through telephone and/or email.

Consider Customs requirements when selling cars, expensive items in Germany

By U.S. Army Customs Agency – Europe

U.S. personnel must get a "Permit to Transfer" when selling or giving a U.S. forces-plated vehicle to a non-ID cardholder in Germany. Failure to get the permit could lead to serious complications with German Customs authorities.

According to the U.S. Army Customs Agency – Europe, it is important to get the permit to transfer before you sell, donate or transfer a car to a German car dealer, junkyard or person who is not an ID card holder. This applies even if you received no money for the vehicle; for example, if it was wrecked in an accident.

If you do not obtain this permit, you will eventually fail to clear vehicle registration when it is time to

PCS. Customs authorities will require you to prove what happened to the vehicle.

This is obviously very difficult if the car was crushed long ago, you are in the middle of clearing out of Europe and you have no record of where the car went. If you cannot show what happened to the vehicle, you may be identified in a military police report and subject to disciplinary action. You may also have to pay a hefty tax demand based upon the value of the vehicle as well as possible fines from German customs authorities.

The "Permit to Transfer," AE Form 550-175B, is available at the USAG Stuttgart Customs Office. The form is also required when you sell firearms or other valuable personal items to someone who is not an ID cardholder.

Clear your car before you ship it

USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs Office

There are a number of steps that must be taken to properly clear vehicle registration.

Whether the vehicle has German specs or you just want to get rid of it instead of shipping it to the U.S., it still has to be cleared locally in Stuttgart.

Shipping a vehicle

There are two ways to ship a POV, by government or private/independent shipping.

When using government shipping, bring a bill of lading from the shipper with the vehicle's information (the year, make, model vehicle identification number, and color) to vehicle registration, along with the U.S. Army Europe license plates and current POV registration. If the current registration has 90 days or more left, temporary transit plates will be issued at no cost. However, if there are less than 90 days left on the current registration, temporary transit plates will cost $45 (no inspection is required and the transit plates don't have to be returned).

The regulations are similar if using an independent or private shipping company. Bring a bill of lading from the shipper with the same vehicle information, USAREUR plates, and expect the same rules about more or less than 90 days of remaining registration, inspection and not returning the transit plates.

If the sponsor is running out of time, they can have an agent from the same unit, appointed by the unit commander, ship, sell or dispose of vehicles after owner has departed. The appointed person must be at least one rank higher if military, or a logistically supported civilian. A signed memorandum is needed from the unit commander. Both the owner and designated agent must be present to complete the transaction. A power of attorney can be used on a case-by-case basis if the owner has already departed and the agent provides a copy of the orders showing when the owner left. Spouses are not authorized to be agents. Agent-owner registrations are only valid for 90 days. During that time, the agent has the ability to transfer the title solely into their name prior to the end of the 90 days. Departing owners must maintain insurance for the vehicle until it is shipped, sold or otherwise disposed of. The cost is $45.

Selling a vehicle

If a seller has a joint-owner on the vehicle, both parties must be present or have a power of attorney. If the vehicle has a lien on it, a lien release signed or stamped by the bank representative or a clear title is required. The buyer must have insurance for a vehicle no older than 120 calendar days going by the issue date. Insurance must be emailed to the USAREUR

Registry of Motor Vehicles if your provider is USAA or MIRASCON. If your provider is a local German insurance provider, it must provide you with two copies of your insurance confirmation cards.

If the registration is current and has more than 60 days on it, a Department of Defense ID cardholder buyer can accept the current expiration date on the registration without having an inspection. The transfer cost is $45 if less than a year's validity remains on the registration and $90 if more than a year.

If the vehicle is sold to a local national or someone who does not have individual logistical support, there are a few more steps involved. The seller must visit the U.S. Customs office in building 2913, room 303 on Panzer Kaserne and obtain a permit to transfer (Army Europe Form 550- 175B).

The seller must go with the local national or non-ILS buyer to the local German customs office so the local national can pay taxes on the vehicle. The permit to transfer must have the blue stamp from German customs. The seller must return the USAREUR license plates to vehicle registration, the bill of sale, and permit to transfer to clear the vehicle out of the USAREUR system. If the vehicle has a lien, a lien release letter is requested to complete the transaction.

Shipping your car from OCONUS to CONUS

By Vehicle Processing Center

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and the Department of Transportation (DOT) have set strict rules for shipping personally owned vehicles (POVs) into the United States.

EPA and DOT Sticker Requirements

The EPA sticker will be located in the motor compartment or the hood itself. It will have the words "Vehicle Emissions Control" or "CATALYST" on it. If this sticker is missing or illegible, you must provide a stateside title, stateside registration, or CARFAX (www.carfax.com) report to the EPA in order to get a letter approving your vehicle for shipping. See your VPC for further assistance. The DOT sticker will be located in the driver's door jamb area, or on the door edge, and will have the VIN number on it (Volvo's may be located in the left rear door jamb area). If this sticker is missing, or illegible, proof in the form of a stateside title (must state vehicle meets DOT requirements), stateside registration, or CARFAX report must be provided to the VPC on the date of turn-in. More details can be found at <https://www.nhtsa.gov/importing-vehicle>.

Wash and clean out your vehicle before shipping

Your POV must meet all USDA requirements for cleanliness. Your vehicle will be thoroughly inspected to ensure its cleanliness, and that it is free of all dirt, soil, plant and animal life. This is a "zero tolerance" inspection. If your vehicle fails to meet these standards, you will be provided with an Agricultural Reject Sheet, identifying the areas that need additional cleaning.

Before you turn in your car, please make sure to remove all personal items from compartments, doors, trunk, and under and in between the seats. Remove all accessories not permanently installed, such as all loose audio/video/navigation equipment; any liquids or pressurized cans; any flammable, combustible, or hazardous substances; and citizen band radios.

Also, please do not forget to remove all air fresheners and any items hanging on your rear view mirror.

- Exterior - Please wash the exterior of your vehicle. Wipe or spray out your wheel wells and fuel intake area.
- Motor Compartment - Ensure all corners of the motor compartment are clean. We recommend using a good vacuum cleaner and flashlight to get out all leaves and dirt. Spray off or wipe down the hood and engine.
- Door Jambs - Wipe down all door jambs, to include the trunk seal. For vans and SUVs, do not forget to clean out sliding door tracks and rear hatch area, especially the upper lip where the hinges are. For SUV's where the rear window opens, open and clean the seal.
- Interior - Ensure the entire interior of the vehicle is thoroughly vacuumed, to include top and bottom of floor mats. Rubber floor mats must be wiped off. Vacuum under and between all seats, under seat rails, and between the seats and the center console. Use a flashlight to check everywhere. Vacuum the trunk completely, to include removing the spare tire and cleaning the spare tire well. Also, check the back of the rear seat. If your rear seat lifts up, make sure you lift up the bottom part and vacuum underneath.
- For Vans - The easiest way to vacuum the interior of a van is to fold the rear seat down, and take the middle seats out. Now you have a wide-open spot to vacuum. Do not forget to make sure that the seat locking channels are clean. Check under the plastic caps covering the unused channels. If the interior of the vehicle is shampooed, it must be done at least 14 days prior to allow the vehicle to dry completely. The VPC cannot accept a vehicle with wet carpets. The VPC will do pre-inspections daily from 3-4 p.m. to let you know where your vehicle stands. Vehicles cannot have more than a quarter of a tank of gas at the time of drop-off.

Recalls

Ensure your vehicle does not have an unresolved "Recall Notice" for safety or fire issues. All recalls may be found at <https://vinrcl.safercar.gov/vin>. If there is a safety or fire issue, the POV may not be accepted for shipment, unless repairs are documented from a certified mechanic or dealership authorized to perform recall-notice repairs. Schedule an appointment online at pcsmypov.com or visit the VPC in bldg. 2931 on Panzer Kaserne. Bring a copy of your complete set of orders, vehicle registration, DD1797 personal property counseling checklist (available at the transportation office), and lienholder release letter (if applicable) to your appointment. If there are names listed on ownership documentation other than the entitlement holder, a Letter of Authorization is required, verifying their consent to ship the POV. Finally, it is recommended to schedule an appointment to turn in your plates and deregister your car approximately one hour and 15 minutes after your shipping appointment.

Visit www.stuttgartcitizen.com/appointments or use the garrison app to do this.

Do you have the passports you need to travel?

USAG Stuttgart Passport and SOFA Office

Are your passports, and those of your family members, valid for your upcoming permanent change of station? Overseas, passports are renewable up to a year before expiration. Most countries require you to have six months remaining on your passport to enter. Tourist passports take four to six weeks to arrive and no-fee, official or diplomatic passports take about six to eight weeks; therefore, plan to renew about 8-9 months ahead of time.

All U.S. military-affiliated personnel in Germany must apply for passports and Consular Reports of Birth Abroad through their local military passport office. The USAG Stuttgart Passport and SOFA Office can assist with applications for new or renewed passports, name changes and lost, stolen, or mutilated passports.

They also process Reports of Birth Abroad applications which include Consular Report of Birth Abroad (equivalent to an American birth certificate), child's first Passport and the Social Security Number processing. A Report of Birth Abroad takes 8-12 weeks to process but you can start the process as soon as you have the German 'Geburtenregister.' This is the only form the consulate will accept for a Consular Report of Birth Abroad.

Certain items sold on post, like coffee and cigarettes, are 'rationed' under the SOFA and require ration cards to purchase. Check with your command or agency to see who issues your ration card. To get an initial or renewed ration card, you'll need your CAC and assignment or extension orders.

If you are in need of an emergency appointment with the Frankfurt Consulate, you MUST go through the local passport office to obtain one. Please note, anyone affiliated with the US Government whose passport does not contain a German residency card will not be authorized to see the Frankfurt Consulate. You will be turned away without this.

Appointments are required for tourist passports and Consular Report of Birth Abroad applications, but not for normal outprocessing. To outprocess, bring in all family members' passports, both tourist and official, as well as your proof of SOFA for each family member. Customers are asked to arrive on time for appointments and to have all documents ready. If you arrive without all of the required documents, there is a chance you will need to reschedule.

For a checklist of what to bring to your appointment, instructions on how to fill out your on-line application and more, visit the official garrison website. Appointments can be made through the USAG Stuttgart App or at <https://stuttgartcitizen.com/appointments/>.

Transferring schools during PCS

Helpful tips for transferring medical records from Stuttgart

Transferring records

Active Duty Army and Air Force personnel and their dependents will not hand-carry their medical records. Records are transferred by mail when the gaining military medical facility requests them. Active Duty Navy and Marine Corps personnel must hand-carry their records. Pick up of records requires orders. The sponsor cannot pick up records for anyone over the age of 18 without a power of attorney, including spouses.

Records Requests

Any Service Member or dependent that wants a copy of their medical records can submit a DD Form 2870 (Authorization for Disclosure of Medical or Dental Information). Requestors must allow 30 business days for turnaround.

School-aged children

Parents who have school aged children under the age of 18 should consider getting a copy of the child's shot records and last physical. Patients interested in receiving a copy of the medical records may submit a DD Form 2870 (Authorization for Disclosure of Medical or Dental Information). Requestors must allow 30 business days for turnaround.

School Liaison Officer

If you are leaving Stuttgart and have children enrolled in any of the Stuttgart community's Department of Defense Education Activity schools, the School Liaison Office (SLO) can connect you with the SLO at your gaining command to provide you with information, resources, and any available youth sponsorship opportunities. We recommend notifying the Stuttgart school(s) about your move as soon as you receive your orders, which may be requested by the school registrar. Please contact your school registrar to ensure you meet the accelerated withdrawal requirements. We suggest requesting a copy of your student's cumulative record (in addition to the sealed record for the gaining school). Although Stuttgart schools will prepare the sealed records and allow parents to hand-carry them, having a copy is recommended. Opening the sealed package may void the official records. It is recommended that these records travel with you, and not in your household goods. If your child receives special education services, request a copy of the Individual Education Plan or 504 Plan. These records are kept separate from your child's cumulative record, and, similar to school records, it is recommended that these documents also travel with you, and not in your household goods. For students in 6th grade and above, consider documenting the course description and a title page of textbooks used in each of your child's classes. This provides the gaining school the opportunity to determine exactly what was taught. Sometimes the course titles alone are unclear to the gaining school, or they don't reflect actual concepts being presented in class. For students in 9th grade and above, parents should request letters of recommendations from teachers, counselors, administrators, coaches, etc., to help students as they apply for college admissions and programs at the new school, such as the National Honor Society, special clubs and programs, or scholarship opportunities. Contact the school meal program at AAFES customer service to ensure you leave with a zero balance. As you begin your transition from USAG Stuttgart, I look forward to helping connect you and your family to your next school and community!

Contacting the vet clinic

The Stuttgart Veterinary Treatment Facility is located in Bldg. 2996A, adjacent to the Dental Clinic, on Panzer Kaserne. The phone numbers are 314-590-1888 or 0637-9464-1888.

Pet shipping tips

- Reserve air space for shipment as early as possible
- Do a cost comparison of shipping your pet as excess baggage versus air freight shipment, if applicable
- Provide a sturdy leak-proof crate (lined with absorbent material such as newspaper) that is large enough for the animal to stand, lie down, or turn around in, but not so large that the animal would be battered around in rough weather
- Let your pet become accustomed to the crate before shipment by having practice sessions that build in time of confinement. Be sure the pet has a comfortable pad to lie on and a few familiar toys. A leash should also be included with the crate
- Put identification tags that include an emergency phone number around your pet's neck
- Print your name and destination address clearly on the shipping crate. Include your pet's name, so that attendants can talk with him/her. If the pet has special habits — or bites — also include that information.
- Carry a photo of your pet with you
- Feed your pet just a light meal about six hours before shipping — no water within two hours unless it is very hot (or the animal is very small). A water dish that is attached so it cannot tip should be provided, but it should be conveniently located to allow an attendant to provide water at stopovers without being bitten
- Send dry food along if the trip is long
- Do not tranquilize the animal
- Exercise your pet just before shipping so your animal will sleep better during the trip
- Check with the agent who meets the flight about your pet's progress when you are changing planes
- Allow plenty of time between connecting flights to be sure your animal is transferred to your flight if traveling with you
- Arrange to have your pet picked up immediately upon arrival. Airline facilities for pets may be limited or nonexistent.

PCSing with your 4-legged family members

By Stuttgart Veterinary Treatment Facility

It's PCS season, and one of the most common phone calls the Vet Clinic receives during this time of year is from folks who are getting ready to return to the U.S. and want to know how to take their pet with them.

As with anything else during a move from one duty station to the next, there are many factors involved and paperwork and planning is everything. Factors that can influence what procedures you need to follow include: species, breed, and age of your pet, your final destination, and on which airline your pet will be traveling. Taking the time to learn the regulations and your options can make your animal's move less stressful for everyone.

First of all, a couple words of advice based on frequently asked questions and encountered mistakes:

- DO NOT wait until you receive orders to look into the requirements of your destination country. Some countries (such as Japan) may take several months of advance planning
- DO NOT let your pet's medical records (such as their original rabies certificates) get packed up with your HHGs
- DO NOT let your pet's rabies vaccine expire
- Health certificates CAN also be done at host nation clinics

Rabies vaccines that are documented appropriately in your pet's European Pet Passport (must be the blue official pet passport) DO count as an original and official proof of rabies vaccination. Receipts from hospitals, photocopies of an original rabies certificate, or other unofficial pet passports DO NOT count as an official proof of rabies vaccination.

Are you returning to the United States?

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention governs the import of dogs and cats into the U.S. However, states and territories often have additional requirements as do certain airlines. In general, dogs and cats are required to have a current rabies vaccine that is at least 30 days old, not be ill with an infectious and/or zoonotic disease, be examined by a veterinarian, and have a health certificate signed within ten days of arrival in the U.S.

Are you thinking about taking an animal other than a dog or cat back to the U.S.?

Specific regulations depend on the species. The U.S. Department of Agriculture governs the importation of birds, horses, rabbits, and other small-mammals while the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sets regulations for importing reptiles and fish and the CDC oversee the importation of turtles.

What about Hawaii and Guam?

For dogs and cats traveling to these rabies-free locations, there are many additional regulations that apply so it is best to do some research online. Hawaii's process can take more than four months to complete. Skipping steps can lead to heavy fines and your pet being quarantined for up to 120 days at your expense.

What if your next duty station is not in the United States?

Japan and South Korea are two common destinations for families associated with the military. Japan's process involves very specific paperwork and can take up to eight months to complete. South Korea has similar requirements and mandates that a German federal veterinarian sign your pet's paperwork.

When making flight arrangements, consider the following:

Each airline has its own rules when traveling with an animal, so you must research them to make sure your pet will be accepted. Some airlines don't allow pets in the cabin on transatlantic flights. Others will not accept brachycephalic or "snub-nosed" dogs and cats as checked luggage. Many airlines also restrict transporting animals when the forecasted temperature is too high or low at any location on your itinerary. Shipping your pet unaccompanied as cargo instead of luggage can help ease these restrictions.

Another option for military members is flying Space A out of Ramstein Air Base using the Air Force's Air Mobility Command. DOD has reserved pet shipments for passengers in PCS status. Service animals may fly with a member with proper documentation. Only service animals may accompany military members on Space A who are on PCS orders. You will need to contact the Ramstein passenger terminal for details on how to get your animal a spot on the plane. Be sure to make follow-on arrangements to get to your final destination. Learn more about this option at <https://www.amc.af.mil/AMC-Travel-Site/>.

Whatever travel arrangements you choose, you should set aside some cash for the airline fees. They can sometimes exceed a few hundred dollars.

Your pet has been with you during this exciting time in Europe. Getting them to your next adventure requires some planning and flexibility but many people and pets have gone before and been happy when it is over. So, start early, research and discuss your options with your family, choose what works best for you and your pet, and let your veterinarian know if you need help.
