Increasing Diversion and Community Impact

➤ Reuse Facility

- The Environmental Management Division has implemented a pilot program that can increase our diversion rates while simultaneously supporting our Fort Gregg-Adams community and the community outside of our installation
- We accept end of life and no longer needed furniture, electronics, equipment, and supplies to rehome around the installation
- For items we cannot use on base, after following DLA protocols and review, we offer to local veteran nonprofits building goodwill towards Fort Gregg-Adams while providing our surrounding communities with essential supplies
- The name of our facility will be decided on through the Fort Gregg-Adams Facebook page to help engage the community
- The best part is that everything we disposition would otherwise end up in a landfill!

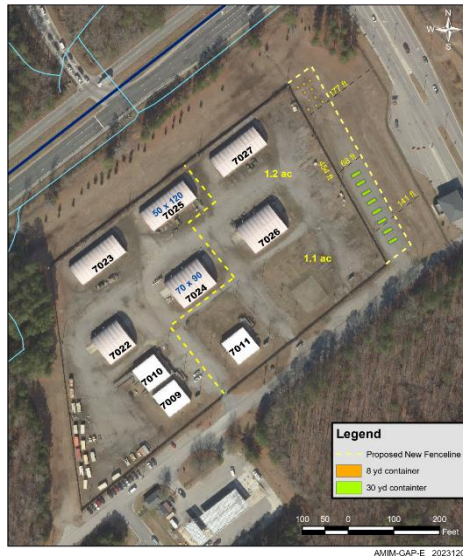

➤ Partners

- DECA, North Range, and Mortuary Affairs
- Hopewell, Prince George, and Chesterfield County Public Schools
- Tech4Troops – recommission electronics for veterans
- Caritas – provides furniture to underserved families in central Virginia
- To date, we've rehomed +10,000 pounds of equipment and supplies!

Driving Efficiency, Sustainability, and Morale

Proposed Warehousing Yard

➤ Qualified Recycling Program

- We are currently in the process of moving our recycling center and procuring additional equipment to process our waste in large part here at the installation
- The QRP can direct sell or auction all of our recyclables, brass, and any unusable equipment (after DLA protocols and review)
- This will provide increased funding for both environmental and morale projects around the installation
- Our goal is to reach program sustainability within 3 years

➤ Engaging the Fort Gregg-Adams Community

- The Environmental Management Division would like to create a program in which our units are able to volunteer at the recycling center to earn rewards that they can use for their own environmental and morale initiatives
- Not only would this help to spread the word but also provide incentives for their efforts and reduce our processing workload
- Along with leveraging our existing social media outlets and potentially establishing new ones, we can also work to build a campaign highlighting our successes and hard work in both supporting Fort Gregg-Adams but also in being exceptional stewards of our environment
