Naval Station Guantanamo Bay Non-Mission Essential Personnel Returning from NAS Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. -- Service members transport a family pet to an aircraft ahead of a Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel return flight at Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola's Sherman Field Nov. 12. Nearly 900 non-mission essential personnel from Naval Station Guantanamo Bay arrived at Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola Oct. 25 and 26 as part of a Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel movement ahead of one of the strongest hurricanes of the 2025 storm season. PENSACOLA, Fla. – After nearly three weeks at Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola during late October's Hurricane Melissa and the subsequent recovery phase of Naval Station Guantanamo Bay from the storm, non-mission essential personnel temporarily relocated to the air station are returning to Cuba Nov. 12 through 14.

The nearly 900 Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel temporarily relocated to NAS Pensacola have been residing in installation accommodations and – as eligible beneficiaries – have been able to use air station resources such as the Jet Port Café; Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) facilities and services; and Navy Inn offerings.

“The dedicated and professional team at NAS Pensacola went above and beyond to ensure that these members of our Navy family were afforded every convenience we could provide,” said Capt. Chandra ‘Mamasan’ Newman. “The support of our air station and tenant command service members, civilian employees and other volunteers has been amazing during our increased operational tempo with our Guantanamo Bay guests, and I couldn't be prouder of this team during what has been a challenging evolution.”

Newman said the activation of the Emergency Family Assistance Center (EFAC), a temporarily activated entity in response to an event causing relocation, was critical to the success of the nearly three-week operation. Controlled by NAS Pensacola's Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC), several installation departments and community mutual aid partnerships such as the Pensacola-area American Red Cross and the United Services Organization (USO) were involved in the ongoing evolution.

“Our FFSC personnel have manned the EFAC since we began this almost three weeks ago,” she said. “Their dedication, perseverance and resilience speak volumes of just how engaged and willing NAS Pensacola and our tenant commands are in ensuring we take care of our Navy family.”

Along with NAS Pensacola’s Unaccompanied Housing employees, staff from the Navy Lodge; Navy Inn; the Navy Exchange (NEX); MWR’s Child and Youth Programs; NAS Pensacola Religious Ministries and Public Works and the U.S. Army Pensacola Veterinary Readiness Activity Fort Eisenhower Pensacola Branch were integral parts of the EFAC. Additionally, organizations including the Navy and Marine Corps Relief Society (NMCRS) and USO as well as off-installation organizations such as the American Red Cross played a pivotal role in ensuring eligible beneficiaries were aware of available resources.

Newman added that the community support for Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel was overwhelming, referring to the significant donations of pet supplies, suggested outings and community engagements.

“Being part of a community which has embraced its service members and their families for nearly two centuries is awe-inspiring,” she said. “So many community organizations have reached out to provide assistance, to offer the opportunity to attend events, to just let these individuals displaced during a difficult time know that they care. The City of Pensacola and the surrounding communities are so much a part of our Navy, and we appreciate all they do.”

The non-mission essential personnel movement allowed Naval Station Guantanamo Bay to minimize operations during Hurricane Melissa and expedited recovery operations. An estimated 5,500 personnel and families live and work onboard Naval Station Guantanamo Bay.

NAS Pensacola, the only Navy installation in the Gulf with both a deep-water port and active airfield, previously received non-mission essential personnel during 2016's Hurricane Michael, and also serves as a safe harbor for numerous U.S. Coast Guard and USNS ships during extreme weather situations.

USO Northwest Florida, USCG Cutter Diligence Host Trunk-or-Treat Onboard NAS Pensacola for Naval Station Guantanamo Bay Non-Mission Essential Personnel

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel and Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola service members and their families take part in the United Services Organization (USO)-sponsored Trunk-or-Treat event Oct. 30 at the air station's Allegheny Pier. Originally, scheduled as a U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Diligence (WMEC-616) event, organizers ensured the nearly 900 Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel had the opportunity to participate.

PENSACOLA, Fla. – More than 350 service members, family members and Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel took part in a United Services Organization (USO) Northwest Florida-sponsored Trunk-or-Treat event Oct. 30 at the air station's Allegheny Pier.

The USO-organized event, originally scheduled as a U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Diligence (WMEC-616) outing, was shifted to encompass additional attendees, specifically Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel currently onboard the air station.

"Our USO and Coast Guard presence here put together a fantastic event for Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel temporarily displaced by Hurricane Melissa," said Capt. Chandra 'Mamasan' Newman. "The outpouring of community support for these members of our Navy family has been truly spectacular, and giving some of these children the opportunity to still enjoy a favorite holiday speaks volumes of their commitment to our service members' families."

In the shadow of the pierside Diligence and buoy tender USCG Cutter Walnut (WLB-205) event participants had more than 40 stops at which to receive candy and treats, as well as participate in games, face painting and other activities.

"Our Trunk-Or-Treat started small, bringing together the families and crews of Walnut and Diligence, but our crew and the larger Coast Guard family jumped at the opportunity to support the Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel and invite them to our event," said Diligence Commanding Officer Cmdr. Colin McKee. "We expected 50 attendees and ended up with 350, and it ended up being a wonderful evening for our larger military family."

Originally, scheduled as a U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Diligence (WMEC-616) event, organizers ensured the nearly 900 Naval Station Guantanamo Bay non-mission essential personnel had the opportunity to participate.

According to USO Northwest Florida Center Operations Specialist Mary Ellen Schaffner, the community support and flexibility provided a festive atmosphere for the estimated 350 attendees, mainly children, many of whom were in costume.

“Being able to put together an event on short notice to take care of our military family is keeping in line with the USO mission – to strengthen America’s military service members by keeping them connected to family, home and country throughout their service,” she said. “The volunteer efforts of so many community partners made this a truly special event.”

The four-hour USO Northwest Florida-organized event included service members from numerous NAS Pensacola-based commands and community organizations such as the Pensacola-Area Chief Petty Officers Association (PACPOA); the United Cajun Navy; the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce; PenAir Federal Credit Union; Lowes; Pepboys; Pensacola State College’s WSRE public broadcasting; St. John the Evangelist Private Catholic School; Diligence; and Walnut; and U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Reliance (WMEC-615).

FALL DRIVING SAFETY TIPS

WATCH OUT FOR LEAVES

Fallen leaves can blanket roadways, concealing lane markings, potholes and debris. They can become slick as ice when wet, reducing tire traction, making sudden stops more dangerous.

COLDER TEMPERATURES

As temperatures drop, drivers must also be alert to the first signs of frost and ice. Motorists can reduce risks and protect themselves, their passengers and their communities by anticipating these conditions and adjusting driving habits.

WET ROADS

In many regions, Fall brings increased rainfall. A light rain can make roads slippery while heavy downpours reduce visibility, raising the risk of hydroplaning. Checking windshield wipers, headlights and tire tread before the season sets in, is critical to staying prepared.

Turkey Fryer Fire Safety

Frying food puts you at the greatest risk of cooking fires. Before you fry a turkey, review these tips to keep you and your loved ones safe.

Turkey fryers can tip over easily, spilling hot cooking oil over a large area. Make sure your turkey fryer is on a sturdy, level surface and do not move it once it is in use.

Make sure it is at least 10 feet from your home and not under roof eaves.

An overfilled cooking pot will cause cooking oil to spill when the turkey is put in.

Test the amount of oil you need by filling your fryer with water. Place the turkey in the pot making sure the water doesn't get too close to the top. Measure the water and use that as a guide for filling the pot with oil.

A partially frozen turkey will cause cooking oil to splatter when you put it in the cooking pot.

Make sure your turkey is fully thawed without frost on it before you fry it.

Without thermostat controls, deep fryers can overheat oil to the point of starting a fire.

If your turkey fryer does not have a thermostat, use a kitchen thermometer that attaches to the side of the pot. This will help you monitor the temperature of the oil.

The sides of the cooking pot, lid and pot handles can get dangerously hot.

Always use protective oven mitts. Keep children and pets at least 3 feet from the turkey fryer.

Consider using an electric or air fryer.

The Top 10 Mental Health Tips For The Holidays

1. Be kind to yourself.
2. More is not necessarily better.
3. Keep expectations realistic.
4. Old patterns will naturally start to appear around the holidays, especially when you are with relatives or under stress.
5. Remember that other people cannot read your mind or anticipate your needs.
6. Remember that "family" is another way of saying "people who love, support, and care about me."
7. Pause and think through any major announcements or decisions you want to make during the holidays.
8. Plan sanity time-outs.
9. Choose your battles.
10. Do something silly.

Fleet and Family Support Center will be closed on November 27th, in observance of Thanksgiving Day and closed to clients/customers on November 28th.

Founded in 2019, the United States Naval Community College (USNCC) offers online asynchronous (without live classes) off-duty college education programs to active duty junior enlisted Sailors and Marines. The USNCC also serves both active duty and reserve Coast Guard service members. The USNCC will develop warfighters across the force who are committed to lifelong learning, are steeped in Naval traditions and values, have sound leadership qualities and ethical decision-making ability, possess improved critical thinking and technical skills and have a deep understanding of the complex maritime environment in which they operate.

For 98 years, The Gosport served as the official newspaper of Naval Air Station Pensacola and shared the stories of the installation until its final publication in 2019. This biweekly e-newsletter intends to continue that mission to keep readers informed on current events at NAS Pensacola. The publication began in 1921 as Air Station News and adopted The Gosport moniker, named after a voice tube used by flight instructors in the early days of naval aviation, around 1936.
