VOLUME IV, NUMBER IX

MARINES BARRACKS, WASHINGTON, D.C.

SEPTEMBER 1974

CFC 1975 UNDERWAY

The 1975 Combined Federal Campaign is underway here and will continue until November 1st.

The contribution program is a means by which a Marine may donate money to such worthy charities as the American Red Cross, Friendship House, Hospitality House, and many others with just one payroll deduction. Just figure out how much of a bite on your pay could be handled, be it 50-cents per payday or $20-per-month, and contact your unit representative.

The amount is not important. It's 100% participation that counts.

The unit keymen are all company executive officers, Captain HOWARD for civilians, First Lieutenant FRANKLIN for the Institute, and Drum Major CARROLL for the Band.

SGTMAJ. CREEDON RETIRES

Sergeant Major Robert A. CREEDON retired here September 27th after more than 28-years in the Corps.

Barracks sergeant major since November 1971, fellow Marines paid tribute at a retirement parade and reception.

Reports are that a retired Marine answering to the name of "Red" is residing in Fairfax. Further information is not available however, a neighbor says he keeps mumbling something about a sword! Is it he?

UNIFORM CHANGE

Effective November 4th the winter service uniform will be worn as the Uniform of the Day.

Officer winter service "C" and male enlisted winter service "B" will be worn as follows: (1) Within the confines of Marine Barracks and office working spaces; (2) When in transit to visit commercial establishments located on 8th Street, S.E. between "E" and "M" Streets, S.E., and between the Barracks and the Navy Yard.

The utility uniform will be worn in accordance with current regulations.

Straight Scoop From the CO

"A Few Short Rounds"

By Colonel COOPER

PARADE SEASON: An unqualified success! If you feel a bit tired, there's good reason. Our increase in attendance was up 36% from a busy 1973. Two attendances was up 75% and, as you know, we only lost three parades, a tribute to the "hang tough professionalism" of the entire command.

ANNUAL FUND DRIVE: Our yearly Combined Federal Campaign is underway. No Marine is to be pressured as to the amount of his contribution, but I hope that we will show a high percentage of giving to this universally accepted means of helping those less fortunate that need it most.

NEW BARRACKS SERGEANT MAJOR: Sergeant Major Charles T. CAIN assumed the duties of Barracks Sergeant Major effective September 30th. Experienced and exceptionally well qualified, he has had assignments with infantry, tracked vehicle, artillery, and a wide range of D.I. and independent duty. We all welcome him aboard and I'm sure you'll be seeing a great deal of him in months ahead.

CMC HOUSE TOUR: I hope many of you and your families will take advantage of the Commandant's special invitation for a tour of his quarters on either October 5th or 6th, as noted elsewhere in this paper. The big house on the end of the parade deck represents all of the Corps' history in Washington and is available to you and yours for a most interesting tour.

GETTING SMASHED is only fit for grapes. Those that tittle past moderation sometimes topple and alas, take someone with them—particularly on the highway. Sample the fruit of the vine but don't drown your senses or you'll not be able to appreciate something like Theresa of Sunken Gardens, Fla., who is truly smashing!

SECURITY COMPANY REVIEW

By Cpl. Dwight A. JARVIS

The intense competitive spirit that has driven Marines to victory in combat is giving the Naval Support Facility's football team an extra punch of power as it charges into a new season.

Combining forces with "a few good sailors," the following Marines from Security Company will be struggling against teams from Fort Ritchie: Sergeants STRAIT, ALMANZA, Corporals MURPHY, McILRATH, MONROE, SMITH, BOLEJACK, PORCARO, SKURDAL, Lance Corporals PIPER, LARSON, ALYEA, WARREN, HEYD, HAULDREN, BARNHART, LOCKE, and Private First Class WACKER-NAGEL.

Competition at the Naval Support Facility isn't limited to the hard hitting sport of football. The Security Company Bowling Team is tightening-up on the exacting skills of its game. Under the leadership of Gunnery Sergeant WILBANKS (League President), and Gunnery Sergeant ARBONEAUX (Team Captain), First Lieutenant GUSIC, Corporals EVERS, TUCKER, HARDY, MONROE, and McCONNELL are striving to strike-off last year's second place standing and pin down first place above the five opposing teams in the league. The competitive spirit is supported by an equally intense team spirit for both of these sports. This team work, important in all group sports, is also important in the operation of Security Company. With this in mind, we welcome aboard Lance Corporals Charles RHAME, Colin LEVERON, William D. FLORY, Privates First Class Charles JESSUP, and Steven COVINGTON; challenging them to become strong members of our security team.

Team effort is even more effective when individual disciplines are pursued. The 100-mile Club, organized for this purpose, has seen many miles hammered out under the relentless strides of its members. GySgt. ARBONEAUX and Sgt. MAGNER nailed down 100-mile certificates, while Cpl.

BOTTENFIELD stepped up his pace to receive both the 100-mile and 200-mile awards. LCpl. HEYD, with a quick-kick of motivation, knocked over the most miles and ran away with the 200 and 300-mile presentations, as SSgt. Andrews of the USAF set his feet on the ground and got his program airborne by propelling himself 100-miles.

Physical Fitness, the end result of all these activities, stimulates mental fitness which is an important asset for security conscious Marines.

Recognition given to the Marines named in this article is well deserved praise for their contributions to Security Company.

Only Skin Deep

"I am the person who was born to live in a skin with a different color from yours. I could not choose my parents, nor you yours. Thus, the color pigments imbedded by the unchangeable hands of nature in your skin are per chance white, while mine are black, or brown, or yellow. But, underneath, I am just like you. My muscles ripple in the same waves of power, and thrill to the same throb of joyous action. My mind has the same functions as yours. I love and hate, hope and despair, rejoice and suffer, along with you. When my children lose their fair chance of life, and become aware of the bitter mood of prejudice that they must tread, then I know what color has cost me. I offer you my hand in rebuilding an unjust world that you and I can make better than we have found it. I am the person in a different color skin."

Band Begins Fall Tour

By SSgt. Ruth JOHNSON

As this issue of the Pass In Review goes to press, the 1974 Fall tour will be well underway. Beginning with an evening concert in Charleston, W. Va. on September 19th, the Tour Band will cover 24-states in 50-days.

The evening concerts will be conducted by Major Jack KLINE, acting director of the Marine Band. Captain William RUSINAK, assistant director, will be conducting the matinee programs which are usually performed for thousands of students each day. Actually, the tour officially began on September 8th when the Band traveled to Kennett Square, Pa. for two concerts at Longwood Gardens, traditionally the first stop on tour for the past 24-years. Soloists for the afternoon concerts this year are Gunnery Sergeant Ronald HOCKETT, alto saxophonist, and Master Sergeant Michael RYAN, vocalist. In the evening, the Band's harpist, Gunnery Sergeant James PINKERTON and MSgt. RYAN will be featured.

Not to be outdone by the Tour Band, the Homeguard Band, under the direction of Master Gunnery Sergeant John BOURGEOIS, has also been in the spotlight with performances at the White House and the Kennedy Center, where they played for the third Anniversary of the Center. On September 8th, they performed in Philadelphia for the 200th Anniversary of the Reconvening of the First Continental Congress. In addition to playing at the actual ceremony, they also provided music and entertainment at the dinner honoring President Ford, members of Congress, and the governors of the 13 original states. Mike Douglas, TV personality, appeared with the Band. The Homeguard Band also performed for the opening of the Centennial Schoenberg-Ives Festival at the Kennedy Center on September 26th.

Promoted to the rank of Gunnery Sergeant during September were: Robert PRUZIN and Peter SOO HOO.

H&S Co. in the news

By Capt. John RHODES

Well the big wind-down has begun! We've completed a very successful parade season and now have the opportunity to take a breather. This is the time to take that leave we've been trying to take all year, it's also time for the sections to let their Marines catch up on those 72-hour weekends!

Of course we can't relax too much, as sections plan their leave schedules we've got to keep in mind that I.G. is rapidly approaching. H&S Company can expect to get hit hard in the areas of physical fitness and essential subjects training. Accordingly, we will be taking a close look at our physical fitness program.

My apologies to the Barracks Maintenance Section for neglecting to mention them in my short parody last month. They demand equal time, so here goes! To Maintenance: Thanks for everything!

The following Marines joined H&S Company recently: Sergeant Marvin BRADY, Corporals Curtis EVANS, Michael COMBS, Lance Corporals Dennis BAPTISTE, John TYO, Doyle HULTBERG, Joseph STERN, Chris TENSON, Richard STREETER, Privates First Class Milton GREENE, Nathaniel DELANE, John ZIMMERMAN, Charles BURDETTE, Berry GRAYTON, William ROGERS, Gary ATEN, Harold ERWIN, Tom HARRIS, Privates Alfred GREENE, Joseph JOHNSON, and Mark SALYER.

First Lieutenant Eugene FRANKLIN reported aboard from Hong Kong. The lieutenant will assume the duties of administrative officer of the Institute.

The new NCOIC of the Institute Printing, Preparation, and Reproduction Section is Gunnery Sergeant

"SMOKE IN BED, WIND UP DEAD"

By Capt. R. B. SWORTWOOD

"Smoke in bed and wind up dead" is a motto meant to protect your life. There is a continuing need for Marines, of all ranks, as well as their dependents, to be reminded of fire hazards associated with smoking in bed, disposal of smoking materials, improper cooking habits (unattended stoves and deep-fat frying), children and matches, flammable liquids, and the improper wiring/maintenance

Gordon STEVENS. The gunny reported aboard from MCAS, Cherry Point.

Our DPI Section is enjoying the talents of Corporal Delores MILLER. She is a programmer whose previous duty assignment was MCRD, San Diego.

Staff Sergeant Dalton CHAPMAN, Sergeant Horace EURE, Lance Corporal Deborah TAPLIN, and Corporal James WARYAS received Meritorious Masts from the Barracks commanding officer for their outstanding performance of duty with the Reproduction Section of MCI--having observed these Marines at work, it was a well deserved commendation.

In ceremonies conducted in the deputy director's office on September 10th, Mr. Delbert KOHL and Mr. Harold HUGHES were awarded with 10-year service pins.

Congratulations to Gunnery Sergeant MIKE. He was promoted to his present rank by the commanding officer on September 11th.

Major John BUCKELEW, OIC, Student Services, was TAD to Camp Lejeune spreading the word on MCI's Deployed Unit Enrollment Program to "cruise bound" Marines.

The Institute was represented at the 8th Marine Corps District Annual Training Conference held recently in Dallas by the Institute's executive officer, Major David HANCOCK. This is one of many Reserve Programs in which MCI sends representatives to assist the Reserve Program in correspondence training.

of electrical appliances wiring.

In addition, the increasing number of fires in family housing indicate the need for improving fire prevention, as well as emergency procedures.

You, the individual Marine, are the main safeguard against fire, just as smoking in bed is the chief fire hazard in Marine Barracks. Common sense, after all, is the best guide.

Don't match fire with anything more combustible than a cigarette and watch those when you are finished. The left-handed, over-the-shoulder flip into the G.I. can is out, especially for any man working around the motor pool and its gasoline hazards.

Fire is a waste of lives, manpower and money. If you become the ounce of prevention it takes to avoid disaster you will have served yourself and the Marine Corps well!

GUARD COMPANY"...comradeship and brotherhood..."

By 1stLt. Sigurd JENSEN III

The Staff NCO Parade has culminated a totally successful and professional Parade Season for Guard Company. Practice, self-evaluation, and discipline have key-noted the ceremonial efforts this past year as the company has again been identified with excellence. Full credit must go to the entire company as the spirit of comradeship and brotherhood - in - arms fostered a physically, mentally and morally well prepared sense of responsibility during 1974. Preparedness must always be the watchword.

A new intensity took control September 23rd as preparations begin for the upcoming Battle Colors Ceremonies, Flag Pageants, Marine Corps Birthday Ball, and the I.G. Maintaining a year-round capability of immediate response to ceremonial requirements will always be the fundamental concept, as newly-joined Marines are trained, as they are the backbone of the company's future capabilities. The principle of team work has been the basic reason for the successes of the year and will always be fostered and kept alive by the Marines in Guard Company.

In other areas, congratulations are extended to Captain John HARRIS and First Lieutenant Sig JENSEN on winning the intramural golf championship. Additionally, a well-done must be credited to the competitive "A" Team as they placed second in the intramural softball tournament. They were defeated by the well balanced and poised MCI "D" Team in the final tournament game. With football season approaching Guard Company anticipates a new opportunity for challenge.

Several new Marines have recently been joined in the company. Welcome aboard to: Privates First Class Ivan R. GIDEON, Samuel T. MORRISON, and Barry L. SANNES; Lance Corporals Arthur W. CLARK and Kevin T. LEE; Corporals Jeffery L. GROCOX and Bill S. JORDAN; Sergeant Jeffery L. LADUKE.

Newly promoted Marines in the company are: Privates First Class William F. LEKO, Ivan R. GIDEON, and Samuel T. MORRISON; Lance Corporals Thomas E. GILBERT and David E. HENDRICKSON; Corporals Carl F. HENSCHEN and Arthur J. MITCHELL.
